Proper Care Keeps Lawns At Their Best

Best way to keep a good lawn good is to feed it twice a year—in the Spring, and in the Fall. Here are four simple rules to follow for best results at least cost:

(1) Feeding: When the grass is dry, broadcast a plant food specially formulated for lawns, 2 lbs. to each 100 sq. ft. Water the lawn immediately after applying fertilizer.

(2) Watering: During late Spring and early Summer, never water the lawn until absolutely necessary, then give it a good soaking to a depth of 4 to 5 inches. Too frequent and too light waterings cause shallow rooting and weaken the glass.

(3) Mowing: Do not clip too close. Use a sharp mower and adjust so as to cut at least 1½ inches above ground.

(4) Liming: Apply finely ground limestone every three years or so—5 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. If soil is sandy, apply 3 lbs. per 100 sq. ft.

The little Classified Ads bring speedy results at a minimum of cost.

Jaywalking was costly in the U. S. in 1956—3,170 were killed.

NOT SO LONG AGO...

It doesn't seem so long since she was a little girl herself, picking out a card for her mother on Mother's Day. Yet this morning there was a card at the breakfast table, reading, "To Mommy, with love . . ."

On this day, she feels a special meaning as she goes to church with her little girl's white-gloved hand clasped tightly in hers. As they kneel in prayer together a wave of tenderness comes over her, and as she looks at the small figure by her side she at once feels grateful to God for making her a mother, and awed by the responsibility which is hers.

She prays God to endow her with the qualities all mothers need: common sense, a touch of humor, tenderness, wisdom, the capacity for comfort, a large measure of courage, quick laughter, and just a dash of sternness. And she is deeply thankful that in this, the most important task of her life, she has her Faith and her Church to guide her.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Club Meeting?

Wonderful how your telephone helps you get things organized fast. If you're on a party line, remember to allow some time between calls—so important messages can reach you, so those who share your telephone service can also use the line. Other tips for good party-line service: give up the line for emergency calls, replace the receiver carefully, hang up quickly and quietly when you find your telephone line in use. Remember, party-line courtesy is catching. Northwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Three Elected Marshall SCD Supervisors

Yutrzenka, Elseth and Richard Field Named Last Friday

The unofficial tally of Friday's election of supervisors for the Marshall County soil conservation district is as follows, it was announced at Warren.

Area 5 (For 5-yr. term); Leonard Yutrzenka, 45; Elmer Welin, 25; Julius Kleinvachter, 25; Lawrence Sedlacek, 20.

Area 4 (For 4-year term): Orville Elseth, 58; Floyd Holmstrom, 32; Harold Lambert, 19.

Area 3 (For 3-year term); Richard Field, 53; Gus Hamnes, 39; Herbert Pagnac, 29.

Leonard Yutrzenka, Argyle, Orville Elseth, Newfolden; and Richard Field, Stephen, will be the three new elected supervisors.

To complete the board of five farmer supervisors, Kenneth Dufault, Argyle, and Norman Anderson, Middle River, are also included. The last two men were appointed by the state soil conservation committee after the March referendum.

The first duties of these men will be to organize a work plan showing the needed soil conservation practices for this area and the need for a technician furnished by agreement from the Soil Conservation Service.

The supervisors will be called together as soon as practically possible to put in a legal request in order to show a vacancy to be filled by the Soil Conservation Service. It is hoped that a technician will be available by late summer or early fall.

Hospital Assn. to Conduct Its 1957 Meeting May 20th

Eight Nominations Made for Four Posts on Board of Trustees to Be Filled

The annual meeting of Northwestern Hospital association will be held Monday evening, May 20, at 8 p.m. in the meeting room on the ground floor of the court house.

Financial reports for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1957, will be presented. Reports will also be given by chairmen of the medical advisory committee, the buildings and grounds committee, the personnel committee, the president of the woman's auxiliary and by the administrator of the hopital.

Election of three board members for 3-year terms and one member for a 1-year term will be held. Candidates for the three-year terms presented by the nominating committee, which is independent of the board of trustees, are incumbent trustees John Anderson, Lawrence Bjorkman, L. B. Hartz; and new nominees Hugh Carlson John Peterson, and Otis Wold.

The committee also presented the names of Patrick Culkins and Otto Rupprecht to finish the term vacated by Hilmer Lunke. The position is for one year term ending in May 1958.

Other nominations also may be made by individual association members if made in writing to Don E. Lawrence, secretary of the board of trustees, by May 14. The list of association members is open to for inspection at the office of Harold W. Peterson, administrator of the hospital.

All members of the hospital association and the general public are urged to attend he annual meeting.

Cleanup Week in Thief River Falls Now in Progress

Under proclamations of Governor Orville Freeman and Mayor O. D. Beich, the perid opening today and continuing thru Saturday, May 18, is being observed as Cleanup Week in Thief River Falls. Mayor Beich and Dr. H. Paul Wandt, city health officer, joined in calling on local residents to cooperate by putting their premises into shipshape condition.

Improvement of Streets Is Topic of Advisory Unit

Committee to Set up Schedule of Priorities After Further Study

At a meeting of the Thief River Falls street planning advisory committee last Wednesday evening, preliminary study was made of a map of the city streets with view to ultimately classifying them in respect to traffic density and other factors. Classification of the streets will not be made until after further study, it was agreed.

It was agreed that Fourth St. is one of those most urgently in need of improvement, but that the street should first be qualified for state aid under the new state highway act in order to ease the burden on local tax payers.

Chairman Hugh Carlson, who presided at the session, appointed a committee to inspect streets in the Tindolph park area with a view to recommending to the city council which streets should be first to receive a blacktop treatment.

City Engineer Douglas Stewart discussed assessment procedures and recommended specifications for blacktopping streets.

The next meeting of the committee was set for tonight, secretary C. W. Rodekuhr stated.

The Northwest Concert association membership campaign, which started last spring, will be renewed this evening, Monday, at the final concert of the current season in the Lincoln high school auditorium, Curtis Harris, president, announced today.

He stated that the season membership for the four concerts to be offered in 1957-58 will be the same as for this year—$6 for adults, $2 for high school students and $1.25 for grade pupils. New members who sign up tonight, Harris added, will be admitted to the concert without additional charge.

The concert numbers to be presented during the coming year have all been arranged for, although the schedule of dates is not available.

The Ballet Russe quartet, composed of former members of the famed Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, will supply excerpts from the classics of ballet; and the Little Chorale, a mixed octet, will perform in a style similar to that of the Knickerbockers, who appeared here previously.

The third offering will be presented by Margaret Barthel, pianist who has just completed a highly successful tour, and who has performed with several major orchestras.

The fourth number will be presented either by Lillian Mernik, contralto, or Lisa Di Julio, coloratura, whichever fits best into the local schedule.

15 Local Masons Share in Birthday of Warren Lodge

A delegation of 15 members of Northern lodge No. 236 of Thief River Falls were among more than 200 Masons who participated Friday evening in a program commemorating the 75 anniversary of the founding of the Warren Masonic lodge.

Principle speaker at a banquet in the high school building was Clyde E. Hegman, Minneapolis, grand senior warden of the grand lodge of Minnesota.

The degree team of Ancient Landmark lodge of Winnipeg exemplified the Master Mason degree following the banquet in the city auditorium.

'Return Books' Week Being Observed Here

The libraries of Thief River Falls are engaging in a city-wide "Return the Books" campaign the week of May 13-18.

Books belonging to either the public library, the Lincoln high school library or any one of the three grade school libraries may be returned to any one of the five libraries or selected downtown locations free of fines for overdue or damaged books during "Return the Books" week, it was announced.

For the convenience of the public, the following stores have agreed to station book disposal units within their doors to aid in the return of books: The Ben Franklin store, Hartz Food Market, and Piggly Wiggly store.

Carnegie librarian, Frances Shanahan and Robert Lyon, Lincoln high school librarian, believe this week's campaign will result in the recovery of valuable books to the library systems.

Junior Chamber to Install Thursday

N. H. Kortuem will be installed at president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, succeeding Orin Green, at a dinner meeting Thursday evening, May 16, at 6:30 in the American Legion club rooms. Wives of members also will be guests.

Topics to be discussed include the proposed Jaycee project to Scotchlite bicycles and the Jaycee Teen-age Road-E-O held in the city Saturday.

Sons of Norway to Celebrate Norse Independence Day

Harold F. Larson, president of Snorre Lodge No. 70, Sons of Norway, announced this morning that the lodge will sponsor a Norway Independence day program at the Eagles Hall Wednesday evening May 15th at 8:00 p. m. including songs, Vaarblomsten drill team, and a talk by Vilhelm Holand, president of district One comprising the Sons of Norway lodges from Minnesota, South Dakota and Iowa. The program will be followed by a dance, and the public is invited.

Full Program Arranged for Legion Parley

Convention Parade Set for Saturday Afternoon, June 1

An outstanding convention program has been arranged for the forthcoming Ninth district American Legion convention according to Don Fish of Grand Forks, district commander. A full day of business is scheduled for Friday, May 31, with convention registrations starting at 9:30 a.m.

Friday evening celebrations will highlight a 40 & 8 wreck, a torch light parade and a dance at the Legion club rooms.

Committee reports will be on Saturday afternoon, several distinguished guests will be introduced. The principal speakers on Saturday afternoon are the Rev. Denzil Carty, department chaplain, and Department Commander Everett Getten of Wayzata.

Getten was elected department commander of the Legion at the Duluth convention in 1956. He is a charter member of Ernest Aselton Post No. 118 and is a veteran of both World War I and World War II.

A huge parade will be held Saturday at 5:00 p.m. followed by a dance at the American Legion club. The Sunday program includes a memorial parade and memorial service to be conducted following regular Sunday morning services in the Thief River Falls churches.

Post commander Elsworth Jorgenson requests that all legionnaires set the dates, May 31 & June 1 & 2 aside as ninth district convention time.

Men to Be Hired Here Tuesday for Pea Vinery Work

On Tuesday, May 14, between 8 and 9 a.m., a representative of the Green Giant Company will be at the employment office in Thief River Falls for the purpose of hiring workers for vinery stations in southern Minnesota.

The Green Giant Company is engaged in the processing of peas at various locations. Their operation season runs from approximately June 10th until late July. The work requires a well built husky man between the ages of 10 and 45.

Anyone interested in this type of work should contact the Thief River Falls employment office Tuesday morning, at 8 o'clock, said R. S. Eldervik, manager.

Virgil Larson. Alyce Allerson Winners of Jaycee's Road-E-O

The teen age Road-E-O conducted by the Thief River Falls Jaycees was completed Saturday with teenagers from Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls and St. Hilaire competing.

The winner of the $25.00 savings bond, as best driver, was Virgil Larson, route three, Red Lake Falls. In second place was Warren Stone of Thief River Falls. The two top girls were Alyce Allerson of St. Hilaire, first; and Miss Janice Rood of Thief River Falls, second. Miss Allerson and Larson are now eligible to compete in the state Road-E-O June 1 in Edina, Minnesota.

The automobiles driven in this year's Road-E-O were all 1957 model Fords, Chevrolets, and Plymouths furnished by the local garages. In completing this successful second annual Jaycee Road-E-O, chairman Ralph Foster stated that only through the efforts of the committee, Dr. Gary Gross, Kermit Kemnitz, Bruce Reski, and Ed Broughton, and the enthusiastic contestants, was this made possible.

Judges for the contest were Robert A. Wurst, coordinating judge; Chief of Police Elton Cummings, Captain Walter Anderson of the highway patrol, Chief Petty Officer Warren Nelson, and Joel McDonald, driver education instructor of Lincoln high school.

Chairman Foster stated that a vote of thanks was due to these men as well as to the Pure Oil Co. which provided gas; The Fall Concrete Co. for cement; the Automobile Dealers Association, which provided the bond.

Visitors Day at Hospital Friday

Special Hours for Guided Tours Thru Institution

In recognition of National Hospital Week, May 12-18th, Northwestern Hospital will hold open house Friday, May 17th, 2 to 4 and from 7 to 9.

Student nurses will be on hand in the hospital lobby to conduct tours of the hospital. Emphasis this year will be on explanation of certain outstanding kinds of hospital equipment. Among these are the neck exercising gallows and patient lift in the physical therapy department; the infant isolette in the nursery; the oxygen tent and the iron lung; and equipment in the blood donor room of the hospital laboratory.

A member of the Hospital Womens Auxiliary will distribute literature concerning hospitals at a table in the lobby. She will also have guests sign the visitor's book.

Following the tour of the hospital, members of the Womens Auxiliary will serve coffee and cookies in the staff dining room.

People throughout the trade area are invited to visit the hospital Friday.

In charge of arrangements for the open house is a committee including Mrs. Paul A. Lundgren, Mrs. L. B. Hartz, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Mrs. Mary Washnewski R.N., and Miss Mary McLaughlin R.N.

Lincoln School Choir to Present Comedy Tuesday Night at 8

The Lincoln high school concert choir will present the satiric comedy "Trial By Jury" a Gilbert and Sullivan, operetta in one act, Tuesday evening, May 14, at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln auditorium. Preceding the operetta, several selections will be sung by the senior girls glee club and junior high girls glee club.

The cast of the operetta includes Daryl Williamson as the learned judge, Donna Hesse as the plaintiff; James Matson as the defendant; Frank Conklin as the counsel for the plaintiff; James Solheim as the usher; and David Stokke as the foreman of the jury. Bridesmaids include Mary Halverson, Janice Johnson, JoAnn Johnson, Janice Solum, Merilyn Matson, and Alyce Allerson.

The plot centers around the plaintiff who is suing the defendant for breach of promise. The very biased jury and spectators immediately take the side of the plaintiff, and everyone picks on the poor defendant. The verdict takes everyone by surprise including the jury!

A small admission will be charged.

Cancer Drive Nets $600 on Thursday

Campaign to Continue Thru Remainder of Month

A group of more than 80 solicitors last Thursday evening collected over $600 in the residential areas of Thief River Falls in the annual canvass conducted by the Pennington county of the American Cancer society, it was announced by Mrs. Agnes Israelson, local chairman.

Additional contributions received since have brought the total above the $700 mark. In an effort to come closer to the assigned quota of $1,700 said Mrs. Israelson, canvassers will go out later this week to solicit in portions of the city not yet covered. The campaign, she added, will continue thru May.

Following their drive Thursday night, the workers were treated to coffee and doughnuts served by members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Here's Why Drivers Should Be Extremely Cautious!

This "sea of bicycles" at Knox school one is the reason why Police Chief Elton Cummings urges all city drivers to "take it easy" when driving near schools and in the residential sections of the city at times when school children are going to or coming from their classes. There is an estimated 200 or more bikes parked in the school yard and the scene is repeated at each of the other schools in the city.

5 Candidates in Contest for School Board

Curtis Harris Last to File for Office; 3 from Rural Areas

When the filing period for candidates for the Thief River Falls board of education closed Saturday, five aspirants were in the field for the three positions to be filled in the annual school district 18 election Tuesday evening, May 21.

Arnold Pearson, clerk of the board, announced that the last to file was Curtis T. Harris, 120 Spruce av. N., who entered his candidacy Friday. District manager for an insurance company, he has lived in this city for four years, and is president of the Northwest Concert association. He is married and the father of four children.

Also a candidate from this city is R. S. Eldevik, incumbent board member and manager of the Thief River Falls employment office.

The three other aspirants, all farmers living in this area; include Lloyd Howick of Norden township, incumbent; John Burfness of Silverton and Rufus Olson of Kratka.

The terms of only two board members expire this year, but a seventh membership was approved by the voters at the 1956 election, with the idea of giving the large rural area in the Thief River Falls school district two places on the board instead of one as at present.

Voting will take place at Lincoln high school Tuesday evening of next week, with the polls tentatively scheduled to be open from 6:30 to 9 p.m. A definite announcement as to the hours will be made following the meeting tonight of the board of education.

Vandals Upset 3 Cemetery Stones Thursday Night

Clara Moffett Reports Home Was Burglarized While Closed in Winter

Police Chief Elton Cummings reported two cases of robbery and one of vandalism here over the past week-end, in which several headstones in the cemetery were tipped and mischief done to other property.

Vandals apparently did their work Thursday night at the cemetery when they pushed the old horse-drawn sprinkler formerly used in the city into the coulee north of the cemetery and also tipped three tombstones over in the cemetery itself.

The damage was reported by the caretaker Saturday, Cummings said.

Thursday, Cummings said, Clara Moffat reported her home at 424 N. Davis had been burglarized while she was away during the winter. Articles reported missing were two revolvers (caliber unknown) one of which was practically new, light bulbs, a wool blanket, flashlight and a quantity of table silver.

The actual time of the burglary is not known, Cummings said, because the resident was away for the winter and the loss wasn't discovered until she returned.

"Lloyd Hogenson, city, reported a spare wheel and tire missing from the trunk of his car Sunday. He said he had parked his car at the Eagles hall until 1 a.m. Sunday and missed the spare tire later the same day. Chief Cummings reminded all residents to keep their car trunks and doors locked when they leave their cars parked, saying prevention is the best solution in such cases.

Marshall Co. Red Cross Drive Lags

Although townships in Marshall county contributed nearly as much as last year to the Marshall County Red Cross Drive, a drop in town and city contributions resulted in only 73 per cent of the $4,180 goal being reached, according to Duane Nielsen of Warren, co-chairman of the county drive. A total of $3,042.94 has been received to date, Mr. Nielsen said.

Help Aged Maintain Good Mental Health

The problem of good mental health for America's aging population is a vital one, according to a bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical association. The number of older persons in mental institutions is exceptionally high and increasing at an alarming rate. To enable these people to remain outside institutional care is a real challenge to everyone.

The causes of widespread breakdown among the oldsters are intricate and complex, but this much is known: the strain of living in a society that tends to make second-class citizens of the aged by shunting them aside is enough to develop serious dangerous stresses and tensions which lead to mental illness.

Older people resent the taboos imposed upon them by young people—social bans against having fun, wearing gay clothing or doing work considered inappropriate for them. Most healthy, well-adjusted older people chafe under these restrictions.

Older people also resent being dethroned in family relations. No longer is there the old-fashioned family homestead in which grandparents played a prominent part. Today apartment buildings and ranch-type houses are designed to keep older people apart from their children. These parents and grandparents feel the loss of the closer contact they once had with children and grandchildren and the loss of the high status age once held in neighborhoods and communities.

Reaching ripe old age is no longer a rare experience or a mark of distinction.

1959 Legislature to Be Confronted by Money Problem

State Taxpayers Group Criticizes Financing Actions at 1957 Session

"Possibility of general tax relief in Minnesota in the foreseeable future has been made increasingly difficult in view of the budget and financing program of the 1957 legislature", Norman A. Borgen, executive secretary of Minnesota Taxpayers Association, said today.

"Temporary taxes, bonus taxes, surpluses and windfalls to the extent of more than $92,000,000 were used in financing 1957-58 biennial spending. Temporary two year taxes are expected to provide $20,800,00. Changes in the income tax law should bring in $3,000,000 more. Bonus taxes during the biennium will amount to $15,950,000 and windfalls to $16,058,000 and surpluses totaling $36,300,000 will be used to help finance the budget.

"It will be a problem to make up much of this $92,000,000 and to finance whatever additional spending the 1959 legislature may provide, with both new taxes and continuation of present temporary and bonus taxes", Mr. Borgen said.

Mr. Borgen urged community leaders interested in govermental spending and taxes to start immediately to investigate the financing obligations of 1959. "We came out of this session of the legislature with a vastly increased spending program, much of which has been temporarily financed. We should know where we are going when the 1959 session of the legislature opens. We should try to make sure that last minute session jams or one day special sessions do not lead to new spending excesses and the overburdening of existing tax sources which has been the pattern of the past two sessions. Both our spending and our taxing plans are admittedly unrealistic, and the people of the state have suffered from the temporary expedience resorted to in these last minute legislative jams or brief special sessions."

Lee Plumbing Gets Red Lake Falls Job

Low Bid of $95,491 Is Accepted by School Board

Contracts for new school building program of Ind. School District No. 15 were let Tuesday afternoon at a special meeting of the board of education at the Community Hall in Red Lake Falls.

The John T. Jones Construction Co. of Fargo was low bidder on the general construction contract and the board accepted the firm's bid for $260,500 which is base bid less alternates on certain items and windows.

The heating and plumbing contract went to Lee Plumbing and Heating Co. of Thief River Falls who submitted a low bid of $95,491 with a provision for several alternates.

Hanson Electric Co. of Clearbrook was awarded the electrical contract for the sum of $31,600.

Total for the three base bids for the schol project was $390,591.

Initial construction work will be started in the very near future and the entire project should be completed by August of 1958, according to the Jones firm, depending upon the availability of materials.

A large number of other firms in the state and North Dakota submitted base bids on he three phases of construction.

Dr. M. T. Shervheim Recalled to Active Duty by Air Force

Dentist Who Succeeded Late Dr. G. W. Booren to Report for Duty June 1

Word was received here late last week that Dr. Myron T. Shervheim has been recalled to the Air Force for an indefinite tour of active duty and will report for duty about June 1.

Dr. Shervheim had practiced dentistry here only a relatively short time when he was recalled. He was a member of Flight E, 9749th Air Reserve Squadron here but the reason for his recall was a commitment to serve more time in the Air Force due to an unfulfilled obligation arising from his receiving part of his dentistry training at government expense. He expects to be given a foreign or Alaskan assignment.

Dr. Shervheim, who took over the practice of the late Dr. G. W. Booren, said his patients had been notified of his recall, and that he is trying to arrange for another dentist to be here in his practice sometime this summer.

Shervheim's recall further reduced the strength of the local Air Force Reserve unit in Thief River Falls to 14. Three other members were released for reasons of poor attendance earlier last week.

Lions Club Sells 300 Brooms in Its Drive Wednesday

With 24 members of the Lions club participating in the drive, 300 brooms were sold to local homeowners last Wednesday evening, Wendell Olson, club president, stated today.

The brooms were manufactured in the workshop of the Minneapolis Society for the Blind, and the proceeds will be used to finance the Lions club sight conservation and youth activities projects. The club is now awaiting delivery of playground equipment for Riverside Park.

A supply of the brooms remains on hand, and Olson said a second sale drive is planned for Wednesday night, May 15, in portions of the city not yet canvassed. They also can be obtained, he added, by calling Sig Quam at the Thief River Jobbing Co.

MAJOR MAURICE HYLDEN IS STATIONED IN TEXAS

Army Major Maurice W. Hylden, son of Lars Hylden, Thief River Falls, recently was assigned as a signal officer to the headquarters of Brooke Army Medical Center at Fort Sam Houston, Texas. Major Hylden entered the Army in 1942. He was graduated from North Dakota Agriculture College, Fargo, N. D., in 1936.

Heart Fund Quits Community Chest

To Operate Independent Campaigns in the Future

The Minnesota Heart Association has announced withdrawal from 68 community-wide federated fund raising drives in Minnesota, including the Pennington County Community Chest.

Dr. Robert L. Parker, Rochester, association president, said the Heart Fund elected to withdraw after "long and careful consideration, and a fair and lengthy trial of the federated fund principle."

Heart Association programs of research, education, and community services are being unnecessarily restricted, said Doctor Parker, by continued affiliation with federated funds.

Dr. Parker said the Heart association's board of directors unanimously adopted the withdrawal policy with regret after evaluating Heart Fund programs during the past six years. During that period, the directors noted, the Association's growth has fallen dramatically behind in those areas where the Heart Fund accepts an allocation from the local community-wide drive.

Korean Bonus Payment to Be Early in 1958

State Department of Veterans Affairs Announces Details

Bonus payments to Korean veterans will be initiated in January, 1959, Lyle E. Kinvig, commissioner of the Minnesota department of veterans affairs, announced this week.

Procedures to pay the individual veteran are now being established and application blanks will be available throughout the state in three or four months, Kinvig said.

According to provisions of the bonus law, veterans entitled to the Korean Service Medal will receive $15 per month for each month of overseas service and $7.50 per month for each month of domestic service. The maximum amount to be paid an individual has been set at $400.

All other veterans serving at the time of the Korean conflict will receive $7.50 per month for each month of overseas and domestic service with a maximum payment of $200.

Amounts to be paid survivors of Korean veterans will be based upon circumstances of death.

Payment will be computed on service performed between the dates of June 27, 1950 and July 27, 1953, Kinvig pointed out.

The Minnesota bonus for veterans who served in the Korean War period will be administered by the department of veterans affairs, Kinvig, whom Governor Orville L. Freeman appointed commissioner of that department in April, will supervise payment.

Phone calls and letters from Korean veterans have swamped the department since April 29 when the Korean bonus bill was signed by Governor Freeman.

The bonus law passed at the recent session of the legislature prohibits payment before January 1959.

Application blanks to be distributed throughout the state are now being prepared. Prior to distribution, application forms will be surveyed and reviewed by the Attorney General's office and other state agencies to determine whether each is legally complete in every detail.

"Upon approval, application blanks will become available at the department of veterans affairs and from the county veterans' service officer throughout the state," Kinvig said, advising Korean veterans to exercise patience and understanding during the period of setting up the bonus payment plan.

"Watch for the date of application distribution. Complete that application as early as possible after receipt. Consult your county veterans' service officer for assistance," Kinvig concluded.

It is estimated approximately 110,000 Minnesotans are entitled to Korean bonus payments.

Mercury Hits 25 in City Thursday

High Reading of 74 Is Recorded Here Saturday

An extremely complex frontal system has forcasters staggering on the ropes (to quote boxing parlance) but they say our present weather will probably last through Tuesday, although temperatures may be somewhat lower today and tomorrow.

Cloudy weather and precipitation covers a large portion of the northern U. S. in the areas affected by the fronts. A Canadian high pressure system is hovering north of the border and could reduce temperatures considerably if and when it moves south in the wake of the present frontal systems.

High temperatures for the period from last Thursday through this Monday morning ranged from a summery 74 Saturday to 62 Thursday. Jack Frost is still hanging around these parts, too, as shown by the chilly low of 25 here Thursday morning. Other lows were in the mid-thirties and forties for the period. The Monday low was 42. No precipitation has fallen since Thursday.

The forecast is for continuing fair weather today and tonight, with cooler temperatures tonight, little change otherwise. Partly cloudy weather is forecast Tuesday with little temperature change.

Winds will be northeasterly, from 15-20 m.p.h. and humidity will be on the low side. Highs today are expected to be from 58 to the mid-sixties, with the lower figure more likely near the Canadian border.

The Wednesday outlook is for scattered showers and below normal temperatures.

Selective Service Clerks at Meeting in Minneapolis

Mrs. Eldora Ranum, Clerk of Pennington Co. Draft Board, Attends Session

Lt. Colonel Murley A. Reep, state director of Selective Service, called a two-day conference for all county draft board clerks in Minnesota in Minneapolis on May 2 and 3. Among those attending was Mrs. Eldora Ranum, clerk of the Pennington county draft board.

The agenda for the conference included general discussion on such topics as farm policy, induction and preinduction calls, the various reserve enlistment programs, registration procedures, special registration (doctors' draft) and occupational deferments, as well as many other important topics which are incorporated in the universal military training and service act.

In addition to these specific subjects, Lt. Colonel Reep, Lt. Colonel Edward P. Barrows, Deputy state director of Selective Service, and other members of the Minnesota Headquarters staff discussed many of the state headquarters' policies and administrative determinations relative to the processing for induction and classification of registrants.

Dan Kojey, immediate past department commander of the American Legion, as guest speaker at the conference banquet, gave a forceful address on present world conditions.

6 Teachers Resign Newfolden Posts

Two Get Leave of Absence; Three New Teachers Named

Six members of the Newfolden school faculty have resigned for the 1957-58 school year, and two members have been granted one year leave of absence by the board of education. Faculty members who have resigned are: Stanley Cumming, science and social studies; Mrs. Catherine Froney, home economics; Miss Elizabeth Masoner, band and and science; Glen Matejka, industrial arts and assistant coach; Byron Moren, commercial subjects; and Mrs. Tunheim, social studies and girl's physical education. Faculty members receiving a year's leave of absence are Mrs. Kingsley Dyer, second grade; and Mrs. Wayne Westerson, English 11 and 12.

Three new faculty members have been hired to date. They are Mr. and Mrs. Dennes Borman Cutis J. Tonneson. Mr. and Mrs Borman are both graduates of Augsburg College and at the present time are living in Minneapolis. Mr. Borman will teach band and instrumental music. He has been a member of the Augusburg College Band for the past four years, and played for two years in an Army band.

Mrs. Borman will teach English 11 and 12, and handle speech and dramatics. She has two years teaching experience at Mora, Minnesota. The Borman's will move to Newfolden in June and Mr. Borman will start individual instruction and summer band on June 17th.

Curtiss Tonneson will graduate from Concordia College, Moorhead in June and is a native of Minot, North Dakota. He will teach commercial subjects.

PUBLIC OPINION

To the Editor

I agree with the editorial in The Times that the school board election is of great importance to the taxpayers and every voter should vote on May 21st for his choice.

The spending of taxpayers money seems to be a mania all the way from our President and Congress down to local levels.

I never forget my old boss in Grand Forks with his motto which I believe is real sensible. He said "It isn't how little we can spend but how much we can spend wisely.

Our School Board has spent much money but I know much of it has been spent unwisely.

There are some economy minded and capable men up for election on May 21 and I believe it is just good business to elect them on our school board.

Shootin' the Breeze

Finding enough worth-while to write about to fill two columns per week is a tough proposition these days, especially with summer drawing near and so much to do evenings and week-ends, so from now on you needn't look for this piece Thursdays. We'll let Norm Holen take care of the Thursday editions and we'll rattle around on Mondays.

We think a little comment on the JayCees' Teenage Road-E-O is in order at this time. For one thing, we'll go on record as saying those kids have a tough course to beat in that contest. Any boy or girl who can make a high score knows how to handle an automobile.

On the other hand, as far as actual safe driving is concerned it has relatively little value. Take driving skill—handling the car, that is—and good judgement along with reasonable caution, and perhaps a little luck thrown in, and you have the ingredients a driver needs to live and drive year after year.

You can tell a good driver from the bad from the number of dented fenders or broken bodies he has to have repaired from time to time. In driving, as in baseball, it's the number of times you reach home safely that counts!

As we said once before, we think every teen-age driver should enter the Road-E-O, especially those self-esteemed "hot rocks" whose ego could stand some deflation. All in all we think the JayCees have a worth-while project in the Teenage Road-E-O.

Impatient with the weather when it turns hot, then cold? In a hurry to set out your tomato plants? Don't be! A year ago at this time the trees were two to three weeks behind in leafing out—and most gardens weren't planted much before June 1. If we're not mistaken the average date when danger of frost is past is May 26 in these parts.

So, just relax—take it easy! If you plant now you may have to do it all over again later.

Next Saturday local fishermen take to the lakes. Already this year we've met one honest fisherman. . . John Peterson says he got several, just as Huck said in Thursday's column—the only thing Huck didn't mention was the size of the trout John had in his creel.

If you've seen John's cat running around with a well-fed, contented expression on its face recently you don't have to to guess the reason why!

A small town is one where the local business men still think the 40-hour week is immoral.

What about those teen-age gangs in Minneapolis beating up on people down there? We wonder if a return to the old public whipping post isn't in order under such circumstances. That might take some of the starch out of the stiffer offenders.

Sheriff Reports 2 Highway Mishaps

Another week-end without serious traffic accidents was reported by the various law enforcement agencies in Thief River Falls. Neihter the highway patrol nor the city police have had so much as a minor fender-bender since last Thursday.

County Sheriff Charles Richards investigated one accident which resulted in about $300 total damage to two cars involved in a collision about 11:15 a.m. Sunday. The accident occurred when a car driven by John Gustafson, 17 hit the rear of a car driven by James Fisher, 16, as Fisher apparently was attempting to make a "U" turn about 2½ miles east on highway No. 1. There were no injuries.

Richards also reported an accident which hapened near Highlanding May 7 when a car driven by Grant Adamson, Grand Forks, N. D. hit the south end of a bridge on SAR 7. About $250-300 damage was sustained to the car and Adamson was treated for cuts and bruises at a local clinic and released. Adamson paid stiff fines on two charges in traffic court here after the accident.

Spring and Barley

Spring comes softly, but swiftly, to Minnesota. One morning you can feel its charm and spell, breaking the shackles of winter. And in farm fields, the moist, good earth is turned over and almost like magic, the new shoots of grain rise in neat rows.

In Minnesota a lot of that grain is barley—choice malting barley—the kind that is used in brewing the good beers of the state, the kind that puts more money into the farmers' pockets.

It takes close to a bushel of malting barley to produce a barrel of beer and that bushel brings the farmer a premium price—substantially more than he gets for feed barley.

The Minnesota Brewing Industry has helped create that premium price by insisting that only the best malting barleys go into its products.

And the search for a better barley strain never ends. The Minnesota Brewing Industry has co-operated in supporting research that develops new and better malting barley varieties.

Because Minnesota has become one of the nation's largest barley growing states everybody benefits. Both the farmer and the brewer are contributing to the welfare of the state's economy and that helps YOU.

It's something to think about in the spring when new life takes root in the rolling fields.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the

Minnesota Historical Society

BIGGEST FOREST

Superior National Forest in northwestern Minnesota is the largest national forest in the United States. It includes more than three million acres and over five thousand lakes.

Superior Forest was created by proclamation by President Theodore Roosevelt on February 13, 1909. At that time it consisted of slightly more than a million acres in Cook, Lake, and St. Louis counties. The initial recommendation for forestry reservation of these Minnesota lands was sent to the United States General Land Office in 1902 by General C. C. Andrews, who was at that time chief forest fire warden of Minnesota. The authority to create such forest reserves was granted to the President by an act of Congress passed in 1891.

CAPTAIN MARRYAT

Among the distinguished travelers who visited Minnesota in the early nineteenth century was Captain Frederick Marryat, a famous British writer of sea tales. His impressions of the United States, a land which afforded great contrasts "between the civilized and intellectual portions . . . such as Boston and Philadelphia, and the wild regions and wilder inhabitants of the west of the Mississippi," are recorded in his three-volume "Dairy in America," published in London in 1839.

Captain Marryat visited Fort Snelling late in the spring of 1838. While there, he went to view the Falls of St. Anthony, which he did not consider "very imposing."

He was, however, greatly interested in the Indians. "Here, for the first time, I consider that I have seen the Indians in their primitive state," he wrote. He encountered a group of Sioux from Lac qui Parle who, under the leadership of Joseph Renville, had come to the fort for a council. Renville secured for the Englishman a Sioux costume, which was presented to him with much pomp and ceremony.

The captain concluded the account of his visit with the following statement: "It was with great regret that I parted with my friends at the fort, my kind host, Mr. Sibley, and my noble-minded warrior Sioux. I could have remained at St. Peters for a year with pleasure, and could only regret that life was so short, and the Mississippi so long."

That Henry H. Sibley would have welcomed so long a visit is doubtful, for he wrote of the English traveler: "He had little of the gentleman either in his manners or appearance, nor can reliance be placed upon his statements of facts in his printed work."

ART FOR SALE

The sale of oil paintings was a profitable business in Minnesota's larger communities in the 1870's. In August, 1872, for example, a Philadelphia art dealer named Scott offered a collection of 146 "high class modern oil paintings" for sale in Minneapolis.

At auction, the paintings were sold at prices ranging from nine dollars to a hundred and fifty dollars apiece, and Scott made a total of about five thousand dollars on the sale.

Some of the paintings were copies of well-known "old masters" and others were "originals" by "celebrated" artists of the day, depicting landscapes, animals, children, fruits, and flowers.

The editor of a local newspaper, commenting on the exhibit, referred to Murillo and Raphael, who were represented in the show by copies, as "those Pioneers in the field of Art, whose occasional marvelous beauties, and oft-recurring wondrous defects are at once the admiration and the laughing-stock of modern Painters." The work of these artists, he said, was valuable because it exhibited "the lower steps of the road up which pictorial art has slowly risen."

The finest painting in the group, in the editor's opinion, was "Niagara by Moonlight" by R. Wentworth, which showed "a tremendous sea of waters" illuminated by a "weird and wondrous night effect." some of his other favorites bore such titles as "First Knitting Lesson," "Torn Pants," and "Scotch Terriers."

SCHOOL DAYS

In the nineteenth century, schools frequently held long public examinations at the end of each term, and the whole town was invited to hear the students examined orally.

In March, 1868, such a three-day examination was held in Minneapolis, where the elementary department and the high school then occupied the same building. The faculty, members of the school board, and a number of town dignitaries asked the questions. Many people were present, including a reporter from the "Minneapolis Daily Tribune," whose detailed report of the affair appeared in issues of the paper for March 26, 27, and 28.

Among the ordeals of the occasion, a member of the Latin class was asked to read the first "Oration" of Cicero and translate it into English. When she finished, W. D. Washborn, Minneapolis industrialist, and Judge Isaac Atwater examined her "with regard to strict rendering of the text."

Each of the pupils in the chemistry class was "called in to the table set with different chemicals, and were required to show their familiarity with chemical action by actual experiment." Tests were also given in history, algebra, geography, geometry, colisthenics, and other subjects.

The audience was also treated to declamations, musical numbers, and the reading of original compositions. Among the later was an essay entitled "The Follies of Men," which the audience "relished . . . immensely."

The school chorus sang during the exercises and "displayed excellent vocal culture."

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—I am a World War II veteran and I own a house bought with a GI loan. Suppose I have to dispose of it for some compelling reason after July 25, 1958, the deadline for World War II veterans applying for GI loans. If VA restored my entitlement, would I be eligible for another GI loan even though the deadline has passed?

A—Yes. If after the World War II GI loan deadline the VA restored your entitlement, you would be eligible for another GI loan. You new deadline would be January 31, 1965. Of course, VA would have to be relieved of its guaranty liability under the original loan.

Q—I hold a GI insurance policy and my list of beneficiaries is on file with the VA. Would it be possible to change my beneficiaries through my last will and testament, or would I have to notify VA of the change?

A—You could not change your beneficiaries through your last will and testament, even though you do have the right to make your original beneficiary designation in that way. You would have to notify VA of the change.

Q—VA has just given me "provisional approval" for War Orphans schooling. Would I be permitted to start school now under the program, before receiving vocational counseling and "final approval"?

A—Yes, you could begin school now under the program. But if vocational counseling indicates you would be better off in a course other than the one you select, and should you then decide to change, you would be charged with one of the two changes of course allowed by law. However, if you arranged for your allowances to begin after counseling and after final approval, you would not be charged with a program change.

Q—What is the deadline for finishing vocational rehabilitation training under Public Law 894 for disabled Korean conflict veterans?

A—If you were discharged before August 20, 1954, you have until August 20, 1963, to complete your training. If you were discharged after August 20, 1954, your deadline is January 31, 1961, or nine years from discharge, whichever is earlier. Under some circumstances the deadline can be extended for four years.

Going Somewhere

People seem always to be going somewhere. Automobiles, trains, buses, airplanes—full of people, and many of these travelers are children, from babies to adolescents. The small babies have the best of it, sleeping peacefully, and getting undivided attention and warm food. Their complete dependence makes their needs musts. Adolescents ordinarily find ways to pass the time themselves. But the in-betweeners! They can do no right. Most needed is a plan made and carried out before the trip. First in importance is the child in question—his interest and his special needs.

Recently on a cross-county plane trip young Mrs. Wesley, with four-year-old twin boys (a real challenge) made such a plan. She pasted plane pictures on two plastic bags—one for Ned and one for Ted. Each bag had a drawstring long and strong enough to hang over a shoulder. Inside of each large bag she put four smaller bags (saved from super-market vegetables) and sealed them with tape. The rules, agreed upon at home.

First Ned could take out one bag and share its contents with Ted; then it would be Ted's turn. The contents were a surprise, and no peeking. Only one bag could be used at a time. The bags contained crayons and scratch-pads; clothes pins and cardboard building base; padlocks and keys, two squares of wood and colored rubber bands; a small picture book; two balls of plasticine clay. A slip in each bag said, "Mommy," one of the few words they could read. When Ned showed her his slip she had a new story ready to tell (complete with finger play for restless hands.) For Ted's slip she was ready to tell them the things she had learned about their plane from the flight packet at her seat.

Mrs. Wesley had more time and quiet to enjoy her trip. And such proud and happy travelers as Ned and Ted with their "flight kits."

Going somewhere can be satisfying for all, if the plan means more than road maps and tickets—and is a real plan for real people.

HOME Garden TIPS

C. GUSTAV HARD
ORRIN C. TURNQUIST

Growing Perennial Vegetables

Two of the most popular perennial vegetables are rhubarb and asparagus. These vegetables are usually planted at one side of the garden where they remain for several years. However, this does not mean that they should be neglected from year to year. It's necessary to fertilize, cultivate, water and harvest them properly if they're to produce abundantly.

Both of these vegetables are cool-season crops and can be planted as early in the spring as the soil can be prepared. For a family of five, plant at least 60 one-year-old asparagus crowns or 12 rhizomes of rhubarb.

Select the new improver varieties if you are replanting these crops. A good variety of asparagus is Faribo Fl. Good rhubarb varieties include Valentine, Canada Red and MacDonald.

Keep weeds under control in these plantings. Every spring feed the crops a complete fertilizer like 8-10-6, 5-10-5, 8-16-16 or 5-20-20 at the rate of 3 pounds per 100 square feet of area.

Don't harvest new plantings until the spring of the third year to assure establishment of the plants. Avoid cutting the asparagus after July 1 and rhubarb after July 15 to allow sufficient top growth for storage of food for next year's crop.

When stalks appear on rhubarb, be sure to remove them before they get too large. Allow asparagus tops to stand over winter.

Dairy

Some of the latest research on dairy calves will be of importance to dairymen who want good, growthy calves. Dairy calves fed a milk replacer containing 10 per cent vegetable and animal fat made good gains in recent University of Minnesota research.

Jesse Williams, University dairy cattle scientists, reports that calves receiving a mixture of 90 percent dried skim milk and 10 percent fat gained .905 pounds daily—a satisfactory gaining rate—over a 28 day feeding period.

In the same tests, calves fed a milk replacer with 15 percent fat gained .65 pounds daily and calves on a replacer containing 20 percent fat made .69 pounds daily gain.

Milk replacers have been manufactured and used for several years. Most of them contain 50-90 percent dry skim milk powder or other dried milk products but since skim milk contains little fat, calves need some other source of energy. The added fat must be economical, or the replacer may cost so much that it will have no advantage over feeding calves whole milk.

The fat mixture Williams used was low cost and contained 20 percent soybean lecithin—a vegetable fat—60 percent choice white grease from a packing plant and 20 percent soybean oil.

Calves in the experiment were put on milk replacer at 5 days of age and received from 1 to 2.4 pounds of mixture for the next 28 days. They received no hay or grain.

As part of this research another group of calves were fed two digestive enzymens, ficin and pancreatin in a ration that contained dried skim milk, dried whey, soya flour, dried corn syrup and the same fat mixture used for the other groups. These calves gained only .32 pounds daily, indicating the enzymes were of no help in this ration.

Flax Fits Rotations

Flax can return as much profit per acre as any small grain. There's no better companion crop for establishing grass than flax.

This crop does well on land following a row crop if you used corn or soybeans last year. But it can also be raised on fields that have been in pasture or sod for several years if the land is fall-plowed.

Stubble ground is okay for flax if it's surface-tilled, so that weed seeds brought to the surface will germinate. Then the field needs to be cultivated to kill seedling weeds.

Flax does best on a heavy, or fine textured soil. It won't do well on high lime, peat or coarse textured soils.

The only flax varieties recommended for Minnesota are Redwood, Marine, Bolley and B5128. Marine is early maturing, immune to rust, and more resistant to pasmo than B5128, or Redwood. Bolley is nearly as early as Marine. It is immune to rust, but not as resistant to pasmo as Marine.

Both B5128 and Redwood are immune to rust, but more susceptible to pasmo than Marine.

Flax is a poor competitor with weeds than wheat, oats, or barley. That means it's even more important to clean out weed seeds from flax. It's also wise to treat flax seed with a fungicide before sowing it.

Yields from flax are best when you seed the crop early. If the soil is moist, and there's no wind, flax seedlings will live through a moderate frost. Experimental results in Minnesota over a five-year period showed that yields decreased 22 percent when seeding was delayed 10 days beyond the earliest date that a good seedbed could be prepared. This is pointed out by J. O. Culbertson, University of Minnesota agronomist.

Last year's crop and how much manure you applied to your fields may save you some money on nitrogen fertilizer.

Manure and legume crops contain valuable nitrogen. So take stock of this nitrogen supply already in the soil when you figure fertilizer needs.

High corn yields usually requires about 100 pounds per acre of some form of extra nitrogen. But if the corn follows a legume which was properly inoculated you can figure that 40-75 pounds of needed nitrogen is already in the soil, depending on the legume. This amount should be subtracted from the 100 pounds.

Sweet clover is the best green manure crop for adding nitrogen. According to Curtiss Overdahl, soil specialist, University of Minnesota, as much as 150 pounds of nitrogen may be in the top and roots in the fall of the first year, but only about 75 pounds will be available to crops the following year.

Alfalfa will produce nearly as much nitrogen and red clover about three-fourths as much as sweet clover.

Where the legume in previous years on the field has been left for hay, the nitrogen application for corn should be about 75 pounds less per acre than where corn follows corn. Two or three years of alfalfa supply little more nitrogen for the first year corn than will one year of alfalfa, but will supply more for second year corn.

If each acre has received 10 tons of manure, you can subtract 25-50 pounds from the 100 pounds of nitrogen usually needed, depending on how decomposed the manure is. That means a legume along with manure would make it unnecessary to add any nitrogen.

There are exceptions to this reasoning. Corn on heavy black soil following either a legume or a manure treatment may need no additional nitrogen.

Sheep

Sheep on pasture need access to a phenothiazine salt mixture. Use a mixture of 1 pound of phenothiazine to 9-14 pounds of salt. Shelter it from sun and rain and make it available throughout the pasture season.

Vegetables For Freezing

Asparagus

Varieties for freezing are Washington and F1 Hybrid.

Harvesting: pick bright colored, brittle stalks which snap when broken and which have tight, compact tips. Harvest early in the morning if weather is hot.

Preparation: Discard woody and blemished stalks. Wash in running cold water. Sort into medium and lage stalks. Break off fibrous end. Pack whole or cut into 1 to 2 inch lengths. Process as quickly as possible; asparagus becomes woody or loses vitamins rapidly after harvesting. Fibrous ends may be completely cooked and pureed for soups.

Scalding: Medium stalks; water, 3 minutes. Large stalks (¼ to ½ inch diam.); water, 4 minutes. Chill in iced or cold running water. Drain package, and freeze immediately. Asparagus tips are a rich source of vitamin C.

Rhubarb

Varieties: Valentine, MacDonald Crimson, Chipman's Canada Red.

Harvesting: Select stalks in early spring. Stalks should be crisp, tender and of a good-red color.

Preparation: Remove leaves and woody ends. Discard blemished and tough stalks. Wash thoroughly, and cut into 1 inch lengths. Do not scald.

Pack with sugar, 1 cup to 4 cups of rubarb; or cover with sugar sirup, 3½ cups sugar to 1 quart cold water. A dry pack without sugar may be used for only a few months storage. An 8 inch pie requires one pound of rhubarb.

Tips on Freezing Meat

There are several ways to make sure meat from home-grown livestock will have quality after several months in the freezer.

Recommendations from W. J. Aunan, meats specialist at the University of Minnesota are:

Select only healthy animals for butchering.

Use sanitary butchering measures and make sure all the blood is removed from the carcass. You'll get best results if you have the butchering done commercially, regardless of whether the meat is intended for the home freezer or for the locker plant.

For best quality the carcass should be chilled at 32-36 degrees to remove the animal heat. The quicker the carcass is chilled, the higher the meat quality will be.

Beef must be aged according to the fat covering. The locker plant manager should be able to determine ageing home, but, in general, the more fat, the longer ageing time required.

Make certain the meat is put in high-quality moisture-vapor proof wrapping material. Good types of wraps for freezing include laminated freezer paper, freezer aluminum foil, and some transparent films made especially for frozen foods. Waxed locker papers provide only moderate protection against development of rancidity.

For best results, the meat should be quick frozen at 20 degrees below zero, then stored at zero degrees or less.

Maximum storage time depends on the kind of meat. Beef (except ground beef,) veal and lamb, if wrapped well, can be stored for 8 to 12 months. Maximum time for fresh pork is 5-6 months and cured pork must be used after 3-4 months.

Arriving at Barcelona April 6th we went on a sight seeing tour, of much interest was the statue of Columbus, and a replica of the Santa Maria, which was very small. April 9 arrived in Naples which gave us a picture of poverty and uncleanliness. Our next stop was at Leghorn where we went directly to a finance office to get some Italian money. 625 lire to the American dollar. Where we now stay we pay 3,000 lire a day, about $4.00 and we eat at the club. The children have started school again.

We have seen the Leaning Tower of Pisa. The interior of the Pisa Cathedral is beautiful with paintings about 20 x 30 feet and some of them 500 years old. The dome is covered with gold, has numerous stained glass windows, elabarate carvings and marble floors of many colors.

The people of Veona drive bicycle's mostly and haul everything that will fit into the bicycle's basket. Horse carts, push carts and taxis are also very common means of transportation.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Pursuant to adjournment the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, met in regular session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building, April [illegible], 1957 with all members present.

Applications for renewal of club licenses to permit the "on" sale of intoxicating liquors were presented by Thief River Falls Lodge [illegible], B.P.O. Elks; Veterans of Foreign Wars, [illegible] Post 117, The American Legion and Fraternal Order of Eagles, Aerie [illegible], each accompanied by Surety Bond of Western Surety Company, Sioux Falls, S. D. in the amount of [illegible]. Alderman Carlson moved approval and issuance of licenses, being seconded by Stenberg. All members voted in favor thereof.

The Council then proceeded with further consideration of [illegible] for use in Municipal Liquor [illegible]. Alderman [illegible] introduced a resolution accepting the bid of Bridgeman Creameries at their bid of $572.[illegible] exclusive of wiring and plumbing and moved its adoption. Alderman Carlson seconded adoption. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed.

Alderman Stenberg introduced a resolution establishing parking regulations on certain days on certain Avenues and Streets in connection with the sweeping of the City's streets, directing procurement of adequate signs for placement indicating such limitations and moved its adoption. Alderman Carlson seconded such motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the resolution was declared passed and adopted.

Alderman Stenberg moved that the request of Pennington County Agriculture Society representatives for an appropriation in the amount of $100 as aid in conducting the Pennington County Fair of 1957 be denied, the City, however, to furnish lighting and water during such period at no charge. The motion was declared lost for want of a second.

Discussion was then had with Consulting Engineer D. H. Stewart with respect to contemplated improvements at the municipal power plant in order to provide facilities in connection with procurement of additional power capacity in the operation of said plant.

The meeting was then declared adjourned to April 23, 1957 at eight o'clock P.M.

A. F. [illegible]
President of the Council.
Attest: P. G. Peterson,
City Clerk.

Crookston Wins Bemidji Relays; Prowlers Third

Coach Al. Droen's Crookston Central Pirates, giving every indication that they are to be considered a title threat in the 31st district and eighth regional tournament, won the Class A team championship in the 15th annual Beaver Relays held at Bemidji on Friday. The Pirates racked up a total of 50½ points. The Bemidji Lumberjacks were runners-up with 40 points, while coach Quentin Jones' Prowlers gained third place with a total of 34½ points.

Other Class A team point totals were Roseau, 18½; Kelvin (Winnipeg), 14; Park Rapids, 10; Blackduck, 4½; Tech-Voc (Winnipeg), 4; Baudette, 4; Bagley, 4; Warren, 3½; and East Grand Forks, 1.

This week the Prowlers will be opening their defense of the 31st district track and field championship. On Friday, May 17th, the district tournament will be held at the Memorial Stadium at Grand Forks.

In the Beaver Relays on Friday, Herschel (Pepper) Lysaker, Crookston Central's one-man gang, won the individual honors with 18½ points. Lysaker won the high and low hurdles, the 100-yard dash, and tied for second in the broad jump.

Bemidji's Jim Patten set a new mark in the high jump event with a leap of 6 feet, ⅛ inch.

The Prowler point-winners in the Relays were Boyce Lee with a 1st in the pole vault; Jerry Konickson with a 3rd in the pole vault, and Bill Wik with a tie for 5th in the polevault. Jim Nelson a 3rd in the discus, and Keith D. Johnson a 2nd in the shot put.

The Prowler sprint medley team gained a third place; and the locals won a 5th in the 880-yard relay event.

Prowler Tennis and Golf Teams Play at Bemidji

Coach Edlund's Tennis Team Is Runner-up to Bemidji in Tourney

The Prowlers tennis and golf squads participated in the invitational tournaments at Bemidji on Friday, which were held in conjunction with the Beaver Relays.

Coach Dick Edlund's blue-and-gold tennis squad totaled an aggregate of 16 points to gain runner-up honors to the winning Bemidji Lumberjacks, who scored an aggregate of 23 points. Other team point totals were Moorhead, 13; Crookston, 10; and Grand Forks Central, 8.

In the individual competition, Ken Jones won two matches and lost two; Ken DeLap won three matches and lost one; Bob Netteland won four matches and lost none; and the doubles team of Paul Bakke and Dan Casey won two and lost two matches.

In the golf tournament, coach Jack Boyer's Prowler divot-diggers had a gross score of 351 strokes, finishing fifth in the seven-team tourney.

The Bemidji Lumberjacks, with a score of 319, won first place; Fargo Central was second with 332; Crookston Central was third with 337; and Grand Forks Central had 338. Following the Prowlers were Cass Lake, with 374, and Walker with 405.

In the Prowler individual scoring Daryl Williamson had a 38-41; Jim Solheim a 39-45; Jon Larson a 44-45; Roger Heyn a 48-51; and Dave Gall a 43-50.

Water Sportsmen with Debris Removed from River

Last Monday evening the members of the newly-organized Thief River Falls Water Sports Club had a "dead-head" gathering at the city boat landing and shown above are some of the club members with the results of the evening's work. Those pictured are Phil Hess, Stan Gibson, Wendy Olson, LeRoy Bakken and Tom Fuller. The trees, posts, etc., shown here would have made very dangerous boating in the river pool here had they not been removed. The sportsmen say some work remains to be done before the job is completed.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

It Hurt

Last week, apparently, was a jinx week for pitchers. First, the Cleveland Indians' star southpaw Herb Score gets hit in the right eye by a line drive off the bat of the New York Yankees' Gil McDougald; and then the Prowlers' Bob Hallameck suffers a cracked collarbone.

It's not being far-fetched to compare the Indians' Score to the Prowlers' Hallameck. In their respective spheres it's doubtful if Score bulks larger in the Cleveland scheme of baseball than Hallameck does in the plans of coach Ralph Skjod and the Prowlers.

Bob's righthanded pitching was one of the reasons why the Prowlers had been installed as favorites to win the 31st district championship, and being a strong contender for the regional honors. Those odds have, of course, evaporated.

But while the loss of Hallameck is sufficient to drop the Prowlers from rank as district favorites, it doesn't mean that coach Skjod's club will give up their championship (and they have won the district title for the past four years) by default. With such game-tested competitors as Freddy Dablow, Ross Sloan, Harlie Drees, Jerry Jorgenson, Dean Bergland and others on the squad, you can be sure that the locals will make the "all out" try.

It is probable that Hallameck will be available for baseball in five or six weeks, and as he has some eligibility remaining in American Legion junior baseball, he may join that squad. And, too, he may enter senior baseball ranks with the Thieves. In the games he played with the Thieves last season, Bob showed to advantage and he's a definite prospect.

Another Loss

As if the loss of Hallameck wasn't enough to cause coach Skjod's ulcers to feel provoked, another loss to the team was recorded when Keith (Lefty) Johnson left the squad last week.

Keith is perhaps the best coordinated athlete in high school, and perhaps the most complex personality. Keith, in his athletic endeavors, is a perfectionist, and if he fails to perform up to the standards that he has set, he becomes irritated and short-tempered.

The stylish southpaw has tremendous potential as a baseball player and a football player, and of course he is an exceptional basketball player. We regret much that he found the discipline that is a necessity to high school athletics too chafing.

They're Growing Larger

Don't try to tell Walt Larson that there are no large walleyes in Red Lake! He has proof, in the form of colored slides, to refute such a statement.

The common talk amongst fishermen, and it has been going on for years, is that Red Lakes, upper and lower, contain nothing but monster northerns and one-pound walleyes. Incidentally, the average depth of upper Red Lake is forty feet, and lower Red Lake's average depth is twenty feet.

Walt was up at Waskish the other day, activating his summer cabin on upper Red Lake. He spent quite a bit of his time, though, at the fishery watching the state game and fish department crew "stripping" female walleyes. This is the time of the year when the state conservation department puts in long hours on fish propagation, and Waskish is one of the important walleyed pike stations.

Walt maintains that some of the walleyes that were brought in by the seines weighed seven, eight and nine pounds. Perhaps a bit more.

Cliff Overum, who holds "squatter's" rights to the Shotley brook fishing territory, substantiates Walt's statement about the Red Lake walleyes getting better, for he, Cliff, has brought in some walleye strings that look as if they were taken out of Lake of the Woods.

Bums in their Home Opener

The Bums, with Larry Gilbertson as their player-coach, announced that they will open their league schedule on Sunday afternoon, May 19th, at 2:30 P.M. on the Fair Grounds. They will play Grygla.

That's an ideal open-game opponent for the Bums, for the rivalry between the Bums and Grygla is the best, and the hottest.

The Bums, perhaps, won't treat the fans to baseball finesse that is exhibited by the Thieves (the Bums players will give you some strong arguments on that point), but they do create excitement and fun and entertainment.

To attract attention to their eyes, belles of the gay nineties used lorgnettes, even though they had no eye defects.

Lost For Season

BOB HALLAMECK

Coach Ralph Skjod's baseball Prowlers suffered a severe loss and a blow to their hopes of successfully defending their 31st district title when, in the 5th inning of the game played here on Wednesday against Climax, Bob Hallameck and Ross Sloan collided in attempting to catch a fly ball hit into short centerfield. The result of the collision was that Hallameck received a "hairline" fracture of the collarbone, and he will be sidelined for the balance of the high school baseball season.

In his three starts to date, the Prowler righthander had hurled a pair of hitless and scoreless innings against Goodridge, a 4 to 0 shutout against Oslo, and a 2 to 1 win in extra innings against Crookston Central.

Baseball Prowlers Take Doubleheader

Coach Ralph Skjod's baseball Prowlers swept their afternoon-night doubleheader on Friday, defeating the Bagley Flyers, 19 to 8, in an afternoon game played at Bagley, and then besting Erskine, 11 to 6, in a game played under the lights at Erskine.

Excepting the tournament week, this week will find the Prowlers engaging in what could well prove their most strenuous of the season. On Monday afternoon, with game at 4:00 p.m., the prowlers will meet the Crookston Pirates in a district conference game on the Fair Grounds diamond. On Tuesday night the Prowlers will inaugurate the local night baseball season. They meet the ever-dangerous Halstad Pirates on the Fair Grounds diamond, with game time at 8:00 p.m. On Thursday night the Prowlers will play the highly-touted Fertile Falcons in a night game at Fertile; and on Friday night, coach Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles will meet the Prowlers in a night game on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Coach Skjod, on Friday afternoon, started Freddy Jensen against the Bagley Flyers, but Bagley took liberties with Freddy's southpaw slants and the Flyers gained a 6 to 1 lead after three innings of play. Arlan Hjelle, a righthanded freshman hurler, was called in as a reliefer, and he checked the Flyer attack. Hjelle, taking over in the 3rd inning, held the Flyers under control except for a brief uprising in the 7th inning, when they scored a pair of runs. Hjelle whiffed twelve Bagley batsmen.

The Prowlers "broke open" the game in the 4th and 5th inning when they shoved eighteen runs across the plate, getting ten counters in the 4th inning, and an eight-run cluster in the 5th inning. The "power" blow of the Prowler scoring splurge was a terrific centerfield home run clout by Tony Wald.

Moving over to Erskine for a night game, the Prowlers hooked up in a duel between Ross Sloan for the locals and Monty Budahl for Erskine, with the Prowlers, on a five-run outburst in the 7th inning, pulling away from coach Kroeger's club.

Dean Bergland, who connected for four hits in five tries, and Freddy Dablow, who had three safeties in five trips, led the Prowlers 14-hit attack on Budahl. Dablow, against the Bagley pitching earlier in the day, had connected for three hits in four attempts.

The line scores:

Thief R. F. ....100 (10) 8 0 — 19 14 6

Bagley ....213 0 0 2 — 8 11 9

Batteries—Jensen, Hjelle and Berg. Wegge; Stockset, Jasperson, Anderson and Amundson.

Thief R. F. ....201 210 5 — 11 14 5

Erskine ....000 401 1 — 6 5 4

Batteries—Ross and Berg; Budahl and Sampson.

Hallock Priest Is Shifted to Tabor

Rev. John Merth, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church at Hallock, has been appointed pastor of the Holy Trinity Catholic church at Tabor, Bishop Francis J. Schenk announced. He will succeed the late A. L. Zellekens who died in Frankfurt, Germany, April 16. The appointment will become effective May 16.

In another appointment Rev. Charles Gormly, now serving as assistant at St. Rose of Lima Catholic church in Argyle, will be transferred to Park Rapids.

Governor Proclaims 1957 Cleanup Week

Governor Orville Freeman, in a proclamation officially designating May 13-18 as Clean-Up Week in Minnesota, urged all citizens to cooperate in all programs to keep Minnesota attractive, clean, healthy and enjoyable. The executive proclamation was issued in support of the annual "sanitary inspection" of Minnesota communities by the state's nearly 1000 health officers.

Said the Governor, "Springtime in Minnesota emerges anew as her citizens strive to restore the natural beauty of their yards, communities, parks and playgrounds — all a part of the bountiful outdoors for which our state is known; and whereas the full enjoyment of the summer amid the natural resources which abound in Minnesota depend upon all our efforts, it is essential that we unite in ridding our communities of the drab and the offensive, the unhealthy and the hazardous."

Under Minnesota's health laws and regulations, the health officer of each city and village must make a "thorough sanitary inspection of his municipality in the month of May, and present a written report of such inspection, together with his recommendations, to the council . . ." A copy of the report is also sent to the Minnesota state board of health. Another regulation provides for the service of abatement notices upon those still found to have nuisances on their premises upon inspection and strongly recommends an organized community clean-up campaign at least annually in the spring, but preferably at more frequent intervals.

The laws and regulations also point out that it is not sheer esthetics that make it desirable to remove piles of refuse, garbage, and other discarded materials. "As sources of disease and feeding and breeding grounds for rodents, they exist as real threats to the public health." These hazards such as abandoned wells, unused refrigerators and ice boxes, paint cans, broken glass, and poisons and volatile liquids, are fire and accident hazards as well.

The Minnesota Department of Health warns that "Spring is a particularly dangerous time of the year for home and environmental accidents. A clean, orderly, uncluttered home and environment would go a long way toward reducing injuries and fatalities from falls, burns, accidental poisonings, suffocations, and traffic accidents — especially in children."

Plans for Next School Year
By Supt. J. A. Sater

SUPT. J. A. SATER

The series of articles dealing with various aspects of the Thief River Falls schools, which have appeared in the Times in recent months, is concluded with the following report by Supt. Sater on changes to be made in the school curriculum and facilities during the coming year. Mr. Sater is leaving in July to take over the superintendency of the Brainerd schools.

Many questions have been asked by patrons of district 18 about plans for the next school year so I thought it might be well to outline briefly as specifically as possible just what the thinking of the board of education is on next year's activity. These decisions were made as a result of the combined thinking of teachers, administration, school board, and lay people and represent for the most part the opinions of the majority. In most cases the decision represent unanimous opinions of the people who considered the matters.

I will divide this report into three categories, the area-vocational school, the high school, and the elementary school.

The Area-Vocational School

In order to have reasonable uniformity in the entire secondary school program matters pertaining to the curriculum and general administration of the area school and the high school proper will be under the jurisdiction of the high school director. The area school is more directly responsible for the operation of the area-vocational school. Courses to be offered in the area school have not been decided definitely at this writing, but in all probability the following will be given:

Automobile Mechanics

This is offered to juniors and seniors in high school as well as post-graduates. If high school people take the course during their last two years they may receive a certificate by completing one full year of post high school work. Post-graduates may receive a certificate by completing two full years.

Radio and Electronics

The same procedure as in automobile mechanics is followed.

Practical Nursing

This is offered to post graduates only. The class may not exceed a total of twelve.

Farm Management

This is an adult education program carried on throughout the year by individual and group instruction in such phases of agriculture as dairy herd improvement and farm record keeping. This program has been perhaps the most successful of its kind right here at Thief River Falls.

Office Training and Business Practices

This is a course for post graduates only and involves training in advanced business preparing the students for jobs in business offices. This is a new course and promises to be very popular. It is a one year course.

Hair Dressing and Beauty Culture

This is also a one year course for post graduate students. The content is self-explanatory.

Farm Shop

This is primarily for juniors and seniors in high school and is part of the regular agriculture program.

At the time of this writing it is questionable whether or not Carpentry and Welding will be offered next year due to limited interest. Night classes and general adult education courses will be offered as the interest develops within the community.

It is to be understood that the services of this area school are extended as the name implies to the entire northwestern area of Minnesota. For students under 21 years of age the tuition is paid by the state and for those over 21 years of age the cost is nominal. For those of you who are interested it is strongly recommended that you contact Mr. Clarence Pope or Mr. Stanley Nelson at once.

The High School

By the high school we mean grades seven through twelve. Grades seven through nine are included in the junior high and ten through twelve the senior high. The high school director is in charge of curriculum supervision, and general administration of this department. Matters of discipline, attendance, student government, records, and so forth are taken care of by the senior high and the junior high principals. General guidance, testing, and such matters are handled by the guidance director. All four of the high school administrators work with program planning for individual pupils and parent teacher conferences. It is well to point out here that, should there be any question about which person you should call about a high school problem, contact the high school director and he will direct you to the right party.

Registration has been completed and most of the courses have been set up. At the time of this writing the only questionable course is German due to the fact that at present no teacher is available. Continued attempts will be made to secure an instructor, however. Art is being placed in the curriculum again after last year's lapse due to limited facilities.

According to plans for the 1957-58 school year no classes will exceed thirty pupils except in a very few instances. The average will be less than thirty. This will make possible better instruction and much more wholesome classroom atmosphere. Classes will be divided according to interest. Those who are preparing for college will be in one group and those who are preparing for vocational work will be in another group. It will be possible to move from one to the other group as a student advances in high school work if it is discovered that his interest change. The purpose of this division is to make it possible to adjust instruction according to the needs of the students. There can be no question that the best interests of all the pupils will be served in this manner.

The seventh, eighth, and ninth grade students will hold their classes generally in the old Washington building and the main floor of old Lincoln. They will use the new vocational building for their industrial arts and agriculture classes, however. Pupils in grades ten, eleven, and twelve will be segregated as much as possible from others in the new Lincoln and the top floor of the old Lincoln. They will also use the new vocational school facilities. Both groups will use the new cafeteria which is part of the new building. A separate library for seventh and eighth grades will take care of library over-flow. This is in the old Washington building.

Continued effort will be made to balance the extra-curricular activity offering. Through individual guidance and counseling limit their participation to activities that they can excel in. Additional club and socialized activity to provide for opportunities for many of the non participants is planned.

Individual and group guidance will continue to be a prime function of Lincoln High School. The records of the past two years show conclusively that guidance services pay off in large dividends. Enrollment in college of our graduates has doubled and the number of pupils taking more difficult academic courses rather than the so-called "slide" subjects has more than doubled. We feel confident that the program has done wonders in helping our pupils to find themselves and thus to make better citizens and a better America.

The Elementary School

Plans call for a continuation of the tremendous progress that is so very evident in this very important phase of our educational system. A strong foundation program, stressing the three R's with adequate emphasis on extra-curricular activities to give the child a good all around background for high school work, is the aim of the Thief River Falls elementary schools.

No change in kindergarten ages will be made for the next school year, but the September 1 date will be the deadline in the 1958-59 school term. We strongly recommend to the parents of children who were born in the months of September to December and still meet the deadline for entrance to kindergarten for this next year, that they do not enter such pupils until the following year. We are convinced that the best interests of the children can be served in this manner.

To provide for the best possible instruction ability grouping will be used in each individual grade school. It is the thinking of the administration that only by this method can the proper results be achieved.

It will be necessary to change boundary lines for some sixth grade pupils in the area now referred to as the Knox school area. Only by this means can we hope to utilize the facilities as they will be provided next year. One class of sixth graders from the Knox School area will be housed in the new Washington school. Definite information on this arrangement will be provided parents at a later time.

Parent-teacher conferences, with emphasis on parent-teacher-pupil understanding, will continue to be stressed in elementary school relationships. We feel that only by this means can we accomplish what we want to —the very best elementary education that the people can afford.

In General

It will be interesting to the tax-paying patrons of Independent District Number 18 to find out that, with all the improvements in facilities and school program, the financial situation for the future appears very sound. Increased school aids brought about particularly by consolidation in district 18 have been such that little or no increases in local taxes may be expected at least for another year. Future increases in local taxes will depend largely upon additional services that the patrons will demand.

I would like to finish with just a little personal note. The fine support given me in my brief tenure as your school head in Thief River Falls has been much appreciated. The great majority of you have been nothing short of tremendous. I am most grateful and I wish for all of you the best of everything. You are a grand community of "human" people and are most deserving.

Dairy Meeting Is Called at Bemidji

Unfair Trade Practices to Be Discussed May 17

Commissioner J. W. Clark of the department of business development today announced the intent of his staff to proceed with the immediate enforcement of the recently enacted dairy industry unfair trade practices act. This law is one designed to prohibit and prevent further use of unfair trade practices which have grown up over the years in marketing of dairy products.

Among the trade practices prohibited under the act are lending money, giving and lending of equipment, extension of unlimited credit by processors, to retail dealers. The act provides for fair and equitable treatment of all retailers, making discriminatory prices illegal.

Clark announced that a series of regional meetings will be held with the dairy industry to discuss the new act. Regional meetings will include one at Bemidji May 17 at 1:30 p.m. in the National Guard Armory, 3rd st. and Bemidji Avenue.

While there is no price fixing in this law and retailers are not among those directly concerned, both the general public and retailers are interested in the purpose of the statute. Briefly stated, that purpose is to bring order and ethics into marketing procedures which have become marked by lack of such. Copies of the new law can be obtained from the Department of Business Development located in the State Office Building.

Coal production per man will rise 3 to 4.5 tons from the present 10-tons-per-man level by the beginning of 1960, it is predicted. This expansion in output directly reflects greater mechanization in mining operations.

Old Fashioned Ideas

Abraham Lincoln was just as generous to the rich and well-born as to the poor and humble—a thing rare among politicians.

Three Kings to Draw To

It is too early to know what the final result will be but so far the Eisenhower Doctrine in the Middle East seems to be accomplishing its purpose. For the time being at least the Communists have been taking a less belligerent attitude toward "western aggression" in that area. Observers generally agree that the free-nation position has improved a great deal.

The President's extra effort to make King Saud's visit to Washington extra pleasant is paying good returns. The Saudi Arabia monarch has been a friendly representative of our country among his Arab neighbors. He, along with King Feisal of Iraq and Hussein of Jordan have come to the conclusion that Communism is the greatest danger for the Arab world. And with these three kings to draw to, like is holding a powerful hand in that Middle East poker game.

Any question as to whether the President was bluffing when he defined American policy in that area must have been dispelled when he ordered the Sixth Fleet into eastern Mediterranean waters. The Russians noticed it with the usual comment that it was an act of imperialism. It is significant however that they immediately lost interest in the Middle East and started talking world peace again.

Drouth and Flood

A couple of months ago Texans were hoping for rain. After five years of drouth the prospect was not encouraging. Then on March 25, a blizzard, pushed by an 80 mile wind, swept across the state. Even such a storm was welcome as long as it brought with it a little moisture.

Since then there has been a continuous succession of storms—50 tornadoes along with cloudbursts and hail and floods. Damage has been terrific, and large districts of the state have been proclaimed major disaster areas.

That's the way the weather is. The most dependable thing about it is the probability that it will change, and quite often swinging from one extreme to another. The Texans have our sympathy. We understand their problem. We too know what it is to experience extremes.

But Cut Spending First

Senator Byrd of Virginia, chairman of the Senate Finance committee, is opposed to federal tax cuts at this time. He has pointed out however some of the reductions that would be possible a year later if spending is reduced in the meantime.

He says, for instance, that if the budget for next year's spending is cut back to the level of appropriations authorized two years ago it would be possible a year later to reduce taxes from six to seven billion dollars a year.

We like the idea. It appeals to us especially as a practical way of helping communities such as ours to pay for the schools we have already built or are building. We are satisfied that our people will do just as good a job of putting that money into circulation as could a group of government employees and bureaucrats, and they would have a lot more fun figuring out for themselves how to spend it.

But, as Senator Byrd points out, spending must be cut first. And maybe after reduced spending the first consideration should be debt retirement.

All Fair Game

(Topeka Daily Capitol)

"Two score years ago our fathers brought forth upon this nation a new tax, conceived and dedicated to the proposition that all men are fair game.

"Now we are engaged in a great mass of calculation, testing whether the taxpayer, so confused and impoverished, can long endure. Met on Form 1040, we have come to dedicate a large portion of our income to a final resting place with these men who spend their lives that we may give our money.

"It is not altogether fitting that we do this. But in the legal sense we cannot evade—we cannot cheat—we cannot underestimate this tax. The collectors who computed here have gone far beyond our power to add or detract.

"Our creditors will little note, nor long remember, what we pay here, but the Internal Revenue Service can never forget what we report here. It is for us, then, to be dedicated to the great task before us—that from these vanishing dollars we take increased devotion to the few that remain, that we highly resolve that next year will not find us in a higher bracket."

Just about the biggest shock the younger generation hands out is the realization you no longer belong to it.—Winnipeg Tribune.

The Federal budget today is not perfect; it can be trimmed. A tax cut would be splendid, too. But if spending is curtailed Congress or the Administration should give a thought to using the savings for reduction of the national debt, which is now at a staggering $270 billion.— San Francisco Chronicle.

What the economy-aroused country must watch is what Congress does to get at the basic cause of the disease, not what it may do to sugar-coat the tax pill. The nation is looking for relief. Congress, or most of it, is looking only for votes.—Dallas Morning News.

We agree with Sen. Byrd that expenditures must be reduced in the coming year, and that the only way this will be accomplished will be from people back home.—Cleveland Plain Dealer

The feeling is abroad—and it is heightened with every one of these monthly admissions that the cost-of-living is up again — that the national economy is getting out of hand again, that it is drifting back into the undisciplined condition that prevailed at the tail end of the Truman Administration.

In the first three years, the Eisenhower Administration took heroic measures to get the budget under control and to stop inflation. It is time to apply the same heroic measures once again.—Buffalo Evening News.

REPORT from the GOVERNOR

by Orville L. Freeman

During the session just ended, the Minnesota Legislature passed nearly a thousand laws. While the old maxim that "ignorance of the law excuses no one" still stands, the average citizen will never have occasion to know the content of many of these laws. But some of them are of such major importance to all of us that we should know what they are, and observe them constantly.

Safety Legislation

The fishing season is about to open in Minnesota, and thousands of people will be driving extra miles on our highways to enjoy one of our state's favorite sports. Extra precautions will be needed to prevent accidents on our highways and lakes.

Laws relating to driving on our highways and streets will be enforced as strictly as possible. The legislature has just given the Minnesota highway patrol the largest increase in manpower in its history. An increase of nearly thirty percent in the number of patrol officers will make the state's efforts at enforcement much more effective.

Controlled Access

We are going to be able to build more safety into our highway system by improved planning and engineering. The Bureau of Public Roads has made studies which show that controlled access highways can cut accidents as much as five-fold. The Legislature has now provided that trunk highways, as well as those under the jurisdiction of counties or communities, may be designated as controlled access highways.

Safety Belts

The individual motorist himself must be responsible for many safety measures. The legislature did not enact my recommendation for compulsory periodic inspection of motor vehicles for safety, but each owner should see that his vehicle is in safe driving condition.

The highway patrol has placed safety belts in all of its vehicles, with good results. A number of times accidents have occured, in which officers believe that the only thing that kept them from serious injury was the safety belt. From that experience, we have now decided that all state units will be equipped with safety belts, and their operators instructed to use them.

Public Attitude

Minnesota's record of deaths in traffic accidents so far this year is not good. The public is unanimous in deploring the high number of serious accidents. But it is not so unanimous in condeming the kind of careless driving, including violation of speed and other traffic laws, that causes these accidents.

Law enforcement officers cannot be everywhere. They cannot watch every driver. If public opinion itself would condem careless driving.—if driving at excessive speeds would become socially unacceptable.—I am certain our record would improve.

Such improvement can be brought about only in cooperation with the citizens of Minnesota, who, by their attitude, can bring about better driving practices.

How Much Wallpaper

It's simple to guess number of rolls you need for any room. Here's how: Measure perimeter and height of room. Multiply perimeter by height, and divide by 30 to get number of rolls you'll need. You can deduct one single roll for every two windows or doors, but it's best to have a bit extra around, just in case.

Sen. Humphrey's Newsletter

Enroute To Cairo

As this is written, we are enroute to Cairo, where I shall visit with Egyptain Premier Gamal Nasser, beginning a two-week series of discussions with Near Eastern leaders. Based on my first round of discussions in Italy, the upcoming meetings will be of material assistance to me as Chairman of the Senate's Subcommittee on the Near East, as the Senate focusses its attention late this month on this very critical area.

Our Italian Ally

I was agreeably impressed during my three days in Italy, by the rising standard of living, by the Italian government's genuine efforts at land reclamation, irrigation and land reform in southern Italy, and by the extent of Italy's growing contribution to NATO strength in southern Europe. The top Italian officials with whom I talked were deeply conscious of their nation's responsibilities as a partner in NATO, and reflected pride in their nation's efforts to put itself back on its feet. I saw a great deal of new construction and evidence of efficient and well-planned govenment in both Rome and Naples. Our Ambassador to Italy, James D. Zellerbeck and his staff of dedicated career Foreign Service Officers, I want to report, are doing a good job, as is the United States Information Service headquarters in Rome.

High Drama

Not twenty-four hours after our arrival in Rome, the United States Sixth Fleet suddenly weighed anchors from its ports in Italy and southern France and swept down the coast of Italy toward the eastern Mediterranean hot spot. Our plans to go aboard the giant carrier Forrestal to visit with the Sixth Fleet Commander had to be postponed until later, for the Fleet was on its way too fast and too far. The effectiveness of this Fleet movement at the height of the Jordanian crisis was dramatic demonstration of the fact that our nation, which with its many and varying foreign policy commitments, must continue to maintain a defense structure in which flexible "conventional forces" are available. Meeting at Naples, we had a valuable and detailed discussion with the capable Commander in Chief of Allied Forces Southern Europe, American Admiral Robert Briscoe, about some of the key problems involving the defense against Soviet aggression in the Mediterranean area.

Food

While in Italy we also met with Food and Agriculture Organization officials and with Italian government officials to discuss the workings of Public Law 480, the program to dispose of American agricultural commodities abroad in constructive ways. Over and over again, I heard that the work of the churches and voluntary agencies in making American foodstuffs available in Italy has done more to combat communism in Italy than any any other single factor! I also learned that the Italians are very anxious that a pound of shortening and a pound of oils should be included in the relief packages. I intend to follow this up with the Agriculture Department in Washington later this month.

Meeting At The Vatican

Just before leaving Italy I had the inspiring experience of meeting personally with his Holiness, Pope Pius XII, in the center of the magnificent basilica of St. Peter's. Surrounded by literally thousands of people jamming the cathedral, the Pontiff displayed that characteristic dignity and spiritual grace which the world has come to recognize in this great spiritual leader. Surely there will be no single experience on this journey with quite the moving effect of this brief meeting.

Gardens Make a Three-Way Contribution to Home Life

There are three principal uses for the average garden: (1) to supply cut flowers to decorate the table and home, (2) to make the property beautiful, and (3) to provide a comfortable area in which the home owner can enjoy his hobby of growing plants.

In starting from scratch, the garden may consist of perennial plants, which need not be renewed each year, or from seeds, or small potted plants available in every locality.

There are many kinds of perennials, of which chrysanthemum, delphinium, phlox and hollyhocks are probably the most outstanding. Chrysanthemums have the advantage of producing flowers late in the season when little else is blooming.

Best rule for planting annuals in the average flower bed is to place the taller growing plants in the center and lower growing ones toward the sides until the edge of the bed is reached.

In growing both perennials and annuals, preparation of the bed is important. They will grow best in a good loam. Spade to a depth of eight inches and pulverize the soil by forking it over several times. Rake the top two inches so the soil is fine. Add fertilizer as described on its container.

If seeds are planted the soil should be especially fine. After planting, whether it be seeds or plants, soak the soil with water. Do not allow young plants to dry out, but do not keep them continuously wet.

Good rule is to water well and then let the bed alone until it shows evidence of being dry. Cultivation of the soil between plants will help to preserve its water content.

Pour Without Splashing

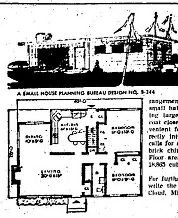
When pouring liquids such as turpentine and shellac from square gallon cans having a spout in one corner, hold the can so that the opening or spout is at the top when the can is in pouring position.

Decorators' Items

Venetian blinds are today entering the category of "decorators' items." They come in a wide range of colors and color combinations and in an interesting variety of finishes: spatter mother-of-pearl, wood grain, linen and lace.

Full Length Mirrors

Full-lenght mirrors are almost a "must" in the modern home; usually they are placed in the doors on bedroom and coat closets, where they facilitate "last minute check-ups" of attire by family and guests.



A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. B-344

DESIGN B344. A three-way exposure in the living room is made possible by combining the living and dining rooms. A large comfortable kitchen provides plenty of room for dining, generous cabinets and an interesting corner sink and window arrangement. The plan is open, with a very small hall, two good sized bedrooms containing large wardrobe closets, large bathroom, coat closets and a full basement. Another convenient feature is the rear entry opening directly into the kitchen. Exterior construction calls for a flat roof, vertical and bevel siding, brick chimney and planter, picture windows. Floor area is 1078 square feet, and cubage is 18,865 cubic feet.

For further information about DESIGN B 344, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Kitchen is Good Place to Launch Your Home Improvement Program

Many families planning to modernize their homes start with the kitchen—and for good reason. No longer the household "stepchild," the kitchen has become the heart (and often the showplace) of the home; a room full of ideas and appliances to make the day run more smoothly and pleasantly for the house wife and her family.

Thanks to modern gas and electric appliances, jobs such as laundry, garbage disposal and water heating can be brought close to cooking and dining areas without in any way spoiling the charm of the room.

Today, much of the impulse toward remodeling the kitchen arises from the need for larger kitchen counters and storage space. Therefore, when planning such a project, counters and storage space surrounding the three major work centers—sink, range and food preparation area—should be the first consideration.

The sink should be centrally located and have counters and backsplashes of heat-resistant, stainproof and easily cleaned material, such as ceramic tile. Any shorage space adjacent to or beneath the sink should be large enough to accommodate dishes, silver, towels, cleaning and dishwashing supplies, etc.

Although near the other work areas, the range should be convenient to the dining room, too. Special drawers and hooks near the range will be needed for small utensils.

Preparing baked foods, salads, and other dishes requires a spacious work area, near the refrigerator. Base and wall cabinets should provide space for mixers, bowls and casseroles, also drawers for spatulas, measuring cups and other preparation utensils.

Homes Air Cooled in Many Ways

Everybody still talks about the weather, but now (unlike in Mark Twain's day) a great many people are doing something about it. What they are doing is air conditioning their homes for cool comfort from one end of the summer to the other. In fact, air conditioning is fast leaving the "luxury" class and becoming a necessity in the view of most families.

There are several practical ways in which an air-conditioner can be installed in an older home:

(1) Central air-conditioning which comprises a central unit, ducts and registers; (2) Units that become parts of existing warm-air heating systems; (3) Units that become parts of hot-water heating systems; (4) individual room air conditioners.

Central System

A central air-conditioning system calls for a basic unit, containing a compressor, condenser, cooling coil, air filter and blower, along with a duct system to room registers.

The blower pulls warm air into the unit where it is filtered and circulated over coils containing a refrigerant and then blown through the ducts into the house.

The heat from the air is absorbed by the refrigerant in the coils and transfered to the condenser, which (if water cooled) is connected with the house water supply pipes in which the flow of water picks up the heat.

In the air-cooled condenser, the refrigerant is cooled by a stream of air. The operating unit may be located in the attic, basement, utility room or out doors.

Often the air-conditioning unit can be incorporated into the existing warm-air heating system, thus utilizing the same ducts and registers. "Year round" air-conditioning systems are becoming increasingly popular.

Other heating-cooling combinations use water, which is chilled by refrigeration apparatus and circulated through the house by thin pipes, in some cases the same pipes used to circulate hot water for heating. In other cases, small pipes can be installed without expensive alteration.

Combination System

One new combination, hot-chilled water system uses baseboard distributor units for both heating and cooling. These are installed around the perimeter of the room, at floor level, and appear similar to the conventional baseboard radiator which heats the room.

Room air conditioners are easily installed and two or three room units can make even a large home much cooler. They may be either air or water cooled.

Scale Model Helps to Plan Garden Color

Planning your garden and landscaping scheme on paper is a good idea, but here's a better one: Build a scale model of your entire lot in color. It will let you actually see what the whole plan will look like when it's in full bloom.

Start by making a scale model of the house itself. Walls can be made of a strip of shirtboard folded into a rectangle and set on end. Make the roof from another shirtboard.

Use crayon to draw in windows, doors and trim, matching the colors on the actual house as carefully as you can. Matching the roof color is particularly important, since a modern trend in color styling is to consider an asphalt shingle roof the key exterior color and to relate other exterior colors to it. A wide variety of deep colors and light pastels is available in asphalt roofing.

With the house in place, paste sandpaper down for the driveway and the patio and fill in the lawn areas with green are paper, felt of old towels.

Hat pins stuck through colored paper or felt make good trees. Shade trees should be placed to protect the house and patio from the hot sun. Thick evergreens are good to break a cold winter wind.

Whatever colors you choose for flowering trees should harmonize with the basic colors of the house. For example, if your roof is covered in a warm color, such as a deep red blend of asphalt shingles, dogwood trees set here and there will be in good harmony, with pink blossoms in spring and red leaves in the fall.

Equally good for color harmony with one of the warm colors in asphalt shingles are pink and red blooming shrubs, such as mountain laurel and azaleas planted along the foundation.

The final step is to decide what flowers annuals and perennials—you want. You can match their colors fairly closely with knitting yarn. Spot them on the model until you get a pleasing layout and color scheme

Remember, you can't go wrong if you choose garden colors which are complementary to the colors on the house. The result will be attractive color harmony, not a kaleidosopic hodge-podge.

Homemade Mixing Tray

To make a leakproof tray of any desired size in which to mix glue, paints, etc. turn up the four sides of a piece of aluminum foil.

Cleaning Wallpaper

To get rid of grease spots on wallpaper, hold a clean white blotter against wall and press over it with a warm iron, moving to a clean spot on the blotter as soon as one portion of it absorbs the grease.

Tool Care

Wrap your tools individually in a rag soaked with linseed oil and place in an empty coffee can. This will prevent the tools from getting dulled by striking against each other.

Straight Lines

The fashion news in virtually all appliances is the new "straightline look." Refrigerators of 1957, for instance, have clean, straight lines and flat planes, different from anything seen in refrigerators up to now. Nothing bulges or protrudes from the top, back or sides, which makes it easy to achieve the "built in look" without built in expense.

Fire Safety

Be sure all volatile and inflammable liquids like solvents, torch fuels, gasoline, etc. are stored in metal cans with non-leaking tops.

Stopping Squeaks

To eliminate minor floor squeaks, use a dust-type graphite gun, commonly sold for lubricating door locks. Squirt a little of the graphite between loose, creaky boards.

Paneling Can Provide New Convenience and Livability

Spring "clean-up time," in many homes, spotlights the urgent need for more storage space for those many items of household, sports, and hobby gear that must be kept on hand, but which are creating an unsightly "clutteration" in basement, attic, utility or "family room."

On the other hand, the "clean-up" mood may lead to the discarding of many articles that have been stored far beyond their span of possible usefulness. This quite often creates the opportunity to finish off additional living space in basement or attic.

In either case, the judicious use of paneling may well provide a very happy solution to the program. Home owners, who are handy with tools can often do much of the work themselves, and thus secure a result that is both pleasing to the eye and utilitarian at relatively small cost.

There are four main kinds of wood paneling from which the homeowner may choose the one most suitable to his purpose: softwood boards, hardwood boards, hardwood plywood and softwood plywood.

To achieve a unique effect in room decoration, choose wood paneling with lots of curls and swirls—patterns formed in the grain by the growing trees.

Right Windows Aid to Comfort In Hot Weather

Short of installing a complete air-conditioning system, the average homeowner can make his house more comfortable in summer with good ventilation.

A house is well ventilated when its windows are arranged so that inside heat can escape through an opening at the top and cooler air can come in through an opening at the bottom.

Perhaps the most ideal window for this type of ventilation is the double-hung style shown in the drawing. However, windows of ponderosa pine come in a wide variety of styles which can be arranged for proper ventilation.

Among these are awning and hopper styles installed in banks of two or more. The awning window opens outward, while the hopper style opens into the room. Either of these, when installed one above the other, can be opened to permit the exit of heat at the top and entrance of cooler outside air at the bottom.

The awning window has another warm weather advantage: When open, its surface forms a tiny roof, permitting the window to be left open during a cooling rainstorm.

Sliding and casement windows of ponderosa pine also offer good ventilation. The sliding style opens at either end, creating a cooling draft as heat rushes out one side and cool air comes in the other. A casement window opens completely, offering a large opening for the passage of air.

Saw Easier

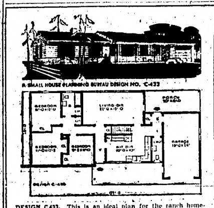
In using hand saw or hack saws you can cut with less effort, if you apply pressure only on the cutting or forward stroke. Lift up slightly when drawing the saw back. This method will also prevent wearing down the cutting teeth needlessly.

Paint Removal

To remove paint from curved areas on furniture, wrap some steel wool around an ice pick or pencil. Before using, moisten the finish with paint remover.

Home Building Season Gets Under Way in City

This is one of the first new homes to be started in the city this spring and is being built by Philip Grothe on Maple av. S. for his own use. When completed it will be a three-bedroom bungalow-type house. Grothe is doing much of the work himself with the help of independent carpenters. Shown here is the basement after the masonry forms were constructed prior to pouring concrete.



A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-433

DESIGN C433. This is an ideal plan for the ranch home-minded family. The covered porch allows passage from the spacious garage to the front entry which serves as the perfect circulation point.

The floor plan provides three bedrooms with wardrobe closets, bath with recessed tub and ample linen closets. The living room with its large picture window along the screen porch takes full advantage of the natural view and the flower garden. The kitchen, located between the two entrances, has built-in cabinets, dining space and adjoining lavatory.

Floor area is 1295 square feet, and cubage is 24,605 cubic feet (not including garage and porches.)

Glass Can Add Beauty and Utility to Many Interiors

The simple beauty of pure, sparkling plate glass, whether clear or mirrored, can greatly enhance any interior scheme: period, modern, or a combination of both.

Mirrors may be used to enlarge the appearance of a room as well as to serve as a grooming medium or they may be placed so as to reflect light into a dull and dreary space such as a stairwell.

Heavy plate or tempered glass shelves offer limitless uses for beautifying the interior while serving a useful purpose. They may be used with glass block separators to form free standing display units; with common plain or painted brick to form knickknack shelves or used with brackets to perform numerous useful decorative services from book cases to room dividers.

Glass tops on furniture provide the surface with a luster that even the finest hand rubbing cannot produce. At the same time the glass serves as a perfect surface protector from burns, stains and other dammage from spillage.

Practically all glass additions to a home can be effected without professional help. In most cases all you have to do is make a few simple, straight line measurements and take them to your glass distributor and your needs well be cut to order.

Spring is Time To Give Home Face Washing

Wash your home's face to restore the bright and clean appearance of its painted wood walls, advises T. K. May house maintenance authority of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association.

"I mean to literally wash the face of you outside walls," the lumber expert said.

"You will notice upon close examination," he said, "that your paint is chalking and this chalking substance when mixed with coal and oil smoke gives your home grimy look this time of year."

The chalking is a natural and desirable action of any painted woodwork exposed to the air, May observed. Whether your home is sided in western red cedar, west coast hemlock or durable Douglas fir, a little care goes along way.

To wash down your home's walls, May said, get some stiff brushes and use a mild detergent. After you have brushed in the detergent, you can wash down the walls with a garden hose. You wash off the chalk mixed with grime, and your walls are bright and clean again.

May explained that chalking is a gradual wearing away of the paint, which is most desirable, for after a few years a new coat of paint is called for, and the old coat will have worn down by this chalking process until it is just right as an undercoat.

"I should mention," the lumber expert said, "that cedar, fir and hemlock have exceptional ability to hold paint and these woods take cleaning very easily. I believe your paint job will last longer if properly cared for each spring.

Nail Driving

When driving nails in hardwood, dip the nails in linseed oil, immediately before driving. The oil will lubricate the nail.

Homes Are Beautified By Mirrors

You can add beauty and utility to any room in the house through the use of one of man's oldest decorative assets — the mirror—says June Cabot, director of the Home Arts Council of Libby-Owens-Ford.

Many of the mirror techniques that Miss Cabot suggests lend themselves to the "do-it-yourself" treatment. They offer easy inexpensive solutions to problems of lighting and expansion that might otherwise require costly structual changes in the house.

To overcome the cramped feeling imparted by a small entrance hall, try a mirror panel on the wall facing the door, or a mirror on the back of the door to create the feeling of added spaciousness.

Decorative Mirrors

In the living room, decorative mirrors can be used to the best advantage. If the room is long and narrow, it can be "widened" visually by installing a floor-to-ceiling panel mirror on the longest wall area. A mirror wall at the far end of a short room also helps to affect space.

In the dining room, a large mirror (either framed or unframed) should be used to reflect the dining table scene. Plate glass mirrors can be used to rejuvenate built-in china or silver cabinets.

In the kitchen, a large mirror on the wall opposite the window over-looking your back yard enables you to keep an eye on the children at play. A small mirror on the wall opposite the door leading from the kitchen enables you to see who is at the door. Small mirrors secured to the ceiling will give a view of the hard-to-reach top shelves above kitchen cabinets.

Bedroom windows in many homes are small and misplaced. To give windows height and breadth, mirror the area around them, adding mirrored dados and valances.

Three-Way Mirror

A three-way, full-length mirror like dress shops have is easily managed if the room has two closet doors fairly close to each other on one wall. The doors should open inward, toward each other, and can easily be rehung if they do not. Place standard size mirrors on each door and another on the wall between the doors.

A mirror is a "must", of course, for the dressing table, and many variations can be worked out here. If the table is against the wall, try a vertical mirror extending from table top to ceiling.

To bring light into a dark basement, a flat, upward reflecting mirror on the window sill will prove effective.

Insulating Glass

More than 90 standard sizes of Thermopane insulating glass are made to fit the most popular types of window sash.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—How can I stop bugs and insects from sticking to freshly painted outside walls?

A—A tabelspoon of citronella added to each gallon of paint should effectively keep the bugs and insects away from the wet paint.

Q—What causes dark streaks of dirt to appear on walls and ceilings? In our house, the streaks seem to take the form of the spaces between the wall studs and ceiling joists.

A—These are called "ghost marks" and appear most frequently in houses which are not insulated. The streaks are caused by warm, dust-laden air which tends to move to and through the colder surfaces between the framing members. Mineral wool insulation puts a stop to "ghost marks" by making the temperature of walls and ceilings uniformly warm. Mineral wool also saves winter fuel and makes the house more comfortable in all seasons.

Q—How can I stop my stairs from squeaking?

A—Generally, the creaking sound in stairs is caused by movement of treads or riser boards. A simple solution is to drive finish nails through the treads into the riser boards. Attaching cove molding under the treads where they join the riser boards in front or corner blocks at the same joint in the rear will also solve the problem.

Questions Answered Relating to Hospital

Presented below is the third in a series of question-and-answer reports dealing with the operation of Northwestern Hospital, prepared by Harold W. Peterson administrator, in connection with the observance of American Hospital week, May 12 to 18.

1. What is the principle upon which charges to a patient are based?

Northwestern Hospital is registered with the Minnesota Secretary of State as a non-profit corporation. It charges are based on the principle that in the course of a fiscal year its income and disbursements should come as close as possible to a break-even point.

2. Do members of the Board of Trustees of the hospital receive any pay for their services?

They receive no pay for their service. In fact, no member of the Board of Trustees receives any courtesy discount on hospital bills for himself or for any member of his family.

3. Supposing the hospital makes money above its operating expenses in the course of a year? Who gets the money?

It would generally use the money for purchase of new equipment or for replacement of used equipment which needed replacement. Any excess must be used eventually for improvement of service to patients or can be placed in a fund for taking care of depreciation or new construction.

4. What happens if patients do not pay their hospital bills?

The charges of the hospital are figured so closely that this could be very disastrous. The hospital has to figure into its expense a certain small percentage of expense for this as in the case of any other business. This hospital has no endowment of any kind which would enable it to provide free beds. And yet there are people who sometimes do not pay their hospital bills. What does this mean? It simply means that other people who do pay their bills have to help pay for those who do not. It is for this reason that all people who use a hospital should be concerned that as many people as possible have some kind of good hospitalization insurance and pay their bills.

5. Will people be denied hospitalization because they cannot pay their accounts?

No person will ever be denied hospitalization and full care who is referred to the hospital by his or her physician who is a member of the hospital's Medical Staff. The hospital will also care for anyone, any stranger, who needs emergency care. However, this does not mean that the hospital will not try to arrange with everyone for payment of their hospital bill. Almost everyone knows that some day he or she will need medical and hospital care. It is almost as inevitable as taxes or the need for food and shelter. We believe that every adult person should plan for, and pay for, this service. It is the only intelligent and honest thing to do.

Paint Works Wonders for Many Homes

The next best thing to building a new home is decorating an old one. New paint can make old rooms look bigger, cheer up dark corners, lend fresh life to furniture, draperies and rugs.

Today's small home can be stretched out a size or two by careful color selection. Paint a very small room a very light color. Use pale neutrals or pastel shades. Light blue, for example, makes a room look much larger. And when you're matching drapery, rugs or furniture, pick lighter colors that match to make walls march right off into space.

Interior decorators and psychologists have pooled their knowledge and come up with color suggestions that can bring restfulness to bedrooms, sparkling freshness to kitchens and new beauty to dreary rooms.

There are several ways to start thinking about color. You may start with a basic drapery or rug color, and select complementary colors. Or you may have a north or south exposure that needs cheering up or toning down.

In the living room particularly, many homeowners select colors that harmonize with the color of their rugs. If your rug is gray, for instance, ideal color combinations are dark brown, yellow-green or shell pink walls.

If your rug is green, paint walls lemon yellow, light gray or lighter pastel green. For tan rugs, platinum blue, peach or light tan are matching colors.

If your furniture or draperies are mostly gold color, start your painting with dove gray walls; or select plum or straw yellow. Blues, light browns and peach go well with rust fabrics. In general, the idea is to find colors that contrast well with your basic shades, or are complementary.

Paint children's rooms with bright, cheerful reds, yellows and blues. Give them their shade of color fun right from infancy. Use bright, plaid bed-spreads, dress up the furniture, paint floors and walls light pastels or shades, never dark colors.

It's fun to use your own imagination and ingenuity to bring new colors combinations to your home.

Benson Backs $1.78 Wheat Price Prop

Says Support Program Cost $530 Million in '56

The support level of $1.78 on wheat next year, although the lowest allowed by the law, will be in the best long-time interest of wheat farmers, Agriculture Secretary Benson said in Minot, N. D., Tuesday.

Benson said the support rate, which he said should be considered a "floor," rather than ceiling price, was not for the purpose of singling out wheat for a low price.

Benson's address in the Minot State Teachers College auditorium concluded the second annual membership meeting of the Greater North Dakota Assn.

The secretary told the group that support levels of the past have stimulated unneeded production and have been very costly.

"The net realized cost of the wheat programs this past year were the highest in history, 530 million dollars. This can be compared with gross receipts from wheat marketings last year of 1,742 million dollars," Benson said.

He said great inroads are being made into the wheat carryover but that the wheat supply for the 1958-59 marketing year is estimated at 41 per cent above the normal supply.

DFL Party Plans for Dinner June 8 in Minneapolis

Ray Hemenway, DFL state chairman, today announced thta Marvin Evenson, Moorhead has been appointed co-chairman of the DFL's annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner, at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis Saturday, June 8th. Main speaker at the affair will be Senator Albert Gore, Tennessee Democrat.

Evenson is Ninth district DFL chairman and has long been active in DFL politics.

The Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner is an annual fund raising event sponsored by the state central committee. Proceeds from the dinner are used to maintain the DFL state headquarters.

Neat North End Alley is Example for Residents

The Times photographer spent considerable time Friday finding a city alley that could be called "neat" and would qualify as an example of how and alley should look after Clean-up Week. This particular alley is located 1½ blocks from Main Av. N. in about the 900-1000 block. Note the absence of trash piles, the clipped grass and the garbage cans on stands.

City Clean-up Week Opens Today!

Such unsightly messes as the one above will be the target for a city-wide clean-up, fix-up, paint-up campaign carried on by local residents this week. If you have such piles of rubbish as the one above now is a good time to haul them away to the city dump as they are unsanitary, unhealthy, unsafe and unpleasant to look at. Such rubbish piles as this one attract flies and rodents as well as constituting a major fire hazard.

Litter Spoils Beauty of Yards

This litter-strewn alley spoils the attractiveness of the surrounding homes in a certain north-end location. The property owner had allowed his rubbish pile to become scattered over the alley after partly burning it. With a very little effort and time the rubbish could be removed and the neatness of the area restored. City officials point out that alleys need not be unattractive — in many communities property owners pride themselves on the beauty of their back yards and to accomplish this beauty the alley must be kept neat. Garbage racks should be sturdy and have a coat of paint so as not to detract from the beauty of each yard.

MANY PROPOSALS, FEWER DISPOSALS

The biennial legislative session just ended saw an impressive total of 4,046 bills, or proposals for new or revised laws introduced; 1,917 went into the Senate hopper during the regular session, 20 during the brief session; the House grist was 2,097 regular and 12 special for a total of 2,109. Of these proposals not quite 1,000 passed the acid test of approval in both houses, a few dying by "pocket veto" and 986 emerging as Minnesota Statutes 1957; in pointing out that the number of new laws is 24% of the proposals it must be born in mind that many House and Senate bills, to expedite study and discussion, are identical. The winners this session are a bit short of approximately 27% in 1955, when 882 new laws emerged from 3,285 proposals, almost equally divided between House and Senate.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, one of the nation's leading coal carrying roads, is also one of the nation's largest owners of coal properties, some 400,000 acres.

Penningto[illegible] Have $185,[illegible] for Road Needs

$111,484 of Total Supplied by Sources Outside of County

Pennington county will have a total of $185,006 for local road purposes this year, according to an announcement made this week by the state board of allotment.

Adoption of Amendment No. 2 last November has resulted in a complete revamping of road-user tax distribution, with the new provisions to go into effect July 1. The board, therefore, made its allocations on only a half-year basis, with a further allocation to be made early in 1958. This will be on a fiscal year basis, instead of on a calendar year basis, as has been the practice up until this time.

Despite the reduction of allocations, Commissioner of Highways L. P. Zimmerman stated there should be no curtailment necessary of county road activity because the 1958 allocations will be made in sufficient time to provide needed funds to the counties.

The state-wide total of funds now available for county road purposes is $37,905,518, as compared with $45,517,000 for the entire last year. It is estimated that approximately $25,000,000 will be allotted the counties from the highway user tax distribution fund by the board early in 1958 for the counties, operations next year.

The state allotment board is made up of State Auditor Stafford King, State Treasurer Val Bjornson and Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman.

The total of county road and bridge funds is made up of the Board's allocations of state gas tax funds, plus allotments by the Highway of federal aid secondary (FAS) money which had been announced earlier, and revenue anticipated from individual county road and bridge levies or appropriations.

The various allocations and funds, for 1957, are:

State aid road	$ 608,000*
County aid roads	7,168,850*
Special allotments	293,650*
Road and bridge levies	23,329,000
Federal aid secondary	6,800,000

*These sums will be augmented very substantially by the board at its meeting early in 1958.

Of these sums, Pennington county will have the following available as its share:

State Gas Tax funds:
For state aid roads	$ 6,080
For County aid roads	56,204
Special allotments	5,000
Total from road-used taxes	$ 67,284
Federal aid secondary funds allotted county	$ 44,200
Total "outside" aids for county roads	$ 111,484
Proceeds of county road and bridge levy	$ 73,522
Grand total, state, federal and county funds	$ 185,006

For Marshall county, a total of $403,604 from all sources will be available, for Red Lake county, $137,542; Polk county, $607,328; and Roseau county, $281,891.

Rev. L. Lindholm Is Leaving Today for Minneapolis

The Rev. L. W. Lindholm, who recently resigned as pastor of the Mission Covenant church after more than 13 years of service, left Thief River Falls this morning for Minneapolis. He will speak Sunday morning, May 19, in a Swedish service in the chapel of the First Covenant church, Minneapolis, and in the afternoon at Elim Mission church, Cokato, where Rev. E. J. Vick, formerly of Newfolden, is pastor. His address for the present will be in care of General Delivery, Minneapolis.

Board in Agreement on School Janitors' Pay and Other Issues

At the May session of the board of education of School District 18 Monday evening, it was announced that negotiations with the union representing the school janitors had terminated in the acceptance by the union of a school board counter-proposal with some modifications.

Under the agreement, the following pay schedules will be in effect during the coming year: Janitors, $250 a month for the first six months; $275 for the second six months; and $300 for the third six months. For assistant mechanics the corresponding steps will be $275, $300 and $325; and for mechanics will be $325, $350 and $375.

A 44-hour week is stipulated for 38 weeks of the school term, with 40 hours duty during 14 summer weeks. Also provided is two weeks vacation after one year of service, and sick leave ranging from 12 days up to an accumulated total of 70 days.

At its meeting the board also voted to call for bids on two new school buses to be opened June 3. One will be an additional bus, and the other will be a replacement.

Also to be opened June 3 are bids for equipment for the commercial department of the area vocational school.

Supt. J. A. Sater informed the board that eight teachers, four in Lincoln high school and four in the grade schools, are needed to complete the faculty for the coming school year.

All of Pennington Co. Now Included in Soils District

Recent Addition of Bray and Numedal Townships Makes Coverage Complete

At a meeting of the Pennington county soil conservation district supervisors held Tuesday, May 15 the townships of Bray and Numedal were listed as a part of the district, and the services of the SCS technicians made available to the farmers of the townships.

Alfred Longren, chairman of the board, said that all of Pennington county is now in the district. He added that any farmer in Pennington County who wants assistance with problems in soil erosion management rotations, erosion control, pasture management, tree planting or drainage can file his application for help with any member of the board, the County Agent, Paul Stelmaschuk, or SCS farm planner, Don Lawrence.

Edgar Naplin, secretary of the board, stated that, according to the records in the office, 306 farmers have filed requests for assistance; of these 163 have developed complete farm plans, while nearly all of the balance had received assistance with one or more problems on the farm.

Other members on the board are Andy Skaar, Oscar Houske and Harold South.

The program will open with the invocation by the Rev. K. Patnode and welcome by Mayor O. D. Belch. Presentation of membership emblems also will be made. Dinner music will be supplied by members of Ray Lloyd's orchestra, which also will play for a dance in the Elks club rooms following the banquet.

The convention will open Friday evening with registration from 7 to 9 in the city Auditorium continuing on Saturday morning from 8 to 9:30. An open joint meeting of the BRT and auxiliary in the Auditorium will follow, with B. W. Fern, vice president of the brotherhood, presiding over the program, which will open with a prayer by the chaplain, followed by greetings from Mayor Belch and introduction of grand lodge officers and other guests.

Members of the trainmen's group will enjoy a smorgasbord at 12:30 in the Elks club rooms while the auxiliary members will be guests at a luncheon in Zion church parlors. The two groups will meet in closed session at 2 o'clock, the men meeting in the Auditorium and the ladies in the Masonic hall.

Jack W. Hanson is chairman of the local committee in charge of arrangements for the convention, with Alex Cloutier as co-chairman and R. J. Looker, treasurer.

Committee Ready to Advise Council on '57 Program for Streets

Following a tour of inspection of the city late last week, the citizens advisory committee on street problems arranged at a meeting Monday evening to submit to the city council next Tuesday evening a list of streets, all on the east side of the river, which the committee feels is ready for blacktopping this summer, no drainage problems being involved.

Included in the area on which surfacing will be recommended are Taft st. east from Kendall ave.; Crocker ave. north from Taft st. to the swimming pool; Tindolph, Merriam and Kneale avs. north from Third st.; Maple ave. from Mussey to Taft st., and Gulf to Hughes sts.; Kneale av. from Gulf to Nora sts.; and Merriam av. from Gulf to Hughes sts.

The committee also will recommend the installation of curb and gutter where needed as a part of the improvement program.

City Engineer Douglas Stewart, advisor to the committee, reported that further information should be received here late this week as to how funds the recently enacted highway legislation are to be utilized by the participation cities.

The situation, he added is expected to be clarified further at a meeting Monday, May 27, in Detroit Lakes, called by Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman.

Yvonne LaPorte and Lester Sabo Married May 11

Yvonne La Porte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman La Porte of this city, and Lester Sabo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Sabo, former residents of this city and now of Pharr, Texas, were united in marriage Saturday, May 11 at the Trinity Lutheran chapel. Rev. Otto Dale performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 80 friends and relatives.

Miss Devera Borchert, friend of the bride, presided at the piano for the nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Durelle Newbury, as she sang "O Perfect Love" and "Our Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a princess style gown of white dotted swiss, featuring a empire waist and three-quarter lenght sleeves. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of pink tea roses and white mums.

Marilyn Johnson, friend of the bride, was the maid of honor and she was attired in a pink sheath dress with an overlay skirt of pink dotted swiss. She wore a pink net headband in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of pink tea roses and white mums.

Attending the groom was Mike McMahon of this city and Darrell Durgin was the usher.

Mrs. La Porte, mother of the bride, chose a navy blue sheath dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink tea roses and baby carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was given in the church parlors. The bridal table was decorated with bouquets of pink tea roses and white mums centered with a wedding cake. Mrs. Wold, sister of the groom cut the cake and Janet Nelson, cousin of the bride, poured. Mrs. Al Johnson and Mrs. Julius Hendrickson, friends of the bride, arranged the gifts and Shirley La Porte, sister of the bride, registered the guests. Waitresses were Beverly Wegge and Sharon Evenstad, both friends of the bride and groom.

Miss La Porte was a 1951 graduate of Lincoln High School and was employed by the Northwestern Bell Telephone company in this city. Mr. Sabo was also a 1954 graduate of Lincoln High School and is presently employed by radio station KWKC in Abilene, Texas as sports announcer. Mr. and Mrs. Sabo will be making their home in Abilene.

Northrop PTA Offers Variety Show May 20

Climaxing the year's activities, the Northrop PTA unit will present a variety program in the school gymnasium next Monday evening, May 20, at 8 o'clock. Donald L. Olson will be in charge of the program, for which a small admission fee will be charged.

The program will open with a short concert by the Legion municipal band, followed by tap dancing by Tommy Hanson, Jerry Forsberg and David Wegge; and an accordian duet by Mrs. Haldena Lang and daughter Ravon. A piano selection will be played by Joyce Tallerude and Helen Rud.

Another tap dance number will be given by Judi Ranum, Bonnie Burrell, Susan Bakke, Dianne Folkedahl and Diane Wold, accompanied by Beverly Kleinvachter, followed by a vocal duet by Mrs. Sylvia Olson and Bryant Ulseth, and music by a German band.

A novel ballet number will be supplied by Stan Gibson, Gordon Relerson, Erwin Ferber, Walt Kavanaugh and Philip Beadle, accompanied by Dr. J. L. Norquist.

An accordian selection will be supplied by a trio including Mrs. Doris Miramontes, Judy Iverson and Ravon Lang, followed by songs by the Lions quartet, made up of Dr. Norquist, Wendell Olson, Herbert Dill and Bryant Ulseth. Five girls will supply a tap dance number and Roland Samber of Goodridge will render a group of piano selections.

The final number will be a square dance by members of the Falls Squares, including Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Folger, Randall Noper, Mrs. Ed DeLap and Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Lang, with Mr. DeLap serving as caller.

Plummer FU Unit to Meet Tuesday

The Plummer Farmers Union local will meet in the village hall next Tuesday evening, May 21, at 8 o'clock. State Rep. Ben Wichterman will discuss bills enacted at the recent legislative session, and Rev. Augustine will show colored slides, while Herman Anderson will speak on FU insurance. Lunch will be served.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor of the Times:

Referring to a recent letter in the Times regarding citizens in Pennington county assembling information of pioneer days and the early settlers, there have been some telephone calls regarding this subject so evidently we did not make our point clear.

What is wanted is all information possible of the early settlers, their names and families; that is, the people who stayed on their land and helped build up a community. The people who lived on homestead long enough to get title, than sold their claims and moved out do not count.

If any one has information regarding pioneer life in other or older counties, such information should be assembled and forwarded to the Centennial Committee in the county where such information originated. There could be interesting stories of ox-team covered wagon trains moving to the northwestern part of our state. We have been told that there are people in Pennington county that remember such trips as children.

If possible, the location of the farms the early settlers lived on, distance from towns and any other information that is good history should be included.

As we stated before we are sorry that our area history project has been long delayed, but let us get busy and save what history can be found for posterity.

Respectfully yours,
C. E. Hellquist, city

To the Editor:

The item you published on "Mental Health For The Aged," taken from the bulletin from the Minnesota State Medical Ass'n. I think was extremely good, and timely.

We see that to be the case so frequently today. It is really pathetic. The reasons given are surely true. Not any of the older folks like to be cast aside, as it were.

True, often their physical condition keeps them from doing the things they would love to do. But why put them aside, or leave them to strangers that they have never known? Where surely unpleasant situations are going to arise. They have no way to remedy them. Their power and prestige is taken from them. Can you imagine a more pitiful situation?

Thank God that we are living in a nation, that is not forgetting, and doing so much, for so many that need it.

Mrs. Myrtle E. Hale

Local Recruiters Plan Open House Saturday, May 18

Armed Forces Day will be celebrated Saturday, May 18. For a better understanding of what modern armed services are doing in the atomic, electronic, supersonic age, open house will be held by the local recruiting services. Service personel will be on hand to answer questions.

Recruiting offices are located in the basement of the municipal auditorium in Thief River Falls. The public is invited to attend. Coffee will be served from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Moorhead College to Give Extension Courses in City

First of Two Courses to Be Conducted Here Commencing June 10th

Morrhead State college will offer a program of college extension work in this city during the summer months, Kermit Eastman in charge of arrangements, stated today.

The first course to be offered will be Physical Education 348, and is called a workshop in physical education. This course may be used by teachers who have had a methods course and count as credit, or it may be used as a substitute for the methods course. The instructor for the course will be Miss Hazel Deitman, director of elementary physical education in the Fargo public schools. The course is scheduled to begin Monday, June 10, and will continue for two and one-half weeks.

The second course will be English 412, Shakespeare and His Age. This course may be substituted for Humanities 111, and will begin as soon as the first course has been completed.

Both courses carry 4 quarter-hours of college credit. Classes will be in session in the morning only.

If arrangements can be made, educational tests and measurements and problems in administration and organization will be offered during the second summer session.

As soon as final arrangements have been made, more complete information will be given. If the program can be carried out as planned, the equivalent of one full quarter of college work may be completed through satisfactory completion of these courses.

Sherwood Berg Is 'U' Agricultural Economics Head

Appointed Last Friday To Succeed O. B. Jesness, Who Retires July 1st

The appointment of Sherwood O. Berg as new head of the agricultural economics department at the University of Minnesota was officially approved by the University Board of Regents at their meeting, Friday, May 10.

At present, Berg is U. S. agricultural attache for Denmark and Norway. He will take up his duties at the University July 1, succeeding O. B. Jesness, who will retire after 39 years at Minnesota.

Born in May, 1919, Berg was raised on a farm near Hendrum, Minn. He attended the University of Minnesota's School of Agriculuture and later went to South Dakota State college where he received his B.S. degree "with highest honors" in 1947. He earned his M.S. at Cornell University in 1948 and his Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota in 1951. He was a student of agricultural economics, history, political science and statistics.

He enlisted in the U. S. Army in 1943, was later commissioned a second lieutenant and served in a heavy weapons company in Europe. From 1945-46, he was food and agriculture officer at SHAPE headquarters in Paris. He received the Bronze Star medal, the Combat Infantry Badge and the Army Commendation Ribbon for his military service.

Berg was American agricultural attache to Yugoslavia in 1953 and in 1954 was appointed agricultural attache to Norway and Denmark, his present position.

In 1956, he received the Superior Service award from the U. S. Department of Agriculture "for initiative in arranging for and assisting in conducting a series of meetings with farm leaders throughout Denmark to promote better understanding of U. S. farm policies."

The best preparation for the future is the present well seen to, and the last duty done.

Ward Nichols to Head Lions Club for Coming Year

Club Hears Talks by Two National Guard Officers at Luncheon Wednesday

In the annual election of officers conducted by the Lions club at its luncheon meeting Wednesday noon, Ward Nichols, manager of the local theatres, was promoted to the office of president, and he will take over his duties July 1, succeeding Wendell Olson.

Others elected include Stan Pladson, Elmer Bratsch and Norman Peterson, respectively first, second and third vice president; Gordon Relerson, retained as secretary; Jack Forkenbrock, treasurer; Wally Jordet, Lion-tamer; Ted Kusmak, tailtwister; Dennis Rolle, assistant tailtwister; George W. Worstlein and Ben Frolland, directors for two-year terms; and Cliff Bjorkman, one year.

In connection with the observance May 12 to 19 of Armed Forces Week, guest speakers were Chief Warrant Officer Ivan O. Bundy of Company F of the National Guard, and Lyle Oftedahl, holding a similar position with the Park Rapids company.

Bundy called attention to the steady increase in membership of Company F in recent months, stating that it now has a personnel of 124 men. Oftedahl briefly reviewed the history of the National Guard, referring to its distinguished performance in time of war, and pointing out that the Guard serves to relieve materially the burden of maintaining a standing army.

Goodridge Girl Wins Scholarship

Miss Geraldine Peterson Recipient of $1,000 Award

It was announced Monday in Minneapolis that Geraldine Peterson, daughter of Mrs. Amanda Peterson, Goodridge, has been awarded a $1,000 scholarship by the Department of Charities of The Evangelical Lutheran Church. The announcement was made by the Rev. Dr. M. A. Dahlen, executive secretary of the department.

The scholarship was awarded for graduate study in the field of social work for the 1957-58 academic year. It was granted with the understanding that the recipient will serve the church in the field of Christian social service upon the completion of her studies.

Miss Peterson plans to pursue her graduate study at the University of Wisconsin this fall. She will graduate from Concordia College at Moorhead in June.

Open House at Air Filter Center in Bemidji Saturday

The public is invited to the Armed Forces Day open house at the Bemidji Air Defense filter center Saturday, May 18, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. A program consisting of musical numbers and highlighted by guest speaker Lt. Col Robert L. Thompson, commander of the 4672nd Ground Observer Squadron at Snelling Air Force Station in Minneapolis, who will also officiate at the awards presentation for filter center volunteers, is scheduled for 1:30 p.m.

Some 2,600,00 tons of coal a year will be required by a new two-unit, 900,000 KW generating station of the Indiana Michigan Electric Co. The first unit now is being constructed southwest of Terre Haute, Ind. A new Ayrshire Collieries Corp. bituminous mine will be the source of coal.

Comic Operetta Is Well Received

Presented Tuesday Night by High School Choir

A small but appreciative audience Tuesday evening enjoyed an excellent rendition of the Gilbert and Sullivan comic operetta, "Trial by Jury," by the Lincoln high school concert choir under the direction of Bryant Ulseth.

A group of selections also was rendered by the senior and junior high school girls glee clubs.

Included in the cast of the operetta were Daryl Williamson, Donna Hesse, James Matson, Frank Conklin, James Sjolseth and David Stokke. Serving as bridesmaids were Mary Halvorson, Janice Johnson, JoAnn Johnson, Janice Solum, Marilyn Matson and Alyce Allerson.

Extension Service to Conduct Fertilizer Tests on Kierk Farm

The Jens Kierk farm, 1½ miles west of the sales barn at Thief River Falls, is the site of a fertilizer research project in Pennington county. The extension service in conducting several testing programs to determine which fertilizers, or combinations of fertilizers, give the biggest yields and how expensive this practice is, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

Fred Heck, soil conservation agent in Marshall county, is in charge of this experimentation and research and Andrew Skaar, area farmer, is co-operating in the project. The project includes forty different combinations of fertilizers and was established on Tuesday.

Mr. Kierk's farm will be includ on a tour of interested farmers later this summer, to evaluate the response to the various fertilizers.

Farmer are encouraged to visit the experimental plot throughout the summer. The response to phosphates is seen best soon after emergence of grain, states Stelmaschuk.

There are forty different kinds of fertilizers in use on the plot. Twenty pounds pure nitrogen per acre are combined with o, 20, 40, 80, and 120 pounds of phosphate per acre and no potash is one set of plots; twenty pounds of nitrogen, plus 0, 20, 40, 60, 80, and 120 pounds of phosphate and 40 pounds of potash per acre used in another set of plots. This is repeated with 40 pounds of nitrogen and then 80 pounds of nitrogen in the plots.

In two sets of plots the nitrogen and potash are left out and 20 pounds, 40, 80, and 120 pounds of phosphate are used, to determine the response to plain phosphate fertilizer. In the final set of plots no nitrogen is used and the phosphate is combined with potash at the rates of 0, 20, 40, 80, and 120 pounds of phosphate and 40 lbs. of potash with each of the phosphate rates.

This gives forty possible rates of combinations of fertilizer and will be valuable to area farmers in selecting wisely the fertilizers for their farms, adds Stelmaschuk.

Rodents Rob Profits

Rat and mouse control is more than a one-shot poisoning program.

To be successful, a good rodent control plan needs to be set up on a year-around basis on the farm, however, spring is the time of the year we "clean up" the yards and grain sanitation program is in order.

Rats and mice are mostly "night feeders". Long winter nights are an excellent time to feed these rodents poison bait—instead of clean grain. Rodents are concentrated in farm buildings at this time of year, meaning it's a good time to make heavy kills.

Rats and mice need food and shelter to survive. Remove one of both of these necessities and you'll get rid of the pests.

Here are three important steps in rodent control.

First, reduce the population.

Second, clean up around the farm. Good sanitation practices will rid the farm of rats and mice.

Third, start a "rat-proofing" campaign to "build the rodents out."

To reduce the population, put covered bait stations throughout the farm buildings, and keep these stations well supplied with fresh baits that contain anticoagulant poisons. Covered stations will prevent other animals from getting the poison, and by keeping the bait fresh you'll be more certain the rodents accept it.

It's possible that along with wheat, corn and other grains used for human food may be included in the grain sanitation program of the U. S. Food and Drug administration by getting rid of sources of contamination.

Quackgrass Control

When soil erosion is no problem, cultivation before planting time is the cheapest way to get rid of quackgrass in a large area.

R. S. Dunham, University of Minnesota agronomist, advises farmers to cultivate quackgrass in spring whenever there is 2-3 inches of leaf growth. That way, you exhaust the food reserves in the plant roots. Continue cultivating with a sharp disk or duckfoot cultivator as late as possible before sowing a crop.

During summer cultivate to bring roots and rootstocks to the surface and dry them out, if that is possible.

If cultivating isn't practical, there are ways to kill quackgrass chemically. One way is to apply TCA at 22 pounds per acre in September or October on land that has recently been plowed or thoroughly cultivated. Then if there's normal rainfall, you can plant flax, potatoes, sugar beets, oats or corn and there won't be any chemical damage to the crop.

Don't plant wheat, barley or soybeans after TCA treatment, though. These crops will be severely injured by the chemical. And if it's dry after applying TCA all crops may be injured.

In fields tests, fall-applied dalapon has been just as effective as TVA, even when applied to forage. Application rate is 12-15 pounds per acre.

Dalapon may also be applied this spring on forates. In recent tests, quackgrass was controlled by 5 pounds of dalapon on grass 4-10 inches tall. The field was plowed or cultivated about 2 weeks later. Crops though, shouldn't be planted until four weeks after the treatments, or there may be some chemical damage.

Amino Triazole and MH have also been effectively used against quackgrass in early spring. They work best on fertile soils or following fertilization with nitrogen. They leave no toxic residue in the soil; crops may be sown a few days after treatment.

Apply all chemicals only according to directions on approved labels.

Runaway Youth at Crookston Held for Setting Fire

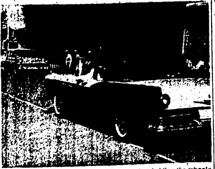
Polk County Sheriff Carl Knutson said Monday a 11-year-old runaway boy picked up in Crookston last week has admitted burglarizing a lumber yard at Spokane, Wash., and then setting it afire to conceal the theft.

Knutson said the fire March 21 caused an estimated $100,000 damage. The boy told the sheriff that after setting the fire he hitchhiked to Minnesota and had been working for a farmer near Crookston for about six weeks.

The boy was turned over Sunday to Spokane authorities, who said he would be charged with burglary and arson.

The sheriff was called in on the case after the boy's employer learned he had been using an assumed name.

This IS NOT a Simple Trick!



Driving a car straight is one thing — but holding the wheels on a painted line between two rows of small rubber balls without knocking the balls off a small pedestal while you drive forward and backward is something else entirely! Here an unidentified contestant in the Teen-age ROAD-E-O sponsored by local JayCees is off to a good start in this first phase of the Road-E-O. Like most of the other contestants he discovered the rear wheels of a car DON'T always follow the front wheels and had some difficulty in driving the line and leaving the balls in place. Thief River Falls' youthful drivers could do no better than second in either the boy or girl division of the contest, with a Red Lake Falls boy and a St. Hilaire girl being declared first-place winners.

Last Rites Are Conducted For B. Carpenter

Funeral services for Bennie Carpenter of Red Lake Falls were held Monday, May 13 at the Petterson Funeral chapel in Red Lake Falls, with Rev. Jerome Fellon officiating. He was preceded in death by his wife.

Variety Trials Are Started in County

Plots Are on Art Rambeck Farm West of Sales Barn

The Art Rambeck farm will feature varieties in Pennington county this summer. The trials were put in on Tuesday, and involves comparison of 33 different varieties of grain, soybeans, sugar beets. The site of the variety trials is three quarters of a mile west of the sales barn at Thief River Falls, and Curtis Swanson is cooperating with the extension service in establishing the trials, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

There are ten oat varieties in the trials, including Branch, Ransom, Garry, Rodney, Andrew, Minhafer, Ajax, Simco, Bonda, and Sauk. There are nine flax varieties being tried, including: B5128, Redwood, Norland, Sheyenne, Minerva, Linda, DeOre, Marine and, Bolley. The barley trials include seven varieties: Traill, UM570, Kindred "L", Fox, Vantage, Parkland, and Forrest.

There are two varieties of soybeans in the variety trials, both, Flambeau and Acme being approved for this area.

A commercial variety of sugar beets is also included in the trials. Farmers are encouraged to visit the variety trials through the summer months to observe and compare the performance of the different grains. A tour prior to harvest will be arranged to discuss variations in performance, disease resistance, yields, seed quality and straw strength, adds Stelmaschuk.

Flight Breakfast at Airport Set June 9th

June 9 was the date set for the Thief River Falls Flying Club's annual Flight Breakfast at a meeting of the club's board of directors held at municipal airport Wednesday evening, it was announced today.

The date was set on a tentative basis, depending on whether it clashes with plans for for flight breakfasts set at other northwest Minnesota airports. However, no word of such affairs planned for the same date by other clubs has been received here.

Kenneth Wendell, club president, said that while all previous flight breakfasts held by the flying club have been open to the public, more emphasis than ever before will be put on making the public welcome this year. "The success of any such flight breakfast toward promoting aviation depends almost entirely on high public participation in such an affair," Wendell said. Hours of the breakfast have been set from 8 to 12, so that all local residents can attend without conflicting with church services.

Plans for additional attractions at the airport on June 9 are indefinite but it is hoped that a helicopter will be on the field and that Navy and Air Force jet fighters will fly over some time during the affair. Robert Wurst is in charge of this phase of the arrangements.

Committees named last night were: Dennis Norland and Olaf Dahlen, food and equipment procurement committee; George Rockstad, airplane rides committee; Robert Wurst, V. M. Draper and Allen Larson, entertainment and publicity committee; Boyd Wilson, Roy Peterson and Milton Davidson, cooking, and Bill Disse, Harry Phillips, Kermit Maidment, and Clifford Larson, serving committee.

Elwood Ehrenstrom, Kenneth Wendell and Martin Rantenen will serve as clean-up, sanitation and parking committee. Members of the board of directors will also serve as a coordinating committee.

A meeting of all flight breakfast committees has been set for 8:30 p.m. Wednesday, May 22 by the flying club board.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor of the Times:

I cannot help but write a reply to your editorial of May 7th in regards to our school problem.

I have never seen an editorial more unfair than that, as it came out on the morning of the hearing which was at 11 a.m. and none of the rural area around Goodridge would read it until noon so it was too late to attend.

The argument that people should be allowed to go where they wanted to is real weak. If that were true the South should have been allowed to secede from the Union.

Can it be that some people have not heard of the golden rule? For forty years the pupils from that area have been attending the Goodridge high school and for many years they did not pay any taxes to help maintain the school, and is this the thanks we get for it?

Before the bus routes were established they came on the Electric line and there was just not a handful of people there then as the school records will show.

Now in all fairness they should join up with Goodridge and not try and tear down what we have built up in all of these years.

Albert Wilkins, Goodridge

Six Penalized in Municipal Court

Radium Resident Fined for Driving While Drunk

A very light session of municipal court was held before Judge H. O. Chommie Tuesday, with only six persons brought to face charges of traffic and other minor violations.

Two persons forfeited bonds. These were: Herwart Schmitt, St. Boniface, Man., Canada, who forfeited $10 bonds on each of three charges brought against him by the highway patrol, two of them for driving a vehicle with only one license plate, and another for driving with improper brakes, and Harold Lee King, Pasco, Fla., who forfeited $25 bond for driving an overweight vehicle on a restricted road. He was also arrested by the highway patrol.

Facing trial on charges brought against them by Sheriff Charles R. Richards were Kenneth Coan, rt. 1, Goodridge, who pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge and was fined $10, and Maurice A. Russell, rt. 2, city, speeding, fined $12.50. Both paid $7.50 in court costs, also.

Andrew Nesland, rt. 1, Radium, pleaded guilty to a charge by city police that he was driving under the influence of liquor when he hit a car stopped for a stop sign at LaBree and E. 3rd st., April 26, and was fined $100 plus $5 costs and his license was revoked.

City police also brought in two juveniles on drinking charges, both of whom were given 10-day jail sentences, suspended under conditions.

The only highway patrol case in court was Ole Ranum, city, who was fined $25 plus $4 costs after pleading guilty to driving without a drivers license.

The equipment will include such items as typewriters, adding machines, calculators, duplicating machines, and desks and chairs.

Bids must be accompanied by a bidder's bond or a certified check equal to at least 5% of the total bid. Delivery of equipment is F. O. B. Thief River Falls and is to be made by August 1, 1957.

The Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Arnold Pearson, Clerk,
Independent School Dist. No. 18
Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Pursuant to adjournment the council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on April 23, 1957 at 8:00 o'clock P.M. Aldermen Nichols, Winjum, Berge, Carlson, Stenberg were present. Alderman Sandvig was absent.

Alderman Stenberg introduced a motion that D. H. Stewart, Consulting Engineer, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, be directed to prepare plans and specifications for furnishing and installing new switch gear equipment for five generators, one bureau power tie, four feeder circuits, one station auxiliary power, with miscellaneous wiring and installation and switchgear building addition, all in preparation of facilities for the furnishing of power thru U. S. Bureau of Reclamation. Alderman Winjum seconded the motion. All members voted in favor thereof and the motion was declared carried.

Alderman Winjum then moved adjournment, being seconded by Carlson and the motion was carried. The meeting was then declared adjourned.

A. F. BERGE,
President of the Council.

Pursuant to due Call, the Council of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, convened in Special Session in the Council Chambers in the Auditorium and Municipal Building on May 7, 1957, at 3:00 o'clock P.M. Aldermen Nichols, Sandvig, Berge, Carlson and Stenberg were present. Alderman Winjum was absent.

The meeting was called for the purpose of reviewing plans and specifications as prepared by D. H. Stewart, Consulting Engineer and presented at this time for the installation of switch gear equipment for five generators, one bureau power tie, four feeder circuits, one station auxiliary power and miscellaneous wiring and installation; also for the construction of switchgear building addition, in preparation for the furnishing of power to the city through the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation. The plans and specifications were duly examined. Alderman Carlson introduced a resolution that such plans and specifications be approved; that the Clerk be directed to cause notice to be published in the official newspaper and Construction Bulletin, Minneapolis, Minnesota, for the making of such improvements; such bids to be considered on June 4th, 1957 at 1:00 o'clock P.M. and moved adoption of such resolution. Alderman Stenberg seconded such motion. The roll was called on the question of adoption and all members voted in favor thereof, whereupon the resolution was by the President declared passed and adopted.

Mayor Reich reported that he was in receipt of statement of costs in a proposed installation of an adequate Air Warning System for the City as recommended by a recent survey conducted for such purpose. Alderman Nichols moved that such information be transmitted to the Department of Civil Defense, which motion was seconded by Carlson and carried.

The Council then listened to a representative of Northern Natural Gas Company, Omaha, Nebraska, operating as People's Natural Gas Company, and his request for a franchise in the operation of service in and in the City of Thief River Falls.

The meeting was then declared adjourned.

A. F. BERGE,
President of the Council.

Attest: P. G. Pederson,
City Clerk.

RESOLUTION

At a special meeting of the City Council held May 7, 1957, Alderman Carlson seconded by Alderman Stenberg introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, Douglas H. Stewart, Consulting Engineer, has prepared plans and specifications for 1957 switch gear additions to the Municipal Power Plant consisting of the following work:

Bid A. Furnish and install new switchgear equipment for five generators, one bureau power tie, four feeder circuits, one station auxiliary power, together with miscellaneous wiring and installation.

Bid B. Construct 20'x28' switchgear building addition, and has presented such plans and specifications to the Council for approval,

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED by the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota,

1. Such plans and specifications a copy of which are on file in the office of the City Clerk and made a part hereof, are hereby approved.
2. The City Clerk shall prepare and cause to be inserted in the official newspaper and Construction Bulletin an advertisement for bids for the making of such improvement under such plans and specifications. The advertisement shall state that bids will be opened and considered by the Council at 1:00 o'clock p.m. on June 4, 1957 in the Council Chambers of the Municipal Auditorium Building, and that no bids will be considered unless sealed and filed with the City Clerk and accompanied by a certified check or cashier's check acceptable to the city in an amount equal to at least five per cent (5%) of the total amount of the bid payable to the City Clerk of the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

ROLL CALL

Aldermen voting Aye: Nichols, Sandvig, Berge, Carlson, Stenberg.
Aldermen voting Naye: None.
Resolution declared passed.

Mrs. Laura E. Sylvester	Grade 1	9	3625.00

The board then met with Mr. Kermit Eastman, Elementary School Director, who presented his report on current year's activities and recommendations for next year. The board by motion duly made, seconded and carried approved the following recommendations, to-wit:

1. Continuing the present report card system but including therewith comments concerning pupil attitude by means of a check-list to be incorporated with the report card.
2. That beginning in the fall of 1958 all kindergarten children must be five years of age on or before Sept. 1 of the year they enter school; and beginning in the fall of 1959 all children must be six years of age on or before Sept. 1 of the year they enter school in order to enter first grade.
3. That the solicitation of funds within the schools for charitable purposes be limited to the Junior Red Cross.
4. That children should be grouped by grades within the building on the basis of ability to perform as determined by performance.

Mr. Eastman also presented recommendations for equipment changes and improvements. These matters were discussed by the board, after which a motion was duly made, seconded and carried to purchase the following equipment:

Washington Elementary School:
- 1—White enameled medical cabinet
- 1—Nursing cot
- 4 Desks—Natural finish oak, with file drawer
- 4 Desk chairs—Chrome legs preferred

Mr. Eastman was commended by the Board for his accomplishments in the elementary school system and for his report and recommendations.

Mr. Paul Anderson, Secondary School Supervisor and Administrative Assistant, then presented his report on progress made during the past school year, together with recommended changes for the next school year. He reported on the success of lay-discussions had with parents, citizens and teachers and recommended the continuance thereof. Mr. Anderson's report that well over 100 conferences had been held with parents, together with their boy or girl, to chart the student's school program. He also discussed the matter of needed curriculum revisions. Report of the Athletic Fund was also presented showing total receipts from August, 1956-March, 1957 of $5,382.00 and disbursements of $6,813.11, leaving a deficit of $1,431.11. The deficit was partially due to the fact that the sum of $2,860.21 was expended for new equipment and repairs to old equipment.

The following recommendations made by Mr. Anderson were, on motion duly made, seconded and carried unanimously, approved:

1. Separating the Junior and Senior High Schools completely, to be accomplished by assigning all 7th, 8th and 9th grade classes in the Old Washington Building and in the southern wing of Old Lincoln, necessitating some minor remodeling and the purchase of some equipment, etc.
   - A room in old Washington to be equipped with dark-out shades and permanent screen for audio-visual purposes.
   - A room in old Lincoln soundproofed for music.
   - Room 101 in Old Lincoln converted to a Science Room.
   - Purchase of 275 Junior High student desks for nine rooms.
   - Eight teachers desks and eight files.
2. Pursuant to the recommendations of the Minnesota Dept. of Education that, "The enrollment per teacher per class in high school shall not exceed 30 pupils, except that in health and physical education classes it shall not exceed [illegible] pupils per section," such be established as a policy in Lincoln High School and effected as soon as [illegible].
3. That the number of organizations to which a pupil may belong be limited in order to keep a proper balance between the curricular and extracurricular activities.

Mr. Anderson was commended by the Board for his work during the past year and for his comprehensive report. The report was ordered placed on file.

Mr. Sater presented a financial report to the Board which was read, discussed and placed on file. The report revealed that at the end of the school year we should have in the general fund approximately $250,000.00 as compared to $240,000.00 a year ago and $180,000.00 two years ago.

Motion was then duly made, seconded and carried unanimously to adjourn.

Arnold Pearson, Clerk.

April 8, 1957

A regular meeting of the School Board of Joint Consolidated Independent School District 18 of Pennington and Marshall Counties was held at the office of the Superintendent at Lincoln High School at eight o'clock p.m., on April 8, 1957.

The meeting was called to order by President Starkow, and the following were present: Starkow, Eldevik, Thompson, Bratsch, Pearson, Howick, and Supt. Sater.

The minutes of the regular meeting of 3/11/57 were read and approved.

Supt. Sater reported on the teacher situation, reporting six vacancies in the elementary school. He reported the following resignations and/or retirements, to-wit: Janice Carlson, Janet [illegible], Vivian Ekeberg, Lydia Hatten, Mary McNellis, Charlotte Mattson, Marilyn Meyer, Clara Ferstl, Viola Grove, Mary Kutlich, Mary Mich, Avolla Samuelson, Joyce Forrsom, Violet Hecklund, LaVonne Anderson, Camille Dufhamp, Doris Sveigal, Lois Runger, Donna Hron, Edith Haalt, Ruth Pikop and Emma Tabelberg.

Mr. Sater's request for release from his duties as Supt. of Schools at Thief River Falls to accept the position as Superintendent of Schools at Brainerd, Minnesota, was officially presented to the Board. Motion was made by Pearson, seconded by Eldevik, and unanimously carried to confirm the informal action heretofore taken and grant such release at the end of the current school year.

Motion was duly made, seconded and carried unanimously to authorize the President, Treasurer and Clerk to execute the following teachers' contracts, to-wit:

Vacation: Ten work days or two full weeks with full pay after one year service, the time of taking same subject to approval of school board or department head.

Death in immediate family, employee entitled to three days off with full pay.

Employees to be paid [illegible] monthly.

Standby time: one hour per day if not called out. Two if called out, not less than one hour with pay.

Motion was then duly made, seconded and carried unanimously to allow the bills as approved by the auditing committee.

Motion was duly made, seconded and carried unanimously to adjourn.

Arnold Pearson, Clerk.

Motion was made by Pearson, seconded by Thompson and unanimously carried to open bids for clearing east side property. The bids were as follows:

Selmer R. Bornholdt, Thief River Falls, $125.00 per acre, including burning and disposal of stumps.

L. C. Thorson, $[illegible] per acre, stumps and rocks to be disposed of leaving level surface on top soil.

L. C. Thorson, Ten Dollars per hour for the work.

Harry Dahl, Forty-Nine Dollars per acre.

Motion was duly made, seconded and unanimously carried to take consideration of these bids for 15 days.

Motion was then duly made, seconded, and unanimously carried to open bids for school equipment. Bids were received from the following firms:

[illegible]

Motion was duly made, seconded and unanimously carried to refer the bids to a committee composed of Stanley Nelson and Clarence Pope for tabulation and report to the Board.

Motion was duly made, seconded and unanimously carried to authorize the President, Treasurer and Clerk to execute teachers contracts, as follows:

Baseball Prowlers Pile up 9th, 10th Wins

Coach Ralph Skjod's baseball Prowlers added victories number nine and ten to their win collection when they scored a pair of triumphs this past week. On Monday afternoon, on the Fair Grounds, they defeated the Crookston Pirates, 11 to 4, in a district conference game; and on Tuesday night, also on the Fair Grounds diamond, the Prowlers defeated Halstad, 7 to 4, in an inter-district tilt.

This evening, Thursday, the Prowlers will travel to Fertile for night game against the regional favorite Falcons. On Friday night, also in a night game, the Prowlers will meet the Red Lake Falls Eagles on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Monday afternoon's game, against Crookston, found coach Skjod giving the pitching assignment to sophomore righthander Mickey Hanson, and the rangy youngster turned in a fine game. Hanson, although touched for ten hits, was stingy in the clutch, and except for home run by Sherm Tollefson in the 4th inning, with one man on base, he was in control of the game.

The Prowlers' ten-hit attack on pitchers Schultz and Hannah was sparked by a home run by Tony Wald. Wald's round-tripper, belted out of the park in 5th inning, was the "power" blow in the Prowlers' six-run outburst.

Tuesday night's game, the first night game of the local season, was, four five innings, a duel between right handers Darrel Kaldor of Halstad and Harlie Drees of the Prowlers, with the Prowlers' chunky hurler having the edge.

The Prowlers racked up a pair of runs in the 1st inning on a walk to Jerry Jorgenson, a single by Dave Berg, and a single by Dean Bergland.

Halstad nudged into the scoring column in the 4th inning when, with one away, Drees walked Francis Hesby and Kaldor, and when Roger Weise banged a single into right field, Hesby tallied.

The Prowlers "insured" the game in the 5th inning with a four-run cluster. Wald's double into right field plated a pair of runs, Ross Sloan's single tallied Wald, and Sloan scored on a stolen base and a pair of errors.

Weise's triple, just inside the first base line, accounted for a pair of Halstad runs in the 6th inning, and Weise added the third run by scoring on a wild pitch. Halstad filled the bases on a single, a hit basman, and a walk with two men out, but Bruce Thalacker skied out to Bergland in left field to end the rally.

The line scores:

Crookston	000 210 1	4	10	3
Thief River Falls	320 060 X	11	10	2

Batteries—Schultz, Hannah, and Tollefson; Hanson and Weese.

Halstad	000 103 0	4	5	5
Thief River Falls	200 041 X	7	8	0

Batteries—Kaldor, Thalacker and Trandem; Drees and Berg.

Prowler Golfers Win District Title Tourney Tuesday

Crookston Pirates Win District Tennis Title In Matches Wednesday

Thief River Falls, on Tuesday and Wednesday, was the scene of the 31st district's high school golf and tennis tournaments. On Tuesday, coach Jack Boyer's Prowler golf squad, shooting an aggregate of 338, won the district golf championship. On Wednesday afternoon, with the matches being played on the East Side court, the Crookston Pirates won the district tennis title.

In the golf competition Tuesday, the Prowler quartet of Daryl Williamson, 41-41, Jon Larson, 42-42, Jim Solheim, 42-41, and David Gall, 42-41, totaled a fine 338 to edge out the runner-up Crookston Pirates by three strokes. Crookston had a 341, followed by Warren with a 402, and East Grand Forks with a 451.

Medalist honors were won by Crookston's Paul Stenseth, who shot a 37-43. The following golfers qualified for the regional tournament that will be held in Bemidji: Jon Larson and David Gall of Thief River Falls, George Boyer, Paul Stenseth, Dick Brown, and Les Gorder all of Crookston.

In the district tennis tournament on Wednesday, the Crookston Pirates, by a margin of two matches to one, defeated the Prowlers for the district championship.

The Prowlers' Ken Jones won the district singles crown defeating Crookston's Jerry Solheim, 6-0 and 6-3 in the finals. In an earlier match, Jones had defeated Crookston's Ron Brown, 6-3 and 6-1. Solheim eliminated the Prowlers' Ken DeLap, 4-6, 6-4, and 6-3, in an important semi-finals match.

In the doubles play, Crookston's duo of Roger Volden and Don Johnson, by scores of 6-2 and 6-1, defeated the Prowlers doubles team of Paul Bakke and Dan Casey.

Earning berths in the regional tournament, to be held in Bemidji on May 24th, were Ken Jones, Jerry Solheim, Roger Volden, and Don Johnson.

A year indoors is journey along a paper calendar; a year in outer nature is the accomplishment of a tremendous ritual.

Field Work Makes Progress In Area

Recent Rainfall Misses This Part of Minnesota

Pennington county farmers got a break in the weather this week in that the storm which hit elsewhere in Minnesota, bringing much-needed moisture to the central and southern parts of the state, missed our area and enabled the farmers to keep at their field work.

The Canadian high pressure system reported hovering north of the border in Monday's Times is at present the dominant factor in area weather today, having moved into the upper midwest Wednesday.

Just how long it will affect Minnesota weather hasn't been forecast but the Times private prognosticator goes on record as saying the fishermen Saturday will have partly cloudy weather, moderate temperatures and a falling barometer when season opens. Or, a different statement with the same meaning would be that your guess is as good as the weatherman's!

Weather since Monday, according to KTRF records, show a high of 71 Monday and today's 37 as low. No precipitation fell in the period but there was a definite cooling trend as the storm passed south of this area.

The forecast is for fair today and tonight, becoming partly cloudy and continued cool through Friday. Better keep your garden plants covered as that old late-spring bugaboo, frost, is again mentioned in the Forecast for Thursday night.

Highs will be 55-65 and lows tonight will range from 32-38. Winds will be east-southeast, 15 m.p.h. and humidity will be low.

Prowler Golfers Take Grand Forks Team on Monday

Coach Jack Boyer's Prowler golf squad defeated the Grand Forks Central team, 412 to 414, in a five-man match played on the local course on Monday afternoon.

The individual scoring for the Prowlers was as follows: Daryl Williamson, 38-41; Jon Larson, 39-43; Jim Solheim, 40-44; Dave Gall, 39-45; and Dave Rasmussen, 44-46.

Medal honors for the day's play was won by Grand Forks' Cliff Yagla, who posted a 42-39 for an 81.

SPORTS CORNER

This an' That

Louisville, Kentucky has set out to make "hay" of the famous Kentucky Derby by building a week-long festival around the horse race. Added attractions of this year's Derby included a nationally-televised boxing match, a highly successful Kentucky Derby Open Golf Tournament and a big parade. Bill Corum and others responsible for the Derby, while backing Louisville's bigger ambitions, would prefer not to have too many events so close to Derby post time. Hundreds of sports writers from over the world come to Louisville to witness the race and write about it and they'd like to keep it that way . . . The fourth time was the charm for Sugar Ray Robinson. When the great fighter kayoed Gene Fullmer to regain the middleweight title he earned enough money to pay off his back debt to Uncle Sam and at the same time set himself up for the biggest payday of his career. A match against Carmen Basilio will put plenty of chips in the coffers for both fighters.

TOPS AGAIN . . . Sugar Ray Robinson, 37, won middleweight boxing championship in Chicago for fourth time, knocking out in fifth round favored Gene Fullmer who took title from him last January.

The Thief River Trap Shoot league will hold its second scheduled shoot of the young season on Thursday May 2nd, the league champion Wilson Bros., getting 25's from Al Tonder and John Peterson, defeated the Northern Chevrolet team, 120 to 100. George Mackenroth had a 25 for the losers.

The Oen's Appliance team, with Dr. Paul Wendt and Everett Amundgaard posting 25's scored a one-point win over Tony Dorn's Pharmacy squad. Russ Embury and his young son Steve had 25's for the Pharmacy.

In another one-point match, the Times, with Mel Zitzow and Don Olson chalking up 25's, defeated the Johnson Bros. team, 119 to 118. Gordon Johnson and Russ Williams had 25's for the Johnson team.

AIRPORT NEWS

In trying to catch up a little on the Airport News we'll go back to the 29th of April and proceed from there.

That was the day the D-50 Twin Bonanza from Omaha landed here with Wm. West piloting the plane and Roy L. Hernson, a representative of the Peoples Natural Gas Company, aboard. Their business took them to Thief River Falls and Red Lake Falls.

Ted Zontilli of Crosby flew up on business in his Cessna 180 that same day.

On the last day of April we had Ed Baumgartner of Rosseau and passenger E. Harry Luther, come in a J-3 Cub; Arnold Woldtke, Roseau, Champ; L. Wichterman, Dorothy, Champ; and Kurt Woldtke, Roseau, Champ. These four planes were sprayers and were brought in for mechanical work before the spraying season gets under way.

George Holey, from the Dept of Aeronautics in St. Paul and Stuart Radzon were airport callers on the 3rd of May. They were fying a Navion. And from Mahnomen came Bob Anderson and passenger in a Champ.

Saturday, the 4th, we had another St. Paul plane come in with Jim Goar and A. T. Lyndon aboard. They had business with the Brolin Sheet Metal Company in Thief River Falls.

M. J. Mulneg of Anoka spent his Saturday flying cross country around northern Minnesota and spent the night in Thief River Falls. He left his Champ tied down at the local airport and left again Sunday morning.

Other Saturday and Sunday callers were: Jack Grahn, Roseau, Champ; Art Dobias, Angus, P T; Curtis Sather, Badger, Cessna 140; H. J. Ohlin, Brainard, T-Craft; Henry Silorski and Warren Emery, Greenbush, J-3; and Armond Samur and his three passengers from McIntosh in a Cessna 170.

Throughout the past week these pilots have landed their planes at the local airport: Dr. LeRoy Hill and passenger, Bemidji, Champ; Wm. Wade, Chicago, Aeronca Sedan; L. Wichterman, Dorothy, Champ; Bob Anderson, Mahnomen, Champ; Kurt Woldtke, Roseau, Champ; G. E. Rufer, Fergus Falls, Cessna; Connie Chandler, Warren, P T23; Miles Wermager, Karlstad and Dale Walters of Fertile flying a Tri-Pacer, brought along three passengers from Hitterdal, Minn. They were: Mrs. Ray Solum, Ray Solum, Jr. and Robert Peterson.

Thief River Falls was well represented at the Fertile Flight Breakfast, Sunday the 12th of May. A group of seven planes left the local airport and then flew in formation over Fertile. The pilots and passengers were: Mark Bjorkman, Bill Frahm, Wayne Levorson, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Ehrenstrom and Stanton, Mr. and Mrs. Chet Mathews, Martin Rantanen, Howard Luhe, Clifford Sustad, Olaf Dahlen and Jim Tattle.

Trucks Collide on T.H. 1 Thursday

L. W. Best Truck Badly Damaged in Collision

Thief River Falls streets and area highways have been remarkably quiet and peaceful this week with not a single accident reported here by any of the three law enforcement agencies.

A belated accident report, left out of Monday's Times, was made by the highway patrol last Thursday. The mishap occurred when a Best Electric Co. truck driven by Earl Sylvester, Pembina, N. D., ran into the ditch on highway 1 about 15 miles west of Thief River Falls as Sylvester was attempting to pass another truck.

The other truck, driven by Douglas Hole, Warren, was headed the same direction as the Best truck and the cause of the crash, as reported by the highway patrol, was that Hole started to make a left turn into a farm driveway just as Sylvester was passing, forcing him to take the ditch to avoid collision. Damage to the truck driven by Sylvester was estimated at $300-$400, no damage to Hole truck reported.

Hole was charged with failure to yield right of way by the investigating highway patrolman.

J. Gasperlin Heads Goodridge Education Assn.

The Goodridge Education association held its last meeting of the year last week with Donald Olson, presiding. A representative of the Blue Cross and Blue Shield spoke to the teachers. Following the program, election of officers was held with the following being named: President, Julian Gasperlin; Vice president, Mrs. Beatrice Helstad; and Secretary-treasurer, Miss Joyce Hemmestvedt.

HAZEL . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Nelson visited Friday with Mrs. Martha Lokken in Thief River Falls, who recently returned from Northwestern hospital where she had been a patient for 2 weeks.

The St. Pauli Ladies Aid will meet at the church Thursday evening, May 23 at 8:30 p.m. The hostesses will be Mrs. Clayton Mathson and Mrs. Harley Iverson.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Alberg visited Sunday evening with Gunlid Evenson and the Erickson brothers at the latters home.

The Exodus

Beginning on Friday afternoon and evening, continuing through Saturday and on into Sunday morning, the city's walleyed pike fishermen will be leaving for their favorite fishing waters.

We've been cross-questioning several game wardens and state game and fish department employees, and it's their consensus that the number one spot for the walleye fishermen will be Waskish, Lake of the Woods, at Morris Point and Wheeler's Point, will also be given a heavy play by the season-opening fishermen.

One factor that gives Waskish an edge is that the angler, fishing the Tamarac river and Shotley brook, where the two streams empty into upper Red lake, has the possibility of hooking a trophy-sized northern. And, too, if the wind, and it doesn't have to blow very hard, kicks up rough water on the open expanses of the lake, the fisherman can always fish the river. The Tamarac river is well-sheltered, and if the walleyes are biting, and they should, the limit can be secured in the river as easily as in the lake.

High winds on the Lake of the Woods can raise hob with the plans of the anglers hoping to fish that water. Particularly exposed to the winds are Rocky Point, Long Point, and Morris Point. The Wheeler's Point anglers can always fish the Rainy river. Just hazard a guess, we will estimate that there will be a couple of hundred boats fishing in the vicinity of Morris Point, and another couple of hundred around the Curry island blinker.

Good luck and fair weather and calm waters.

The Streak's End?

Our memory is a bit shoddy in its recollections, but we believe that the track Prowlers have won the 31st district track and field title for thirteen or fourteen years in a row. That's a remarkable streak, but it's in danger of being broken this week. The fact is the Prowlers will be entering the district meet at Grand Forks on Friday as a "dark horse" entry, with coach Al Droen's Crookston Pirates being installed as the tournament favorite.

Coach Quentin Jones will take a squad of twenty Prowlers to the district meet; and it's the first time in years that the squad isn't a well-balanced point producing squad.

Except for Boyce Lee and Jerry Konickson in the pole vault; Larry Krohn in the mile run; Derwood Amundson in the 880-yard run; Keith D. Johnson and Jim Nelson in the shot put and discus; and the 880-yard relay team, the Prowlers will be hard-pressed for points.

The Prowlers are hurting in the dash and hurdle events. It's the first time in many seasons that the Prowler track squad has shown a weakness in the hurdling events. Over the years, the hurdles have been one of coach Jones' pet events, and he's produced some dandy timber-toppers.

The Prowlers, too, will be handicapped in their efforts to continue their title-winning streak by the fact that they will compete in Friday's meet without the services of Ronnie Ebbinghausen. Ronnie, last week, ran afoul of the training regulations.

Lake Trout

The first successful party, to our knowledge, to return from Crow lake with their limit of trout was the Leo Pahlen-Fred Pahlen-Howie Johnston-Ted Pahlen party. Leo and Fred are from town, while Nick, Howie, and Ted are from Red Lake Falls.

This quintet fished Crow over the weekend, returning here on Sunday with lake trout, and an assortment of northerns. They filled their limit of trout, having twenty-five trout, ranging in size from three to six pounds.

The boys tried to tell us that the secret to their success was that they were "active" anglers. But we wouldn't believe that story. And the clue that provided us with our doubts was the heavy sunburns that they carried. Even their eyelids were sunburned! That was the tipoff.

We'll wager that their method of angling was to bait their hooks with sucker minnows, flip their lines out in the lake, set the clicks on their reels, and lie back on a "soft" rack and take a snooze. The reel click would operate as an alarm clock and when that screeched they would awaken and drag in a well-hooked trout.

Sunburned eyelids.

Just Something Different

To end this week's column on a different note we'll include this quotation from an old Indian prayer: "Let me not pass judgment on my brother before I have walked for six moons in his moccasins."

Bowlers Compete in Mixed Doubles

Marvel Carlson and Del Harbott Win First Place

Considerable activity ensued on the Pla-Mor alleys this past week. On Tuesday a mixed doubles tournament was held with twenty-four bowlers participating. The winners of first place, rolling an aggregate of 1411, was the doubles team of Marvel Carlson and Del Harbott. Marvel, with a handicap of 52 pins, rolled a 670 total; while Del, with a 40-pin handicap, had an aggregate of 741.

Second place winners were Anderson, with an aggregate of 1376. In third place were Shirley Bloomquist and Otto Myhrer, with an aggregate of 1375; and fourth place was won by Orpha Ryan and Jim Anderson, with a total of 1366.

On Friday night a pair of Crookston women's teams, the Crookston Farm Supply and the Ottertail Power Company, rolled exhibition matches against a pair of local teams.

The Crookston Farm Supply team, carrying a 16-pin handicap, defeated the Pharmacy in three games, 718 to 665, 670 to 637, and 675 to 615. The Soo Line, by a margin of two games to one, defeated the Ottertail Power team. The Soo Line won the first game, 720 to 688, the second game, 724 to 617, and lost the third game 663 to 678.

Stiff Penalties for Drunken Drivers Are Imposed by 1957 Law

Too many persons driving on Minnesota streets and highways must not be familiar with changes in penalties for drunken driving made by the 1957 legislature if Minnesota highway department records are any indication.

G. A. Hatfield, director of the driver's license division, reports that during April there were 880 drivers whose licenses were revoked for driving under the influence of intoxicants—for 197 of these, it was the second, third or fourth time. The number was 22 per cent over the average of 721 for each of the first three months of 1957, and brought the total for the year to 3,044.

"We feel that drivers are unaware of the more severe jail penalities and the tightening of license restrictions brought about by Chapter 297 of the 1957 session laws," Hatfield said. "This law was effective on April 4 and is aimed at the drinking driver.

"The person who is convicted of driving under the influence not only faces a fine or jail sentence or both," Hatfield reported, "but he also absolutely deprived of the privilege of driving for a period of at least 30 days. It is the aim of our driver improvement program either to correct the attitude of the drinking driver to remove him from the highways because he is a hazard to other law-abiding drivers and pedestrains."

Four important features of this section, MS. 169.12, should be deterents for persons who might drive after drinking, because of the mandatory provisions of the penalties:

1. Every person who is convicted of a violation of this section (operating a vehicle under the influence of alchol or narcotics), when such violation is found to be the proximate cause of grievous bodily injury or death to another person, shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than 60 days.

2. Every person who is convicted of a violation of this section within three years of any previous conviction under this section shall be punished by imprisonment for not less than 10 days.

3. In each of the above convictions, the person's driver's license shall be revoked for not less than 90 days, while it is revoked for not less than 30 days for other drunk driving convictions.

4. Persons charged with a violation of this section within three years of a previous conviction must make a personal appearance before a court. Should he attempt to forfeit bail, a bench warrant shall be issued for his arrest.

Reports from various states making such information available show that from 40 to 60 per cent of drivers or adult pedestrains involved in fatal accidents had been drinking, with the proportion increasing slightly each year. These reports were made from studies where it was determined the driver or pedestrains had been drinking, either by test results or by observations of competent witnesses.

Legislation Affects Sportsmen of State

A preliminary summary of new laws passed by the 1957 legislature relating to conservation reveals about two dozen of major importance in the operation of the department. Many minor acts, changes and amendments were made to existing laws.

The five major new laws relating to the game and fish division are—the wetlands act; the transfer of the Lac qui Parle Marsh Lake area to the department without cost; changes in deer and bass seasons; and motorboat operation.

Three major bills are of interest to the division of forestry, a forest growth tax law; changes in the Auxiliary Forest law and authority to close roads and trails in fire emergency.

The Wetlands Law: The sportsmen of Minnesota were unanimously behind this Wetlands Bill to add $1.00 to the hunting license and will provide about $325,000 annually for the acquisition and development of our vanishing wetlands, so vital to waterfowl, pheasants and furbearers.

Lac qui Parle Law: This legislation transfers, at no cost, the 22,000 acre Lac qui Parle Marsh Lake area on the Minnesota River to the Department of Conservation. This will be developed into a major wildlife area, with special emphasis on geese.

Earlier Bass Season: Legislation permitting the bass season to open as early as May 29th, and the bass season will open June 8th this year, which is about two weeks earlier than it has opened in the past.

Earlier Deer Season: Legislation was passed requiring that the deer season open between November 1st and November 21st, instead of November 10th and December 1st.

Motors to Remain on Duck Boats: This bill now permits a motor to be kept on a duck boat while the boat is at anchor in the blind. This corresponds with existing Federal regulations.

Forest Growth Tax Law: This law establishes a simple method of taxation of forest land and is based on the average annual growth rate per acre of commercial forest types.

Auxiliary Forest Law Amended: The auxiliary forest law was an early attempt to the tax problem of forest lands. The law, as amended during this session, provides for an increase from 6 cents to 10 cents per acre annual tax, in addition to the regular yield tax.

Guardsmen Ready for Field Training

47th Infantry Division at Camp Ripley June 15-29

The Minnesota National Guard's field training site, Camp Ripley, is humming with activity these days as preparations are being made for the "invasion" of National Guard troops, local and out-of-state, who will participate in their annual two weeks summer encampment.

The first increment of Minnesota Guardsmen, the 109th Transportation Truck Battalion, will converge upon Camp Ripley June 2 and will culminate their training June 16 by providing transportation for the 47th Division, which begins its training at that time.

Following the 109th will be the main body of Minnesota's 47th Infantry "Viking" Division, some 7,700 men, who will begin their training at Camp Ripley on Saturday, June 15, and continue through June 29. This year's training will include recruit training, firing of the basic weapon and a three day bivouac, which will stress day and night combat maneuvers.

Something new will be added to this year's encampment as the first class of Minnesota Military Academy cadets will be in attendance. The academy will put the cadets through three weeks of intensive training, augmenting the indoor weekend sessions that were held during the past fall, winter, and spring. Upon completion of the three weeks, a graduation ceremony will be held, at which time the graduates will receive their diplomas and become eligible for commissions as second lieutenants in the Minnesota National Guard.

Delinquency and Alcoholism to Be Topics at Bemidji

District Workshop to Be Sponsored by Pastors Next Monday and Tuesday

Juvenile delinquency and alcoholism are the two subjects to be discussed at a workshop on the "Ministry to the Whole Man," sponsored by the Bemidji Lutheran Hospital and the Bemidji Ministerial Association. On May 20 and 21, social workers, nurses, doctors, clergymen, and judges from a large area in northern Minnesota will meet for a second annual institute. Discussions will focus on understanding and care related to these blights of modern society. Workshop sessions will be held at the First Lutheran Church of Bemidji.

Main consultants on the situation of juvenile problems will be Professor John Ellingston of Minneapolis, an the Rev. Mr. Neal Kuyper of St. Cloud. Prof. Ellingston has recently served as the executive secretary for the Legislature's commission on Juvenile delinquency, adult crime and corrections. Mr. Kuyper has distinguished himself for his work at the state reformatory in St. Cloud.

In the field of the alcoholic, the workshop has obtained Father Phillip T. C. Blackburn of St. Paul. Fr. Blackburn is serving presently at the diocesan consultant on problem drinking for the Protestant Episcopal Church in Minnesota.

A session of the workshop will be led by Judge M. A. Reed of Bemidji, who will direct a panel of community representatives in a discussion of the new Minnesota Youth Code. The concerned public is welcome to this session.

State Highway Department OK's Pennington Jobs

Awarding of contracts totaling $823,504 for improvement of more than 78 miles of county roads in 10 counties was announced today by L. P. Zimmerman, state highway commissioner. The 15 projects include grading, base construction, gravel and bituminous surfacing and seal coating.

The projects include Pennington County, S.A.R. 1—Grading of 6.4 miles between Jct. S.A.R. 4 and Jct. T.H. 32 at St. Hilaire, Kraus-Anderson, St. Paul, $57,707.

S.A.R. 2—Bituminous seal coating of 6.1 miles between the Thief River Falls south limits and Jct. S.A.R. 1, east of St. Hilaire, McLaughlin & Schulz, Inc., Marshall, $8,568.

The two-party system is actually something of a rarity around the world, being firmly entrenched only in the United States, Great Britain, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, some parts of Latin America and a few other countries.

Old Fashioned Ideas

You cannot believe in honor until you have achieved it. Better keep yourself clean and bright; you are the window through which you must see the world.

—George Bernard Shaw

Welcome Trainmen

Thief River Falls will be host this summer to several important conventions, and one of the most important, in several respects, will be this week's state meeting of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and its Ladies' Auxiliary.

The selection of Thief River Falls as a meeting place for an organization that represents so large a segment of railroad labor is recognition that Thief River Falls is one of Minnesota's important railroad terminals. In terms of payroll the railroad is our biggest local industry, and this fact, among ourselves, is too often taken for granted.

Aside from this local interest, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen is one of the oldest and largest labor organizations in our country. It was born in a caboose in New York state 73 years ago. From that inauspicious beginning developed the present great organization of a quarter of a million members.

In recent years we have been developing a dislike for the adjective "old" and we do not like to refer to anyone or any group as old. We prefer maturity rather than old age, and, considering the record, we think it far more appropriate to refer to the Trainmen as a mature brotherhood.

In this spirit, in behalf of the good citizens of this good "rail" town, we extend a sincere welcome to all of the visiting Rails. We are signally honored by the presence of those who direct the affairs of this great and mature labor organization at both the state and national levels.

Our Hospital

This is national hospital week, and in our community, where we have a fine hospital, built and equipped with the dollars we have contributed, it is proper that we pause on an occasion of this kind to consider the service we are getting for the dollars we have invested.

We think it is important that we keep in mind that our hospital is one of our locally owned public utilities, organized and operating for the sole purpose of providing a useful and necessary service to the people of our community. As contributing members we have a proprietary interest in the operation, and as taxpayers we should be concerned about the manner in which public funds are being used to maintain such an institution.

Our voice in the management is expressed through the members of a board of trustees, whom we, the members, elect. If we do not attend the annual meetings and express ourselves we of course do not have a voice. And that is not good for several reasons.

By failing to attend the annual meetings we remain uninformed, and perhaps misinformed, about the problems of management. And when only a few attend these meetings the important business of electing directors is left to only a small number of individuals. Those few could be controlled numerically by a smaller group who would have a selfish interest rather than a community interest in the operation of the hospital.

Friday is visitors day and this open house provides an opportunity for all to inspect our modern and well equipped community hospital. And members should keep in mind the annual meeting to be held in the basement of the court house Monday evening. By our interest in its operation we can do much to make our hospital the successful institution we want it to be.

Come Clean

Hizoner has decreed that this should be Clean-up Week and we will agree that this is a proper proclamation at this time of the year. One of the lessons we learn early in life is that the only way to have clean dishes is to wash dirty ones. The one and only way to have a clean city is to clean-up a dirty city, and in our northern communities the arrival of spring brings with it a big backlog of cleaning that had to be postponed during the winter months.

Many of you, we know, have neighbors who just don't give a hoot about cleanliness. They are nice folks and your kids and their kids get along swell together. They don't mean to be untidy but they just keep putting off the clean-up job. The crafty thing to do in cases of that kind is to set a good example. When they see you hustling around to make things look spic and span it may occur to them that they too have a neighborhood responsibility.

Happy Clean-up Week.

Same Old Problem

Agriculture Secretary Benson has stated that the present farm program is a failure, and that makes it practically unanimous. There still are the old differences of opinion as to why it is a failure however, and what can be done to make it succeed.

This question is not going to be made an issue in the remaining days of the present session of Congress. It will be a big issue in the next session and between now and then all the old arguments will be revived.

The problem hasn't changed much over a period of years. Most of the products of agriculture are sold in a free market and the prices fluctuate according to the pressures of supply and demand. This is true for most of the perishables, and for many perishables marketing is controlled. The surpluses are plowed under each season.

The problem crops are mainly those which the government has agreed to buy at a fixed price, wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, peanuts and rice. The guaranteed price has gone to growers who have agreed to limit their acreage.

Improved farming methods have resulted in greatly increased yields per acre and, too often, acreage reduction has not resulted in a reduced production. That is mainly why the present plan has not worked.

Giving special protection to six so-called basic crops has also had the adverse affect of increasing production of other crops. Acres diverted from cotton, for instance, have been a factor in increased livestock and livestock products production.

The soil bank was intended to correct this. On a voluntary basis, however, the soil bank is not getting the hoped-for participation.

As an economic problem the possible solutions are fairly clear-cut and not too difficult. But as a political problem there are so many emotional cross-currents to be considered, in addition to the economic factors involved, that a completely reasonable solution is not to be expected.

In the months of argument that are ahead of us it is not likely that any brilliantly new ideas on the subject will be presented.

MAVIE . . .

Lindvik and Pittman to Represent 4-H'ers at Crookston

The Mavie 4-H club was held Friday evening May 10 at the Fred Hanson home. Special business discussed was 4-H club week at Crookston. Sharon Lindvik and Larry Pittman were selected to go with the club paying the fee. Project talks were given by Roger Pittman, Donny Hanson, and Donna Hanson. Margaret Wayne gave the topic on "Posters." County agent Marge Olson gave a talk and slide movie on pie baking. Corsages, made by Margaret Wayne were presented to the mothers. The Mothers Day program consisted of several readings by Carol Gevlng, Lonnie Szymanski, Bill Svendsgaard and Marie Breznay. Shirley Oski sang, "That Wonderful Mother of Mine."

Looking Backward

1897-SIXTY YEARS AGO

A light snowfall was recorded here May 13. John Kivel served as city marshall a few days this week. Fire Chief James Farr warned against setting fires in the city. Reservation settlers are flocking in fast these days.

1917-FORTY YEARS AGO

The council paid $4,100 for a deep well pump for use in the local water system. A Minneapolis firm is seeking a franchise to supply this city with gas service. F. H. Davidson, mayor of Winnipeg, and his secretary, Fred B. Furgeson, headed for a Jefferson Highway tour to this city. The run to Thief River Falls from Winnipeg was made in 8½ hours. County attorney H. O. Chommie has issued orders to enforce the law barring persons under the age of 21 from attending public dances.

1927-THIRTY YEARS AGO

L. A. Thune, Lincoln athletic coach for four years, resigned to accept a similar post at Iron Mountain, Michigan. Dr. O. F. Melby is attending the convention of the American Medical assn. in Washington, D. C. Only 52 students will be graduated from Lincoln high school in June, Harold Hand, principal, announced.

1937-TWENTY YEARS AGO

Accepting a challenge from the local Jaycees, Civic and Commerce assn. golfers will meet the younger group in a golf tourney Sunday. Theodore Quale was named president of the Red Lake Summer Resort assn., with Andrew Anderson vice president, George M. Wilson secretary, and C. L. Biddick, treasurer. The city council called for bids on oil to surface more than 20 blocks of streets, mostly on the east side. Mrs. Jack McKechnie was elected president of the Woman's club, succeeding Mrs. C. W. Vorachek.

1947-TEN YEARS AGO

Selmer Luckason, Hawley farmer, shot himself to death on a Rocksbury farm for which he had been negotiating the purchase. A disastrous fire May 20 gutted the two-story Peterson-Biddick Co. building on Atlantic ave. and damaged the adjoining Land O'Lakes seed house to the extent of $50,000. F. E. Tunberg was named president of the recently organized Community Hospital assn.

The Legislature

By Orlin Folwick

St. Paul—Minnesota residents who expected tax relief from the 1957 legislature and the Governor Freeman administration are likely to find themselves instead paying higher taxes for the next two years.

Not only did the legislature fall short in carrying out a tax cut program it approved appropriations more than $100,000,000 higher than in 1955. Because of the insistence by the governor's men in the house of representatives in keeping close to the governor's proposed spending program, such items as personal property relief for the farmer and small businessman had to be abandoned.

Property Taxes To Go Up

Although no definite figure on the state millage rate can be set as yet because the total amount of money appropriated is not yet definitely known, property owners can expect to pay a state mill rate at least 1.6 mills higher next year and 3.73 mill higher the year after. Preliminary figures on the millage rates prepared at the state capitol fix the minimum for 1958 at 10.75 mills and 12.88 mills for 1959. The present rate is 9.15 mills.

This means that property owners in Minnesota will pay a total of $5.33 for each $1,000 of taxable valuation on real estate and personal property more than they did for the current two-year period. The increase was made necessary because of the huge increase in the governor's spending program and the abandonment by his followers in the house of the tax relief program they promised at the outset of the session.

Senate Fought For Relief

In the final moments of the session, it was the senate that battled for a tax relief program. When the conflicting bills had been passed in their respective houses, conferees sat down to iron out details and bring about agreement. While these conferences were held behind closed doors, it was reported that the house Liberals, who comprised the house conference representatives, refused flatly to discuss the personal property tax relief proposal even though this had been one of their main points, as well as of the governor's in the early part of the session. It was the senators on this committee who stuck for eliminating the personal property tax up to the time when it was apparent the conference was in a hopeless deadlock. The senators were forced to yield.

As the points maintained by the senators dropped one by one, the house conferees won more and more advantages in the handling of the hung-up legislation, but their action actually cost the taxpayers more money at a time when tax relief had been promised and the public was looking for it.

Tentative figures for the 1957 appropriations are $428,000,000, as against $325,000,000 in the 1955 session. The Governor's spending requests totaled $475,500,000. The cut from this figure to the $428,000,000 figure was due largely to the efforts of the senate to keep expenses and taxes down.

Senate Accomplishments

The senate made the only moves in the session in the taxpayer's behalf. It defeated the withholding tax plan, which would have taken more money from income taxpayers during the next two years. It fought hard, if unsuccessfully, for the personal property tax elimination because it saw in this move a chance to build business and industry in the state, provide more jobs and a broader tax base.

In one field only did it go beyond the house. This was in the matter of state aid to education. Where the governor had asked for something over $200,000,000 for education, the senate raised this figure to $220,000,000 and the house to $233,000,000. When this bill got into conference, the senators moved for a further increase, which brought the total to $236,000,000.

The senators felt that increasing the state contribution to education costs in the state would relieve local taxpayers of the amount contributed by the state. In this respect the senate stole a march on the house Liberals who had hoped to campaign against the senate next year on the tax relief program.

Instead, many a house Liberal may find himself in a difficult defensive position when confronted during the campaign with the fact that his group fell short of the senate in school tax relief and that it refused to discuss any tax relief at all at the windup session. Unqestionably, tax relief will be a major issue in the 1958 campaign and the Liberals, by their legislative record, may find the going rough.

Legion Auxiliary to Meet May 6

The regular meeting of the Auxiliary, Post 427 will meet Thursday, May 16 at 8:00 p.m.

On the schedule for the business meeting will be election of officers.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Stuart Sethre and Mrs. Conrad Melo.

Attend WMF Meet at Greenbush

A group of women from the Lutheran Free church of Newfolden were in attendance at the Women's Missionary Federation annual meeting at the Olien Lutheran church of Greenbush one day this past week.

To Have Poppy Day in Newfolden May 24 and 25

"Wear a poppy in memory of America's war dead."

This will be the appeal of the women of the American Legion Auxiliary to everyone in Newfolden Friday May 24 and also the evening of May 25.

The Poppy Day workers, all unpaid volunteers, will be on the downtown streets throughout the day offering the little red flowers in memory to all who will wear them in tribute to those who died for America.

We trust the entire town will join us in a day of patriotic tribute to those who gave their lives that we might live in this great free country of ours.

Our Auxiliary president, Mrs. Joe Weber Jr., urges each and everyone to wear a poppy on that day and on Memorial Day. Wearing a poppy is a little thing to do but a big thing in meaning.

That poppy, over your heart means that you remember with gratitude those young men who died, in our nations defense on battle fields throughout the world.

The poppies have been made of crepe paper and wire by disabled war veterans in the Veterans Hospitals and convalescent work rooms.

Each one is hand made in replica of the wild European poppy which bloomed "between the crosses, row on row" in the world war battle cemeterys in France and Belgium.

So remember these dates, May 24 and 25 and our slogan is to see "A Poppy on Every Lapel."

The Arab World

Enroute to Beruit, Lebanon, after four days in Cairo, Egypt, I have an opportunity to reflect upon my visit to this center of the Arab world. After talking with President Nassar and members of his cabinet, to American diplomats, businessmen, professors, students, and newspapermen of our own and other countries of the free world, my deepest impression is that we need a great deal more patience and humility to replace the peevishness and arrogance which have too often characterized our dealings in the Middle East, and particularly in Egypt.

How to Proceed

There is no quick and easy solution here. Futhermore, I think that we should not move unilaterally, by ourselves, in the Middle East any more than we have to. In many cases our national objectives can best be accomplished through the United Nations, or in joint efforts with European states such as Italy or West Germany, or with some of the states in the Middle East itself. There is much to be done—a tremendous need for economic development. Here are 22 million people concentrated in an area no larger than that of Massachusetts and Connecticut! I have seen the Cairo slums; it is shocking, frightening experience to see such poverty. The pressure of population in Egypt is intense and growing, with no more than one-third of an acre of cultivated land available for each Egyptian. Seeing these conditions, it is easier to understand the sharp disappointment of Egyptians over the withdrawal of our offer of assistance in financing the great irrigation project known as the Aswan Dam.

Food and National Policy

Our relations with Egypt were also severely hurt by our refusal to sell wheat and other food supplies from American agriculture surpluses in November of last year. Futhermore, the two-year old successful CARE program in Egypt was largely brought to a standstill in September of 1956 when our Department of Agriculture began to sit on the request for renewal of the authorization. Up until September, almost 3 million persons per day were being fed under CARE. Now the hot school lunch program is dead, and only about 100 thousand people are receiving privately-donated food under the CARE program. Russians, by providing wheat for these people have been able to make great inroads. Soviet medical supplies and kerosene were greatfully received when we failed to make available these supplies after the invasion of the Suez area last fall.

Encouraging Signs

There are encouraging signs that Egypt's leadership would prefer to devote its energies and resources to building roads, schools, hospitals, and homes rather than to military adventures and international political intrigues. Certainly, the challenge of economic development would focus the energies of the Egyptian people on constructive undertakings. Egyptian economic development would also be in self-interest of the United states—offering the enormous potential market for American products. However, there are serious differences of opinion between our two governments, and it is going to take a long time to work out solutions. Many problems probably are just going to have to be allowed to work out themselves. Furthermore this is a changing area, in which the alternatives are often unclear, and our dealings in the area must be characterized by great patience and wisdom and sometimes the willingness to choose between more or less undesirable courses of action. It is a great challenge—not only to our diplomats in the area and to the Department of State—but also to the American people, without whose support the best efforts of our diplomats will surely fail.

Questions Answered about N.W. Hospital

The following answers to questions about Northwestern Hospital have been prepared by Administrator H. W. Peterson in connection with National Hospital Week May 12-18.

1. What are some of the commoner kinds of medical cases taken care of in our hospital?

Using "lay" terminology as far as possible, the following are a few of the commoner kinds of medical cases that have come under the care of our nursing service the past few months: chronic appendicitis, inflammation of the kidneys, diabetes, prostrate troubles, inflammation of the gall bladder, pharyngitis, tonsillitis, gastroenteritis, bronchopneumonia, rheumatic fever, high blood pressure, heart diseases, acute upper respiratory diseases, ulcers, asthma, blood poisoning, anemia, arthritis, bronchitis, cancers of several kinds, dermatitis (skin diseases) eye infections, influenza, intestinal obstructions, inflammations of lymph nodes.

2. What are some of the commoner kinds of surgical cases taken care of in our hospital?

Appendectomies, tonsillectomies, repair of ruptures, excision of gall bladders, transurethal resections, goitre operations reduction of fractures, hemorrhoidectomies, cystoscopic examinations, bowel resections. More uncommon are Cesarean operations and hysterectomies. There were 670 operations at the hospital in the twelve months ending April 30, 1957.

3. What facilities are there in the hospital for the care of children under the age of 14 (pediatric patients)?

We have a regular childrens' section of the third floor which is kept open the year around for care of children. There are sixteen cribs and smaller sized beds on this section but we have additional cribs so that we can expand it to take care of at least 25 children easily at any one time. We have a registered head nurse in charge of this section. We have three Croupettes and several expensive oxygen tents we use in times of severe upper respiratory outbreaks. In addition we have 14 cold steam humidifiers which are often in use. Administration of all types of drugs and intravenous solutions are afforded by our service under strict doctor's orders.

4. How many children per year have been hospitalized?

In 1954-55, 431; in 1955-56, 561; in 1957-47, 594. In the last two years a total of 1155 children below 14 years of age have been hospitalized. This does not include the newborn. During this two year period only two children have died who were between the ages of one month and 14 years of age. One of these children had suffered a very severe accident prior to admission. We feel that our doctors and nursing service have done a wonderful job for the children of the community.

5. For what causes are our children hospitalized?

Pneumonia and other severe upper respiratory infections; tonsilectomies; relapses from severe bouts with childhood diseases, such as measles; poison ivy and poison oak; fractures and other play injuries; croup; some kidney infections; appendicitis; hernias; a few cases of rheumatic fever and encephalitis. Fortunately, there have been very few cases of polio.

AND WHAT WILL THEY FIND INSIDE?

Here's a handsome, happy family marching through the open doors of a church. But what will they find inside?

A lovely sanctuary? Perhaps. A congenial group of people? Perhaps. An inspiring sermon and beautiful music? Perhaps. All these they may possibly find inside. But here is what they will certainly find.

- A group of people banded together by a common faith for a common purpose ...
- Assurance that there is a God who cares and loves ...
- Direction for the perplexities that each day brings ...
- A demand to live as God would have them live ...
- A cross as the divine source of faith, hope and love ...

And if you go to church next Sunday, that's what YOU'LL certainly find too!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

OFF THE RECORD

By Eunice Hendryx

THE first romance in our family began when our new neighbors, the Lanes, moved in. While other women peeped from behind lace curtains and speculated on the financial status of the family, Mother prepared a good dinner and invited the newcomers. She suggested that we three girls try to be little Elsie Dinsmores instead of the Wiggs children we had been impersonating. And we did behave, for we were awed by Mrs. Lane's younger sister, Maizie.

Maizie was a fairytale princess—wavy golden hair, eyes like violets and a peaches—and—cream complexion.

Our older brother Frank, who had never seemed interested in girls, except that he did save pictures of shapely actresses—Anna Held, Lillian Russell and others less noted—pasted inside the top lid of his trunk and which we weren't supposed to know they were there, fell for Maizie from the start.

Maizie certainly took a shine to him, especially when she found he owned an interest in our only vaudeville theater. The romance was lovely while it lasted. Maizie rode with Frank every afternoon in his new stanhope and sat through the same acts at the Bijou every night in the week. In the Spring, however, she found it more pleasant to ride, presumably alone, during the evening. Then, one night Frank found his horse tied to the hitching post in front of the theater and a note pinned to the seat cushion. Maizie had gone away with a Texas Ranger.

In a way, Mother was greatly relieved, for we had learned a lot about Maizie. But Frank adored her and Mother was afraid he might do something rash. She worried about his carrying a revolver. At first she had thought it a wise thing to do since he came home late at night with the box office receipts. Now she was sure that anyone with Frank's disposition shouldn't even own a gun.

My sisters and I were too thrilled with our newest possession to worry about Frank's broken heart. He had brought us a wonderful gift — the phonograph used to attract patrons to the Bijou. It was a smallish machine with cylinder records and a beautiful morning glory horn from whence issued the dialogs and duets of Ada Jones, and Len Spencer, comedy songs by Billy Murray, of-and the heart-rending ballads of Henry Burr.

Mother bore with the phonograph stoically until the significance of one song occurred to her. She asked us not to play it when Frank was home. Immediately the song had a great fascination. We played it guardedly and giggled over Maizie being the lemon instead of the peach in the Garden of Love.

One day a little visitor chose a record and slid it on the machine. The music had scarcely started when we all exclaimed: "You can't play that!"

"Frank is upstairs," I explained. "He will think they are singing about him and Maizie."

Mother came hurrying in. "Take that record off," she scolded. "Didn't I tell you girls. ."

A loud report from the room above broke off her speech. "Was that a shot?" she asked in a quavering voice. She stumbled over her long skirts as she hurried up the stairs. We followed.

Mother pushed open Frank's door. He knelt in front of his trunk, his back toward us. Bits of pictures littered the floor—all the gorgeous creatures that had adorned the lid of his trunk. In each hand he held half of a large photograph of Maizie.

"Noise? Oh, I guess it was the trunk lid. Maybe I did bang it. You kids clean up this mess," he told us with a wry smile, and you can play that lemon-in-the-garden-of-love thing from now till doom's day."

WASHINGTON quiz

Q. Can you tell me the measurements of the Lincoln Statue in the Lincoln Memorial?

A. The statue of Lincoln in the Memorial is that of the civil war president seated in a chair 12½ feet high, over the back of which a flag has been draped. 28 large blocks of Georgia white marble compose the statue, which is 19 feet high from head to foot.

Q. Can you tell me to which law the "white slave act" refers?

A. The term "White Slave Act" is some times applied to the Mann Act passed by Congress in 1910. At the time of passage the words "white slavery" were used by social agencies to describe women held in condition of compulsory prostitution which led to the passage of the act.

Q. Can you tell me how the Smithsonian Institution acquired its name?

A. It was named after its founder, James Smithson, an Englishman, who bequeathed his fortune in 1826 to the United States to found in Washington an institution for the "increase and diffusion of knowledge among men." It now occupies several buildings in Washington and in 1956 Congress authorized $36 million for a new Smithsonian Museum of History and Technology. The Smithsonian now has many branches including: The National Museum, the National Gallery of Art, the National Collection of Fine Arts, the Freer Gallery of Art, The International Exchange Service, The Bureau of American Ethnology, The National Zoological Park, the Astrophysical Observatory, The Division of Radiation and Organisms, the National Air Museum and the Canal Zone Biological Area. It also maintains a 900,000 volume library.

Q. Can you tell me if Andorra is a free sovereign state?

A. Yes, it is a republic and has enjoyed undisturbed sovereignty since 1278. It lies in a valley in the Pyrenees mountains; its area is 191 square miles, and population a little over 5,000. The language is Catalan, sheep raising the principle industry and it is governed by a Council General of 24 elected members. It became a Republic in 1806 under a constitution granted by Napoleon.

Although Switzerland is landlocked, Lakes Constance, Geneva and Lugano form an important link between the mountainous nation and its neighbors. Lake steamers transport as many as 1,500 passengers each.

There are probably a million versions of the origin of the American expression, "O.K." Haitians insist this is the most authentic: When U. S. servicemen first began visiting Caribbean ports they ran across Aux Cayes, a port on Haiti's southern peninsula. The town was known for its superb rum, so anything connected with Aux Cayes became O.K.

Mother-in-law Slays Gonvick Band Director

Dean Olson Killed; Sanity Hearing Set for Mrs. A. Sylstad

A sanity hearing will be held today at Bagley for the woman who fatally wounded the band director of Gonvick high school early Saturday morning, according to Clearwater county Sheriff Mel Brustad.

Dean Olson, 23, died enroute to the hospital at Bagley after he had been picked up by Roy Slagerman, Gonvick mortician who found Olson lying mortally wounded on highway 92 near Gonvick about 1:30 Saturday morning.

Mrs. Anne Sylstad, 40, may be committed to the state hospital at Fergus Falls for observation after today's hearing, Sheriff Brustad said. She has been held under guard in the Bagley hospital after she shot Olson in the abdomen with a 22 caliber pistol during a conversation with Olson in his car shortly after midnight.

Brustad said Mrs. Sylstad did not give a reason for shooting Olson but admitted she shot him. The difficulty is believed to have concerned his marriage to Shirley Sylstad, 17, April 5, which was to have been announced after her graduation from high school, where she met Olson in her music studies.

The marriage had the approval of both Mr. and Mrs. Sylstad and her motives for shooting Olson are a mystery, Brustad said. Saturday she was bound over on a 2nd degree murder charge but whether she goes to court on the charge depends on the outcome of today's sanity hearings and possible observation at Fergus Falls.

Olson flagged down Slagerman after his own car had been ditched when he was shot. Three other men, who also stopped advised Slagerman he would "get into trouble" if he picked up Olson but he put Olson in the back of his station wagon and started for the hospital despite their warning.

He said Olson was in mortal agony and writhed around in the back of the wagon until he became quiet shortly before the 15-minute trip to Bagley was completed. On arrival he was found to have died somewhere along the way. He had been bleeding internally, authorities say.

Winners Announced in 'Share the Fun' and Good Grooming Event

"Share the Fun" and the good grooming contests were held Wednesday evening in the City Auditorium in Thief River Falls. Over two hundred 4-H members and parents witnessed the 4-H members in competition.

"Share the Fun" contest is a new event which includes more variety than its predecessor, the talent contest, states County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk.

The winning entries in the contest were given by Shirely Oski, vocal solo "Come to the Fair", Mavie 4-H; girls octet singing "Chanter", from Smiley 4-H; a piano and accordion number, "Are You Mine?", by Eldon Moe and Stuart Solum of Steiner 4-H club.

The Pennington County winners are nominated to go to the "Share the Fun" district contest at Ada. The final selection is made by the state office.

Winners of the good grooming contest were; girls 12 and under: 1st, Janice Sabo, New Solum; 2nd Renay Radniecki, Deer Park. Girls 13 and over: 1st, Shirley Oski, Mavie; Martha Uggerud, New Solum, 2nd. Boys 12 and under: Harold Myers, Silverton, 1st; Boby McCrum, Smiley, 2nd; and boys 13 and over: Virgil Larson, Happy Hearts, 1st; James Harbott, St. Hilaire, 2nd. These 1st place winners will attend a good grooming workshop at 4-H Club Week at Crookston in June.

Entries in the good grooming contest were: Girls 12 and under; Kathy Svendsgaard, Mavie; Marlene Rolland, St. Hilaire; Nancy Newton, Smiley; Pamela Nelson, Silverton; Joan Ramsey, Star; Marilyn Johnson, Highlanding; Phyllis Christensen, Wyanriver; Beverly Naplin, Happy Hearts; Kathy Wold, Sanders; Kathryn Solum, Steiner; Janice Sabo, New Solum; Nancy Dicken, Rocksbury; and Renay Radniecki, Deer Park.

Girls 13 and over: Janice Johnson, Double N; Martha Uggerud, New Solum; Margaret Peterson, Silverton; Selma Dahle, Highlanding; Margie Haugen, St. Hilaire; Shirley Oski, Mavie; Carol Lovly, Star; Nancy Gunderson, Rocksbury; Patty Hornseth, Steiner; Mavie Ahenson, Kratka; Diane Folkedahl, Wyanriver;

John Chommie Is Taking Research Post at Harvard

John Chommie, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Chommie of this city and professor of law at the University of Miami at Coral Gables, Florida, is taking a leave of absence to work next year at Harvard as a research associate in the international program of taxation.

The project involves completion of a 30-volume set of books describing the tax systems in various nations.

Mr. Chommie's task will be to edit three or four of the volumes in cooperation with a foreign correspondent, the first one dealing with Sweden.

Scotchlite Bikes Project Slated by Jaycees Tuesday

Parents Urged to Have Children Bring Bicycles to School in Afternoon

Arrangements are all set and scotchlite crews made up of Jaycee members are organized and ready to scotchlite bicycles at the Knox, Northrop, Washington, Lincoln and St. Bernard's school grounds on Tuesday afternoon, May 21. All bicycles will be scotchlited according to official rules.

The pupils at the various schools Monday will be given a questionnaire on safe bicycle handling that has been prepared by the Jaycees.

The Jaycees, in cooperation with the Pennington county safety council and the American Legion, V.F.W., Elks and Eagles, urge all parents to instruct themselves and their children in proper bicycle handling rules.

Bill Penning, chairman of the campaign said, "Be sure to have your children take their bicycles to school in Tuesday so that they can have them scotchlited."

N.W. Hospital to Hold '57 Meeting This Evening at 8

The annual meeting of Northwestern Hospital association will be held this evening (Monday) at 8 o'clock in the meeting room on the ground floor of the court house, with L. B. Hartz, president, conducting the session. Annual reports will be submitted, and four members will be elected to the board of trustees, three for three-year terms and one for one year. Coffee will be served at the close of the meeting.

City Problems Discussed by C. C. Thursday

Bill LaFave Calls Attention to Need for Arena Addition

Nearly 50 members attended a dinner meeting of the Chamber of Commerce Thursday evening in the Elks club rooms, and heard a discussion of municipal problems. Don L. Olson, president, was in charge of the program.

Bill LaFave of the city recreation board spoke of the need for expanding the facilities of the arena to provide an ice sheet 200 feet long as well as additional space for spectators. Dennis Rolle, former Lincoln high school hockey coach, supported LaFave's statements, and added that the present dressing rooms in the arena are inadequate.

Speaking for the local curling club, Russ Embury stated that the group is considering erection of a building this year, but that it would prefer to use the arena if its facilities are expanded. He added that the club is prepared to pay a rental fee of $1,000 a year.

Jarvis Prichard of Prichard Bros., local contractors, estimated roughly that an addition to the arena to be built onto the rear would cost in the neighborhood of $50,000.

Discussing the projected street improvement program, City Engineer Douglas Stewart said that when laws recently enacted to implement Amendment No. 2 take effect shortly, streets in the city will be divided into four classes, including trunk highways; county highways such as Pennington av.; state aid streets to be improved with state funds; and the remaining streets. Drainage, he said, is the No. One problem in connection with a local street program.

A. F. Berge, president of the city council, gave a report on municipal finances, in which he stated that with a debt of slightly more than $1,500,000 the city is called on to retire more than $180,000 in bonds and interest in 1957. He added that funds for this purpose have been accumulating since the first of the year, and he anticipated that there will be no need this year of issuing refunding bonds as was the case last year.

School Board Election Set Tuesday Night

Five Candidates in Contest for Three Posts to Be Filled

Residents of School District 18, embracing the city of Thief River Falls and a large surrounding rural area, will go to the polls in the Lincoln high school building Tuesday evening, May 21, to elect three members of the board of education for three-year terms.

The polls will be open from 5 until 9:30 p.m. in the home economics room, No. 111, in the Lincoln building, Arnold Pearson, clerk of the board, announced.

Five candidates are in the field for the three positions to be filled, including two from the city and three from the rural areas. The aspirants include R. S. Eldevik, city, and Lloyd Howick, Norden township, incumbents; and Curtis Harris, city; Rufus Olson, Kratka; and John Burtness, Silverton.

Voters of School District 18, at the 1956 election, approved an increase in the membership of the board this year from six to seven, the purpose being to increase the representation on the board of the extensive surrounding territory. At present Lloyd Howick is the only rural member, the other five all living in the city of Thief River Falls.

SECRETARY STATE UNIT FOR RETARDED SPEAKS THURSDAY

Gerald Walsh, executive secretary of the Minnesota Association for the Retarded, will be the guest speaker Thursday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock at a meeting of the N. W. Assn. for Retarded Children, to be held at the Stan Cockrell residence, 525 State av. N. A report also will be given by Oscar Johnson, delegate to the recent state convention in Minneapolis.

Trainmen's Meeting Is Termed Huge Success

Kennedy Felicitates Jack Hanson

W. P. Kennedy, Head of BRT, Addresses 375 at Banquet

Attracting the attendance of approximately 350 members, the annual joint meeting Saturday in Thief River Falls of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and its auxiliary was acclaimed by top officers of the brotherhood as perhaps the most successful state meeting in the long history of the organization.

Officials were free with their praises of the excellent work on arrangements done by the top local committee made up of Jack Hanson, Alex Cloutier and Robert Looker, and their assistants.

The 375 persons who attended the banquet Saturday evening in St. Bernard's church dining hall heard an address by Wm. P. Kennedy of Cleveland, Ohio, president of the BRT. Introduced by Vice President W. M. Dolan, who served a toastmaster, Mr. Kennedy pointed out some of the changes that have taken place in the railroad picture in recent years, recalling the days when trainmen worked for $40 a month.

Due in large measure to automation and the use of Diesel locomotives, said Kennedy, there has been a steady decline in recent years in the number of workers. He also forecast the ultimate use of atomic energy in running the nation's trains.

He chided the federal government for apparently being more concerned about the development of a system of super-highways than of the railroads. He closed by stating that too many Americans don't fully appreciate the privileges they enjoy in this country.

The program opened with the invocation by the Rev. K. Palmode, followed by a welcome from Mayor O. D. Beich and from Judge Paul A. Lundgren.

L. J. Covey, BRT legislative representative, discussed the work of the recent legislative session, and Eugene Regat, regional counsel for the BRT and a widely known personal injury

Installed as Head of Local Jaycees

More than 40 local Jaycees and their ladies attended a banquet and installation ceremony in the Legion club rooms Thursday evening, at which N. H. Kortuem was inducted as president, succeeding Orin Green, and other officers were installed. Dr. Gary Gross officiated as toastmaster. Several committee reports were made in a brief business session, and the evening closed with a social hour.

Over 100 Attend Open House Friday at N.W. Hospital

Visitors Are Present from 17 Communities Outside of T. R. Falls

More than 100 visited Northwestern Hospital Friday in connection with its National Hospital Week visitors day. 26 persons from 17 communities outside of Thief River Falls were given tours of the hospital. These were from Red Lake Falls, St. Hilaire, Viking, Lancaster, Orleans, Fergus Falls, Hallock, Middle River, Newfolden, Moorhead, Grygla, Crookston, Warren, Goodridge, Minneapolis, Winnipeg, and Edinburgh, North Dakota.

Tours of the hospital were conducted by members of the licensed practical nurse students of the area vocational school and by nurse students from Twin City hospitals who are associated with the University of Minnesota country hospital nurses' training program.

The reception desk for registration of visitors was taken care of by Mrs. Gaston Ward and Mrs. Matt Gutu. Afternoon coffee was served to visitors by Mrs. L. B. Hartz, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Mrs. Harold G. Rasmussen, and Mrs. Harold W. Peterson. In the evening visitors were similarly served by Mrs. Norman Peterson, Mrs. M. D. Starekow, Mrs. Neal Fox and Mrs. A. L. Sater. All of the above are members of the hospital women's auxiliary.

Plans for Visitors Day were made by Mrs. Paul Lundgren, president of hospital women's Auxiliary, Mrs. L. B. Hartz, Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Mrs. Mary Washnewski, R.N., Director of Nurses, and Mary McLaughlin, R. N., supervisor and instructor of the LPN program.

Bridgeman Plant to Reveal Its Expanded Facilities Thursday

Bridgeman Creameries is holding an open house Thursday afternoon and evening, and is inviting the public to inspect its expanded and thoroughly modern milk processing and packaging facilities. Visiting hours will be from 2:00 to 5:00 and from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., according to William LaFave, manager.

The expansion program now completed was started last fall with the construction of a 25 foot addition to the building. This made possible the moving of the office into the new structure and the old office space became available for additional plant equipment.

New Equipment

New equipment includes a tank, providing an additional 4,000 gallons of storage capacity, a clarifier and a vacuumizer, assuring uniformly high quality and a pasteurizer that reduced the time of this operation from approximately 25 minutes to about 16 seconds.

A half gallon packaging machine, installed last year, greatly increased the plant capacity. Since 1942 when Bridgeman's started its milk operations here, the volume has increased from 1,000 gallons a week to the present total of more than 20,000 gallons a week. And the volume is still steadily increasing.

Present production is maintained on a 12-hour day schedule from 4:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. This could easily be changed to a 16-hour basis with two eight hour shifts, Mr. LaFave explained, and this would greatly increase the plant's capacity and efficiency.

Grade A Program

This plant modernization is in keeping with the grade A program that already is well established in the community. Thirty-two of the dairy farms that now are producing grade A milk for Bridgeman's are

Highway Mishaps Missing in Area During Week-end

Although Minnesota drivers chalked up a 11-fatality week-end, none were reported in the Thief River Falls area and only one minor property damage report was made of a collision in the city, according to law enforcement officials here.

The lone mishap happened in the city at LaBree and E. Second st. where a car driven east by Merle B. Nelson hit a car driven north on LaBree by F. M. Balcom, Minneapolis about 9:30 a.m. Sunday.

Damage reported to the Balcom car was about $50 and about $35 to the Nelson car.

Concert Offered Thursday by H. S. and Junior Bands

Event in Lincoln School Auditorium to Finance Purchase of New Bassoon

Lincoln high school and junior high school bands will present a concert Thursday, May 23, at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium. This concert is being given to raise funds to purchase a new bassoon for the bands. Admission will be 50 cents. A concert will be given for the school students earlier.

The junior high school band will play the first part of the concert. It will play such selections as "Little English Suite," by LeRoy Jackson; "Prelude and Chorale," by Schumann; "American Patrol," by Meacham; and the march "Military Escort," by Bennet.

In addition to the advance sale of tickets by the students, tickets also are available at the Larson Music Store.

John K. Moum, director of the concert band, stated that the new bassoon is needed to augment the double reed section of the band, which now includes one bassoon and one oboe. The ultimate goal, he added, is to have four bassoons, two contrabassoons, two oboes and one English horn.

No Damage from Three Fires Here Saturday, Sunday

The local fire department was called out three times Saturday and Sunday, no damage of consequence resulting from the blazes. The first alarm was turned in Saturday morning from the Pure Oil station on Main av. S., where a trailer used for hauling rubbish caught fire.

Firemen were called Saturday afternoon to the 400 block on Kinney av., where a grass fire on the Great Northern right-of-way set fire to some railroad ties.

A grass fire on the Norman Nelson farm a mile and one half east of the city on Highway 59 had been brought under control by the time the firemen arrived at the scene.

Social Security Man Here May 28

A representative of the Grand Forks District Office of the Social Security Administration will be in Thief River Falls at the City Auditorium Tuesday, May 28 at 10 a.m. Individuals who have questions regarding social security may contact him on that date.

Memorial Poppies Offered by Legion Auxiliary May 25

Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, Unit's Poppy Chairman, Asks Public Cooperation

Memory of those who gave their lives in defense of America will be honored here and throughout the nation on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 25, by the wearing of America's memorial flower, the bright red poppy. Millions of Americans will wear the flower on that day as a personal tribute to the nation's war dead.

Plans for the local observance of Poppy Day are being completed under the director of Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, poppy chairman of Ecklund-Holmstrom unit of the American Legion auxiliary. A large corps of volunteer workers is being organized to offer poppies on the streets throughout the day. Contributions will be received for the Auxiliary's work for disabled veterans and needy children of veterans.

The poppies which will be worn here have been made by disabled veterans at the Minneapolis workroom. The flowers are crepe paper replicas of the wild European poppy, which bloomed in such profusion "between the crosses, row on row" in the battle cemeteries in France and Belgium. This poppy was adopted by the American Legion and Auxiliary as the memorial flower for the World War I dead soon after the close of that war, and now has become the flower of memory for all America's war dead of all wars.

Poppy Poster Event Winners Announced

Winners of the American Legion auxiliary's annual poppy poster contest have been announced by Mrs. John Jaranson, president of the unit, following judging of the posters by a committee of auxiliary members. Poppy Poster chairman, Mrs. R. Sagmoen, appointed Mrs. Everett Amundgaard, Mrs. Alvin Anderson and Mrs. Harlin Elseth as judges.

The winning poster will be displayed in the memorial window in the Ben Franklin store. Other posters will be on display in various store windows.

The posters depict the spirit and purpose of the auxiliary's memorial poppy, which is worn on Poppy Day in tribute to the nation's war dead.

The posters were judged in two classes, with the winners in each class being announced as follows:

Class 1—4th, 5th, 6th grades: 1st prize, Lorraine Lietzow, Northrop 5th grade; 2nd prize, Sharon Tweten, Knox 4th grade; and Tommy Lindberg, Knox 6th grade; 3rd prize Robert Abbott, Washington 6th grade.

Class 2—7th, 8th, and 9th: 1st prize Margaret Reopelle, St. Bernard School, 7th grade; 2nd prize Rose Halder, St. Bernard, 8th grade; 3rd prize, Matthew Reese, St. Bernard 6th grade

Cash prizes of $3, $2, and $1 will be given each class and the 1st prize winner in each class will be entered in district competition.

Honorable Mention winners were David Gunderson, Knox 4th grade; Sheryn Horejsh, Washington, 6th grade; Judith Weigel, Washington 6th grade; and Jeanine Meyers, Northrop 6th grade.

The auxiliary voiced its thanks to the many teachers in the local schools who gave of their time and talent in guiding the pupils in the poppy poster work.

Achievement Day for Homemakers Set for June 7th

Homemakers in Pennington County will hold their annual Achievement Day on Friday, June 7th, County Home Agent Marge Olsen announced today.

The event will be held at Knox school auditorium at 1:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Miss Dorothy Simmons, state leader of the extension home program in Minnesota. She will describe "Homemaking in Korea," from her first-hand work there last year in helping set up an extension service.

Four Trainmen Receive BRT Membership Emblems

Mae D. Odegaard And John Fincher Wed April 27

Mae Dorothy Odegaard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar A. Odegaard of this city, and John Louis Fincher, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Louis Fincher of Lufkin, Texas, were united in marriage Saturday, April 27 at Trinity Lutheran church. Rev. Otto Dale performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 100 friends and relatives.

Mrs. Art Hamilton presided at the organ for the traditional nuptial music. She also accompanied the soloist, Gene Bratsch, as he sung "The Twenty-Third Psalm", "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee" and "The Wedding Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina length, princess style gown of pearl and white bombazine featuring a portrait neckline and trimmed with Alencon lace and cap sleeves. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion net and matching lace, was held in place by a small cap edged with seed pearls. She also wore bombazine mitts and carried a lavendar orchid with garlands of carnations on a white bible, a gift from the groom. Her ondy jewlery was a pearl necklace belonging to her mother.

Mrs. Stanton Michal of Minneapolis, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and she was attired in a ballerina length gown of pale blue crystalette with a matching headband. She carried a French nosegay of pink roses and white carnations.

Attending the groom was Oscar S. Odegaard, Jr. of Minneapolis, brother of the bride and the usher was Duane L. Odegaard of St. Paul, also a brother.

Mrs. Odegaard, mother of the bride, chose a navy blue dress and her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses and carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was given in the church parlors by the brides parents. The bridal table was centered with a weedding cake topped with pink garnet roses and carnations. Mrs. Morris Odegaard, aunt of the bride, cut the cake; Mrs. Gunhild Syrtvedt and Mrs. Anna Gunderson, poured.

The gifts were arranged by Mrs. Richard Edlund and Miss Anita Hanson and Mrs. Charles Tenney Jr., registered the guests. Cheri Ann, Diane and Gloria Jean Odegaard, all cousins of the bride helped with the serving.

For their honeymoon Mrs. Fincher chose a pale green wool suit with an orchid corsage.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Howard Clementson of Bemidji, Anita Hanson of Fosston, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tenney Jr. and family of Fergus Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Kimbrough of Strandquist, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Borgie of Fargo, No. Dak., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Odegaard and family of Devils Lake, No. Dak., Gordon Odegaard of St. Paul, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Odegaard of Red Lake Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Michal of Roseau, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Odegaard of Grafton No. Dak., Mrs. Anne Hemmestvedt, Truman and Joyce of Goodridge and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Haugen and family of Goodridge.

Miss Odegaard is a graduate of Lincoln high school, Bemidji state college and she received her B.S. degree in library science at the University of Minnesota. She was formerly employed as a librarian with the United States army and was stationed in Japan and France. Mr. Fincher received his degree in mechanical engineering at Texas A and M and is presently employed by the Lufkin Foundry and Machine company in Lufkin.

"Falls Squares" Invited Pine Lake Thursday, May 23

The Bagley Square Dance club will sponsor a square dance festival Thursday evening, May 23 at 8:00 p. m. in the Sportsman's lodge at Pine Lake. Don Ferrie of Grand Forks will call, and members of the Falls Squares, along with other dancers in the area, are welcome.

Falls Squares Are Entertained by Terry Golden

Square dancers attending the special square dance held Wednesday evening, May 15 and sponsored by the Falls Squares, were fascinated by their guests, witty Terry Golden with his charming wife Susie of Ranchos DeTaos, New Mexico.

Terry wears a beard in keeping with his profession of folk song interpreter of the United States Department of Education, and also dresses the part. His plaid suit, red shirt, yellow vest and head gear (which he changed to suit the tempo of the song) provided a colorful background for the entertainment he presented so delightfully.

Both records and guitar were used, with jokes tossed in during the dances to amuse the participants. Twice during the evening the dancers refused to take a "break" and clapped Terry back into action. Dancers arrived from Grand Forks, Bagley, East Grand Forks and St. Hilaire, all agreeing with the Thief River Falls club that Susie and Terry Golden must come again!

Optometrists to Convene June 1-3 In Detroit Lakes

One of the largest registrations in the 57 year history of the Minnesota Optometric Association is expected over the June 1, 2, 3, week end when the group's annual convention is held in Detroit Lakes. Site of the meeting is the Edgwater Beach Hotel there, according to Dr. J. G. Neltzke, Detroit Lakes, general chairman.

To help Governor Orville Freeman and other state officials in their drive to reduce highway accidents in Minnesota, optometric officials will stage a vacation area "showcase" screening clinic for the public. It is expected that the results of this project will actually point out to those screened that unknown vision handicaps play an important role as a factor in the cause of highway accidents.

Principal speakers on the educational portions of the 3-day meeting include: Dr. K. E. Finn, Dr. Carel C. Koch, and Dr. L. H. Sugarman.

$9,703 in Savings Bonds Purchased Here During April

Purchases of Series E and H savings bonds in April, 1957 totaled $9,703 in Pennington county, bringing the year-to-date sales to $55,642 or 23.3 per cent of the county goal for 1957, J. M. Roche, county chairman announced today.

"The news that interest rates on Series E and H Savings Bonds have officially been increased to 3¼ per cent should do much to stimulate the purchases of savings bonds," he said.

Total purchases in Minnesota were $4,843, 554 in April, bringing the four month total for 1957 to $21,892,499, or 25.6 per cent of the 1957 goal for the state.

Moorhead State College Will Hold Graduation June 2

Arthur Naftalin, State Administration Chief, Commencement Speaker

Minnesota's Commissioner of Administration, Arthur Naftalin, will be guest speaker at Moorhead State college commencement exercises June 2 at 2 a.m. in Weld Hall on the college campus. MSC expects the largest graduating class in its history.

Other events of the graduation season at MSC include a spring prom, baccalaureate service, recognition dinner, and academic procession.

Final social affair of the year, the spring prom is sponsored by the junior class. It takes place Friday, May 24 at 9 p.m. in the MSC gymnasium and will be attended by students of all classes as well as graduates and staff members.

The baccalaureate service is set for Sunday, June 2, at 10:30 a.m. in Weld Hall. The Rev. Edward Pfluke, Grace Methodist Church, Moorhead, will give the baccalaureate sermon. He will be assisted in the service by Dr. Clarence Glasrud, MSC language and literature department head, who will read scriptural passages and give the invocation and benediction.

Following the baccalaureate, a recognition dinner takes place at noon in Comstock Hall dining room. At the dinner graduates, students, and their families will have an opportunity to meet faculty members and their families.

The academic processional will begin at 1:55 p.m. with students and staff members marching to Weld from MacLean Hall across the campus.

Allen Fadels at Mission Meeting in Pontiac, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fadel, Thief River Falls, attended the annual convention of the Evangelical Alliance Mission, which ended Sunday in Pontiac, Michigan.

The Fadels are in this country on furlough from their missionary service in Japan. Mrs. Fadel is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ulvin, Thief River Falls. More than 115 missionaries from a dozen countries were at the convention.

NATIONAL WARNING System, including some 25,000 miles of wire, is shown with its intricate connections to 200 civil defense warning points across the nation. The new network may be used to sound a single national attack alarm from the Federal Civil Defense Administration's National Warning Center at Colorado Springs, or if necessary, from similar warning centers at Stewart Air Force Base, N. Y., or Hamilton Air Force Base, Calif. From the warning points, State and local civil defense hook ups would pass the word along to the people to evacuate or take shelter.

Urge Parents to Have Pre-school Children Examined

Free Physical Exams Available to Children with May Appointments

Parents of next year's kindergarten children are urged to have their children get their pre-school physical exams as early in the month as possible. The clinics have reported a poor response at the present time. If appointments are not spread out fairly evenly through the month, the doctors will not be able to take care of a last minute rush.

To avoid congestion at the clinics, said Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, parents are asked to call for appointments several days in advance. Those having May appointments will have free examinations this month, but those who fail to appear in May must pay the regular clinic fee.

"This is a wonderful service contributed to the community by the medical profession," said Mrs. Race. "Most cities charge a substantial fee for pre-school exams, but there is no charge in Thief River Falls. Be sure that every child starting school for the first time next fall, takes advantage of this medical service. All we ask is that you do not wait until the last week of the month. Call today for your appointment."

SPEARHEAD STATE JUNE DAIRY MONTH

Spearheading the biggest June Dairy Month in the history of Minnesota are state chairman A. G. Sirek, of the State Bank of New Prague and president of the Minnesota Bankers Association, and chairwoman Mrs. Kermit V. Haugen, Minneapolis, president of the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs. In addition to the statewide salute to dairy farmers, is a special celebration of the 350th anniversary of the nation's dairy industry which historians say began with the pioneers of the Jamestown colony in Virginia.

Bemidji College Offers Variety of Summer Courses

Many Inquiries Indicate Increased Enrollment at Session This Summer

Prospects of a greatly increased summer school enrollment at Bemidji State college is indicated by the large number of inquiries received at the personnel office from prospective students, according to Dr. Judson Martin, director of instruction at the Bemidji college.

"The enlarged schedule of summer courses and the unusually attractive summer workshop and special events program on the calendar is undoubtedly arousing added interest in summer school attendance," Dr. Martin said.

New to the summer schedule are special workshops in outdoor education, industrial arts, and the addition of a department devoted to orchestra as part of the well-known BSC band clinic.

Also new is an operetta workshop for people interested in the staging of school musicals, and a program of foreign films.

The drama workshop, so successful in past years, will be offered again and a conducted bus tour of the eastern states, called an "on the spot study of American history," is scheduled for late July.

Dr. Martin also pointed out that the recent accreditation of the graduate division by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools will undoubtedly stimulate the number of students working at BSC summer sessions for masters degrees.

Prospective students should be apprised that by action of the State College Board the tuition for state college summer sessions is now $4.50 per quarter with a minimum total tuition of $15 per session, Dr. Martin added.

Two Youths Steal Beer at Fertile

Two boys from Fertile, 16 and 17, were arrested by Polk county sheriff's deputies Monday night and Tuesday morning for stealing beer from the Fertile liquor store.

The boys admitted forcing their way into the storeroom at the rear of the building early Saturday. Once inside the boys forced the lock on the beer cooler and stole two cases. A barred door thwarted their attempt to gain entry to the front portion of the store.

The stolen beer was recovered when the boys led deputies to the spot where they had buried it. The boys are in custody of their parents awaiting juvenile court action.

No. Central Opens Service G. Forks to Omaha June 1

Service to Commence with Four Flights Each Day Between 2 Cities

North Central Airlines June 1 will inaugurate service to Omaha, Neb., on a route originating at Grand Forks, No. Dak.

Cities to served on the north-south route are Fargo, No. Dak.; Watertown, Brookings and Sioux Falls, So. Dak.; Sioux City, Iowa; and Norfolk, Neb.

Initial service will consist of four flights daily providing "commuter" schedules that offer all cities morning and evening service in both directions. More flights will be added as traffic is developed.

North Central replaces the twice-daily service provided by Braniff Airlines which had applied to suspend service in favor of a local airline. Service to Yankton, So. Dak., also designated by the Civil Aeronautics Board in the "Route 26" case, will await completion of airport improvements later in the summer.

Aboard the June 1 inaugural flight, originating at 7:30 a.m. in Grand Forks, will be officers of the airline, including Hal N. Carr, president, and Arthur E. A. Mueller, chairman of the board of directors. Brief ceremonies signaling inauguration of the new service will be staged at each airport as the flight arrives.

Flights will leave Grand Forks at 7:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., daylight saving time and will arrive from Omaha at 12:57 p.m. and 11:12 p.m.

Masons to Install Lodge at Bagley Saturday, May 25

Masons from an area embracing virtually all of Northwest Minnesota will gather in Bemidji on Saturday, May 25, for the second Area Conference of the 1957 Masonic year. The conference, open to all Master Masons, will be held at Bemidji Masonic Temple, starting with registration at 9 a.m.

Following the conference the Minnesota Grand Lodge officers and delegations from various lodges will go to Bagley for the constituting of Headwaters Lodge, recently organized. A banquet will be served at the Bagley High school at 6 p.m. and the ceremony of presenting the charter and installing the first slate of officers will start at 8 p.m.

State DFL Sec'y. New Liquor Chief

Appointed by G[illegible] to Succeed H.

Gov. Freeman [illegible] appointed Jack Puterbaugh [illegible] of Minneapolis as state liquor control commissioner.

Puterbaugh, for the past 2[illegible] years executive secretary of the Democratic-Farmer-Labor party, will take over the post vacated recently by Commissioner Harry Sieben, who became traffic safety director in the state highway department.

Puterbaugh's term, effective June 15, will run until Jan. 1, 1959. He was born in Minneapolis Nov. 17, 1925, grew up on a farm in Isanti County, attended high school at Cambridge and was graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1948 with a bachelor of science degree in education.

The new commissioner served with the U. S. Air Force as a B-29 flight engineer from December, 1943, to November, 1945. He taught science and mathematic at the Grace City High School from 1948 to 1950, and at the Worthington High school in 1950 and 1951.

State Historical Society to Meet

Session to Be Conducted in St. Paul on May 24th

The 108th annual meeting of the Minnesota Historical Society will be held on Friday, May 24. It will consist of three sessions—a County Historical Society Institute at the Historical building in St. Paul at 1 p.m., a business meeting at 5 p.m., and a dinner meeting at 6:30 p.m. at the Commodore Hotel in St. Paul. There also the women's organization of the Society will hold its annual meeting at 3 p.m.

The dinner will be followed by a program featuring the annual address by Ralph W. Keller, widely known manager of the Minnesota Editorial association. In his talk, "The Leaves of the Tree," he will review the significant role the newspapers have played in the history of Minnesota. The meeting as a whole will give recognition to the newspaper profession's devoted support to the cause of history in the North Star State.

Following Mr. Keller's address, the Solon J. Buck Award, given each year to the author of the best article published in Minnesota History, will be presented to the winner for 1956; and a motion picture entitled "Miracle at Your Front Door," dealing with the role of the newspaper in community life, will be shown through the courtesy of the Minneapolis Star-Tribune.

Last Rites Are Conducted For Mrs. Thor Myren

Funeral services for Mrs. Thor Myren were held Saturday, May 18, at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Grygla with Rev. E. B. Holte, officiating. Interment was made in Our Savior's Lutheran cemetery. Mrs. Myren passed away May 14 at the age of 70 years.

Mrs. Myren was born September 9, 1886 in Velle, Satersdal, Norway and came to the United States in 1901 and settled in Grand Forks. In 1915 she was united in marriage to Thor Myren and they established their home on a farm in Leo township, where they resided until last December when they moved to this city.

Survivors include her husband, Thor; three daughters, Mrs. Sam Pearson (Inga) of Middle River; Mrs. Andrew Nielson (Thea) of Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. Richard Edlund of this city; [illegible] Svei[illegible] Myren of Fergus Falls; Torjus and Evend of Inglewood, Calif.; 11 grandchildren and one sister; Mrs. Thora Orplid of Goodridge. She was preceded in death by one, three sisters and one brother.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Louise Mears, Nebraska City, Nebr.: My father was a merchant in the village of Peru, Nebraska, a Missouri River town founded in 1865. The life of a village merchant in the '80's and '90's was one of incessant labor. A day's work for him and his helpers covered twelve or fourteen hours after 7 A.M. Much of the work was heavy when trade was almost at the barter stage. There was the endless counting of eggs, from the farmers' pail to the box, weighing of bulk butter, salt pork and sauer kraut, the drawing of long iron nails from the heavy crates of merchandise; opening the spigots of barrels of vinegar, molasses, kerosene, removing "Queensware" from the deep bedding of excelsior, measuring bolts of calico and sheeting, and struggling with stiff wrapping paper and strong twine instead of the convenient paper bags of today.

There was the particular weighing of unpackaged groceries, such as "green" coffee. The advent of packaged roasted Arbuckles coffee was a sensational "lift." The cutting of cheese by hand could not be figured exactly to suit both the customer and the merchant.

Charge accounts were difficult to administer. Paying for groceries and drygoods was often a matter of memory. Receipts were too often missing. The advent of "cash and carry" was a godsend in small towns. There were two cycles of business—the years of rain and crops and the years of drought and grasshoppers.

Final Rites Are Conducted For Henning Backlund

Funeral services for Henning Backlund were held Saturday, May 18 at the First Lutheran church in Roseau with Rev. Thure Johnson officiating. Mr. Backlund passed away unexpectedly, May 13 at the age of 66 years.

Mr. Backlund was born December 15, 1891 in Sweden and came to the United States with his parents at the age of seven months.

He was united in marriage to Etta Mellem July 12, 1914 and they established their home at Strathcona, Minn. until 1927 when they moved to Roseau and resided there until the time of his death.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Curtis Paulson of Ontario, Oregon; Mrs Hjalmer Sunsten of Roseau; two sons, Marvin and Vernon also of Roseau; one brother, Ernest Backlund of Richmond, Wash.; 12 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Mrs. J. Haider Sr. Succumbs; Rites Set For Tuesday

Mrs. John Haider Sr., a pioneer resident of Marshall county passed away Saturday, May 18, at the age of 81 years. A Rosary will be held Monday evening May 20 at 8:00 p.m. in the Green Funeral home chapel and Requiem High Mass will be at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, May 21 at St. Bernard's church, with Rev. Keough Patnode as the celebrant. Interment will be made in St. Bernard's cemetery. A complete obituary will appear in the next issue of the Times.

Death Claims Former Local Resident May 11

Funeral services for Albert Boman were Wednesday, May 15 at the Hogseth-Pederson Funeral chapel in Chippewa Falls, Wis. with Rev. Charles Hanson, of the First Methodist church, officiating. Interment was made in the Forest Hill cemetery. Mr. Boman passed away suddenly May 11 at the age of 63 years. Military rites were conducted.

Mr. Boman was born December 28, 1893, in Sherburne, Minn. He was united in marriage to Miss Cora Petterson of Grygla in 1920 and they moved to Chippewa Falls where he had since resided.

Mr. Boman was a veteran of World War I, assigned to the United States Navy, serving on the U.S.S. Nebraska. He received his discharge in 1918 and since then he has been employed as a printer in Goodridge, Grygla and the Thief River Falls Times. He was also employed by the Chippewa Herald and for the past 37 years had worked at the Chippewa Printery.

He was a member of the First Methodist church, the American Legion post 77, and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was a past commander of the V.F.W. and past district commander of the ninth district of the Wisconsin V.F.W. and served as quartermaster adjutant for many years.

Survivors include his wife, nine children, Mrs. J. W. Giddens (Shirley) of Albany, Georgia; Mrs. D. E. LeDuc (Betty) of Centro, Calif.; Albert of South Milwaukee; Mrs. A. J. Larson (Joan) of Menomonie, Wis.; Mrs. W. R. Moore (Twila) of San Diego, Calif.; Mrs. D. C. Hanson (Fay) of Pensacola, Fla.; Cynthia of Rochester, Minn. and Sandy and William at home; 13 grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Anna Boman of Gully; two brothers, Arthur and Anton also of Gully; two sisters, Mrs. Mabel Bergquist of Portland Ore. and Mrs. Oscar Tironson of Trail. He was preceded in death by his father, one daughter and one brother.

Mrs. John Grue

Son Born To Mr. and Mrs. Hushagen

Mr. and Mrs. Arvid Hushagen who is staying with his mother, Nora Hushagen of Pine Lake, are happy parents of a son born May 10. He was named Ralph Gene and weighed 8 pounds and 11 oz. at birth.

Found Dead In Bed

Anton Bakke of Gonvick was found dead in his bed Thursday morning. Mr. Bakke who had been the last customer at the George Malmo cafe on Wednesday evening seemed to be in fair health at 10 o'clock and every moring before starting his days work, dropped in for a meal. He did not appear Thursday morning, so it was decided that some one go to his home to see if he was ill or some other reason and was found lying on his bed. More details will be learned later.

Pink And Blue Shower For Mrs. Paul Nelson

A pink and blue shower was given last Thursday by friends and relatives in honor of Mrs. Paul Nelson (nee Delores Johnson) formerly of Pine Lake, now of Clearbrook. She recieved many usefull gifts for the expeced newcomer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Grue and Einar Grue were Bagley and Gonvick callers on Thursday and also attended the open house at the hospital in Bagley where coffee and cookies were served.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Ho hum, another week, another fishing season opened, another convention is history, we have three meetings scheduled the first three nights this week . . . we can't afford to hire the work that needs to be done around the house and don't have the time to do it ourselves, so what's a fella going to do?

The three meetings we have scheduled are very important too . . . at least in our own way of thinking. Perhaps we should have an impartial board—and a strict one—in every city to decide what organizations are really essential . . . with the board's decision being final as to whether an organization can continue meetings or should be disbanded as an undue strain on the time of persons involved in relation to the good it does the community and therefore unnecessary.

Such a board couldn't possibly work out—everyone has his own ideas of what should be done and belongs to an organization dedicated to doing it . . . any interference would bring howls of protest.

But, no matter how important any given project may be is it so important that children see their parents only at mealtime once a day . . . is it so important that the home is degenerating into a mere place to eat, sleep and change clothes between meetings and the job?

We're not complaining . . . but we do think all these organizations we belong to in this day and age should be more closely examined in the light of what they do for our family life as well as whatever good they may do for the community. Two meetings per week—including church Sunday—is plenty. The other free time a person has should be left individual pursuits, else Jack will find life mighty boring.

Regardless of what Huck Olson says, H. O. "Ole" Ness and yours truly ARE NOT going to put Union Lake in the Soil Bank.

Now, about the weather . . . it's goofy all over except here in northwest Minnesota, just the opposite from the usual state of affairs. Nice weather on the week end of the fishing season opening . . . who ever heard of such a thing?

The TRF Flying Club is planning their annual Flight Breakfast at the airport here June 9, 8 a.m. to 12 noon. As per usual the breakfast is open to the public and here's hoping a lot of you will come out before or after church that day and share in the festivities. Not only will you get all you can eat for a buck but you can see a lot of airplanes, perhaps a helicopter, and maybe we hope some jets will fly over. Most of all tho, you can help support aviation in our city, which justifies the fine airport your tax dollars have helped build. You'll enjoy the breakfast so come on out!

Another sign of spring . . . we know it's here when the little popcorn stand is moved into place in the parking lot by the post office.

You know, we kind of enjoy being on this Dairy Princess committee . . . gives a fella an excuse to palaver with some mighty pretty misses without getting our face slapped or being put into the place nomally reserved for our cocker spaniel.

On the other hand, talking with all these gals brings our advancing age home to us with a rude jar. The kind of pretty miss we'd like to have as our county Dairy Princess was just out of diapers when our generation was in its heyday!

At 35 a man is too ancient to have fresh young ideas and too young to forget 'em! Which reminds us of reading an account of a 30-year-old man on a date with a 20-year-old girl. He felt pretty low when she remarked he looked very well for being so advanced in years.

With that we'll grab our cane, and SO LONG!

112 Persons Attend Hospital Open House Friday

Northwestern Hospital was toured by 112 visitors, many from far-away points in the state, as the institution held its annual open house Friday.

In the top photo a large group of visitors is shown through surgery by Rebecca Swiggum, rural nursing student, and Ann Hamre, a practical nurse. In the foreground are some of the instruments used in operating procedure.

In the bottom photo Mrs. Ira Humes demonstrates the neck traction machine used in the physical therapy department of the hospital. John Voxland is the non-too-pleased subject of the demonstration as two visitors look on. The machine was built locally for about $200 but does the work of one costing several thousand dollars when bought from a hospital equipment maker.

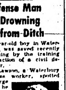
Civil Defense Man Rescues Drowning Boy, 3, from Ditch

A three-year-old boy in Waterbury, Conn., was saved recently from drowning by the training and quick action of a civil defense worker.

Richard Lawson, a Waterbury civil defense worker, spotted young George McLean as he tumbled while playing into a water-filled, seven-foot-deep sewer excavation.



Lawson

Aided by a friend, Lawson fished the boy out of the ditch and then applied artificial respiration for 18 minutes before he responded to treatment.

In addition to first aid training, Lawson also has taken the basic civil defense rescue training course.

BRT Meeting Held Here Saturday Is Successful Event

Mrs. Dora Rierson of Boone, Iowa, vice president of the ladies auxiliary, told of the successful meeting held in the afternoon by the auxiliary group, and she praised the local committees for the fine manner in which they had handled arrangements. B. W. Fern, vice president of the BRT, also praised the committees.

Toastmaster Dolan presented a large group of veteran members of the brotherhood, and President Kennedy conferred emblems on R. J. Coughlin of Mahnomen for 45 years membership; Joe Zavoral of Thief River Falls, 40 years, Edward C. Nelson, 20 years; and Henry Hjelle, ten years.

Most of the banquet speakers also appeared on the program at an open joint meeting of the brotherhood and its auxiliary in the Auditorium Saturday morning, with Vice President Fern presiding.

Ed White of the Western Association of Railroads cited the great contributions made by American railroads to the nation, and he urged the repeal of the present transportation tax.

R. F. Eberhardt, supervisor of the BRT insurance department, also spoke briefly.

Introduced to the group was Mrs. Abbie Wassgren, president of Lodge 852 of the BRT auxiliary, while L. W. Quesnell, president of A. M. Senstad lodge of the BRT, presented W. M. Dolan.

President W. P. Kennedy recalled his first visit to Thief River Falls in 1910 when he was a member of the Grand Forks lodge. He told of negotiations that recently resulted in wage increases and other benefits for the trainmen, and said efforts are now being made to secure increased pension payments for retired trainmen and their dependents.

CHATTING with your HOME AGENT

Marge Olsen

I hope you have June 7 marked on your busy calendar—that's Homemaker's Achievement Day and all women are invited to come. It will be held this year in the Knox School Auditorium and Dorothy Simmons, State Leader in the Extension Home Program will be guest speaker.

Choose Clothes With Care

A survey made in several states disclosed that women spend about 25 eight-hour days at the ironing board each year—or about four hours every week. If you don't want to be a slave to your ironing board, simplify your ironing job by shopping for garments that are designed simply so that they aren't hard to iron. Look for fabrics that need no ironing or iron easily—knit-wear, seersucker, cotton crepe, nylon and other synthetic fabrics.

Dessert Parties Fun And Easy

Dessert parties are an excellent way of entertaining, especially if time or money is limited. The food should be something special. It needn't be expensive or difficult, but it should be delicious to eat and look glamorous. The dessert is served early in the evening rather than late, and entertainment follows.

Excellent stand-bys are cream-puffs filled with a rich custard filling or ice cream and topped with chocolate sauce. Crisp, delicate meringue shells are glamorous dessert with fruit or a custard filling and whipped cream. Served with mints, hard candies or nuts and coffee they make a tasty get-together treat for any group of friends.

Do It Yourself Dessert Party

A party that is especially popular with young people is a do-it-yourself dessert party. It gives everyone a chance to join in the fun of preparing the food.

The center of interest is a large plate of ice cream balls of many different flavors. Garnish the plate with pineapple cubes, cherries, and banana slices. You'll have to dip the banana slices in pineapple or lemon juice to prevent discoloration. Around the plate, place bowls of toppings — butterscotch, chocolate and marshmallow. Crisp sugar cookies and a beverage round of refreshments.

Ideas For Special Occasions

A dessert party lends itself to many different types of occasions. With a cake base, the possible variations are almost endless. For example, split an angel food cake in half or thirds, cover the layers with your favorite filling—instant pudding mix if you're in a hurry—and spread sweetened, flavored whipped cream over the whole cake. For a graduation celebration, you might use lightly tinted topping and filling to carry out school colors. If you're a hostess for a shower, use snowy white frosting or whipped cream with slivers of almond or coconut to add crunchiness. A silver anniversary cake might be frosted in white and trimmed with silver candles. With a dessert as delicate as this, a fragrant tea is often pleasing.

America's Favorites

Do you know what flowers grown from seed are America's favorites? Here they are in the order of popularity: zinnias, marigolds, petunias, nasturtiums, asters, morning glories, sweet peas and snapdragons.

Local Firm Celebrates 10th Anniversary Tuesday

Wilbert G. Maves, manager of Maves Standard Service at Main av. N. and Second st., announced late this week his firm will celebrate its 10th anniversary Tuesday.

The anniversary celebration will coincide with the introduction of two new Standard gasolines. Refreshments will be served during the day and prizes awarded. Maves has operated the station since June 1, 1947. The present station was built in 1950.

Introduction of the new gasolines, Maves said, compares with the introduction of a radically new automobile design, as they represent a major change in the fuel industry.

Beware Angry People

Barbara said a half-hearted "hello." Soon loud music filled the house. Mrs. Ames asked, "Please turn it down, honey." Barbara's outburst began with "I never have any privacy. I can't do a single thing. Why does everybody always pick on me?" Mrs. Ames although sorely tempted to do otherwise, quietly returned to her work.

Later she learned more about Barbara's day: She had lost a coveted place on the cheerleaders' squad, had fallen clumsily in dancing class, was accused unjustly of losing a book, had a toothache, ripped her favorite sweater, lost her boyfriend's identification bracelet, and had homework on the night of her favorite TV programs.

Before passing off Barbara's explosion as "adolescent," look at Mr. Mitchell, executive, bawling out his secretary, seemingly without provocation. Mr. Mitchell's morning included a cut while shaving, burnt breakfast toast, a flat tire, letters from dissatisfied customers, and a call telling of his mother's illness.

Trivial things triggered Barbara and Mr. Mitchell to anger, but real causes lay deeper. While both deserve understanding, their outbursts are not to be condoned. Everyone has the obligation to maintain reasonable equilibrium while meeting frustrations, one measure of a nature being. The mature person does not have more equilibrium because less happens to him; he has it in spite of what happens, and this takes time, and experience.

Modern psychologists talk a lot about "life space"—which refers to all that is influencing us at a given time—recognizing that we do not respond to the total environment. Each person selects out particular factors—both children and adults do it, but they select different things.

"Anybody can become angry, that is easy; but to be angry with the right person to the right degree, at the right time, for the right purpose, and in the right way that is not within everybody's power, and that is not easy." Sounding modern, but written by Aristotle in 325 B. C., we are in 1957 even more convinced of its truth, with history proving that the most important job we face today is to aid human emotions to catch up with human ingenuity in other areas.

Grandparents and grandchildren shouldn't be together much, as the former spoil the latter and the latter exhaust the former to a serious degree.

Norway Freedom Day Observed by Sons of Norway

Snorre Lodge No. 70, Sons of Norway held its regular meeting Wednesday evening, May 15.

A program was given in observance of Norway's Independence Day, with President Harold F. Johnson presiding. The meeting opened with the audience singing "America", and Mr. Johnson discussed the meaning of Independence Day. The Vaarblomsten Lodge gave a drill team exhibition which was well received.

District vice-president Herman A. Kjos introduced the dignitaries present, including Mrs. Dagne Elphson, counselor of the fourth district in Grand Forks; and the president of district No. 1, Wilhelm Holand of Minneapolis. Mr. Holand spoke on his recent trip to Norway and on fraternalism in the lodges.

The Guda-Verdn Lodge No. 21 of Grand Forks had 30 members present to make the meeting a huge success.

Music was furnished by Ralph and Paull and lunch was served at the close of the evening.

THE MINNESOTA STORY

Prepared by the Minnesota Historical Society

THE STATE FLOWER

Minnesota was the second state in the Union to adopt a state flower. In 1893 the state legislature designated the wild lady-slipper as Minnesota's official state flower. Oklahoma, the first state to name such a flower, had selected the mistletoe.

A state flower was chosen at that time because a group of Minnesota women, who were preparing an exhibit of state products for the World's Fair at Chicago, decided they needed an official flower to decorate the display. Since the legislature was in session, the group petitioned for the adoption of the wild lady-slipper as the state flower. A resolution to this effect was introduced in February, 1893, naming "the wild lady-slipper or moccasin flower, Cypripedium calceolus."

Some years later it was discovered that this type of lady-slipper does not grow in Minnesota. As a result, during a special session of the legislature in 1902, a resolution was adopted that changed the state flower to the "pink and white lady-slipper or moccasin flower, Cypripedium reginae."

This wild flower is a rare member of the orchid family, the largest of all flower families. It usually grows in shady marshes and blooms in June and July. The first law protecting it was passed in 1925. The present law forbids picking or digging the state flower under penalty of a fifty-dollar fine.

MINNESOTA GOVERNORS

Minnesota has had twenty-nine governors since it became a state in 1858. The present chief executive, Orville L. Freeman, is the twenty-ninth. The first governor of the state was Henry H. Sibley, American Fur Company representative in the area, who had also served as Minnesota Territory's first delegate in Congress. The state's second governor, Alexander Ramsey, had also been the first governor of Minnesota territory.

The first fifteen governors of the state were not born in Minnesota. The sixteenth, John A. Johnson, was the first chief executive to be born in the state. Of the first fifteen governors, two — Knute Nelson and John Lind — were born outside of the United States, Nelson in Norway and Lind in Sweden.

Four governors of the state were residents of St. Peter — Henry A. Swift, Horace Austin, A. R. McGill, and John A. Johnston. Five had their homes in St. Paul—Sibley, Ramsey, Cushman K. Davis, William R. Merriam, and J. A. A. Burnquist — and Harold Stassen lived in South St. Paul. Six lived in Minneapolis — John S. Pillsbury, David M. Clough, J. O. Preus, Floyd B. Olson, Luther W. Youngdahl, and Governor Freeman — and a seventh, William R. Marshall, came from St. Anthony, now part of Minneapolis.

BATTLE OF KATHIO

The most crucial Indian battle in Minnesota history probably occurred about the middle of the eighteenth century on the west shore of Lake Mille Lacs. In its effect on the future of the Indian inhabitants of the state, it has been compared with the great battles of Thermopylae and Gettysburg, for it marked the turning point in the Chippewa struggle to push the Sioux out of their traditional lands in eastern Minnesota.

The first white man to visit Mille Lacs was Daniel Greysolon, Sieur du Luht, who found the Sioux living there in 1679. He visited the three principal villages, the largest of which was Izatys, or Kathio, as it is erroneously but more generally known. The area was rich in fish and wild rice, and it was highly regarded by the Indians.

The Chippewa had carried on intermittent warfare against the Sioux for many years and, whether for revenge for some previous wrong or because they coveted the lovely Lake Mille Lacs, they attacked the Sioux villages there about 1750. After a brave defense at the first village, the Sioux retreated to the earthen lodges at Kathio. The Chippewa won the battle by climbing upon the lodges and dropping gun powder through the smoke holes. When the powder exploded in the lodge fires, it killed most of the Sioux within.

The remnants of the defeated Sioux fled from the Mille Lacs area under cover of night, eventually reaching the Mississippi River which they followed southward. When soldiers arrived in 1819 to build Fort Snelling, they found the Sioux living in the Mississippi and Minnesota river valleys of southern Minnesota. They were especially concentrated in the area around present day Minneapolis and St. Paul.

GAS LIGHTS

On September 19, 1857, the "streets of St. Paul were lighted with gas for the first time," according to a contemporary diary in the collections of the Minnesota Historical Society. The diary was kept by Chandler Adams, a native of Massachusetts, who came to Minnesota in search of a healthful climate. In St. Paul he was employed as a surveyor, and later he taught school at Champlin in Hennepin County. Adams wrote that "It was very pleasant walking up Seventh St. to see the lights, here and there, upon the right and left, shedding their bright beams around." He added that "It was very cloudy and dark tonight and the streets appear to good advantage."

NAMES FROM EGYPT

At least four place names in Minnesota are of Egyptian origin. Darfur, a village in Watonwan county, was named for a province of Egypt. Cairo township in Renville county and the well-known Douglas county resort center, Alexandria, perpetuate the names of ancient cities of Egypt.

The mining village of Soudan and its mine of the same name on the Vermilion iron range were named by D. H. Bacon, first general manager of the mine, for the Soudan area of Egypt. Bacon said that he selected the name "Soudan," because of the great contrast between northern Minnesota's cold winters and the Egyptian desert's searing heat.

The coal-fired generating plant of the Pennsylvania Salt Manufacturing Co., at Wyandotte, Mich., produces enough electricity to meet the needs of a city of 100,000 population. The plant maintains a 100,000-ton coal stockpile to assure continuous power output.

Crookston Captures District Track Title

Coach Al Droen and his Crookston Pirate squad ended the Prowlers long reign as 31st district track champions on Friday when, in the tournament held at Grand Forks, the Pirates racked up a total of 77 points while the defending champion Prowlers were able to garner but 50 points. Other team point totals were East Grand Forks, 27; Warren 20; Red Lake Falls, 11½; and Plummer, ½.

Leading the Pirates to their well—earned victory was Hershel (Pepper) Lysaker, Crookston's fine all-around athlete. Lysaker picked up 19 points on three first places and a second. He set a new mark in the 120-yard high hurdles, topping the highs in 21.0.

In addition to Lysaker's new record in the high hurdles, Larry Krohn of the Prowlers in the mile run, and Carroll Bateman of East Grand Forks in the 880-yard run, set a new record. Krohn ran the mile in 4:40.2, to pare Gene Sistad's old mark of 4:40.3. Bateman ran the half-mile in 2:07, chopping more than a second off the old mark of 2:08 set by Fisher's Ed Rutherford in 1942.

Prowler first place finishers in addition to Krohn in the mile, were Bob Rosengren in the 220-yard dash; Jim Bennes in the 440-yard run; Keith Johnson in the shotput; and Boyce Lee in the pole vault.

The first and second place Winners in the district tournament are eligible to participate in the eighth regional tournament that will be held in Bemidji on Friday, May 24th.

100-yard dash—won by Lysaker, Crookston; 2nd, Rosengren, T.R.F.; 3rd, Amundson, E.G.F.; 4th, Black, Warren; 5th, Sloan, T.R.F. Time—10.7

Hosts at Plant Inspection Thursday

Bridgeman's milk processing and packaging plant, expanded and completely modernized, will be open for public inspection Thursday afternoon and evening, and pictured above are three of the local managers who will be in the receiving line.

L. L. Tygeson at the left, manages the office and next to him is Walt Fischer, plant manager. William LaFave, general manager, is at the right.

More than 30,000 gallons of milk a week are now being processed at the Bridgeman dairy, all of it of Grade A quality. With this large volume the plant serves many communities in northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota.

Two Break-Ins in City over Weekend

Amundgaard Impt. Co. and Eagles Club Entered

Two break-ins of a local implement firm and a lodge clubroom and a single case of tools taken from a car were reported over the week-end by city police.

Amundgaard Implement Co. was entered by a person or persons unknown Friday night thru the south door which evidently had been left open, according to Police Chief Elton Cummings. Taken was about $4 in change and a .38 caliber Colt Police Special revolver recently purchased by one of the officials of the firm.

At the Eagles clubrooms the robbers entered through the old coal chute and, after taking a quantity of liquor left through a window.

The police and county sheriff are working on the case. Cummings requested that if anyone suspicious was noticed around the two places at any time before the robberies he would appreciate hearing about it from the witnesses.

The tool box stolen was taken from the car belonging to Raymond Austad, city, about a week ago but the theft was unnoticed until Friday, police said. The box contained a variety of hand tools, including a new set of socket wrenches. Austad said he did not know whether the box was taken while the car was parked at his home or at a parking lot where he leaves his car occasionally.

Girl Drivers. And Icy Curves Safe

In the mounting protest against mounting highway fatalities, we hear mostly of the things not to do. Let's consult Travelers Insurance "Heedless Horsepower" report on 1956 motor accidents for some of the safer aspects of the great American slaughter-house: Be a female under 18 with 3 to 6 months driving experience, in a vehicle other than an automobile with both headlights out, passing on an icy curve between 7 and 8 o'clock on a snowy Tuesday morning. Believe it or not, those are the exact conditions under which the fewest 1956 highway fatalities occurred.

If you don't want your fingers stepped on, don't set out to climb the ladder to success.

Stag Night on Wednesday

The second of the season's weekly series of "stag nights" will be held at the golf club on Wednesday evening, May 22nd.

By all accounts, last Wednesday's inaugural was a success, with nearly seventy golfers in attendance.

According to President L. L. Tygeson, the orders for Wednesday's stag, to the members, are as follows: "Each member is expected to bring a guest for this stag who is not now a golfer or is not now a member. We ask that you play with your guest and invite him to stay for the social hour. Sell him on joining the club now."

And Tyge also added that a golf league program is on the club's schedule of events. The league this season, and it will begin play on its schedule sometime in June, will be under the supervision of John Moum.

Oh yes, now that daylight saving time is in effect, with that one extra hour of daylight, will make it possible for several of the golfers, such as Gordy Ballingrud and Kenny Liden, to play the east side of the course. In previous years they haven't dared to venture over there on stag nights, for they feared getting stranded, about on the seventh tee, in the dark.

No Surprise

The announcement of the appointment of Marlow Davidson as the new Detroit Lakes high school football coach to succeed Billy Bye is good news to Marlow's many friends here. Marlow, you know, is a former Prowler, having graduated in 1948. In his senior year here, Marlow was football co-captain, with Derwood Lund, and basketball captain.

That he was selected as the Laker football coach wasn't exactly a surprise, for Marlow had been given consideration for the job when Detroit Lakes hired Bill Bye. At that time it was thought that Davidson did not have the experience to handle the Lakers, and he didn't have a big "name."

Bye has accepted the football coaching post at Minnetonka, and it was rumored that Bill was anxious to have Marlow as his assistant at the new position.

A Denial

There is apparently no truth to the rumor that has been circulating up and down LaBree avenue to the effect that Helmer Ole Ness and Mack Draper intend to put their portion of Union lake into the soil bank program.

And it's an outright libel and slander to say, as has been done, that Union lake is merely a crapple rearing pond for Sarah lake. On the contrary, says Ole, the crapples in Union are so big that they chase the small crapples over the big hill and into Sarah. That's why Sarah lake has so many small crapples.

Item

There was something about that score of the Prowlers vs. Fertile game played at Fertile on Thursday, 10 to 0, that struck us as odd. The Prowlers without a rpn, being shut out, being whitewashed, being given a coat of calcimine.

We resorted to our record books, and do you know what? That was the first time that a Prowler baseball team had been given a shutout since the sport was organized as a major sport here in 1952! Since that time, and including the games of this season, the Prowlers have played seventy-five games. They have won sixty-one, lost fourteen, and been shut out once.

But there was no loss of honor by being shut out by the Fertile Falcons at Fertile. Chuck Johnson has a real good club down there, and it's a team that could very well win the regional tournament. They will have a problem in their own district, the 30th, in getting past the Mahnomen Indians. Mahnomen has a fine righthanded pitcher in Al Santwire, and on a given day he is capable of beating any of the regional contenders.

Fertile will play a return game here on the night of May 29th. Make a memo of that date.

Regional Golf Tournament

The defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks golf team will be here on Wednesday, and the odds are heavy that the Jacks will successfully defend their regional title in the tourney being played that day over the local course.

And the odds, too, are heavy that Bill Hammergren, the Jacks' number one player, will win the regional medalist honors. With favorable weather conditions, Hammergren will come close to posting par figures.

Prowler golfers eligible to participate in the regional tourney are Jon Larson and Dave Gall. The Crookston Pirates, winners of the district title in the tourney played here last week, qualified four players — Paul Stenseth, George Boyer, Dick Droen, and Les Gonier.

Prowlers Baseball Club Loses to Fertile 10-0, Edges RLF 5-4

During the week's play, coach Ralph Skjod's baseball Prowlers suffered their second defeat of the season and won their eleventh game, losing to Fertile on Thursday night, 10 to 0, and edging out Red Lake Falls on Friday night, 5 to 4, in an extra-inning tilt.

On Tuesday night, with game-time slated for 8:00 p.m., the Prowlers will meet Russ Smith's Cass Lake Panthers from district 29 on the Fair Grounds diamond. On Wednesday afternoon, in a 4:00 p.m. game, the Prowlers will travel to Warren for a return game against the Ponies. And on Friday night, at 8:00 p.m., coach Horace May's defending regional champion Bemidji Lumberjacks will play the Prowlers in an important game on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Playing at Fertile on Thursday night, the Prowlers were shutout by Howie Strom, being limited to but two singles, while the Falcon batters, revealing extra-base power, clubed the offerings of Ross Sloan and Arlan Hjelle for nine hits and scored ten runs.

In the 1st inning, a double by Allen Harstad, a triple by Arlo Brunsberg, and an error, accounted for a pair of Fertile runs. And in the 2nd inning, a triple by Dick Borage, three bases on balls, and base-clearing double by Brunsberg sent three Fertile runs across the plate.

Hjelle, who replaced Ross on the mound for the Prowlers in the 2nd, pitched creditable baseball except for a Fertile flurry in the 6th inning when, on a pair of walks, an error, a single, and a triple by Elmo Gullickson, the Falcons shoved four runs across the plate.

The Prowlers meanwhile were having their troubles in hitting Strom's offerings. Jerry Jorgenson singled in the 3rd inning, and Harlie Drees singled in the 4th inning, for the only Prowler safeties to be garnered off the Fertile hurler.

In an extra-inning game played here Friday night, the Prowlers defeated Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles, 5 to 4.

Red Lake Falls, on a three-run cluster in the 1st inning, held a 3 to 0 lead into the last half of the 5th inning when the Prowlers, on a pair of walks, three errors, and a two-run single by Darrel Wick, scored four runs to take a 4 to 3 lead.

The Prowlers held that one-run advantage until the top half of the 7th inning when lead-off batter Earl LaChance powered one of Mickey Hanson's righthanded slants over the barrier in left field for a home run to tie the game.

In the Prowlers' game-winning 8th inning, Mickey Hanson was safe at first on a high throw by shortstop Dennis Syvock. A passed ball permitted Hanson to advance to second base. Harlie Dress drove a ground ball to second, and when the ball skipped through Mike Poullot and on into right-centerfield, Hanson came around third and to home plate with the winning run.

The line score:

Rain Is Forecast for Area Today

Unseasonably Cool Weather Predicted

Persistent threats of rain for the Pennington county area seemed about to pay off today, and if the weatherman is right a goodly amount of it will fall before the clouds clear away.

High for the period from Thursday until Monday morning was the 69 registered Thursday and the low was 36 Thursday and again Sunday. According to the forecast those unseasonably cool temperatures are due to stay around for several more days, too.

The forecast is for cloudy, windy and cooler weather with rain Monday, with rain and continued cool weather tonight and through Tuesday.

High today will be in the lower 60's and the low tonight will be near 50. Winds will be southeasterly, 15-30 m.p.h., becomnig northerly late Tuesday.

equipped with bulk cooling equipment that means cooling immediately after milking. After June 30 all milk will have to be bulk-cooled.

The greatly increased volume of the Bridgman plant is due largely to the expanded market that has been developed for its products. Less than 15 per cent of the total output is sold locally and more than 85 per cent is distributed to other communities of northwestern Minnesota and North Dakota. Only about half the milk required for this expanded market is produced in the Thief River Falls area. Local grade A production is steadily increasing however and it is hoped that all of the needs for this expanded market will soon be supplied locally.

The grade A operation requires rigid inspection at all points, from the producer to the consumer, and the highest sanitary standards of both the state and federal governments must be maintained. Dairy herds and farm equipment are checked regularly. Samples of each lot of milk are checked for fat content and these samples are spot checked for sediment and bacteria count. Failure to maintain required standards means suspension.

All Stainless Steel

From the producer to the consumer the milk travels through stainless steel equipment and pipes, and with the exception of the short period of pasteurization, when it is subjected to a fast heating process, the temperature of the milk is maintained at 40 degrees or less. Pick-up tanks and delivery trucks are all equipped with mechanical refrigeration.

The packaging machines are marvels of precision. Paper cartons that have been stored in rooms where the temperature and humidity are maintained at a constant level the year 'round, are waxed, sealed and filed in one operation.

Speed Packing

The new half-gallon machine turns out 27 packages per minute, considerably faster than the old machine that handles quarts, pints or half-pints at a speed of twenty a minute. At the present rate of production about 1,000 pounds of wax are used in the sealing operation each day.

With the addition of a 4,000 gallon storage tank it will be possible to maintain a more uniform product, Mr. LaFave states. The two old tanks of 1,000 and 2,000 gallon capacity, were not adequate. It is in these tanks that the milk is standardized for fat and vitamin content. The present three tanks, with their total capacity of 7,000 gallons, will make it possible to give these processes the time they require.

There are larger milk processing and packaging plants in Minnesota than Bridgeman's in Thief River Falls, but none could be more modern.

With the help and encouragement of fine friends like you I have reached a decision to file as a candidate for the School Board of Dist. No. 18 in the coming election on May 21, 1957.

YOUR VOTE & SUPPORT WILL BE GREATLY APPRECIATED.

Thank You.

PRINCESS KAY 'WINS' MILKING CONTEST

A pretty milkmaid indeed is Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Barbara Jean Bossus, Brainerd, who is as much at home milking cows as she is speaking at a banquet. As a representative of Minnesota's dairy farmers, every Princess Kay must have a dairy farm background, and Barbara is no exception. Matter of fact, she whipped the Star Dairy Farmer, Larry Bennett, Owatonna, in a milking contest as part of kick-off festivities for June Dairy Month, although some observers thought Larry was an extremely chivalrous young man.

SCS Supervisors Meet in Marshall County June 13th

The first meeting of the new farmer supervisors of the Marshall county soil conservation district is tentatively planned for Thursday, June 13, or earlier.

Herb Halverson of Thief River Falls, area conservationist in Northwest Minnesota, has informed the Marshall county extension office that a two day tour was conducted by him and an associate to make up a problem area map of the new district. This map is the beginning stage of the work planning by the supervisors and will be presented to them at their first June meeting.

At this meeting the problem areas were reviewed and then a second meeting will follow during which an actual work plan will be drawn up and presented to the Soil Conservation Service showing the need for a farm technician.

Secy. Benson Hits at Junking of Soil Bank

Secretary of Agriculture Benson Thursday predicted a further pileup of costly farm surpluses if Wednesday's House vote to junk the major part of the Eisenhower administration's soil bank program is allowed to stand.

"Surpluses will again pile up at the expense of our taxpayers'," he said.

Benson denounced the House action, in which 38 Republicans joined 151 Democrats, as "false economy." Voting against the surprise move to cut off the 150-million-dollar acreage reserve part of the soil bank program after this year were 141 Republicans and 46 Democrats. Thus the tally to end further soil bank subsidy payments was 192-187.

Benson addressed his words to the House Agriculture Committee, but he was aiming them at Senate ears, since the next move is up to that chamber.

"If the acreage reserve is not permitted to function for 1958 crops," he said, "there is every likelihood that surpluses will pile up still further, rather than diminish."

Benson added that if land retired into the soil bank this year is returned to production next year, the cost of government price supports "will in all probability be greater than would have been the cost of the acreage reserve for 1958 basic crops."

Benson contended the acreage reserve plan, in which farmers are paid to refrain from planting crops of which there is already an abundance, had not been given a fair chance.

"Last year," he said, "the Department of Agriculture publicly warned" that due to the lateness of passage of the soil bank law, the acreage reserve "could not be expected to have its intended effect in full for 1956 crops and that administrative problems were bound to raise."

Glenn Prickett of 'U' M. Offers Suggestions

If you spend the weekend on a lake in northern Minnesota, a first-aid kit and life vest are wise additions to your equipment.

Glenn Prickett, extension farm safety specialist at the University of Minnesota, reminds families that fishing is a time for special caution. To help keep the fishing trip a happy one, he gives this advice:

Don't go out in a boat that isn't "seaworthy." If the boat is made for three people only, don't let any more get in.

Keep all passengers seated in the boat. Stay off the water when waves are high.

If the boat should capsize, stay with it until rescued. Few people can swim very far when fully clothed.

If you have a boat motor, keep it in good mechanical condition. Don't smoke when refueling; you might set the whole machine afire. It's best to keep a fire extinguisher handy.

Make sure you have plenty of room when you're casting, so that you don't hook yourself or somebody else.

240 Seniors to Be Graduated from Hamline 'U' June 3

Over 1,000 alumni and 240 graduating seniors will join in observing Hamline University's annual commencement weekend, June 1-3, according to Dr. Paul H. Giddens, President of Hamline.

For the graduating seniors the big moment will be Monday, June 3, 10 a.m. as they march in academic procession to Norton Field House to receive their degrees and diplomas at Hamline's 79th commencement exercise.

Speaking at the commencement exercises will be Harry A. Bullis, chairman of the board of General Mills, Inc. and member of the Hamline board of trustees.

Three to be Elected

A circular peddled house to house and a letter mailed to the voters may accomplish some good by increasing the number of votes cast in the school election Tuesday night. A large vote is always desirable. But these particular pieces of campaign literature may do some harm too by projecting into the election elements of politics that should not enter into the affairs of school government.

This literature was not distributed by candidates in their own behalf. The sponsors did not make their identity known. It may be assumed therefore that both the dodgers and the letters were the products of individuals or groups who had personal axes to grind that they did not care to reveal.

Unfortunately this literature may affect adversely the interests of the candidates it was intended to help. Voters do not object to campaign arguments, but unsigned statements carry little weight and are often resented.

We are disturbed about the possible bad effect because of the special conditions that should be taken into consideration in this election. There are three vacancies on the school board to be filled this year, the board having been increased to seven members with the understanding that at least two of the members should be elected from the rural area. A large percentage of the voters live in the city. City voters therefore have a moral obligation to vote for at least two of the rural candidates.

Fortunately all three of the rural candidates are well qualified for service on the school board. They are good citizens, successful in their own operations and highly respected by those who know them.

None of these three candidates would stoop to underhanded campaign practices. They are not the kind of citizens who would withhold their names from any statement they wished to make. And in spite of the endorsements two of them have received we are glad to state that all three of them are men of character and integrity.—and courage.

The two candidates who have received these unsolicited endorsements have made it clear that they are not running as a team but as individuals in a three-way race. We are satisfied that the endorsements should not be used against them.

There is Reason for Concern

President Eisenhower is now fighting hard in defense of his recommended budget, and we hope this is one battle the good General will lose.

In fairness to him we must recognize the probability that, in reducing appropriations Congress will do some unwise trimming. Some of the sudden congressional zeal for saving no doubt is inspired by partisan considerations. But the mistakes can be corrected by future action.

We are satisfied that this is a good time to slow down on federal spending—to catch our breath and get a better perspective of just what it is we are trying to accomplish.

There is no emergency at the present time, and no essential service is going to be permanetly crippled by a little temporary curtailment.

What worries many Americans who still like Ike is the similarity of his early record with that of President Roosevelt. Roosevelt was elected to his first term on an economy platform. Hoover was represented to us as a wastrel and a spendthrift. Under his administration the national debt had been increased. Roosevelt pounded hard at the dangers of a financially irresponsible government.

Once in office, however, he proceeded with a borrow and spend program of his own that put all previous spenders of history to shame.

Eisenhower too was elected on an economy platform. In his first campaign he too pointed to the incumbent as a reckless fellow with the taxpayers' dollars, and promised to cut costs and reduce the debt. In the beginning he moved in that direction. Lately, however, he has reversed his early position and we now are threatened with the biggest peacetime spending program of all time.

It is the fear of where this will lead us to that many good citizens are worrying about now. The dollar is losing value at an accelerated rate. In a period of unprecedented prosperity we are not reducing our debt.

These are good and sufficient reasons for concern.

This will have to go down into record as a favorable spring for farm woork. Fred Koop says he didn't get started with his seeding until May 23 last year, and Fred Koop is one who starts as soon as conditions permit. But the payoff is not at planting time.

A Balanced Budget

(St. Paul Pioneer Press)

The legislature just ended managed to establish a balanced budget for the coming biennium notwithstanding heavily increased spending. But it was only postponing the day of reckoning.

Estimates are that the 1959 session will have to find 37 million dollars of additional revenue to continue the rate of spending just approved. In other words, the existing tax structure will fall short by that amount under present indications.

What the Legislature did was to authorize spending all surpluses and temporary windfalls in sight for the next two years. By then these resources will be milked dry and the 1959 session will be up against the problem of tax more or spend less—with the odds favoring higher taxes. If the situation gets desperate enough, it may force a sales tax.

The Liberal House and Governor Freeman forced a 10-million-dollar cut in revenues for the coming two years regardless of the trouble being built up for 1959. This reduction comes through abandonment of the $5 income tax filing fee. The saving of $5 a year isn't going to be much help to any taxpayer, but it permits a political claim for "reducing taxes on the common man." When the next session comes around, the common man and everyone else is likely to be hit for higher contributions to state government.

Coin-operated devices now vend almost anything, with new wonders still ahead. Already you can get a fire just by putting a penny in the fuse box.

Rates Should Be Raised

(Morris Sun)

Postmaster General Summerfield's brief curtailment of mail service brought joy to no one but it did bring out some of the facts of life so far as operation of the postal system is concerned.

Chief among these is the record of deficiency appropriations which have been necessary through the years in order to keep the postoffice department solvent. In the words of Representative Tom Murray of Tennessee, chairman of the House Postoffice Committee, "The postoffice department has been given supplemental appropriations for the last ten years with the exception of three years when the present postmaster general turned back substantial sums into the treasury."

Other facts of life brought out are the 15,000 decrease in the number of postal employees in the past 5 years while the number of pieces of mail handled rose by 6½ billion.

When one considers that rates for first class mail have not been changed for 25 years and that increases in second and third class rates have failed to keep pace with the rising costs, it is truly amazing that the postoffice department functions with any semblance of monetary balance. It would be reasonable to assume that the efficiency of the department must have improved considerably in recent years.

Deficiency appropriations are not the real answer to the financial problems of the postoffice. The better solution is the upping of postage rates on all classes of mail to a point where each class will pay its own way.

But She Didn't Have Liberty

(New Ulm Journal)

Sheba is a tigress in Como Park zoo in St. Paul. For the second time since she has been a "resident" there, she has given birth to a litter of tiger cubs.

Sheba had no interest in the first litter, let them die.

There was some indication of interest on Sheba's part when she had the last litter, and Sheba's keepers nutured the hope the cubs might live. But one by one, they died.

Sheba, in her home in Como Park, had just headline in Sheba's home town newspaper, the St. Paul Pioneer Press. But really, now did Sheba "fail" as a mother? We think not. On the contrary, it appears Sheba has shown almost human intelligence—if that can be regarded as any credit to her.

A prisoner herself, without hope of ever regaining freedom, it seems possible that Sheba rebelled at the prospect of her cubs—which she must have loved—facing the same fate.

Sheba, in her home in Como Park, had just about everything a tigress would need. She had security. She had food, selected with much care as is used in a diet kitchen; perhaps with even greater care—for tigresses cost money—and are hard to replace. Sheba had shelter. She even had the company of a male companion. In fact, Sheba has what may be regarded as "perfect" security, planned and regimented to the last degree. Sheba had everything—everything except one thing—the most priceless, the most precious thing in life; without which no living thing can enjoy happiness, not even an animal. Sheba didn't have any liberty, no hope of ever again enjoying it. And so she let her cubs die, rather than see them suffer the same fate.

Sheba provided a lesson for us, at great sacrifice. In our struggle to achieve total regimentation, absolue security, we face the prospect of ourselves becoming captive of a welfare state.

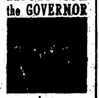
REPORT from the GOVERNOR



by
Orville L. Freeman

Vocational rehabilitation is one of the most important social service programs carried out by the State of Minnesota. It provides vocational guidance, training, and education for physically handicapped persons. Its program is not considered complete with regard to any individual until he has been trained to perform effectively in some suitable occupation and until he has found employment in such a job.

Services Vary

The rehabilitation program may involve paying college tuition for a young man or woman who, though physically handicapped, will benefit from such an education and can be expected to become self-supporting as a result. It may include the provision of ingenious special equipment, through the use of which a farmer who has been crippled by polio can learn to perform difficult farm tasks. Thousands of Minnesotans with countless varieties of handicaps are being helped to achieve a good personal adjustment and independence through the vocational rehabilitation program.

Federal-State Cooperation

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation is a part of the State Department of Education. It has a central office in St. Paul and twelve district offices throughout the state. Medical consultants and Advisory Committee on Vocational Rehabilitation give professional advice.

Funds are supplied by both state and federal governments. Minnesota has not always in the past made use of all the federal funds that were available for this purpose, but we are rapidly increasing our activity in this area. Money spent for rehabilitation has proved to be an investment rather than an expenditure;—an investment that brings in great returns, both to the individuals served and to our entire society.

Great Strides Forward

On June 30, 1956, we had in Minnesota 2,860 active vocational rehabilitation cases, which was an 11 per cent increase over 1955. Within the next nine months, by March 31, 1957, we had 4,020 cases, a 40 per cent increase. It is estimated that by June 30, 1957 we will have served a total of 5,960 cases during the preceding twelve months, which will be an increase of 38 per cent over the 3,677 cases served the previous year.

A Large Field

Plans have been made for a substantial expansion in the rehabilitation services, for we know that there are thousands more who need them. In other columns I hope to report on closely related activities that, working together, make it possible for many who suffer physical defects, illnesses, and injury to make excellent adjustments and good recovery. Training for an occupation cannot be effective by itself. First, and throughout, must come the work and guidance provided by the medical profession. And finally, employer cooperation in providing jobs is essential.

My own experience has given me a deep personal appreciation of rehabilitation, and I am deeply grateful for the treatment I received from the doctors in the Marine Corps during World War II. Later, as I helped the Marines set up an expanded rehabilitation program for the wounded and handicapped, I got further direct experience with the value of this kind of work. I am convinced that expanded activity in this field in our state will repay us many times over the amount it may cost.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor of the Times:

I would like to comment on your editorial "Three School Districts" in your paper dated May 6, 1957.

In this editorial you raise the question of the fairness of requiring the three districts to stay in the Goodridge High School area and state that they should have the right to determine for themselves what is best for them. On the surface this would appear to be a fair statement of the case.

There are other aspects to be considered. Many times in democracy the wishes of a few, of which these three districts are an example, have to be sacrificed to the good of the many, in this case the Goodridge high school area. By your standards the north should have let the south secede instead of fighting the Civil War.

There is no provision in the state statutes for people to transfer from one district to another by a direct vote. In every case some other person or group has to act on any proposal. This would seem to indicate that the state legislature has recognized that the wishes of a few cannot always control. Your idea of democracy carried to its extreme would result in anarchy. It would seem that we actually only disagree on where to draw the line.

In your closing paragraph you mention that the problem should be handled at the state level. The state educational officials have been asked for recommendations on this matter several times but in every case, to date, have tossed it back to the local officials. Presumably they believe that the problem of a high school education for the children of the Goodridge High School area should be solved on a local level.

What the ultimate answer to the problem of providing secondary education in the Goodridge High School Area will be I don't know. The University of Minnesota only made one recommendation which has for the time being has been rejected. This was for a high school located half way between Goodridge and Grygla. If we consider your position of letting people go where they want to in all cases, it doesn't seem fair to compel people farther from Goodridge to our south-west than the three districts in question are west from Goodridge to go to a school between Goodridge and Grygla against their wishes just because they are in our district.

One solution you have mentioned is that all of Pennington county be included in one educational system with secondary education provided in Thief River Falls. This proposal appears to have some merit. Consideration should be given to students living in Pennington county fifteen or more miles east of Goodridge. Unanswered by this proposal is the provision for secondary education of the Grygla district.

This problem is of course too big to be covered in a letter. The answer will be found only after further study and thought on the subject. I question whether the area is ready for this now. In the meantime it doesn't seem fair to take some of the area close to Goodridge and transfer it to Thief River Falls.

Yours truly,
David M. Brown
Superintendent, Goodridge

Editor Times:

An Open Letter to Our Lawmakers

Countless automotive accidents every day brings home to us the seemingly needless toll in lives, to say nothing of the inestimable property damage.

It has been said that the loss of lives alone exceeds the recorded toll in any major war.

The cause has been attributed to many factors, I am rather inclined to the view that many accidents, if not most of them, are caused by ill driving manners. To put it another way, A heedless disregard for the right of the other fellow to the use of the highway.

It was my privilege recently to apply for and take the drivers test, prescribed by the commissioner of highways. While it was clear to me, that to adhere to some of the rules, though minor, would be negligence as a matter of law, it was properly pointed out to me by the examining officer, that the rules as laid down were for the purpose of generally determining a persons eligibility for obtaining a drivers license. It was found to be an accepted test for one's ability in a broad and general way.

My test was unacceptable, necessitating another test to qualify. It was a fair test, fairly conducted.

It has occurred to me that there exists in these tests a most important and effective expedient. That is to say, simply cancel all drivers licenses and take an examination. It would thin out the ranks of unqualified drivers, as well as vehicles unable to meet the reasonable mechanical requirements. This may not be the only answer but I believe it would be a step in the right direction.

Gordon LaBree

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—Under the Survivors Benefits Act, I understad that the eligibility of parents of deceased veterans is based on the amount of annual income. How does VA determine whether a parent's income exceeds the limit set by law?

A—At the beginning of the year, VA will send all parents on the rolls income questionnaires dealing with income received during the past year and anticipated income during the year ahead. Determinations of eligibility, as well as amount of VA payment, will in most cases be based on the questionnaires.

Q—I am planning to convert my World War II term insurance to a permanent plan. Do I have to convert the entire amount of my insurance, or can I convert just a part of it?

A—You may convert a part of your GI term insurance, if you wish. The amount converted must be in multiples of $500, but not less than $1,000.

Q—I was in military service both in World War II and the Korean Conflict. I never have used my GI loan benefit. Which deadline am I bound by—the one for World War II veterans or the one for Korea veterans?

A—The deadline for Korea veterans applies in your case. You have until January 31, 1965, to obtain your GI loan.

Q—May I take on-the-job training under the War Orphans Education program?

A—No. The law limits War Orphans education to classroom training in school. Job training is prohibited.

SHE: Oh, there's more to it than that. For example, the "park" position on the Hydra-Matic Drive* makes it safer and easier to start, even on hills.

HE: Well, Olds has a reputation for attention to details. That's one reason the value lasts.

SHE: You can tell that someone took a lot of patience in planning and building it right. Even the two ash trays are lighted.

Virgil Reiersen Wed At Bemidji April 14th

Lois Marjorie Eichstodt daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eichstodt of rural Bemidji, and Virgil Grant Reiersm son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Reiersm of Bemidji, former Middle River residents were united in marriage at the Frohn Trinity Lutheran Church Sunday April 14th, with the Rev. Richard Braem of Cass Lake performing the double ring ceremony at 8 o'clock before setting of Candlebra and Easter Lilies. Mrs. Louis Verner of Bemidji, sang "O Perfect Love". The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a pink crystalette street length dress and matching accessories. She wore a pearl nicklace and earring set, a gift of the groom and carried a star cascade bouquet of pink rapture roses, miniature roses and white hyacinths.

Miss Ardell Erchstodt, cousin of the bride was maid of honor and wore a blue crystalette trim identical to the bride and white accessories. She wore pearl and rhinestone earrings, a gift of the bride and carried a fan decorated with pink carnations.

Edward Eichstadt, brother of the bride served as best man. Harold Eichstodt brother of the bride ushered.

The brides mother wore a navy blue dress with pink trim and pink accessories. The grooms mother wore a blue dress with white accessories. Their corsages were of pink miniature roses and white carations. A reception folowed the ceremony at the home of the bride for about 100 guests. Mrs. Reinrold Eichstodt, aunt of the bride cut the three tiered wedding cake assisted by Mrs. Marvin Osterboh cousin of the bride. Mrs. Clarence Majer, sister of the groom, poured. Alice Woodruff was in charge of the guest book, and Donna Wittich had charge of the gift table. Following the reception the couple left for a brief wedding trip to the Black Hills. The bride is a graduate of Bemiji high school and B.S.T.C. and is presently employed in the Cass Lake school system. The groom is a graduate of Middle River high school, attended Concordia college in Moorhead, served in the Armed Forces for two years and is presently employed in construction work. Out of town guests were Mrs. Darwin Osterlock of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Remeth Eichstodt of Two Harbors Mr. and Mrs. Ed Longerok of Crookston, Donna Micheals of Lake City, Ia., Yvonne surpenant of East Grand Forks, Allen Williamson of Silver Bay, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Haugen of Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Majer of Greenbush, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swan of Eveleth, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Ornguist and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stege and David of Wheaton Minnesota.

Dramatic Design, Color And Textures Seen In New Carpet Fashions

With the technique of a Monet painting, that puts color next to color, carpet designers are creating a new brilliance underfoot. As many as four or five colors of yarns may be woven together to obtain a visual one-tone and the result has life. This is the way that Monet devised to portray sunshine.

Sometimes, three or more colors are twisted together in a moresque yarn. Perhaps rayon may be used in combination with wool to give luster, or a sparkle that is almost metallic. Hard twist yarns woven with straight ones pull down tight to create a high and low level. The permutations of new fibers, new weaving techniques, and new combinations are sparking the imagination of carpet designers, and the results are fresh and pleasing.

BOLDER DESIGNS have color thrown around like hot spots of confetti. Over a basic ground hue, this adds lively highlights. The ever-popular tweeds are beginning to have the shadow of a pattern, like subtle lines of a plaid, in one example.

There is a definite renaissance of pattern, either executed in color or in combinations of yarn in several levels. Pattern provides a warm complement to the simple contours of modern furniture. Carpet is a completely functional decorating material, acoustically, warmth-wise and wear-wise, and the new designs add excitement to its style possibilities.

Besides color, texture is the news. Different levels of pile in a one-color carpet, or tone-on-tone, gives a three dimensional effect that is abstract pattern in itself. A texture is an efficient disguiser of footprints, too. Newly desirable is a carpet that reveals and features highlights and shadows. This conveys a lush, rich effect, suitable to the mood.

Gift For A Man

Gift of a tool set to the man who hasn't one now is the quickest way for a wife to convert him into a handyman who will become a confirmed "do it yourself" addict, with all the means to making a house a home.

KNOW YOUR PLUMBING

Water damage caused by a plumbing leak or other accident can be kept to a minimum if all members of the household are familiar with the location of the shut-off valves. The inside of a closet door is a convenient place to hang a chart showing the location of the valves. Baggage tags should be attached to each valve indicating its purpose.

Plan Hunting Is Much Like House Hunt

By J. E. Erickson
Small House Planning Bureau

Plan hunting is much like house hunting. In both cases you are looking for a suitable home for your family. The type of plan you are looking for will depend on your building budget, family needs and your lot.

Early in your search you must decide on the general arrangements, number of bedrooms required, whether or not you will want separate dining room, breezeway and attached garage. This will narrow the field and reduce the number of plans you will want to study.

In any house certain fundamental principles will make the operation of a household simpler and easier. Foremost of these is free circulation between rooms, the ability to reach any room without first passing through another room. This may call for a little more hall, but is well worth it.

The kitchen, if properly planned, is the place where most of the drudgery of housekeeping can be eliminated. Refriggrator, sink and range should be located so a natural sequence is set up in the movement of food from storage to preparation to cooking. Space for eating in the kitchen is a must.

A small bathroom is normal for a small house but a recessed tub, away from the window, is a most desirable feature.

Bedroom sizes depend on personal preference and the amount of furniture to be used. Check wall space for beds. You may want two possible bed-walls to provide for the almost inevitable shifting of furniture.

The success of a plan depends a great deal on the closet space available; "a place to put things". One of the most important closets is one near the side or rear entrance where family traffic is heaviest. Do not overlook linen, storage and bedroom closets.

Use of picture window, or window wall, depends on the degree of privacy you want and the location or facing of your lot. Your living room should comfortably care for family and guests. Be sure to consider the idea of including a fireplace. It adds much to the livability of your room at relatively small cost.

Choose your plan carefully. You may have to live with it a long time.

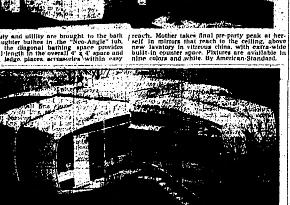
New Ideas Work Wonders for Old Bathrooms

New beauty and utility are brought to the bath here. Daughter bathes in the "Neo-Angle" tub, in which the diagonal bathing space provides additional length in the overall 4' x 4' space and the wide ledge places accessories within easy reach. Mother takes final pre-party peak at herself in mirrors that reach to the ceiling, above new lavatory in vitreous china, with extra-wide built-in counter space. Fixtures are available in nine colors and white. By American-Standard.



A PLASTIC HOME with glass walls equal in area to the floor space becomes a reality with the completion of this first unit in Disneyland in mid-June. Walls in this unique house are of Thermopane insulating glass made by Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company, one of several manufacturers working jointly on the Monsanto "House of the Future." The house is based on a U-shaped molded plastic unit which forms part of a room's ceiling, wall and floor. In the simplest plan eight molded plastic modules are cantilevered in pairs from a central utility core to form four rooms. The central area contains kitchen, laundry, heating and air conditioning facilities.

Bedroom Furniture Designs Feature All-Around Livabilty

Bedrooms today hold more inducement for greater function and pleasure than just the aspect of a sleeping room.

It is a room in which to enjoy lounging, reading, snacking, or even watching television. New television bedroom designs provide this latter so that it may be enjoyed from eithed a comfortable chair, or propped in bed.

It is a room where furniture designs offer an unusual amount of intriguing flexibity. Headboards and nightstands are especially notable in this aspect.

HEADBOARDS are as wide and as handsome as required. Many of them have built-in night stands which are designed with swing-out features to accommodate twin beds or a super size bed. They are plushly upholstered and tufted in fabric to match bedspreads or draperies. Some have drop-down arm rests for more comfortable reading in bed. When not in use they resume position as part of the upholstered headboard. Another features a snap-in pillow rest to prop the occupant up at the just the comfortable height and slant for reading or writing in bed.

Canopies and half-canopies are no longer hard to find among today's bedroom fashions, and some of these also use fabric matching that of the bedspread or draperies.

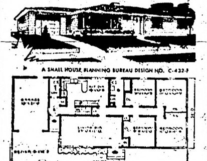
Many times in place of a footboard, foot benches designed as part of the grouping, may be used.

NIGHT STANDS are either of a built-in variety attached to the headboard, or they are independent units with many intriguing innivations and flexibilities within them. One of the very new revolves completely around on a stationery base. Many have pullout shelves, and others with seemingly conservative dimensions have even allowed provision for magazines.

General decor and design in bedroom groupings has everything that a homemaker and her family could ask for. There are elegant designs with lovely innovations in wood finishes, and materials.

Color is still a good bedroom fashion and smartly used in whole, or a two-tone combination. Style designs for the most part are sleek, clean and neat, no matter what the period. Off-the-floor designing is wonderfully used for bedroom function too.

INSIDE YOUR BEDROOM storage pieces, there is fashion as well as function. Drawers are colorfully lined with plastic that opposes liquid stain hazards.



DESIGN C-432-F. This four-bedroom home features larger than usual wardrobe closets, a bathroom with recessed tub and linen cabinet. The plan is simple to frame and economical in material and labor. It has a full basement, kitchen-dinette with cabinets on three walls, attached garage, lavatory and coat closet at rear entry.

Exterior details include asphalt shingles on hip roof, wide eave overhang, wood siding and planter under the living room corner picture windows. Floor area is 1114 square feet, cubage is 26,159 cubic feet. For further information about DESIGN C-432-F, write the Small Touse Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Do-It-Yourself-Painters Given Correct Procedure

A good outside paint job to give the lasting beauty and protection you seek when you paint requires a clean, dry surface, free of cracks and surface damage.

When paint has worn away evenly, with few bad breaks, preparation is not a hard task at all. Wire brush entire surface to clean away grime and reveal spots where paint is not too solidly bonded to the surface. Clean old paint that is badly stained with a solution of one pound of trisodium phosphate to a gallon of water.

If a few boards show paint scaling away to bare wood, remove loose paint with a putty knife and wire brush. Sand vigorously to feather down edges of paint that still adheres.

Loose boards should be securely nailed in place before repainting. Fill nail holes with putty. Also look for loose nails, drive them bock in place, set and fill with with putty. Putty all cracks to protect wood from moisture.

Where necessary, recaulk joints around chimney, doors and window frames. Be sure to get caulking compound into cracks and not only on the surface. Replace all cracked or loose window-sash putty you may detect.

SOME IMPORTANT DON'T

Don't paint if temperature is likely to drop below 50 degrees F.

Don't paint after a heavy rain until the wood has dried thoroughly.

Don't start to paint too early in the morning. Give the sun a chance to dry off the surface.

Don't paint in the direct rays of the hot summer sun. Paint does not spread well on a hot surface.

Don't paint in a strong wind as the frest paint may collect dust and insects.

WINDOWS AND DOORS

It's best to paint the outside sash and trim work before painting the body of the house, to avoid placing the ladder against the freshly painted siding. In painting window sash, coat cross bars first. Paint sash stiles and rails next then window frames and casing.

In painting outside doors, begin with upper panels, then center and bottom. Then paint rails and stiles. On doors that swing out, paint all edges except the one to which the hinges are attached with outside color. On doors that swing in, only the hinged edges take the outside color.

PAINTING SIDING

Do the highest places first. Stand ladder so that distance from bottom end of wall is one-fourth of its height. Don't go any higher than the third rung from the top. When working from ladder at higher levels, it is usually handier to paint above ladder, as you can reach both ways and thus avoid moving ladder more frequently.

To hold your bucket while you are working, use a strong S-shaped hook so you can hang bucket on outside ladder rail beside you.

Begin painting at highest gable and work down. When painting siding, begin at a corner board. Don't flow paint on, but brush it out well after laying a brushfull in two or three spots. Paint one three-foot band straight across the house. Then drop down and paint a second band.

Paint clapboard edges first, then the flat area between. After brushing, paint out finish with sweeping strokes, using tips of bristles and lifting brushes gradually to a thin feather edge.

Finish the area you have started to a wall, door, or window before stopping. If you stop anywhere on the wall for more than a few minutes, the paint will set partially, making it diffeult to brush out the lap when you begin again. This lap may show through several coats of light-colored paint.

PAINTING METAL AREAS

Gutters, downspouts, and metal porch rails should be carefully wire-brushed to remove scale and rust. If gutters have been previously primed and painted, and coating is still in good condition, repriming will not be needed. If metal is showing, spot prime all exposed areas with metal primer before refinishing.

Production of bituminous coal in West Virginia, the nation's leading coal producing state, in 1956 was approximately 151,000,000 tons, or 30 per cent of total national production of 500,000,000 tons, according to Keystone Coal Buyers Manual.

Timbermen call the porcupine the forest gangster, for wherever this vegetarian travels on its nocturnal treetops mark its path. Porcupines kill or stunt young trees by gnawing into the inner bark and cambium layer, which are vital to the trees growth.

Attic Into Room

Converting the average attic into an attractive, extra usable room, can be done by the home craftsman for approximately $100 in necessary materials, with enough trim waste to do other jobs around the house. Estimate was made by producers of all-purpose wood panels.

Home Fire Alarm Systems Provide Low Cost Safety

The first five minutes of warning are worth the next five hours in fighting home fires. That is why, says John L. Taylor, Vice President of the Edwards Company of Norwalk, Conn., low cost home fire alarm systems have been perfected. And they are so simple the average man can install them himself.

The new alarm systems, packaged with complete instructions for installation, include a signal unit with a loud, clear bell, a transformer and a test button, all enclosed in a shallow decorative box for mounting on the wall.

Thermal detector units are supplied. They set off the alarm when temperature reaches 140 degrees and provide protection for areas up to 400 square feet. Additional detectors are available as needed. They operate on low voltage, armored cables or conduits.

Give Entrance Hall Brand New Look

A new look for the home can well start with the entrance hallway flooring on which visitors take their first step into your house. And it's easy and economical, now that such a great variety of floor tiles, which almost any one can lay, is available from your favorite building supply store.

Plan the design and the color combination you want in advance, to a scale drawing of the floor to be covered. Take your pattern to the dealer where the tiles are to be selected and where instructions will be available for putting the tiles into position yourself.

Light Your Entrance

Proper lighting at the entrance of the home is an important safety consideration.

Carriage House Goes Modern

Sad Shack Becomes Showplace

Taking a vivid imagination along on their house-hunting trip heled a New York physician and his wife come up with just what the doctor ordered in the way of a modern home.

They spotted an aging carriage house on Long Island's south shore and used their imaginations to visualize what the decrepit little building could become with modernization. The picture clicked, and they bought the carriage house, plus an acre of land for $9,000.

That was in 1951, and today, at the end of a five-year plan designed to make financing easier, the doctor and his family have a rambling, comfortable home with four bedrooms, two baths, two-car garage, modern heating and plumbing and other up-to-date features. They estimate the remodeling cost $11,000.

This included building a long, low wing housing the master bedroom and garage, converting the open "carriage" area of the original main floor into a 20-by-20-foot living room with fireplace, a large kitchen and bath, and adding three bedrooms and a bath on the original second floor.

A new roof of asphalt shingles was applied to give the house long lasting protection from Long Island's rugged weather, and a white cupola was placed atop the garage.

Asphalt shingles are particularly effective for remodeling because they can be applied directly over the old roofing, eliminating the mess and expense of tearing off the worn out material.

Vision and immagination, plus a carefully-followed "five-year plan," led to the conversion of the ancient carriage house, bottom, into the comfortable, modern home, top. Costs were reduced by applying asphalt shingles over the old roofing, and using wood window units in the new wing to replace the carriage doors.

Heating seemed to be a problem at first. The original building was built on a concrete slab, and floors in the living-kitchen area tended to stay cold. This was solved with baseboard heating which warmed the air in the rooms by convection and heated the floors by radiation.

The heating was made even more efficient by installing thick mineral wall insulation in walls and ceilings. The mineral wool, by keeping heat inside during Long Island's harsh winters, makes the house more comfortable and helps cut fuel consumption. If he ever decides to air condition the house, the thick insulation will mean less of an initial equipment investment for the doctor and lower operating costs.

Among other features decided on during the careful, five-year study of building materials and ideas were double-hung wood windows for the new wing and to replace the carriage doors. The windows match those in the original house in appearance and retain the early American decor.

While zoning laws in cities may interfere with converting such old buildings into modern homes many older farmhouse lend themselves admirably toward making new homes from old.

Many such possibilities exist in our own area. Making allowances for climatic variations the prospective homeowner in northwest Minnesota could convert a ramshackle deserted farmhouse into a "dream home" on his very own country estate.

It's an idea worth considering for those who enjoy rural life, with that tangy old-fashioned flavor.

Color Lifts Family Morale, San Francisco Stylists Say

"It's a psychological fact that good color styling inside and out makes a house a happier place for every member of the family," according to Albert and Nancy Rubey, one of California's most sought-after home-color styling teams.

The Rubeys color style and decorate thousands of homes every year for development builders in the San Francisco area. They are typical of color consultants who are setting the pace for home-color styling all over the nation.

By "good color," the Rubeys explain, they mean bold colors used tastefully in a scheme which includes the entire house, inside and out.

Interior colors visible from the outside, such as curtains and draperies, should match or harmonize with colors used on the roof, siding and trim, say the Rubeys.

"We also feel it's important that other interior colors be picked up from the exterior color scheme," Albert points out. "For example, if a door is painted pink and you open it and walk into a hallway with a pink carpet and harmonizing walls, you get a felling of unity. Often this isn't immediately recognizable, but it makes the whole house seem better, somehow."

The Rubeys' tecnique for color styling a house is to begin with the roof. The color or shade of the asphalt shingles gives them a key from which to pick a harmonizing scheme of colors for the entire house.

"As an example," says Nancy, "if we decide on an asphalt shingle roof in one of the bright pastels, we chose siding in a harmonizing color and a single trim shade with no accent colors.

"But if the shingles are a neutral brown or gray, we use three colors on the rest of the house—two harmonizing shades for the siding and trim, and a bright accent on doors, shutters and window boxes."

LIABILITY INSURANCE

Every home owner's insurance program should include comprehensive personal liability insurance. If you are building, you should obtain this coverage as soon as you buy your lot.

FOR MANY PURPOSES

Plywood, that wonderful building material available in an almost limitless variety of surfaces for an endless variety of purposes, has become one of the standbys of the man who wants to build things for the home.

Pictures Add New Interest To Living Room

Give your living room a new center of interest which every room needs to make it inviting and individual. It's a sure cure for that nondescript appearance that rooms seem to acquire.

One of the easiest and least expensive ways to create a center of interest is with pictures. Choose pictures that you enjoy and use them cleverly to call attention to a handsome piece of furniture such as a sofa, a desk or credeza. The furniture, accented by the picture arrangement becomes the focal point in the room.

If you already have a number of pictures such as fine reproductions of great paintings, color etchings and water colors or oils, take them down and study them to help you decide which ones look best together.

CHOOSE THE picture that seems to you the most important, either in subject matters or in its use of color, as the focal point for the grouping. Then plan an asymetrical or informal arrangement in which this important picture will be placed near the center of the wall area. Balance it with a smaller but eye-catching picture, or several small pictures placed close together, but farther from the center of the area.

Creating an asymetrical picture grouping calls for imagination, study and some knowledge of design, but it is not beyond the scope of the amateur decorator. What is more, its very informality makes it easy to live with.

The important thing to keep in mind is that in asymetrical balance the heavier weight or the larger object moves in toward the center, while the smaller pictures are from the center.

TOOLS FOR RENT

Lack the equipment to do the things about the house you want to do? Check your favorite hardware or building supply dealers. You can frequently rent the tools you need—and that you'll probably want to buy for yourself later.

If a person is extremely careful and also unusually lucky, he may use a power lawnmower several years before it painfully or seriously injures him.

Ready-mix Concrete Becoming Standard

Ready-mix concrete has really come into its own since World War II. Where formerly nearly all concrete used in building and road projects was mixed at the site of the project one sees less and less of this procedure, while the fleet of huge concrete mixer transport trucks is growing steadily in the cities and towns across the U. S.

The advantages of using ready-mix concrete are many, according to Curtiss Nelson and Sherman La Porte, operations of Falls Concrete and Supply in Thief River Falls.

Chief of these is uniformity of quality, Nelson said, in an interview here recently. He stressed the point that there is no variation in ready-mix concrete from load to load because of selected materials and large batching methods.

Uniformity is extremely important in concrete work as it can have a great effect in the durability of the job being poured. Lack of uniformity in concrete makes it far more subject to eraking under stress, strain and climatic conditions encountered in the life of the structure, road, driveway, etc., Nelson said.

Another advantage of ready-mix concrete in our northern areas, Nelson said, is the time and labor-saving factor. This is especial important in the home-building field here, where the building season lasts only through the warm months. Even when construction work is done throughout the year the time-saving is still highly important from a cost standpoint.

Not only is the ready-mix plant a boon to the contractor and home-builder in the form of time and money saved but the do-it-yourself benefits highly from it.

Nelson said they furnish the concrete for dozens of these hardy individuals every year with practically no limit to the scope of project the do-it-yourselfers are willing to tackle.

Garages, driveways and walks are by far the most numerous, however. The ready availability of ready-mix makes it possible for the home craftsman to undertake these jobs which he would have to hire done otherwise, which, in many cases, would rule the improvements out of the picture entirely. The time-saving factor makes it possible for him to do the work in fewer evenings and weekends and rules out back-breaking mixing at the project.

Both Nelson and La Porte said they believe there will be a very ample supply of cement available for all projects this year.

SOAP SAVES PAINT

Outside painted walls that are dingy and discolored don't always need repainting. Washing with soap and water often can restore their freshness. Use a scrub brush on a small area to check the results of washing. If you're satisfied start at the bottom and work your way up. After washing rinse with clear water, using a hose.

Home & Garden TIPS

Tomatoes

The tomato—one of the most popular garden vegetables—can be grown successfully in all parts of Minnesota provided good varieties have been selected and planted at the proper time.

Many gardners make the mistake of starting seeds indoors too early. It takes only six weeks to make a good tomato plant from seed. For this reason, it's best not to start these seeds before April 1.

Don't set plants into the garden until the soil and air temperatures are warm enough for growth and development—in other words, around Memorial Day in Minnesota.

Tomato seed can be sown directly into the garden around the middle of May. Tomatoes will not be as early as those started indoors, but you can usually count on them to provide an abundant supply for canning.

When making setting plants out in the garden, apply a fertilizer solution to the roots. Make the "starter" solution by dissolving ½ cup of complete fertilizer like 8-10-8, 5-10-5 or 8-16-16 in a gallon of water. Apply ½ cup of this solution to each plant.

If tomato plants are long and spindly lay them in a shallow trench about 4 inches deep with only about 4 or 5 inches of the top extending out of the soil. Plants set in this manner will become established more quickly than if they are set deep in the soil.

The main reason for pruning and staking tomatoes is to conserve space. If space is limited, set plants 18 inches apart in 3-foot rows. As plants begin to branch, remove the small side branches that develop between leaf and main stem. Allow only one or two stems to develop and support them with a strong stake.

Try some of the new hybrids like Moreton, Big Boy, Polaris or Hybrid E. Open-pollinated varieties like Fireball, Firesteel, Stokesdale and Rutgers are good choices also.

BRIDGEMAN CREAMERIES

EXTENDS TO YOU A CORDIAL INVITATION TO ATTEND THE

OPEN HOUSE AND INSPECTION

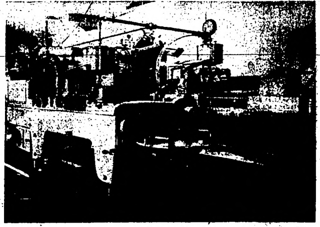
OF THEIR ENLARGED AND COMPLETELY MODERN

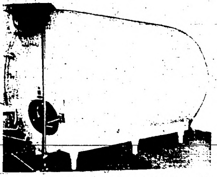
MILK PROCESSING and PACKAGING PLANT

Afternoon 2:00 to 5:00 THURSDAY, MAY 23 Evening 7:00 to 9:00

In the photo at left is the very latest word in milk processing equipment used by Bridgeman Creameries to give their patrons the best possible milk for human consumption. In order, left to right are the homogenizer, which breaks down the fat in milk to give it better drinking qualities; the vacuumizer, which takes out foreign tastes, if any; and the new high-temperature, short-time pasteurizer.

Milk and carton come together at the machines in this photo. These are the PurePak fillers, at left the quart, at right the half-gallon machine. Milk filled by these machines has remained untouched by human hands since it reached the Bridgeman plant. Cartons are fed in flat form to the fillers, which opens the cartons, waxes them inside and out, fills and seals them, and deposits them on the round platform (center foreground) where the machine operator then loads them into cases for delivery.





This is the largest of three tanks at the Bridgeman plant, which gives a total capacity of 7000 gallons. This tank holds 4000 gallons of milk, and, along with the others, enables Bridgeman's to standardize their milk as well as making possible greater uniformity in vitamin "D" fortification. The other two tanks are of 2000 and 1000-gal. capacity. All are the cold-wall, mechanically refrigerated type of tank.

Plant Will Be In Operation During the Afternoon Inspection

3 Rural Men Win for School Board

As a result of the annual election in Thief River Falls School District 18 Tuesday, the large rural area included in the district is assured of fully adequate representation on the board of education during the coming year.

Elected to the board were Lloyd Howick of Norden township, incumbent; and Rufus Olson and John Burtness, young farmers respectively of Kratka and Silvertown townships. The two defeated candidates were R. S. Eldevik, city incumbent, completing his second term on the board; and Curtis Harris, city.

With 533 ballots cast, Howick received 396, the largest number of votes cast for any of the five candidates, other tallies including Olson, 350; Burtness, 334; Eldevik, 294; and Harris, 168.

It apparently was city voters that elected the three rural men to the board, since observers report that not many more than 100 ballots were cast by people living outside the city of Thief River Falls.

Slain Saturday

band director and music instructor at Gonvick High School was shot with a .22 pistol by Mrs. Henry Sylstad, 40, early last Saturday morning after a conversation in Olson's car. Olson had secretly married the Sylstad daughter in April and the announcement was to have been made of the marriage after the 1957 Gonvick class, of which the young Mrs. Olson was valedictorian, was graduated. Funeral services for Olson were held at Williston, N. D. Wednesday. Mrs. Sylstad has been in custody since Saturday.

Legion Auxiliary Will Sell Poppies Saturday, May 25

Paper Flowers Will Be Worn in Memory of the Dead in Nation's Wars

Bright red flowers of memory will be worn Saturday, May 25, in salute to the nation's war dead as the city observes Poppy Day.

The flowers, artificial poppies made by disabled war veterans, will be distributed on the streets throughout the day by volunteer workers of the American Legion auxiliary under the direction of Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, poppy day chairman.

Contributions will be received by the Auxiliary for support of disabled Veterans and its child welfare activities for needy children of veterans.

"We hope everyone in the city will wear a poppy May 25", said Mrs. John Jaranson, president of Eklund-Holmstrom unit, as preparations for the observance were being completed.

Coins which are dropped into the contribution boxes of the Poppy Day workers will go into rehabilitation and child welfare funds to help support the work the auxiliary is doing for disabled veterans and children of veterans.

The flowers to be worn here have been made by veterans and are crepe paper replicas of the wild European poppies which bloomed "between the crosses, row on row," in the World War battle cemeteries in France and Belgium.

Committees Tell of Progress Made on June Dairy Day

President McLeod Says Signs Point to Another Successful Event June 11

Committee reports were the order of the day at a meeting of Northwest Dairy Day committee heads held Tuesday evening at the Rex Cafe.

Stuart McLeod, NW Dairy Day general chairman, presided at the meeting, at which committee heads assumed responsibility for their various functions when the affair is staged Tuesday, June 11.

All signs point to an excellent show, McLeod said. This years Dairy Day will be a shorter affair, as no evening festivities are scheduled. The parade after the judging will conclude the festivities with the exception of a box lunch which will be given entrants after the parade.

Following the reports of committee heads and discussion of the various problems attendant to the show, a smorgasbord was served to those present at the meeting.

TED KUSMAK NEW C. OF C. AGRICULTURE CHAIRMAN

Ted Kusmak, veterans' agriculture instructor in Lincoln high school, last week was named chairman of the Chamber of Commerce agriculture committee, succeeding Stan Nelson.

4-H'rs to Sign for Demonstrations at Fair by June 1

Should Sign up Soon with Adult Leaders or at Extension Office

4-H club members planning to give demonstrations at the Pennington county fair are reminded that they should sign up for them by June 1st, county Home Agent Marge Olsen announced today.

Cards on which they should sign up are available from adult leaders or at the county extension office.

Five different types of demonstrations may be given. They are: 1: home economics talking, which includes clothing, food preparation, food preservation, home furnishings, home assistance and bread; Group 2: Agricultural talking demonstrations, including tractor maintenance, farm and home shop, and all livestock and grain projects; Group 3: Activity talking demonstrations, including health, safety and conservation; Group 4: Silent bread, for boys and girls enrolled in bread and Group 5: Silent pie for boys and girls enrolled in food preparation and bread.

As soon as all the demonstrators have signed up, a schedule will be prepared, and the 4-H'ers will be notified of the time and day of their demonstration.

2 Counties to Set up DHIA Cow Test Unit at Plummer on Tuesday

Dairymen from Pennington and Red Lake counties will meet at Plummer next Tuesday for the purpose of organizing a Dairy Herd Improvement Association for the two counties.

The meeting will be held at the Plummer School. It will commence at 8:30 p.m. and a specialist from the University of Minnesota will explain the functions of the organization. D.H.I.A. is the most effective testing program in existence, says county agent Paul Stelmaschuk. Accurate records are possible since a tester is employed to do the work. The D.H.I.A. supervisor who tests the cows is an employee of the local association and provides prompt accurate service and accurate records.

Dairy cows are checked for volume of production, per cent butter fat, and are fed on basis of production. The testing records for feeding programs which the association members have found so valuable in southern Minnesota, Wisconsin and other states.

The time to start a good dairy testing program is when you are going into dairying, and not after you have built a herd up, said Stelmaschuk.

RRW Commission Rejects Plea for Phone Rate Boost

Holds Present Exchange and Toll Service Rates Are Fair and Reasonable

The Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. Tuesday was denied an increase in present telephone rates by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

The company serves 250 Minnesota communities including Thief River Falls.

The order — signed by Commissioners Paul A. Rasmussen, Hjalmar Petersen and Ewald W. Lund—points out that six rate increases have been granted to the company in Minnesota since 1946.

The commission said in its order that the company will realize a rate return of at least 6.2 per cent in 1957.

The commission said it based its rate return finding on estimated Minnesota intrastate earnings of $19,478,000 for the year and an average rate base for this year of $168,941,000.

"The present exchange and toll service rates are just, fair and reasonable," the order said, "and are sufficient to yield a reasonable rate of return of the fair value of the company's property."

The company based its request for higher rates on these facts:

1. Three wage increases were granted to its employes since present rates were established in 1954. This increased operating costs in Minnesota by five million dollars.

2. The company spent almost 90 million dollars gross on construction during the last three years, resulting in an annual cost of more than $4,250,000 for carrying this added investment.

3. Increased cost of settling long distance business interchanged with other telephone companies in Minnesota has had the result of reducing revenues by about $387,000 annually.

The Pioneer Local of the Farmers Union will meet Saturday evening, May 25, at 8:00 p.m. in the Cityview hall. Following the meeting games will be played and there will be a homemade candy sale. Lunch will be served.

Real Estate Taxes Due Before June 1

Pennington county property owners were reminded this week by A. B. Johnsrud, county treasurer, that the first half of 1956 real estate taxes is due and payable before June 1, after which date a penalty for delinquent payment will become effective.

Former Local Man, Fugitive, Is Rearrested

Edward J. Johnson, Who Fled St. Cloud Reformatory, Taken

A former Thief River Falls man who escaped from the St. Cloud reformatory nine months ago after having been committed for grain theft is back in police custody as the result of talking too much to a hitch-hiker.

Edward J. Johnson was captured by Fairmont, Minn. officers Monday after the hitch-hiker tipped off Albert Lea police, via phone, he had ridden with the fugitive. Albert Lea police radioed ahead to Fairmont and Johnson was captured in that city.

The hitch-hiker said Johnson talked about his escape during the ride.

A local angle to the Johnson apprehension was brought in by Red Lake county Sheriff Carl Kankel and local law officers after a car was stolen from a farm northwest of Red Lake Falls Friday.

Kankel and the TRF officials established that Johnson was in this area the past week-end when the car he stole in Red Lake Falls was found abandoned, because of a stuck engine.

The water ski show will feature all home talent and amateur skiers from Thief River Falls and surrounding territory are invited to participate. Any person with ski talent wishing to perform in the show is asked to contact Stan Gibson of the water show committee, Thief River Falls.

Gibson stated that the type of talent required was ability to perform the one and two ski slalom, water ski jumping, or other specialty acts on water skiis or surf board. Practice sessions will be held at the boat park and at Tindolph Park area during the next several weeks.

Council to Act on Street Jobs on Wednesday

Street Advisory Committee Makes Its Report Tuesday

At the May session of the city council Tuesday evening, Hugh Carlson and C. W. Rodekur, respectively chairman and secretary of the advisory committee on streets, submitted recommendations for a start on city street surfacing program and the installation of curb and gutter where needed. They recommended that a hearing on the projects be held at an early date, and the council indicated it would meet again Wednesday evening, May 29, to determine the extent of the project and set a date for the hearing. The streets affected are those listed in the Times last Thursday.

Arrangements also were made for the city to be represented by a delegation at a conference in Detroit Lakes Monday, May 27 with L. C. Zimmerman, state highway commissioner, relative to the effects of the newly rearranged distribution of highway user taxes on city street improvement programs.

The council approved 15 applications for building permits, calling for a total outlay of $57,500. Included, in addition to numerous garages and residence additions, were new homes to be built by Dr. J. O. Disse at 931 Arnold Ave. N.; Phil Grothe, 230 Maple Ave. S.; and W. S. Thomas, 806 Duluth Ave. S. A permit also was approved for Dr. W. P. Kaisler to repair the recent fire damage on his building on Main Ave. N.

Malcom A. Magnuson submitted a plat for Magnuson's addition and asked that the area be annexed to the city. It includes land lying between Arnold and Duluth Aves. from Thirteenth to Fourteenth Sts., with additional strips of lots along the east, west and south sides. An ordinance incorporating the area into the city was given its first reading.

A petition was submitted by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Holm and other property owners asking that an alley be opened in the block between Spruce and Pine Ave. N. from First St. to Highway 59. The project was referred to City Engineer Douglas Stewart for study.

Robert Reed, owner of property on Thief River east of the trailer court and outside the city limits, was denied permission to connect up with the water main serving the trailer court.

Tabled was a request from the city recreation board for increases in salaries previously fixed for workers in the summer recreation program. The pay hike would have added $400 to the cost of the program for two months. Joe Poole was appointed to the staff to succeed Ralph Skjod, who plans to attend summer school.

At the session the council also conferred with Alvin Jablinske relative to the operation of the new power street sweeper and other road matters.

Baccalaureate Is Slated at Lincoln High Sunday Night

Rev. Robert Abbott of Assemblies of God Church Will Deliver Sermon

Members of the Lincoln high school graduating class of 1957, numbering 147 seniors, will don somber caps and gowns for the first time Sunday evening when they will attend baccalaureate services in the Lincoln auditorium, starting at 8 o'clock.

The seniors will march in to the music of the processional march played on the piano by Carole Ewing. Delivering the sermon will be the Rev. Robert Abbott, pastor of the Assemblies of God Tabernacle, who announced that he will speak on the topic, "Success."

Completing the program will be selections by the high school chorus, and two hymns by the audience, followed by the benediction and recessional march.

Commencement exercises will be held in the Lincoln gymnasium next Tuesday evening, May 28, with Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, president of Moorhead state college, as guest speaker.

District Court to Open Monday

Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston will preside over the May term of Pennington county district court, scheduled to open at the court house in this city Monday morning, May 27. The first actions to be tried are three automobile accident cases which have been combined for trial.

Four Trustees of Hospital Named

College Trustee

JUDGE PAUL A. LUNDGREN

Of Thief River Falls, who was elected a member of the board of trustees of his alma mater, Gustavus Adolphus college at St. Peter, Minnesota, at the recent annual meeting of the Red River Valley conference of the Augustana Lutheran church in Grand Forks. He will be one of two representatives of the conference on the board. Both Judge and Mrs. Lundgren are members of the 1917 graduating class at Gustavus, and they will leave May 29 to attend the 40th anniversary reunion of their class.

Successful Year Is Reported at Annual Meeting Monday

An attendance of 70 members, considerably larger than in other recent years, was registered at the annual meeting of Northwestern Hospital association held Monday evening in the assembly room in the court house. L. B. Hartz, president, conducted the session and secretary Don Lawrence read the minutes of the 1956 meeting.

Following the report of Albert Koop, chairman of the nominating committee, submitting the names of eight candidates for the four trustee positions to be filled, the voting took place, resulting in the reelection for three-year terms of Mr. Hartz, Lawrence Bjorkman and John Anderson; while P. W. Culkins was named for a one-year term to complete the unexpired term of Hilmer Lunke, resigned.

At the organization meeting of the board held later in the evening, all present officers were reelected including Mr. Hartz, president; Judge Paul A. Lundgren, vice president; Don Lawrence, secretary; and F. A. Rinkel, treasurer.

President Hartz reported that despite a slight upward revision of charges during the past year, hospital rates here are still below the national average. He also pointed out that the local institution is one of only two in Northwestern Minnesota to be fully accredited by the national joint committee on accreditation.

Frank Rinkel, treasurer, reported that for the year ending April 30, 1957, gross revenues were $456,378, while expenses were $448,623, leaving a balance of $7,755. The association has a net worth of $1,209,779, and owes a balance of $50,000 on the new building. The mortgage debt was reduced by about [illegible] 000 during the past year, and $22,800 was collected on pledges. The average expense per patient per day was reported at $22.07, with an average income per patient day of $22.46.

3 County Girls to Be Chosen Saturday to Seek Princess Title

Three Pennington county girls will be named county dairy princesses to compete in the Northwest Dairy Day festivities June 11, at judging to be held in the basement dining room of the Rex Cafe at 1 p.m. Saturday.

The field of contestants has been narrowed considerably this year because of new ruling makes it impossible for any girl other than one whose parents reside on a Pennington county dairy farm to compete for princess honors.

The afternoon judging will begin at 1 p.m. with a luncheon at the Rex, during which the three judges, Mrs. Orvis Olen, Mrs. Al Adams and Mrs. William Feigal, will have the opportunity to meet and talk with the contestants before actual judging begins.

Of the three girls who were named Pennington county dairy princesses last year one has since become ineligible to enter because of the rule change, another has married and the third, who would otherwise be very much in the running, has declined to enter this year's contest.

One, Ardis Anderson, was named attendant to the 1956 Northwest Dairy Princess Varlene Peterson, Roseau County's entry from Badger.

This Year the Pennington county 4-H clubs will supply the bulk of the entrants in the local princess selection.

Members of the Pennington county dairy princess committee are Harry Ilshworth, Clifford Zaffke, Marge Olsen and V. M. Draper.

District Legion Convention Here

Memorial Parade and Services Sunday, June 2

Friday and Saturday, May 31 and June 1, mark the business sessions of the ninth district American Legion convention, which is held this year in Thief River Falls.

Convention memorial services will be held on Sunday, June 2. The Sunday memorial parade will start at 1:15 p.m. from the Auditorium to Riverside Park. Memorial services will then be held at the park, the main speaker being Father Eugene Conley of East Grand Forks. Father Conley is Ninth district Legion Chaplain this year.

Sunday services are scheduled for the afternoon so that Legion members will have the opportunity of attending the church of their choice on Sunday morning.

State Chaplain of Legion to Speak on Memorial Day

Ellsworth Jorgenson, commander of the local American Legion post announced today plans for Memorial Day services, Thursday, May 30.

A parade consisting of the Legion Municipal Band, the colors, gold star parents, and other marching units will start at 10:30 in the morning from the City Auditorium. The procession will go south on Main Ave. to Riverside Park.

At 11 a.m. the Memorial Day services will be conducted at the park. Speaker for this occasion is the Rev. Denzil Carty, department chaplain of the American Legion in Minnesota.

BOARD DELAYS ACTION

Whatever action the Pennington county board may take on the petition of three school districts in the Mavie vicinity for annexation to the Thief River Falls district, No. 18, was again deferred at a meeting of the board scheduled for Tuesday evening, when Chairman Glenn Tasa was unable to be present because of illness, and vice chairman Don L. Olson also was absent. The matter was re-scheduled for the June 1 meeting.

Summer Workshop Opens Here June 3

Bemidji State College to Offer Two Courses

Bemidji state college will offer two courses at a summer workshop session to be held in Thief River Falls starting Monday morning, June 3, it was announced today by Mrs. Martha Matheson, county superintendent of schools, in charge of local arrangements.

"Science in the elementary school" will be taught the first half of the course, and "Curriculum in physical education and lead-up games" will be the subject for the second half.

Further information on the course may be obtained from Mrs. Matheson at the court house.

Orchestra, Grade School Bands to Perform Monday

Three Grade School Bands to Combine for Concert in Lincoln Auditorium

The Lincoln high school orchestra and a grade school band made up of the combined bands of Washington, Northrop and Knox grade schools will present a concert at the high school auditorium on Monday May 27, at 8:00 p.m. Both groups are under the direction of James A. Solsten.

The combined grade school bands will number over fifty pupils, the majority of whom began their instrumental studies last fall.

The Lincoln orchestra will play with an added wind complement, brass, woodwind and percussion instruments added to the string section to bring the orchestra to the same instrumental basis as a symphony orchestra.

Among the orchestral selections will be two from Schubert symphonies, the Andante from the "Tragic Symphony" and the Scherzo or Third movement from the "C Major Symphony." Another selection will be "Trumpet Voluntary," a popular instrumental piece based on a theme by the 16th century composer, Henry Purcell. There is no admission charge for the concert.

Capt. Anderson on Rotary Program

Captain Walter Anderson of the state highway patrol supplied the program at the Rotary club luncheon Monday noon in the Elks club rooms. He stressed the importance of highway safety and showed a movie film dealing with the subject.

GROWING WITH YOUR CHILD

Institute of Child Welfare University of Minnesota

Work and Play

Play, to a child, is anything which he does not HAVE to do. WORK is anything which he HAS to do. There are no understandable differences as to content, energy output, or perseverance. Whether a thing is work or play depends rather upon why and how ones goes about it. The same idea applies in lesser measures to adults, as illustrated by "dead-tired" husband whose friends can interest him easily in eighteen holes of golf, or the high school girl who has begged off doing dishes (she's so "beat") only to respond eagerly to a square-dancing invitation.

While this behavior of the husband or high school girl is admittedly exasperating, it is also understandable and rates cheers from mental hygienists. One meaning of the word recreation is to re-create, to refresh after toil or anxiety. The key element, more than anything else, is to change radically one's activity—not necessarily to an easier one, or to one which outside pressures require at the moment. If to this change of pace and occupation, one can also reinforce with interest, curiosity, and "fun," its value is even greater.

Now what does all of this mean in guiding the youngsters? It means, first of all, that we cannot tell by looking whether they are "working" or "playing." The likeness between work and play offers fertile fields for learnings—often misunderstood by the observer in the kindergarten who asks, "Do they just play all of the time?" In an attempt to give children early pleasurable experiences with learning, rich play atmospheres with broad possibilities of choices prove most fruitful and learning does occur.

With play already an ally of learning, work, too, must gradually enter the scene as a discipline which has many built-in satisfactions of its own. A real part of growing up is making the smooth transition from childhood where the greater part of time can be spent doing things one does not have to do to adulthood where the greater part of time is spent doing things one has to do. Whether this is also a shift from "mostly play" to "mostly work" is an individual matter and related more to attitude than to activity.

Galleen Solheim Is Hit by Car on First st. Tuesday

A 13-year-old girl, Galleen Solheim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Solheim, 504 Main Ave. N., was hit by a car Tuesday as she was crossing First St. at Knight Ave., near Lincoln high school.

She received only minor injuries to her legs, police said and was taken to her home by the driver of the car that struck her, Wayne Olson rt. 3, city.

Olson has been charged with failure to heed a stop sign, according to police.

AIRPORT NEWS

Bill Johnson came as far as Thief River Falls last Tuesday on his pipe line patrol and decided the weather looked too risky ahead, so after a cup of coffee, returned to Bemidji. Bill was flying the PA-18.

Wednesday the 16th, we had visitors from Grand Rapids; they were Gerald Nelson and Gorden K. Newstrom, flying a Champ.

Tom Hagen made a cross country trip to Lake of the Woods from Crookston last Thursday and paid us a visit both going and coming. He was flying the Flying Club T-Craft.

A Luscome carrying Bud Barclay and Manley Stigen of Fergus Falls landed here the 17th. They had business matters to attend to in Thief River Falls.

Roland Klamer flew a Champ over to Gatzke that same afternoon and filled up with gas. The Champ belongs to Delmar Hagen and is kept at the Hagen farm.

Saturday we welcomed a couple of young boys who were experiencing their first plane ride, they were Johnny and Jim Wertish of McIntosh. Warren Christeson, also of McIntosh, brought them along in his Champ. To their amazement the rivers were so crooked and everything looked like tiny toys.

Our Sunday visitors by air were Oliver Hofstad of Oklee and Harold Reindol of Trail, in a T-Craft; A. C. Nelson, Hawley, Fairchild 26; Elmer R. Winter, Mahnomen, T-Craft; and Leo Winter, also of Mahnomen, in J-3 Cub. Lloyd Beck and sons Danny and Randy of East Grand Forks were airport visitors Sunday, also.

Bill Disse flew cross country to International Falls Saturday and returned Sunday evening. He flew the Club Cruiser.

Succession Plantings

One of the best ways to assure a long, continuous harvest of quality produce is to plant your favorite variety on successive dates. Crops that lend themselves to succession planting include sweet corn, snap beans, beets, carrots, radish and peas. Another possibility is to plant several short rows of leaf lettuce or spinach at weekly intervals.

• • •

You can plant sweet corn and beans at 10-day intervals up to the first of July in most parts of the state.

• • •

If you want to store carrots or beets next winter, sow seed sometime during the first half of June. Planted at this time, they will provide better-quality roots for winter use than those planted earlier.

• • •

Peas planted up to July 1 often will mature as a fall crop.

• • •

You'll have fall crops of lettuce, radish, spinach and turnips if you plant these vegetables in late July or early August.

• • •

Cabbage, broccoli, cauliflower and Brussels sprouts transplanted to the garden in early June will produce a good crop. These are cool-season crops that produce much better quality if they reach their edible stage during cool fall weather.

• • •

An application of a complete fertilizer at the rate of 1 pound per 25 feet of row is very desirable if you are making succession plantings following an earlier crop. The fertilizer may be applied in a furrow 2 inches deep and 2 to 3 inches on each side of the row.

The key to safety is you.

Big Attendance at Northrop PTA Show

An appreciative audience of about 350 persons enjoyed the variety show presented Monday evening by the Northrop PTA unit in the school gymnasium. Don L. Olson served as master of ceremonies.

The varied program included selections by the Legion municipal band and the Lions quartet, tap and square dancing, accordion numbers and a hilarious burlesque ballet dance presented by the Ballet Moose.

Preceding the program, the Rev. Otto Dale, retiring president, inducted new officers of the unit who will serve during the coming year. They include Del Seefeldt, President; Mrs. Lillian Smith vice president; Mrs. Chrisn Saustad, secretary; and Mrs. E. H. Holmstrom, treasurer.

Referendum on Wheat Set June 20

Favorable Vote Urged by Farmers Union Groups

With farmers and Main Street concerned over a $600 million stake in the 1958 wheat crop, an all-out educational program is being launched in hundreds of communities to get out a big farmer vote in the June 20 wheat referendum.

State-wide wheat referendum committees already have been set up in most of the important wheat producing states. In a number of communities, local farmer-committees are contacting local editors and merchants to enlist their help in getting out the vote.

The "big push" to tell the story to Main Street as well as farmers will start the week of June 3, as farm groups and cooperatives put their teams into the field to call on wheat producers and to hold public rallies.

"For all practical purposes, farmers will choose between $1 a bushel and $1.78 a bushel for their wheat in 1958," said M. W. Thatcher of St. Paul, chairman of the national wheat referendum committee. "The choice is between controlling production and getting a support price of $1.78 a bushel, or following Secretary of Agriculture Benson's recommendation of junking the farm program," Thatcher said.

Two-thirds of the farmers who vote must approve marketing quotas, and agree to restrict planting to 55 million acres, in order to be eligible for the federal price support of $1.78 on next year's wheat crop.

If two-thirds of those voting fail to say "Yes" to this proposal, they will put an end to the price support program for wheat, and probably end all other price supports.

Awards Conferred at Lincoln School

Annual Awards Assembly Conducted Wednesday

Hundreds of Lincoln high school students were honored for extra-curricular activities at the annual awards assembly held Wednesday, with F. Miles Nelson, senior high school principal, presiding.

In behalf of the local American Legion post, Ellsworth Jorgenson, commander, presented the Legion citizenship award to David Berg, while the corresponding Legion auxiliary award was given to Geraldine Swick by Mrs. John Jaranson, unit president. Bausch & Lomb science awards were presented to David Berg and Virgil Larson.

Members of the Lincoln band, athletic teams, Log and Prowler staffs and other groups received letters, numerals or pins.

.58 Inch Rainfall Arrives This Week

Mercury Dropped to 35 Degree Mark Early Today

Precipitation totalling .58 inches of rainfall was generally welcomed in the Thief River Falls area the first half of the week to end a stretch of fair weather that dried lawns in the city but was a boon to farmers rushing to complete spring seeding operations.

Temperatures from Monday through Wednesday ran from 43 on the latter up to 60 Monday. The frost of freezing temperatures forecast for Wednesday night did not materialize and the low last night was 35, cool but not dangerously so for gardeners.

Other lows ranged from 39 to 44. All temperatures reported this week have been somewhat below seasonal normals for this time of year.

The forecast from KTRF: partly cloudy and warmer today, mostly fair and cool tonight with lows from 42-48. Tomorrow will also be partly cloudy with little temperature change.

the medical advisory committee, pointed out that the hospital is designed to care primarily for acute cases, but stated that a committee has been appointed to make a study of the growing problem of the aged chronically ill who require care for extended periods. He added that the hospital board is determined to maintain the present high standards of the institution.

Dr. Dan Greene, retiring chief of the hospital medical staff, stated that the group gets along well together, and is trying to add to its personnel. He also commented on recent improvements in laboratory facilities and other departments of the institution.

Lawrence Bjorkman reported for the personnel committee that the hospital last month had 87 full-time and 40 part-time workers on its staff. Howard Hoel, chairman of the building and maintenance committee, stated that less fuel oil had been used during the past winter than in the preceding one.

Mrs. Paul Lundgren, president of the hospital women's auxiliary, stated that the group has two primary functions: to acquaint the public with the facilities and personnel of the hospital, and to make the stay of patients as pleasant as possible. The auxiliary, she said, now has 115 members, and is eager to increase that number.

Harold W. Peterson, administrator of the hospital the past four years, spoke briefly, praising members of the board of trustees for their faithful and unselfish services to the institution and the community.

The meeting approved a change in the date of the annual meeting of the association from the third Monday in May to the first Monday in June to allow more time for auditing the annual report for the fiscal year ending April 30. As in past years it also was voted to waive the annual membership dues.

At the close of the meeting, coffee and cake was served by professional nurse trainees studying at the local hospital.

south of Middle River. Johnson's movements were traced through two Middle River youths who said they give him a ride to Thief Falls early Saturday morning, where he got off at a local hotel and registered under an alias.

The boys and the hotel personnel agreed Johnson was the man they had associated with at the time after they had seen a picture shown them by the lawmen.

Johnson is believed to have stolen another car in Grand Forks Sunday. It is not known here if the car he was driving at the time of his arrest was the one allegedly stolen by him in Grand Forks.

Police Chief Elton Cummings said that after he contacted the Fairmont authorities concerning the above information Johnson admitted being here.

Funeral Services Held for Gonvick Victim of Slaying

Dean Olson, Teacher Slain by Mother-in-law, Interred at Williston

Funeral services were held at First Lutheran church in Williston, N. D. Wednesday for Dean Olson, 23, victim of a shooting near Gonvick last Saturday.

Olson's body was accompanied from Bagley by his young wife, Shirley, whose mother, Mrs. Henry Sylstad, fatally wounded Olson with a .22 pistol, and by Olson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil J. Olson.

Dean Olson was born June 22, 1934 and was serving his first year as music instructor and band director at Gonvick after his graduation from Concordia College, Moorhead, in 1956. He met his wife at Gonvick where she was a student in his music class and played clarinet in the band. She had been named 1957 class valedictorian. Their April wedding was to have been announced at the close of the school term.

At Bagley Clearwater county officials are making arrangements to move Mrs. Sylstad to the Beltrami county jail in Bemidji, since Clearwater county has no jail. Earlier this week a probate judge had said he has no jurisdiction in ordering a previously scheduled sanity hearing for Mrs. Sylstad, who admitted to authorities she shot Olson during a conversation with him early Saturday morning.

A district judge will probably call a grand jury after the return of Clearwater County Attorney Aurel Ekvall, who left on a honeymoon trip Saturday.

Final Rites Are Conducted For Mrs. J. Haider Sr.

Rosary was recited Monday evening, May 20 at the Green Funeral Home chapel and Requiem High Mass was held Tuesday, May 21 at St. Bernards church for Mrs. John Haider, Sr. Father Keough Patnode officiated and interment was made in St. Bernards cemetery. Mrs. Haider passed away Saturday, May 18 at the age of 84 years.

Mrs. Haider was born in Austria April 27, 1873 and moved with her parents to the United States at the age of ten years. They homesteaded in Excell township, where she attended school and grew to womanhood.

She was united in marriage to Andrew Weis in 1885 and moved to New Solum township and resided there until Mr. Weis passed away. In 1898 she was united in marriage to John Haider Sr. and they lived in New Solum Township until 1943 when they moved to this city. Her husband passed away in 1945 and at that time she made her home with her son, Frank Haider of this city.

Survivors include one son, Frank; one step-son John Haider, Jr. both of this city; six grand-children and one great-grandchild. She was preceded in death by her husbands, one son and three sisters.

Mrs. Jorgen Eide Succumbs; Rites Set For Friday

Funeral services for Mrs. Jorgen Eide will be conducted Friday, May 24 at 2:00 p.m. in the Gulbranson chapel with Rev. Otto Dale officiating. Interment will be made in Greewood cemetery.

Mrs. Eide passed away Monday, May 20 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Wortz at Litchfield, Minn. where she had resided for the past two years.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Wortz, one son, Gaynor Eide of Redding, Calif. and one brother, Christ Rustad of this city.

The body will be reposing at the Gulbranson mortuary from Thursday evening until time of services Friday. A complete obituary will appear in the next issue of the Times.

Will Compete Again

Larry Kresl of Angus will be back again for this year's Dairy Day competition, and that means there will be real competition. It will be the third appearance for the fine animal pictured with him above, Kresl Acres Bonnie Rocket. Her dam was reserve champion in the 1955 show and has a production record of 628 pounds of fat. She now is in her third lactation.

Larry won the showmanship award last year.

Soo Line Submits Favorable Report

Annual Meeting Hears Business Holds up Well

At the annual Soo Line Railroad shareholders meeting Tuesday, President G. A. MacNamara reported the result of the first four months' business in 1957 was very satisfactory considering the loss of traffic the company sustained by the nine-day strike on the Canadian Pacific in January. The first quarter shipments of grain increased 1,047 cars or 11.5% over the same period last year.

MacNamara was optimistic about business for the balance of 1957 and the possibility of results as favorable as 1956 when earnings were the highest since 1944.

This year the company will spend $26,000,000 on roadway and equipment which will include 35 miles of welded ribbon-rail and 35 miles of second-hand rail for secondary tracks and sidings. There will be 370,000 cross ties installed, 130 miles of rock ballast applied, while ten bridges will be renewed.

The 1957 budget also provides for three diesel electric locomotives and for 761 new freight cars to be constructed at North Fond du Lac, Wisconsin shops.

Despite bad lake shipping conditions in April, MacNamara expects iron ore shipments to equal last year and he said the increasing development of Western Canada is bringing continuing increases in the companys' tonnage of merchandise and manufactured products.

Judson Bemis was elected a member of the board of directors to fill the vacancy created by the recent death of C. T. Jaffray. All other members of the board were re-elected.

Fordyce W. Crouch, general counsel of the company, was elected Vice President and General Counsel by the Board of Directors.

FU Man to Speak at Grygla Monday

24 from Jehovah Group at Grand Rapids Meeting

"A new world society without barriers, where peace and unity will be enjoyed by all people is already being organized," said L. E. Reusch of New York, district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses, addressing a convention Saturday at the National Guard Armory in Grand Rapids. He stated that God's purpose is to bring this earth into a global paradise of perfection. This will soon be realized and the New World Society of Jehovah's Witnesses is an evidence of the unity that will exist.

N. H. McKinney, circuit supervisor, gave a talk on dedication and baptism on Saturday afternoon, after which fifty-six new ministers made public expression of their dedication by submitting to water immersion. 21 persons from Thief River Falls were among the 711 that attended.

Pennington Tax Bill Is $932,903

U. S. Senator Ed Thye Reports

During the past week I suggested that the new military air base at Bethel be designated as "Charles A. Lindberg Field" in honor of the great contribution General Lindberg has made to both military and commercial aviation.—At the time of his famous trans-Atlantic flight, General Lindberg was a Captain in the 110th Observation Squadron of the National Guard. Much of the activity of the new air base will involve the air national guard.—"Charles A. Lindberg Field" would constitute an appropriate of the great contribution which General Lindberg as a Minnesotan has made to his country.

Navy To Close Plants

I have just been informed by the Department of Defense that the Navy will close down three paint manufacturing plants which are operating in competition with private business. This action came as a result of the hearings I conducted on April 16 into the question of government competition with private business.—This week I will hold similar hearings concerning the plans of the air force to install bakery and ice cream manufacturing facilities at the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.—This task of eliminating government competition is a tedious one, but most necessary if private industry is to be allowed to serve the needs of our government agencies.

Proposes To Phoenix

The Civil Aeronautics Board is now considering the proposal by Western Airlines to provide an extension of service from Denver to Phoenix and San Diego.—If Western's application is granted, Minnesota will receive much improved air service to Denver from the Twin Cities and Minnesota passengers would have single plane-single carrier service to Phoenix. We have an ever increasing number of Minnesotans who travel to Arizona for business reasons and for winter vacations.—We have also seen an increase of traffic from Arizona to Minnesota during the summer vacation period in Minnesota. This mutual interest will further stimulate the Minnesota tourist industry.—I supported Western Airlines before the CAB.

Minnesota Gas Hearings Begin

Hearings before the Federal Power Commission on the Minnesota natural gas case comenced on May 14. The first day was largely consumed by the Commission as the ground rules for the hearings were explained. I intend to continue in my efforts for early completion of the hearings and a prompt decision. I am confident that many Minnesota communities will receive natural gas for the 1958 heating season.—Progress of the hearings will be reported in subsequent issues of this report.

Soil Bank In Jeopardy

The vote by the House to cut off soil bank payments to farmers after this fiscal year was another serious defeat to the Midwest farmers. On the vote to cut off soil bank payments 151 Democrats and 38 Republicans voted for and 141 Republicans and 46 Democrats voted against. To deny funds to the soil bank before it has a chance to prove itself is a mistake. After conferring with Senate leaders, I am confident that the Senate will reverse the House action.

SCANNING THE NEWS

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER, according to word from the White House, got his dander up, and decided to make a fight to preserve his budget of $78.1 billion, the biggest budget in the country's history. The President, at the start of his campaign found himself in an almost untenable position. Even his chief of the Government's fiscal policy, Secretary Humphrey, has declared the budget could be cut considerably, and should be. When members of the Congress, in a spirit of cooperation sent a formal request to the President asking him wherein cuts could be made in the budget without endangering security or the President's programs, Mr. Eisenhower, rather superciliously sent back word that was not his job, but the job of the Congress. Had the President then and there, sent back a second budget message, saying that at the time the Budget was presented at the beginning of this Congress, it appeared the money would be needed, but that after some consideration, he believed it could be cut, and had pointed out where, there is every likelihood the Congress would have gone along with him.

Now, with his program of legislation endangered, he found it too late to compromise and considered an all-out fight to retain his budget requests. Even his friends of the business community, members of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and the National Association of Manufacturers are demanding huge chunks be sliced out of the budget. But even these demands do not get at the real fat which could help the taxpayers. They cite cuts in foreign aid, farm supports, social services, aid to education, even school lunches. But the Chamber of Commerce and the Manufacturers have not mentioned such fiscal matters as the hard money policy of tight credit and high interest which added $1.2 billions to the budget for national debt interest; nor the 27½ per cent oil depletion tax allowance which costs the U. S. Treasury some $750 million a year; nor the billions in rapid tax write-offs in 5 years instead of 20; nor the lease-purchase program which is costing the government about double to own public buildings that it did when the Government built them itself on bid contracts; nor the policy of letting private industry do jobs which the government has been doing itself.

Under this policy the Government has been divesting itself of many services which it has been doing itself for years, and turning these jobs over to private industry. When Government officials complained it cost them more money, Mr. Brundage ruled: "The decision to continue or discontinue an activity as being in the public interest should NOT depend primarily upon whether the product or service can be produced cheaper by the government. As a general guide our policy is that apparent cost or savings should not be the deciding factor where adequate competition exists."

Of course it's anybody's guess, but the best informed people in Washington predict the budget will wind up with a cut of up to $4 billion, even though it might be that some of the top flighters might be hurt, like for instance, Secretary Charles Wilson, who says all this hue and cry for budget cuts by his friends, "Gives me a pain."

At 2:00 p.m. the Board took up the matter of the Petition of Even Oie and others for the repair of County Ditch No. 33 of Pennington County as adjourned from April 24, 1957.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, The above entitled matter came on duly to be heard by and before the Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County, State of Minnesota, at a special meeting duly called for the purpose of hearing and considering the petition for the repair of said ditch on the 24th day of April, 1957 at 2:30 o'clock P.M. of said day and adjourned to be taken up at 2 o'clock P.M., May 7, 1957, and it appearing by proper evidence that due notice had been given of the pendency of said petition and of said time of hearing thereon, and that Joseph Seidel the Engineer appointed by the Board to investigate the necessity of making the repairs petitioned for and to furnish all details, plans and specifications sufficient to let a contract for said repairs, has completed his work and duly filed his report thereon in the office of the County Auditor of said County, and the said Board did, at the time above specified, proceed to hear said petition and said Engineer's report thereon; and said Board having duly considered said petition and heard all parties interested for or against the repairs of said ditch, find as follows; to-wit:

FIRST: That the Engineer has completed his work and filed his report thereon as provided by law.

SECOND: That notice of this hearing has been duly give, by mailed notice, to the petitioners and the owners of the lands and properties, public and private, which are likely to be affected by the repair of said ditch, as provided by law.

NOW, THEREFORE, As conclusions from the foregoing findings, being satisfied that the repairs prayed for in the petition and recommended by the Engineer will be for the best interests of the property owners affected, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED, That said petition be and is hereby granted and that the report of said Engineer made and filed herein be approved.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, That the County Auditor and Chairman of the County Board be, and hereby are authorized and directed to proceed according to law and advertise for bids and let contracts for the repair of said ditch according to the plans and specifications of the Engineer.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED, by the Board of County Commissioners of the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, that said assessments be payable in ten (10) equal installments, the first of which shall become due and payable on the first day of November, 1958, and thereafter annually from said date, with interest on the unpaid balance at the rate of four (4) percent per annum, or at the interest rate required in a subsequent sale of Bonds to finance said ditch, and the County Auditor of said County is hereby ordered to make such assessments and to file in his office and in the office of the Register of Deeds of said County a summary lien statement of such assessment against all lands and protective assessed for benefits in the proceedings for the construction of said ditch and in the same proportionate amounts as originally assessed.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Anderson and declared carried.

Commissioner Hanson introduced the following resolution and moved its adoption:

WHEREAS, a Contract and Agreement between Pennington County and Garden Valley Telephone Co. in regards to removing and relocating telephone line on S.P. 57-603-01, Northwest corner of Section 4 T153N R40W, extending south six (6) miles to the Southwest corner of Section 33, T153N R40W, Pennington County has been presented,

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED That this Contract be approved by this Board and that the Vice-Chairman and County Auditor be authorized to sign said Contract in behalf of the County of Pennington.

The foregoing resolution was duly seconded by Commissioner Anderson and declared carried.

Moved by Hanson seconded by Lindberg that the County Engineer and the County Auditor be authorized and instructed to advertise for a pneumatic tired road roller—new or used—said bids to be called for and opened at 2:00 P.M., June 4, 1957.

FARMING TODAY

Paul Steimaschuk

Silage Doubles Value of Oats

By putting oats in the silo, a farmer can get twice as much feed value as he can by putting it in a grain bin.

Oats or oats-and-pea silage is no replacement for legume silage, but it does compare favorably with corn silage and, if properly supplemented, can be used for all livestock, say Rodney Briggs, agronomist at the University of Minnesota.

Removing the oats early helps legumes and grasses get established and avoids lodging trouble. It costs only half as much to produce a hundred pounds of total digestible nutrients (T.D.N.) as silage as it does if oats are harvested as grain.

Also, using oats as silage means you can harvest more of the corn as grain.

There is also a higher protein yield if the oat silage also contains peas. Peas in the mixture do best in northern Minnesota where its cooler and the moisture is high.

Oats and peas can be seeded together, but they must be thoroughly mixed before they're put in the drill. If they're seeded separately it's important to follow the first seeding as quickly as possible with the second to avoid injuring germinating seedlings.

The silage can be put in any type of silo, as long as it's chopped short and packed well. Straight oats ferment easily and usually no preservative is needed.

But if the oats are cut before milk stage, use a preservative or wilt to 65-70 percent moisture to prevent souring.

Manure Applications

Where farmers have a large acreage that needs to be covered, 5 tons of manure per acre is usually the best spreading rate.

That recommendation comes from A. C. Caldwell, University of Minnesota soils scientist, and W. W. Nelson, agronomist at the Northeast Experiment station, Duluth, based on 40 years of field trials conducted at Duluth.

These fields had received manure only until 1944. Since then, the land has been divided into plots. Some have continued to receive manure only, others got lime and fertilizer at different rates.

In general, the heavier manuring rates brought better yields in oats, hay and potatoes. But from a practical standpoint, the 4-ton rate was best. Few farmers would have enough manure on the farm to cover many acres with a heavier application.

For example, first-year hay that received no manure, lime or fertilizer yielded 1.02 tons per acre at first cutting. With lime and fertilizer, the yield was 1.21 tons, compared to 1.55 tons where there had been 4 tons of manure applied on stubble, along with lime and fertilizer. When 5 tons of manure was applied on sod, the hay yielded at first cutting was 1.85 tons per acre.

Radioactive Fertilizers

Corn plants seem to vary in how much phosphorus they take up from the soil. This is shown by using radioactive fertilizer. So atomic research is being used in agriculture.

And from preliminary research, indications are that the difference may be inherited, according to A. C. Caldwell, soils scientist, and E. H. Rinke and Duane Linden, agronomist at the University of Minnesota.

If these turn out to be true, it could mean that plant breeders may be able to select inbred lines according to their ability to use phosphate fertilizer.

In tests at the University, the researchers raised from 40 different inbred lines of corn on soil that had fertilized with phosphate tagged with radioactive isotopes. That way, the scientists were able to test the plants with a Geiger counter to find out how much fertilizer they had absorbed.

It was found that some inbred lines took up nearly twice as much fertilizer phosphate as did others. Also when two high-phosphate-using inbreds were crossed, the resulting hybrids also tended to be high-phosphate users.

Crossing low users tended to result in low-phosphate-using hybrids, and high users crossed with low users resulted in hybrids that, on the average, were intermediate in the amount of phosphate taken up.

That strengthened the theory that the ability of the plant to take up phosphate may be ingerited. But more research will be necessary before this can be completely proven, the scientists say.

South St. Paul Livestock Market Report — Monday

STEERS & HEIFERS: Most Good and Choice slaughter steers and yearlings were taken at $20-$22. There were about a half-dozen consignments average-Choice steers at $22.50, some of these scaling 1,100, 1,102, 1,236, 1,250 and 1,280 lbs. A load of average to high-Choice 1,180 lb. weights realized $23.00 and some high Choice 1,100 lb. offerings also brought $23.00. A part load of high-Choice and Prime 1,178 lbs. brought $24.00. The supply of steers weighing above 1,200 lbs. was rather meager, last week's sharp price dip apparently discouraging the marketing of weightier steers. Two loads high Choice 962 lb. heifers cashed at $22.75, most Good and Choice heifers selling at $19.50-21.50. Standard steers and heifers moved at $16.00-19.00, while Canner, Cutter and Utility grades had a spread of $12.00-15.00.

COWS: A range of $13.50-15.50 covered most sales of Utility and Commercial cows, although some of the cows at $13.50 were merely strongweight Cutters. A few high-Commercial cows touched 16.00 while Canners and Cutters bulked at $11.00-13.00.

BULLS: A sharp rise in bull prices placed Cutter and Utility grades at $15.50-17.00, the outside price being paid for big weight Utility offerings. Commercial and Good bulls were taken at $15.00-16.00, Canners $12.00-14.00.

VEALERS & CALVES: While most high-Choice and Prime vealers cleared at $27.00-28.00, there were odd head Prime as high as $30.00. Good and Choice grades bulked at $21.00-26.00, Standard $17.00-20.00, and Cull and Utility $10.00-16.0.

STOCKERS & FEEDER CATTLE AND CALVES

There was a small consignment of Good and Choice 721 lb. stock steers at $21.0 while some averaging 752 lbs. brought $20.50. A two-load shipment of Good 745 lb. stock steers realized $20. Good and Choice 812 lb. fleshy feeder steers also making $20, Good 691 lb. stock steers sold at $19.50.

Bemidji and Prowler Clubs to Play Friday

Rain and cold weather disrupted the Prowler baseball schedule this week, with two games being "washed" away. The game slated to have been played here on Tuesday night against the Cass Lake Panthers from district 29 was cancelled because of rain; and the game scheduled at Warren on Wednesday afternoon was postponed. The Warren game has been re-scheduled for May 31st at Warren.

What could well prove to be the highlight of the home high school baseball schedule is the game that is slated for Friday night under the lights on the Fair Grounds diamond. Coach Horace May will bring his defending regional champion Bemidji Lumberjacks here for an inter-district game against the Prowlers.

In the two games played last season between the clubs, the Lumberjacks, by scores of 4 to 2 and 12 to 3, were victors. Clark (Corky) Johnson, the Jacks speedballing righthander hurled those two triumphs. This year the Jacks will rely on the righthanded pitching of Bill Lawrence.

It's probable that Prowler coach Ralph Skjod will give the hurling assignment for the locals to sophomore righthander Harlie Drees.

Following the Bemidji game on Friday, the Prowlers have a tentative playing date at Detroit Lakes on Saturday night. Coach Skjod, with a crippled pitching staff, and the district tournament in the offing, is anxious to postpone the Detroit Lakes trip, or cancel the game.

The Prowlers will play Oslo here in a four o'clock game on Monday afternoon on the Fair Grounds diamond. This game is a district conference game.

Give Opportunity to Women to Join U. S. Army Corps

Major Robert A. Ermentrout, commanding officer of the U. S. Army recruiting main station, Fargo, announced today that a group of women from the North Dakota and Minnesota area will leave for Fort McClellan, Alabama, June 26 to embark on a new career in the Women's Army Corps.

All women between the ages of 18 and 34 are eligible to become members of the Women's Army Corps if they can meet the stringent mental, moral and physical qualifications that are required.

Complete details can be obtained from the U. S. Army recruiter at the Auditorium, in Thief River Falls.

Thieves Ball Club to Open Season vs. R. L. Falls Sunday

Other Northern Minny Games Are Scheduled at Erskine and Winger

Player-coach Gene Sack will unveil his 1957 edition of the senior baseball Thieves on Sunday night, when at 8:00 p.m. the locals open their Northern Minnesota baseball league schedule by meeting Jack Poole's Red Lake Falls Lakers on the Fair Grounds diamond.

Other opening-day games for the Northern Minnesota league will have the champion Bagley Merchants playing at Erskine; and Fosston playing the Winger Tigers at Winger.

The Thieves will be entering Sunday night's game as an untested unit. The lineup for the opening game will probably find righthander Sid Vraa or southpaw LeRoy Aasland on the mound, with Sack doing the catching. Glen Carlson will handle the first base duties, with Joey Poole and Curly Gasperlin at second and short, and Jesse DuChamp at third. Patrolling the outfield will be Ross Sloan, Duane Glass, and Fred Dablow. Mickey Hanson has also been signed for outfield duty.

The Thieves will be bolstered considerably when Bob Hallameck returns to action. Hallameck, out with a broken collarbone, is expected to be available for baseball in three or four weeks.

Bemidji Student Wins Region Golf Title Wednesday

Bill Hammergren Scores 75 Total to Win under Bad Weather Conditions

The area's top-ranked high school golf players participated in the regional tournament that was played over the local course on Wednesday. The prevailing weather conditions, with intermittent rain and strong northwest winds, caused the scores to "balloon".

Bemidji's long-driving Bill Hammergren proved to be the only golfer able to solve the weather conditions, for the sharpshooting Lumberjack posted a 37-38 for a 75, to win the regional title. Cass Lake's Cedric Schluter, with a 45-38, for an 83, was runner-up.

Six golfers qualified for the state tournament, and in addition to Hammergren and Schluter, they were George Boyer, Crookston, 46-38; Mike Sommerville, Bemidji, 45-39; John Ahrley, Bemidji, 43-42; and Bob Thompson, Stephen, 46-42.

The two Prowler golfers who participated in the tournament, Jon Larson and David Gall, posted identical 94's. Larson had a 43-51, while Gall scored a 50-44.

Hammergren's winning card

Par	444 344 435—35
Hammergren	445 234 436—37
Hammergren	554 433 525—38

Where Halma Man Was Killed in Crossing Crash

Lester Roswell, 56, was killed and other man, Freddy Martinson, about 40, with him was injured when Roswell drove into the path of a Transport, Inc. gasoline semi-trailer on highway 59 at Halma about 9:10 a. m. Wednesday. Roswell died enroute to the Karlstad hospital, where Martinson is hospitalized with chest and other injuries. The highway patrol and sheriff are investigating the accident which happened at the intersection of a county road and highway 59 at Halma.

Kittson Man Dies in Highway Crash

Lester Roswell Killed Near Halma Wednesday

Lester Roswell, 59, was killed and Freddy Martinson, about 40, a passenger in the Roswell car, suffered chest and other injuries when their car was hit broadside by a Transport, Inc. gasoline semi-trailer driven by Curtis Lindholm, Grand Forks, N. D. about 9:10 a.m. Wednesday.

According to reports the Roswell car slowed for highway 59 as he approached it on a county road just west of Halma. Lindholm is reported to have said he slackened his speed, but seeing the Roswell car slow he reportedly made no attempt to come to a full stop, thinking the car was coming to a stop instead after slowing, the car proceeded across the highway however, and was struck on the driver's side and dragged sideways for some distance before coming to rest in a churchyard.

Roswell died enroute to Karlstad, where Martinson is hospitalized but not believed to have serious injuries, according to authorities.

The death brought the Minnesota highway death toll for 1957 to 217, compared with 147 a year ago.

Wayne Elgin Plans to Open Drive-In at Badger June 1

Wayne Elgin, a former assistant manager of the Montgomery Ward store here, and associated with Lockrem's TV and Appliance the past 18 months, announced this week he will open a drive-in restaurant at Badger about June 1, if progress on the building, now under construction permits.

Elgin will take his wife and small daughter with him when he makes the move to Badger in the next week or so. He has purchased a house trailer which the family will use as living quarters at least for the summer.

Elgin said that if business warrants it he may expand to a year around highway restaurant later. He is a native of Badger.

Says 200 Local Boys Will Take Part in Baseball Program This Summer

Quentin Jones, director of the city recreation program and in charge of swimming instruction at the Tindolph park pool, was the guest speaker at the Lions club luncheon Wednesday noon in the Elks club rooms.

Jones thanked the club for having provided playground equipment at Tindolph park and for the Jungle Gym shortly to be set up in Riverside park.

He stated that 200 boys of all ages shortly will be taking part in organized baseball, with teams representing each of the local grade schools. In charge of the sport, as well as softball, are Joe Mrkonich and Gene Sack.

Jones said he will be assisted in the swimming program by Alan Adams, Philip Beadle and Beverly Wegge. He also praised Custodian J. C. Plymire for the immaculate condition in which he maintains the bath house and surrounding area.

Other activities, he said, that are available at Tindolph park include volleyball, basketball, table tennis, chess, checkers and square dancing on the blacktop area.

He closed by saying that the aim of the recreation program is to keep the youngsters engaged and to develop their talents along constructive lines.

Dale Glass Enlists in U. S. Air Force

Dale Glass of Thief River Falls enlisted in the Air Force recently and was flown to Lackland Air Force Base, to begin four weeks of basic training, according to Sgt. Pat Williams, local air force representative. Upon completion of basic training Glass will attend one of the many technical schools conducted by the air force. Sgt. Williams went on to say that there are still several openings in the Air Force for May. Further information can be obtained from Williams at the Selective Service Office in Thief River Falls on Thursday afternoons between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

All things considered, the safest and most satisfactory way to secure money is the hard way—by working for it.

Flight Breakfast Put Off to June 16

Is Deferred to Avoid Conflict with Roseau

Postponement of the date of Thief River Falls Flying Club's flight breakfast from June 9 to June 16 was one of the matters discussed at a meeting of the club's board of directors and breakfast committee heads held at the airport Wednesday evening.

The breakfast was originally to have been held at the airport Sunday, June 9, but because of a conflict in dates with the Roseau Flying club's breakfast which was also scheduled June 9 it was decided the later date was preferable.

Committee heads reported good progress in arrangements for the flight breakfast. An all-out effort is to be made by the club to get a large attendance of area pilots and local residents at the affair.

In addition to flight breakfast arrangements the club directors called a general club meeting Friday, June 7, 8 p. m. at the airport. All members, whether active or inactive are urged to attend as several questions concerning the future of the club will be under discussion.

Keeping Score with "Huck" Olson

Asleep (?) on the Deep

It was a long night's voyage into land for Phil and Jub Prichard over the weekend, for the two, with a couple of guests, were adrift on the vast expanses of Lake of the Woods for fourteen chilling hours.

Phil and Jub embarked at Warroad at 7:00 P. M. on Saturday, enroute to their cabin on Magnuson's Island in the Northwest Angle. They were barely five miles off shore, from Warroad, (and the trip from Warroad to Magnuson's Island is estimated at forty-five miles) when their motor conked out. The trouble was that the drive shaft became disengaged from the propeller gear, due to a malfunction of the gear-shift lever. And there they were, out on Big Traverse, with only a paddle, and a south wind. They did have a three-horse motor along, but the big motor had been gulping gasoline, and they were short of fuel for the smaller motor.

They drifted and drifted. About five o'clock in the morning, Phil decided to drift-cast for fish, and he managed to catch a walleye. But the near-freezing cold took all the enjoyment out of fishing.

At about eight or nine o'clock Sunday morning they made land, coming ashore in the vicinity of Stony Point. The boys didn't know where they were, and as Jub said, they thought they were on Big Island, on the eastern side of the lake. A bonfire was soon aflame, and they were able to thaw away their chills.

A short while later a cruiser came inside the reef on a fishing trip, and the boys hailed the skipper. And were they surprised when he proved to be LeRoy Lokken! LeRoy, who is service man for Oen's, attempted to repair the Prichard motor, but lacking the repair parts required, he offered to tow the party to their cabin. The offer was quickly accepted.

It was quite an experience, and won't be soon forgotten. The Prichards, and their guests, returned to Warroad as paying passengers on Fay Young's Resolute.

Like the Olden Times

That was the consensus of the fortunate fishermen who opened the pike fishing season by angling the waters of Lake of the Woods at Morris Point and Wheeler's Point. Limit catches were the rule, but most walleyes proved to be of the "eating size" variety. There were a few "trophy" fish caught, and one of the big walleyes, brought down here to be officially entered in the contest sponsored by Spanky and Pete Sullivan, weighed 11 pounds and 13 ounces. The walleye had tipped the scales at better than 12 pounds when taken at Morris Point on Saturday.

While Lake of the Woods was proving to be a producer of limit catches, the famed Waskish water was turning in more blanks than fish. The state game and fish department officials, all the way from George Selke, the commissioner, to the low-rung employees, were there. And the walleyes apparently believe in desegregation of the anglers, for they didn't bite for the officials either.

But in spite of the fact that the fishing at Waskish ranked from fair to poor, a road block, by game wardens and highway patrolmen, was set up at Kelliher. The Waskish fishermen scoffed at the idea of a road block, but the wardens reported that they had confiscated about one hundred and fifty pike, all from Lake of the Woods.

And what was the reason for the failure of Waskish to provide its usually excellent fishing? The game officials offered the explanation that the early spawning season, and a late season opening, plus the freezing weather of Friday night, all combined to create poor fishing conditions.

Fair Warning

A word to the wise should be sufficient, but we doubt it. Anyway we take this means of alerting the ports of entry to the north, and Wheeler's Point in particular, that the city's "Man Overboard" club, with Claire Lincoln Nicky Carlson as president, will be taking their annual fishing trip to the Lake of the Woods this week.

There has been a shakeup in the club membership this year, too, with Stan Cockrell, Dr. Jerry Hillard, and Bob Sloan having passed the entrance requirements and have posted performance bonds to become bona fide members. As of now, they will handle the live bait buckets.

Bob Carlson, who has been appointed "dock fisherman," an appointment, by the way, which will be contested, stated that the club will do some serious fishing this trip. Bob will name the various boat captains, motor men, landing net handlers, and anchor men.

It Looked Like Fun

We were at the Fair Grounds for a while on Sunday afternoon, and we watched the Bums as they rolled up a top-heavy score in defeating Grygla, 22 to 6.

In fairness to Grygla, it must be reported that the eastern Marshall county team was handicapped by the lack of capable pitching.

The Bums, and the team will play as a member of the North Six league this season, gave indications of developing into a pretty fair ball team. Larry Gilbertson was behind the plate, Harold (Pinky) Adolphson was on the mound, Gary Anderson at first, Kally Grovum at second, Mike Halostek at short and Marv Jorde at third base. In the outfield they had Jerry Tygeson in left field, Darrel Rude in center field, and Jerry Furuseth in right field.

That lineup is purely local, too, for all of those boys, in recent years, were Prowler letter winners in athletics.

Three Fined for Drunken Driving

Oklee Man Who Furnished Beer to Minor Fined $100

Traffic violations, with heavy emphasis on driving under the influence, were the most numerous of cases brought before Judge H. O. Chommie in municipal court Monday. However, there was a light docket and the overall total of cases tried was low.

Brought before Judge Chommie May 16 was John J. Hagg, East Grand Forks, who was fined $100 plus $5.50 costs on a charge of driving under the influence and was fined an additional $25 plus $5.50 for driving with no drivers license.

A sheriff's case by statute, although brought in by Police Chief Elton Cummings Saturday was Ernest M. Haglund, Oklee, who pleaded guilty to furnishing beer to a minor and drew a fine of $100 plus $4 court costs.

City police brought in Harvey J. Uglem, Goodridge, driving under the influence, fined $100 and drivers license revoked.

A minor already under a 15-day suspended sentence for drunkenness was committed to serve out the sentence after being brought in on the same charge the second time.

Russell L. Culkins, St. Hilaire, failure to report an accident, pleaded guilty and was fined $25 plus $4 costs.

Dwayne M. Hesse, rt. 2, city, charged with permitting an unlicensed driver to operate a motor vehicle, drew a $15 fine and $4 costs.

Lester L. Helle, city, pleaded guilty to careless driving and drew a $15 fine and $4 costs.

The highway patrol had three cases involving two persons. Harry Stucy, city, was fined $100 plus $5 after pleading guilty to driving under the influence, and another charge of driving after revocation cost him an additional $50 plus $4.

Christ K. Kiefstad, rt. 1, city, the only speeding case recorded by any of the law enforcement agencies, drew a $20 fine and the usual $4 court costs.

J. W. Kimball Reveals Dates on Which Small Game Hunt Will Start

In an effort to accommodate the desires of game hunters to know game seasons far in advance and at the same time give careful consideration to all facts necessary to maintain the game populations, James W. Kimball, director of the division of game and fish has announced a trial plan to set opening dates of small game for 1957.

"As I have previously said, the welfare of the game must be considered first," Kimball stated, "and we have had this fact uppermost in working out this plan."

According to Kimball the department will establish opening dates on game and furbearer species but postpone setting season length and bag limits until shortly before the season opens.

"This plan is in the nature of an experiment first", said Kimball, "but once established hunters could plan on the same opening dates year after year just as fishermen do at the present time.

"The plan makes it possible trips and arrange their vacations to coincide with their favorite hunting", Kimball added. "Of equal importance is that the plan permits wardens, biologists and game managers to collect data on the annual reproductive success of each species later into the summer. This allows us to fix bag limits and season lengths on the basis of the very latest information."

Kimball emphasized the fact "that the department would also reserve the right to close any season completely even though the opening date had been established, if it was later learned that low populations or poor reproduction warranted such action.

The opening dates for small game only are set at this time but similar information on furbearers will be released in the very near future.

In the prepared statement both the fixed opening date and the date on which it falls in 1957 are shown: Sharp-tailed grouse, Sat. nearest Sept. 21, opening date-1957, Sept. 21; ruffed grouse, Sat. nearest Oct. 1, opening date-1957, Sept. 28; Hungarian partridge, pheasant and quail, Sat. nearest Oct. 20, opening date-1957 Oct. 19; squirrel, Sat. nearest Oct. 15, opening date-1957, Oct. 12; rabbit, Sat. nearest Oct. 1, opening date-1957, Sept. 28.

Highway Patrol Job Applications to Close May 27

Closing date for receipt of applications for examination for appointment as a Minnesota Highway patrol officer has been set as Monday, May 27, the highway department announced. Personnel officers reported the closing date was set for that time in order that applications could be processed in sufficient time to conduct written tests and personal interviews during June. The highway patrol has 41 vacancies for officers who will have a beginning salary of $355 following a raise approved by the recent legislature. To be appointed, candidates must complete a ten-week training course conducted by the highway patrol.

Rambler Car Gets High Mileage on Trip to Mexico

Despite floods, near-tornadoes and heavy head winds, an American Motors Rambler recently established a border-to-border economy record of 33.93 miles per gallon for the 1,946 mile trip from Winnipeg, Canada, to Monterrey, Mexico.

The Rambler custom four-door sedan equipped with overdrive consumed only 57.34 gallons of regular grade gasoline for a fuel cost of only $17.43, or less than nine-tenths of a cent per mile traveled.

The Rambler maintained an average speed of 42.2 miles per hour and covered the distance in an elapsed time of 46.1 hours. At no time did fuel consumption drop below 31.8 miles per gallon during a single day's run.

Cap and Gown Day Held Today at 'U' M.

Winners of Scholarships and Other Awards Honored

Traditional Cap and Gown Day ceremonies at the University of Minnesota today honored award and scholarship winners and top ranking students.

Wearing their academic costumes for the first time, graduating seniors marched in procession from Coffman Memorial Union up the mall to Northrop Memorial auditorium for the honors convocation. They were led by the University Army, Navy and Air Force ROTC bands while the University concert and varsity bands played from the auditorium steps.

The Silver Anniversary Class of 1932 and the Class of 1912 reviewed the graduates in their march.

William Anderson, political science professor who will retire in June after 41 years on the University faculty, delivered the Cap and Gown Day address. He spoke on "The Many Worlds of Modern Man."

Dean E. W. Ziebarth of the University's summer session assisted University President J. L. Morrill in the recognition of scholarship winners, recipients of various awards and members of honor societies. Edmund G. Williamson, dean of students, presided at the convocation.

Cap and Gown Day is the first in a series of special campus events preceding commencement on June 15.

The new Series E savings bonds mature in 8 years and 11 months; the new Series H bonds in 10 years. Both issues formerly matured in 9 years and 8 mos.

National Guard to Aid in Handling Holiday Traffic

More Than 100 Minnesota Guardsmen to Assist over Memorial Day Holiday

Over a hundred Minnesota National Guardsmen will assemble at various highway patrol stations next week for preliminary instruction prior to going on duty with the patrol for auxiliary traffic control over the Memorial day weekend.

Instruction will be given by experienced patrol supervisors at the eight district headquarters located at Rochester, Marshall, New Brighton, St. Paul, Brainerd, Detroit Lakes, Virginia and Thief River Falls. The guardsmen will then be assigned to work with patrol officers on all of the state's trunk highways.

The guardsmen will augment the highway patrol in traffic emergencies and may also be used for traffic direction at points of heavy traffic volume. Their duty hours will extend from Wednesday evening, May 29, through Sunday evening, June 2, following the issuance of an executive order by Governor Orville L. Freeman declaring a state of emergency over that period.

Motorists driving over the state that weekend will recognize the guardsmen on traffic duty by their distinctive "MP" helmets. The men will be dressed in summer uniforms and wear M.P. helmets and brassards with a white neck scarf instead of the usual tie.

Other military traffic will be on the highways over the same weekend as units of Minnesota National Guard will be moving to field training sites, both at Camp Ripley near Little Falls and out of state. Motorists are cautioned to watch for convoys moving during the period.

Freeman for Economy?

Governor Orville Freeman is unhappy about the large appropriation authorized by the legislature to pay the costs of the state's centennial celebration. Of course this appropriation could not have been made without his approval but we think it is commendable of him to show some concern about excessive spending, even in a very limited way.

And we agree with him that the appropriation for this purpose was large. Maybe it was too large. Final judgement on this question will now have to be deferred until we know how the money has been spent. Possibly it will be spent wisely.

We would have preferred of course that he had made a little effort during the legislative session to establish a reputation as a fellow who tolerated no foolish spending. At that time he could have saved the taxpayers many millions of dollars that now will be going down the rat hole of extravagance.

Considering the record it appears that he is a little out of character in his present role as a penny-pincher. As a cheerleader for those who were wasteful at the spigot during the legislative session we are not greatly impressed by his present concern about a few drops being wasted at the bung.

Twenty Years of Tinkering

Agriculture Secretary Benson's big problem with Congress is going to be in selling the South on the idea of dropping the six so-called basic commodities as preferred crops. In the early days of the farm program southern Democrats established the crops in which they had a regional interest, cotton, tobacco, rice, peanuts, wheat and corn, as deserving of special consideration by a benevolent government. These are the problem crops of today, and they are problems largely because of the special treatment they received under the goverment's subsidy program.

Benson has indicated that he favors a support program for these crops on the same general plan under which other crops and farm products are supported, reverting as quickly as conditions make possible, to free market operations. In this position he has the backing of many southerners who realize that while rigid price supports have provided a better market for the production of their steadily decreasing acreage, they are losing important world markets, and probably are being harmed more than they are helped by the present program.

If politics could be taken out of the farm program it would be much easier to find satisfactory solutions. It is the meal ticket for too many politicians however and it is not likely that they will yield their emotional advantages to the precepts of common sense.

We already have had twenty years of tinkering in this field. Some good no doubt has been accomplished. We haven't experienced the complete break-down in agriculture that followed the first World War. But we probably will have to put up with more tinkering before we finally recognize the simple rules of arithmetic that govern this operation.

Beck Is Finished

Now that Dave Beck's record as a racketeer has been exposed it is natural to wonder how he was able to get by with his various schemes for personal gain over so long a period of time. Many people, both inside and outside the union, must have known about his deals. A few no doubt shared with him in the financial loot as well as the personal power with which he ruled his empire.

Because of these exposures it will not be so easy for another Dave Beck to rise to power. There will be more powerful leaders of labor organizations but thanks to the facts that have now been revealed their personal affairs will now be subject to closer scrutiny and inspection. With authority there will also be responsibility.

The Senate committee that has conducted these hearings on Beck's operations has performed a valuable service. Both business and labor will be strengthened as the records of bribery and extortion are made known. Only as such facts are revealed can steps be taken to guard against abuses of this kind.

Labor Probe Appraisal

(New York Times)

The teamster chapter of the McClellan Committee record of alleged labor-union misdeeds has now been written. Everyone who reads the newspapers or listens to the air waves knows the sorid manipulations of teamster funds for personal gain with which Dave Beck and his colleagues have now been indicted.

The direct impact of the McClellan revelations on organized labor itself has already been profound. The Executive Council of the A. F. L.-C. I. O. built its case on them for the suspension of Mr. Beck from federation office and the Ethical Practices Committee has made wide use of them in indicting the teamster union of subjection to corrupt influence.

Signs are already building up of an internal upheaval in the I. T. U. which could only have been brought about by an explosion of McClellan Committee magnitude. Mr. Beck now seems to be definitely on the skids—whether by his own or his union's propulsion.

Far from damaging organized labor, the McClellan Committee—so far and on net balance—has done the cause of honest democratic unionism an immeasurable service. The public's debt to the committee is equally profound.

Give Soil Bank a Chance

(Murray County Herald)

Soil bank payments, congressional investigators are saying, are nothing but gifts and relief benefits. Let's face it. They can call the payments any names they choose—but those payments did a vital job in protecting drouth-stricken agriculture from absolute disaster.

The investigators also point out, however, that the program was loosely handled and in many cases failed to serve the purpose for which it was originated. They tell stories of farmers renting land from the federal government and then putting the land in the soil bank for more money than the rent. Other weak points of the program are apparent in instances where totally useless ground is put in the bank as cropland.

Naturally, a good share of these abuses were to be expected in the infancy of the soil bank program. There is, however, no excuse for them to continue indefinitely.

The theory of the soil bank program is a good one, and if a large enough share of agriculture cooperates, it will succeed in eliminating surpluses and driving the prices to a higher level through natural laws of supply and demand. But if the farmers themselves insist on abusing a program that was developed for their own good—and paid for by all of America—then it is indeed doomed to failure.

Might just as well give it a good chance. After all, America has thrown away billions on projects less likely to succeed.

All tax revenues whether state or federal must be paid in by taxpayers. In the process of collection, accounting and disbursement, the farther removed the office of disbursement is from the area of collection the greater is the cost of handling and the lesser percentage is available for the primary purpose.

Back To Rome

Just two weeks ago I left Rome bound for Cairo, on my fact-finding trip through the Middle East. It has been a whirlwind tour, crowded with discussions and observations. Before I leave for Spain and Washington, here are just some of the highlights of the past two weeks.

Water

One has only to fly over the delta of the Nile in Egypt to realize the overtiding importance of water in the Mid-East. There is a shocking contrast between irrigated land and unirrigated. When one sees the desolate Negev, the great southern desert of Israel, and learns that Israel expects 100,000 immigrants this year, he better understands too why the Israelis are so insistent on irrigation of the Negev. The fact is that water is at least as important as oil in the Middle East. If not more so. The Nile, Jordan, and the Tigris-Euphrates are all international rivers, and if maximum use is to be made of their waters it must be done under some kind of international arrangement. A new approach is needed — perhaps in the form of a regional development agency under the United Nations, but operating independently through a representative board of directors.

Arab Refugees

Through such economic development projects, the terrible problem of the Arab refugees may be settled — clearly one of the essentials of a lasting middle East peace. I visited two of the refugees camps while I was in Lebanon. The best was bad and the worst was incredible! The poverty is simply appalling. Half of the nearly one million refugees are under 15 years old. Hundreds of thousands are nearing maturity knowing only the life of the refugee camps. It is a ready-made situation for Communist propaganda and agitation, and the Communists are taking advantage of it. There is no easy solution to this bitter problem, but it seems clear that the right of repatriation should be established for most of those refugees who want to go back to Israel, as should the right of compensation. Once this is done, it should then become possible to begin some major public works projects to make possible the resettlement of refugees in some of the Arab states surrounding Israel.

The Vitality of Israel

The new Israeli state is a striking contrast to the ruins of older civilizations one sees on every side. It is a young, vigorous nation — strongly and confidently led by men and women of the caliber of David Ben-Gurion and Mrs. Golda Meier. It is a working democracy, with active political participation. Although small, it is extremely well-organized and so capable of effective military action in any direction that one understands why some Arab leaders express fears of Israeli expansion. Israel is a good friend of the United States; she has used to the utmost advantage every bit of economic aid we have given her. She is a showcase of what can be done in this dry, poverty-stricken area of the world when there is a will, when there is good organization, and when there is an adequate supply of funds of public works and industrial expansion.

Lebanon

One of Israel's neighbors is tiny Lebanon, with whose President Chamoun, and my old friend Lebanon's Foreign Minister Malik, I had the pleasure of a long discussion. Lebanon is a sophisticated, metropolitan community, very friendly to the United States. While in the capital, Beirut, I had the opportunity to meet with many of our sailors and marines (some of them Minnesotans!) from the Sixth Fleet who were paying a visit to Beirut.

Per Acre
FIRST CORN TO PRODUCE 300 BU. PER ACRE
MAKE THIS COMPARISON
Select a field where you will plant both P-B Funk's "G" Hybrid and another hybrid, watch the growth during the summer. Then, when harvest comes, weigh four rows of each kind of corn. Test both kinds for moisture, so you can calculate just how much corn — figured down to number 2 basis — You are actually putting in the crib.
Hundreds of farmers who reported such tests in 1956, reported on the average P-B Funk's "G" Hybrid Corn outyielded all competition by 5 to 10 bushels per acre.

Strandquist . . .

By Mrs. Ed Stennes, Strandquist

The Junior-Senior banquet was held Wednesday evening in the school auditorium in a setting of "Fairyland Romance."

A white fence on which pink rambler roses grew in profusion encircled the two long dining tables. Overhead was a white sky of white streamers on which gold stars glittered and golden fairy wands granted every wish. In each corner stood a colored four leaf clover umbrella to cast their good luck charms.

A wishing well of grey stone was built on one and on which roses also climbed. Pennies dropped in the well really brought good luck for those of little faith.

The tables were covered in white table cloths with small vases of pink roses and pale green tapers as centerpieces. Napkins, place cards, nut cups and programs with "A Fairyland Romance" helped carry out the theme.

The following menu was served: Magic spell, milkweed fluff, fairy green's choice, fantasia, berries from the glen, crescent moon and stardust moonbeams, magic wands, rosebuds, acorns, dew drops, green's delight, woodland mist and dew. Coming down to earth, it was a delicious tender steak with apple pie and ice cream.

The following program was rendered, Welcome, Caroline Stennes, Response, Beverly Berggren, vocal solo, "Oh, What A Beautiful Morning," Mr. Orcutt; class will, Bernice Sjoquist; piano and coronet duet "Enchanted Evening", Beverly Berggren and Wesley Vagle; talk, Mr. Waterworth; class prophesy Myles Lundstrom; vocal duet "Make Believe", Mr. and Mrs. Waterworth.

Walters and waitresses from the sophomore class were Grace Larson, Margaret Chwialkowski, James Larson and Gerald Carlson.

The ladies on the cooking staff were as follows: Mrs. Carl Wikstrom, Mrs. Swan Lindstrom, Mrs. Laurel Kline, Mrs. Clarence Lundstrom, Mrs. Ray Hendrikson, Mrs. Andrew Anderson, Mrs. Peter Kasprowicz and Mrs. Ed Stennes.

It would be fun to serve for a banquet at different occasions if things were a little more convenient and a home economic department should be encouraged in the near future for our young girls.

The program for baccalaureate service Sunday evening at Strandquist was as follows: Processional, Mrs. Agnes Hanson; Invocation, Rev. J. A. Riveness; Song, Girls chorus; scripture reading and prayer by Rev. J. A. Riveness; hymn "All Hail the Power of Jesus name" Audience; baccalaureate address, Rev. Gordon Berntson, Pastor Newfolden Luth. Free Church parish; hymn, "My Faith Looks up to Thee", audience; benediction, Rev. J. A. Riveness; recessional, Mrs. Agnes Hanson.

Ed and Roy Stennes, Charles Kranz spent the week end at Spring Steel Island with a group of men from Karlstad. Ivan and Ted Kimbrough, Lars Barstad of Thief River Falls were also among the early risers. Fishing was good in spite of the high waves.

Auxiliary members please come in and get your share of poppies to sell from me.

The Oak Dale Homemakers met at the Arthur Kleinachter home on May 17th. A meal was prepared and served by the members. 'Slow Down and Live' Traffic Program to Get under Way May 9

The 1957 summer emphasis program, "Slow Down and Live," will open on May 29 and operate through Labor day at midnight. Governor Orville L. Freeman has joined governers of all states and premiers of Canadian provinces in proclaiming that "every available means will be employed to make all of our streets and highways safe during the summer of 1957 when traffic volumes hit the peak for the year."

The governor pledged his complete support of the program to the National Association of State Safety coordinators which sponsors the safe driving program each summer. This is the third consecutive year the program has been conducted on a nation-wide basis but marks the first year of participation for the Canadian dominon.

"Slow Down and Live" is aimed at the traffic violations responsible for more than 90 percent of summer time traffic fatalities—the violations associated with "in a hurry" driving, namely: excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, improper passing, following too closely and failing to yield the right-of-way.

"Our record so far this year is not very good," Governor Freeman declared, "as the toll of fatalities continues to stay far ahead of last year. Despite that, Minnesota's traffic safety record is one of the country's best, and we intend to keep it so for the comfort and safety of our visitors and our own citizens."

"That is why our program will strike directly at the source of our trouble—violations associated with speed," he said. "Slow Down and Live is first, an official enforcement project. We are certain, from experience, that the combination of enforcement and public safety education will lower the highway accident toll."

The governor announced that Minnesota's participation in the campaign will be headed by Harry A. Sieben, state director of highway safety, who represents the state in the national association sponsoring the program.

"The success of the 97-day program will depend upon the cooperation of everyone," the governor said. "It begins with one of our biggest holiday weekends when thousands of persons are traveling. Unless drivers police themselves, and respect the rights of others on the road, we cannot improve our accident picture."

During the May 30-September 3 period last year, 224 persons were killed on Minnesota streets and highways in traffic mishaps. During the entire year, 639 persons were killed. This compares to totals of 189 and 580 for the same periods of 1955.

Northrop PTA Unit Enjoys Ballet Performance

Work Set on No. 11 from Greenbush to Near Badger

Four major trunk highway improvement projects in Winona, Murray, Washington and Ramsey counties are among 16 projects in 15 counties on which bids totaling $6,062,413 have been received by the Minnesota Highway department. Two of them are in the million dollar range. All of the 16 projects, covering more than 135 miles of trunk routes, are scheduled to be started by July 15. Awarding of contracts will follow checking of the bids. Included is Roseau county T.H. 11—Grading, base and bituminous surfacing of 10.1 miles between a point 1.4 miles southwest of Greenbush and a point one-half mile south of Badger, C. L. Nelson Co., Inc., Brainerd, $317,109. Work to be started by June 10, 1957, and to be completed by June 15, 1958.

N. D. Student Is Given Barnhart Scholarship at U

Robert F. Lind, University of Minnesota school of journalism senior, is the second winner of the Thomas F. Barnhart Memorial scholarship.

He qualified for the $200 award on the basis of his academic record, professional promise and intent to make a career in community journalism.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer F. Lind, Niagara, N. D., Lind was graduated from the high school there. He served in the United States Army from December 1952 to December 1955.

The scholarship fund, established in honor of Professor Barnhart who served on the journalism faculty for 25 years until his death in 1955, is sponsored by the Minnesota Editorial association. Many journalism alumni, publishers, editors and friends of Professor Barnhart have contributed to the fund.

BRAVE WORDS

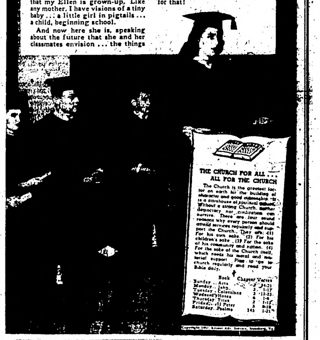
That's my daughter Ellen standing up there in her cap and gown. Valedictorian of her class! I'd be a strange mother if I didn't feel a lump in my throat, and a tremendous surge of pride.

It just doesn't seem possible that my Ellen is grown-up. Like any mother, I have visions of a tiny baby ... a little girl in pigtails ... a child, beginning school.

And now here she is, speaking about the future that she and her classmates envision ... the things they are going to try to do ... their hopes and dreams.

They are brave words, all of them ... brave dreams. And like all parents, I pray that most of them will come true. But I know that in times of failure, my Ellen will have an added strength because of her Faith, and her devotion to the Church.

How glad, how thankful, I am for that!



THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Finds Gold Core, Wins 3M Stock

Walter Rzepka, shift supervisor at National Lead Company, Chicago, checks current stock quotations for Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co. stock. He holds the roll of "Scotch" brand masking tape that brought him ten shares of the St. Paul, Minnesota firm's common when he picked up the tape to mask a prototype auto model for painting. The tape, mounted on a gold-plated core, is the two billionth commercial sized roll made by the 3M company in its 32 year history as a tape manufacturer. Its recipient wins the stock and a trip to St. Paul to pick up his prize. Discovery of the roll at National Lead's Kirksite Die and Engineering department ended a nearly four month's nationwide search for the symbolic roll.

Memorial Day Rites Set Thursday 11 a. m.

Chaplain of State Legion Will Speak in Riversde Park

Business activities will come to a halt in Thief River Falls Thursday, May 30, when the time-honored observance of Memorial Day will be held in this city as well as throughout the nation.

The occasion will be observed here with exercises at 11 a.m. in the Riverside park amphitheatre, or, in the event of unfavorable weather, in the adjoining National Guard armory. The guest speaker will be Rev. Denzil Carty, Minnesota department chaplin of the American Legion and rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church in St. Paul.

Mr. Carty, born in Antigua, British West Indies, studied at the College of the City of New York and the General Theology seminary in New York, and did graduate work at Xavier University, New Orleans, and Wayne University, Detroit, Michigan. He entered the army as first lieutenant in January, 1944, and served in England and France. He is active in numerous church and inter-racial organizations.

Preceding the exercises, a procession will form at the city auditorium at 10:30 and will proceed to the park headed by the color guard and the Legion municipal band. Gold Star mothers also will ride in the parade.

Ellsworth Jorgenson, commander of the local Legion post, will preside over the program at the park, which will open with the advance of the colors, the rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner", by the band, directed by Alvin Anderson, invocation by the Rev. Robert Abbot of the Assemblies of God church, and a vocal solo by Harold H. Anderson.

Following Mr. Carty's address, James Kvikstad will read the "Tribute to the Unknown Soldier," and wreaths will be placed by Mrs. John S. Jaranson and Mrs. Emmett Israelson, respective presidents of the Legion and VFW auxiliaries.

The program will close with the salute to the flag by Company F of the National Guard, sounding of taps and echo by members of the band, the benediction by the Rev. Walter M. Pedersen, pastor of Zion church, and the retirement of the colors.

Sponsors of the exercise include Ecklund-Holmstrom post of the Legion, VFW Post 2723, Company F of the National Guard and the Legion municipal band.

Large Audience at Band Concert Held Thursday Evening

Pleasing Performance Given by Lincoln Concert and Junior High Bands

Members of the Lincoln high school concert band, numbering more than 80, demonstrated their proficiency in a concert Thursday evening before a near-capacity audience in the school auditorium.

John K. Moum, who directed the band, also led the junior high school band in a short concert which clearly revealed the marked progress made by the young musicians.

The concert band presented a pleasing picture, with the girl members all attired in formal dress and the boys also appearing spic and span.

In a concerto by Mendelossohn, a trumpet solo was ably played by James Solsten of the school's music department. Student directors Jeanne Dahlen and David Berg each directed the band in a selection.

COMMEMORATIVE STAMP HONORS STEEL INDUSTRY

A new three-cent commemorative stamp in observance of the 100th anniversary of the steel industry, went on sale at the Thief River Falls postoffice late last week. The stamp is blue in color.

sen County Dairy Princesses

Minn Historical Society Historical Building Zone 1

Happy at being named Pennington county Dairy Princesses are these thre farm-reared misses sponsored by their respective 4-H clubs. The girls will represent the county in the Dairy Day competition for the Northwest Dairy Princess June 11.

County Committee on State Centennial Makes Further Plans

The committee in charge of arrangements for Pennington participation in the Minnesota statehood centennial observance to be held in 1958, held its monthly planning session in the court house Friday afternoon, with Chairman Herman A. Kjos presiding.

Cliff Bjorkman, chairman of a special committee named to consult with local businessmen, reported that sentiment was generally favorable to the plan for staging a civic celebration, probably in August, 1958, in connection with the dedication of the new Eighth St. bridge.

Arrangements made to invite representatives of the Jaycees, Chamber of Commerce, Rotary and Lions clubs and possibly other groups to the next meeting of the committee, which was set for Monday evening, June 24, at o'clock. At that time an effort will be made to agree on a definite date for the celebration.

State Senator Roy E. Wiseth reported on a recent conference with Harold Olson, in charge of roadside development for the state highway department relative to setting up a monument at the east end of the Eighth St. bridge in commemoration of the historic Squaw Point area.

He said Olson had indicated that the department would cooperate in the project.

To Speak May 30

REV. DENZIL CARTY

Rector of St. Philip's Episcopal church in St. Paul, and Minnesota department chaplain of the American Legion, who will deliver the Memorial Day address Thursday at 11 a. m. in the Riverside park amphitheatre. A native of Antigua, British West Indies, Mr. Carty has long been active in racial relations projects.

Memorial Gifts Given Heart Group

State Gifts Total $24,806; Three from Pennington

Memorial gifts to the Minnesota Heart association honoring deceased persons totaled $24,806.78 in the past 12 months, according to a Memorial Day announcement by Dr. Robert L. Parker of Rochester, president. Three gifts came from Pennington county.

Gifts were received and acknowledged in memory of 1,118 deceased state residents, said Dr. Parker, many of whom succumed to heart and blood-vessel diseases.

Use of memorial gifts by the Heart association, said Gordon Hanson, Thief River Falls, county Heart chairman is in support of heart research projects only. Fifty-five such laboratory studies in six state institutions received Heart association support in 1956.

Business to Halt on Memorial Day

Thief River Falls public offices, banks and business places will remain closed all day Thursday, May 30, for the annual observance of Memorial Day.

Soo Line Income Higher for April

G. A. MacNamara, president of the Soo Line Railroad, reports gross earnings in April for the company totaled $3,974,201, or $601,141 higher than in April 1956. The net income showed an increase of $239,793. The higher earnings were due to continuing heavy movement of grain to terminal elevators.

ST. JOHN'S WALTHER GROUP TO MEET WEDNESDAY

St John's Lutheran Walther League will meet at the Arnold Becker residence Wednesday at 8:00 p. m. The serving committee will be Diana Bjerke, Roger Fuller, and Jeff Hartje. In charge of the business meeting will be Vivian Spray, president.

9th District Legion Parley Opens Friday

More Than 100 Units to Participate in Parade Saturday

A weekend of much activity is in store for legionnaires of the Ninth Minnesota District as preparations for the 1957 convention desks for the ninth district week.

On Friday morning, registration desks for the ninth district convention will be opened at the Thief River Falls Legion hall and at the city Auditorium. The convention will be called to order at the Auditorium at 1:30 Friday afternoon, when district Legion business will be transacted. Friday evening will mark the fun session of the convention with a 40 & 8 wreck followed by a torchlight parade at 9 p.m. Immediately following is a dance to be held at the Legion club rooms.

Saturday morning and afternoon will find the legionnaires back at work at the main business session of the convention. The highlight of convention activities will be a huge parade scheduled to get under way at five p.m. Saturday.

Rex Sullivan, parade committee stated today that it is expected that more than 100 units will participate, with an estimated parade length of three miles or more. Included in the parade will be many bands. High school bands known to be participating are from Hallock, Argyle, Red Lake Falls, Gary, Karlstad, Lake Bronson, Middle River, Halstad, Fosston, Warren and Thief River Falls. In addition to these, the ninth district Legion band and the Thief River Falls Legion-Municipal band will march. Also appearing will be two drum and bugle corps, the Ada high school girls, and the Bridgeman half pints, and two Canadian pipe bands, the Winnipeg Police band and the Public Reminded of Flag Etiquette

Veterans' Groups Ask Citizens to Note Rules

Officers of local veterans' organizations today joined in an appeal to Thief River Falls residents to observe the rules of flag etiquette when the American flag passes in review in the Memorial Day procession and in the parade to be held Saturday afternoon as a feature of the Ninth district American Legion convention.

The rules provide that when the flag passes in a parade; all persons should face it and stand at attention. Those in uniform should render the hand salute, while men not in uniform should loft their hats with the right hand and hold them at their left shoulder with their hand over the heart.

Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart.

Takes Over June 1

NORMAN WENBERG

Associated with the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery the past four years, and currently assistant manager, who will take over the duties of manager of the busy plant June 1, succeeding G. S. Bergland, resigned. Wenberg, 30, has had 12 years experience in the butter and cheese business, and saw two years service during World War II. Bergland, who has been associated with the creamery here for a total of 16 years, is moving to Morris, Minnesota, to take charge of a cafe recently purchased by him.

Garden Valley Co. Meets at Erskine Tuesday, June 4th

Manager Carl Ostby to Report, and 3 Directors Named for 3-year Terms

Stockholders of the Garden Valley Telephone company will hold their annual meeting at the city hall at Erskine, at 2 p.m. Tuesday June 4th.

Among matters coming up for consideration at this year's meeting are election of three directors and voting on necessary amendments to the Articles of Incorporation and the By-Laws of the company.

Garden Valley Telephone company has a board of directors made up of nine members, each member representing a certain district in the Garden Valley area. Each year three directors are elected to serve for a term of three years.

This year the following directors' term expire: Melvin Petterson of Mentor, representing Erskine, Mentor and Winger exchanges; Reuben Tweten, representing the Fosston exchange; and John Berg, representing the Gully, Oklee and Plummer exchanges.

Two of these directors, namely, Petterson and Tweten have expressed their willingness to serve for another three years, if reelected. Mr. Berg of Gully has expressed a wish to retire.

Carl M. Ostby, manager of the company, will present a report of the past year's operations.

The company is retiring all old stock (Certificates numbered 1112 or under) and anyone who still holds common or preferred stock may turn it in at the meeting for cash at its full par value.

Free lunch will be served to all who attend.

147 Lincoln Seniors to Be Graduated Tuesday

Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, Head of Moorhead College, Is Speaker

Members of one of the largest Lincoln high school graduating classes on record, numbering 147 seniors, will receive diplomas at commencement exercises Tuesday evening, May 28, at 8 o'clock in the school gymnasium.

The address to the graduates will be delivered by Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, president of Moorhead state college, who will be introduced by Supt. J. A. Sater.

Dr. Knoblauch received his bachelor's degree at Michigan State college, his master's degree at the University of Michigan and his doctorate from Harvard University. From 1942 to 1953 he served as professor of education at the University of Connecticut, with the exception of 1952-53 when he served as a Fulbright lecturer in Burma. He is the author of numerous books and magazine articles.

The exercises will open with the processional march, "Pomp and Circumstance", played by the Lincoln high school orchestra, directed by James Solstan, followed by the salutatory by Jeanne Dahlen, two selections by the Lincoln chorus, directed by Bryant Ulseth, and the valedictory by John Lynskey, top ranking student.

Following Dr. Knoblauch's address, F. Miles Nelson, senior high school principal, will present the graduates to Dr. M. D. Starekow, president of the local board of education, who will confer the diplomas. Paul E. Anderson, director of secondary education, will present limited certificates to students completing the teacher training course. The exercises will close with the recessional march.

Seniors on the honor roll, including the top ten per cent of the class scholastically, include Roger E. Anderson, David Berg, Carol Bishop, Jeanne Dahlen, Janice Finstad, Shirley Iverson, Dalys Kellberg, Virgil Larson, Gary Lehr, John Lynskey, Robert Netteland, Julia Ose, Sandra Sandvig, Geraldine Swick and Daryl Williamson.

To Speak Tuesday

DR. A. L. KNOBLAUCH

President of Moorhead state college, who will deliver the address at Lincoln high school commencement exercises Tuesday evening, May 28, at 8 o'clock in the Lincoln gymnasium. He has traveled extensively, and is the author of numerous books and articles.

3 County Girls to Compete for Princess Title

Two blondes and a pert brunette will represent Pennington county in competition for the title of Northwest Dairy Princess on Dairy Day here June 11, after being named winners in the county judging held at the Rex Cafe Saturday afternoon.

A panel of judges consisting of Mrs. William Feigal, Mrs. Al Adams and Orvis Olen had a hard time naming the three winners from considerably narrowed field of contestants in the 1957 contest, having only eight to choose from this year, contrasted to 28 in 1956.

The winners, and their sponsors are: Jo Ann Johnson, Kratka 4-H club; Gerry Swick, Rocksbury 4-H club; and Joyce Helgeland, Smiley 4-H club. All contestants were 4-H sponsored.

The judging was preceded by a luncheon at the Rex Cafe during which the judges had the opportunity of associating with the girls before actual judging began. For this year's county contest the princess candidates wore cotton dresses, most of which were sewed by the contestants themselves. Each girl was given a corsage to wear with her ensemble as she arrived for the luncheon.

Winners here will compete

Goodridge, Grygla to Note Memorial Day

Dr. Dale M Riepe, professor at the University of North Dakota, will deliver the address at Memorial Day exercises to be held Thursday morning, May 30, at 10 o'clock in the Goodridge school gymnasium, and at 2 p.m. in the Grygla Mar-Bel hall.

The program will open with the advance of the colors by the color guard of the Grygla VFW post, followed by the rendition of "The Star-spangled Banner", by the band and audience, the invocation by the Rev. V. I. Rasmusson and a welcome by Supt. D. M. Brown.

Readings will be given by Paul Troska and Larry Solberg, and a vocal duet by Kathy Svendsgaard and Lon Szymenski, with the address by Dr. Riepe following. The program will close with a march by the Goodridge school band, the benediction and retirement of the colors.

The memorial to the Unknown Soldier will placed in the school athletic field, with the Grygla post participating, and also in the Grygla cemetery.

Two Reelected to Oklee Board

Over 600 Bicycles Given Scotchlite Treatment Friday

Project Sponsored by Jaycees Big Success, Says Chairman Bill Penning

The "scotch lite a bike" project which was held this past week in Thief River Falls was a huge success, according to Bill Penning safety chairman of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Over six hundred bicycles were scotchlited on Friday afternoon according to the bicycle scotchliting rules. Any student that didn't have his bicycle at school on Friday afternoon can still get it scotchlited by going to the local police department and having one of the officers do the job. This service will be available as long as the Scotchlite materials last.

Penning also stated that he wanted to thank the many teachers that cooperated so well in this project, which helped make it a success. The Jaycees also thanked the County Safety Council along with the Elks, Eagles, VFW and the American Legion, because through their cooperation and contributions they made this project possible.

It is the hope of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the cooperating organizations that this project has created more interest in bicycle safety.

Lincoln High School Baccalaureate Is Conducted Sunday

School Auditorium Is Packed to Capacity for Impressive Exercises

The Lincoln high school auditorium was packed to capacity Sunday evening, when the 147 members of the graduating class, attired in caps and gowns, attended baccalaureate services.

The sermon was delivered by the Rev. Robert Abbott, pastor of the Assemblies of God church. Citing the rising trend in the divorce rate and in mental illness, Mr. Abbott said they indicate that the people today are out of adjustment, and added that man must make an adjustment with his Creator in order to lead a successful life. We all need God, he stated, because life is too big to be handled alone.

The exercises opened with the processional march played by Carole Ewing, followed by the invocation and a well-rendered selection by the Lincoln school chorus, directed by Bryant Ulseth.

Two hymns sung by the audience, the benediction and the recessional march completed the program.

Vacation Bible School Planned

The staff of St. John's Lutheran Bible school teachers and their helpers will have a preparatory meeting at the church tonight at 8:00 p. m. The school will be conducted in the former St. John's church building at Hughes and St. Paul beginning Monday, June 3, at 9:00 a. m. and continuing till Friday noon; June 14. Sessions each day are from 9:00 to 11:30 a. m. The children of the congregation as well as all children in the neighborhood are welcome to attend.

Junior Chamber Members Scotchlite Bikes Friday

Thief River Falls JayCees carried out their bike Scotchliting program at local schools last Friday and found the task a formidable one with such large numbers of bicycles to tape. The program is a safety measure sponsored by the JayCees, since the reflectorized tape put on the bikes glows under lights enabling drivers to see the bikes at night.

Former Local Girl Wed In California Ceremony

Nancy Ann Magnuson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Magnuson, former residents of this city and now of Merced, California, and Bert Stephen Crane also of Merced, were united in marriage Saturday, May 4, at the Presbyterian Wesminster Chapel. The 4 o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Everett Thomson.

Mrs. Thomas Pedreira, presided at the organ for the traditional nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Miss Merle Dickinson as she sang "We'll Walk With God" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, gived in marriage by her father, was lovely in a gown of imported Swiss organdy, featuring a scalloped neckline, cap sleeves and basque waistline accented by tiny buttons down the back. Her floor-lenght skirt extended into a chapel train composed of tiers of embroidery draped at the sides with appliqued flowers of organdy. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was caught to a small crown of pearl encrusted flowers. She carried white orchids and stephanotis with carnation background.

Ann Wiper, Stanford University roommate of the bride, served as her maid of honor and Judy Parker, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. They were identical gowns of pale blue embroidered polished cotton with headpiece of large satin bows in matching blue. They carried nosegays of garnet roses and Father Reed daisies.

Jan Magnuson, niece of the bride was the flower girl and she was attired in a frock of white dotted Swiss organdy tied at the waist with a pale blue cummerbund sash. Her headpiece was a white satin bow and she carried a basket of garnet rose and gardenia petals which she scattered before the bride.

James Crane stood with his brother as best man. Ushers were Wayne Sawyer, and James and Adrien Magnuson, the bride's brothers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Magnuson received the guests wearing a powder blue crepe dress with matching accessories. Mrs. James Parker, mother of the bridegroom wore a silk Dior blue dress with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of garnet roses, stephanotis and white orchids.

The reception was in the garden at the bride's parents home. Mrs. James Magnuson of Merced and Mrs. Adrien Magnuson of North Hollywood served the wedding cake. Sue Bauer registered the guests and Mrs. James Crane, arranged the gifts. Sally Parker greeted the guests as they arrived.

For her going away, the bride chose a beige Italian silk sheath suit with matching accessories. The honeymoon was spent in the Northwest and Canada.

Miss Magnuson graduated from Santa Barbara high school and from Stanford University this past March. While at Stanford she had the honor of being chosen sweeheart of Sigma Chi.

Mr. Crane is a graduate of Merced high school and from the University of California at Davis where he was president of the SAE fraternity. He is in the cattle business in Merced.

Misses Sharon and Janice Ste Marie left Monday for Terrebonne where they will visit at the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ste Marie. They will leave Thursday for Seattle, Wash. where their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reuine Ste Marie reside.

Air Reserve Unit to Meet Tonight

Only Four Meetings of Current Semester Left

Only four meetings of the current semester will remain after tonight's meeting of Flight E, 9710th Air Reserve squadron at 8 p.m. in the downstairs meeting room of the city Auditorium, according to V. M. Draper, unit commander.

Plans to start a paid reserve training class will be discussed at the remaining meetings. Draper emphasized that any former servicemen who can pass the grade determination test given applicants is eligible, regardless of former branch of service.

Participants in the Air Reserve specialized training courses offered are given a day's pay for each meeting attended, with 36 meetings scheduled for each year's training. No reservist in the course would hold a grade below that of Airman 1c, so the pay would be the equivalent of a full day's pay for the corresponding grade held by the reservist if he were on active duty with the Air Force.

All former servicemen in the area interested in learing a useful specialty and earning extra money are urged to contact any member of Flight E or attend one of the remaining meetings of the unit at the Auditorium. Uniforms are furnished enlisted reservists taking specialized training, Draper said.

The term "base metals" is used to describe common metals, such as nickel, copper, and chromium, as distinct from the precious metals which are platinum, palladium, rhodium, ruthenium, iridium, osmium, gold and silver.

5th Annual Rodeo Slated June 15-16 at Joppru's Arena

Melvin Joppru, Promoter, Schedules Performances Each Afternoon at 2 p. m.

Melvin Joppru, local promoter and businessman, announced this week the 5th annual Thief River Rodeo will be held at the Joppru arena northwest of Thief River Falls Saturday and Sunday, June 15-16.

Joppru said the event will be held at 2 p.m. each day. The different hours from those of last year were set to make it more convenient for area rodeo fans to attend, he stated.

The rodea, as usual, is a contest affair with riders, ropers and steer wrestlers to compete for prizes on best performances turned in. Joppru said most of the rodeo talent at this year's event will come from states nearer Minnesota, such as North and South Dakota, probably Montana, and some from Minnesota.

Rodeo stock used at the two-day event will come from a rodeo stock ranch at Effie, Minn., Joppru reported.

He said area rodeo fans may expect outstanding performances in the saddle bronc and bareback riding, steer wrestling, calf roping and Brahma bull riding. In addition to these usual redo attractions there will be trick riding performances and clown acts.

queens own Cameron Highlanders. Among the many other units expected are boy and girl scout units, the National Guard, color guards, firing squads, drill squads, riding clubs, V.F.W. fun units, 40 & 8 fun units, and innumerable floats entered by Legion clubs and by organizations and business firms of Thief River Falls and surrounding area.

Last minute entries are invited to participate. Pedsons or organizations entering a float should notify Rex Sullivan, Alvin Anderson, or Vern Thorstad on the parade committee or any other member of the ninth district convention committee in Thief River Falls. Following the parade on Saturday evening will be a dance at the Legion club room.

Sunday morning has been left free of activity so that Legionnaires may attend church services. All churches of Thief River Falls extend an invitation to persons of their faith to worship. At 1:15 p.m. a convention memorial parade and program will be held at Riverside Park with Father Conley, ninth district chaplain, delivering the main address.

Presiding over the ninth district convention will be Commander Don Fish of East Grand Forks, and Legion auxiliary president, Mrs. A. W. Nimens of Crookston. Other notable Legion officers who will participate in convention procedings are district chaplain, Father Conley, the Reverend Denzil Carty, department headquarters chaplain; department commander Everett Getten, and department auxiliary president, Mrs. Juel Osmundson. Local legionnaires in charge of arrangements are commander Elsworth Jorgenson, and convention co-chairman Harlin Elseth and Wallace Jordet.

Legionnaires desiring to make housing arrangements in Thief River Falls should immediately contact housing chairman, M. R. Leverson, Box 586, Thief River Falls, Minnesota.

Auto Rolls over on Airport Road

Earl and Bety Droppo Escape Injury in Mishap

Another week-end has gone by in the Thief River Falls area without a traffic fatality according to law enforcement agencies here. Only accident reported recently was one which happened about 8:25 a.m. today, Monday when a car driven by Earl Droppo, with his sister, Betty, as a passenger, rolled over in the ditch about two miles south on the airport road.

Droppo told Sheriff Charles Richards the car left the road and rolled when he tried to bring it back on the blacktop. No injuries were reported, but damages to the car were estimated at about $400.

In an accident reported to police Monday, May 20, damages totalled about $120 in a two-car collision at E. 2nd st. and LaBree av. A car driven west on E. 2nd st. by Duane Glass, city, was hit in the left rear fender by a car driven north on LaBree av. by Mrs. Barbara Mae Spaeth.

Damage to the Glass car was about $95 and to the Spaeth vehicle about $25. Mrs. Spaeth was charged with failure to yield right-of-way and driving without a drivers license, according to police.

Two Break-ins Are Solved by Police, Sheriff's Offices

Youths Admit Stealing Liquor from Eagles Hall April 19, Also Beer Theft

Two break-ins were reported solved by local police, in cooperation with county sheriff's office, over the past week-end, according to Police Chief Elton Cummings.

Cummings said one break-in reported to his department by Cy Glass, local Hamm's distributor, Saturday, was solved the same day when police apprehended a 16-year-old boy with some of the beer taken in the Friday night break-in in his possession.

The other break-in, committed April 19 at the Eagles hall here, was solved after Sheriff Charles Richards and city police investigated a drinking party and got a lead which finally uncovered two other 16-year-old boys who had taken $1.50 in change, a flashlight and a case of assorted liquors from the lodge.

The boys admitted the April 19 theft but denied the May 17 buglary of the Eagles Hall. After the break-in they left a facetious note thanking the lodge for everything and signed it "the Toppers."

Both juveniles have police records, according to chief Cummings, although neither had been in on buglary charges before. All three boys involved in the two break-ins will appear in juvenile court later he said.

Area Gets Light Frost Early Today

Mercury Slumps to 33; .19 Inch Rain Recorded

While only .19 inches rain fell here since Friday it was sufficient to cancel local golfer's and fishermen's weekend plans along with picnics and other outings planned by residents.

Temperatures skidded to a low of 33 Monday morning in the wake of a storm front which brought the rainfall over the week end. Strong winds and cloudy skies were the rule and outdoor activities were at a minimum.

Temperatures here since last Thursday have ranged from a high of 75 Friday to this morning's near-freezing 33. The Thursday low of 34 was next lowest while other lows ranged from 51 Saturday to 40 Sunday. Coolest day, overall, was Sunday with a high of 53 reported.

The outlook is for sunny, warmer weather today according to the KTRF regional forecast. It will be fair and not quite so cool tonight, followed by mostly fair and continued warm weather Tuesday. Light westernly winds will prevail with highs of 65-70 and lows of 45-50.

According to the Monday Minneapolis Tribune weather map a low pressure center and cold front on the eastern slope of the Rockies in Montana could again bring scattered showers to the area tonight or early Tuesday, but this is not mentioned in the KTRF forecast.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Tomorrow a near-record 147 Lincoln High School graduates of the class of '57 will march across the stage and receive their diplomas. For some it is merely a step up the ladder of education. For some it will be the top. Perhaps a few have even floundered beyond their depth already but the whole class owes a lot of gratitude for the learning that has been made available to them in their years in school.

Education is much like water. You can lead a youth to it but you'll have a heck of a time making him absorb any of it if he isn't so inclined. Like dirt, a little will probably rub off on him but the success or failure of the efforts of his teachers, parents and others involved in trying to give him an education is largely up to the student himself.

One senior remarked to us Friday, as he rode with us to work, "Two more exams and it's all over." "You're going on to college, I presume," we ventured. "Oh yes," was the reply. "In that case yo've merely started!" Was our comment.

That is true, too. More than ever in their young lives college students are "on their own." A few manage to wallow through without really learning a lot. Some must work unceasingly in order to maintain the grades required to stay in college, while a certain few compile brilliant records.

The student who succeeds in his college education is the student who applies himself, who makes "having fun" while there a secondary matter and isn't easily discouraged by adversity. All these qualities apply in later life.

Education is merely a tool, however. The '57 Lincoln grad who really is a success in life is the one who, after graduation from school now or college later, makes the most use of what he has learned. Unused, the best education in the world is of no benefit. Nor are we talking in terms of money-making ability. The ability to think clearly and objectively for one's self is perhaps the most precious ability the creator endows us with. Since the dawn of creation it has always been the thinkers who have done most for humanity.

Anyone who goes to school for 16 years without developing this inherent ability has just wasted 16 years of his and a lot of other people's time because he has completely missed one of the most important objectives of his higher education.

Now for the lighter side of life. We hear the Prichard boys, Jub and Phil plan to take up sailing. They gained a lot of experience out on the big lake without a motor the weekend fishing season opened but they didn't have any canvas along them.

The game and fish director is an old spoilsport. By announcing opening dates of hunting seasons this early he robbed some of our local characters of one of their favorite pastimes—that of speculating when this and that game season would open.

They say there's no closed season on work so—SO LONG!

Wins Scholarship

DAVID BERG

Member of the 1957 graduating class at Lincoln high school, who was recently selected as a student in the Navy Reserve Officers Training Corps program, under which he will receive a college education and will qualify him for appointment as a Navy officer upon graduation. The son of Mrs. Inga Berg, David is an honor student, and has been active in athletics, the band, Lincoln Log and Prowler.

Donald L. Waage to Share in Young GOP Convention

Donald L. Waage, formerly of Thief River Falls, has been appointed to the Public Relations Committee for the 10th Young Republican National Federation convention to be held in Washington, D. C. at the Statler Hotel on June 19-22.

Waage has been in Washington for the past year, where he is currently employed as secretary of the finance committee of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The convention in Washington will bring together 1,500 Young Republican Delegates and guests from all the 48 states and territories for the purpose of creating enthusiasm for the Party, to instill knowledge of Republican principles, and to adopt a platform and elect officers.

County Entrants In Dairy Princess Event Are Chosen

with the winners of 11 other county contests at the Dairy Day judging.

The other contestants, and their sponsors, were: Yvonne Anderson, St. Hilaire 4-H club; Loralee Larson, Sanders club; Margaret Peterson, Silverton club; Eunice Chapman, Rocksbury club, and Betty Vad, Highlanding club.

All the 1957 county dairy princesses are long-time 4-H members and their parents presently operate dairy farms.

Miss Johnson will graduate from Lincoln high school this week. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Johnson, who have a Holstein herd in Mayfield twp.

Miss Swick, the only brunette winner, is also in the Lincoln class that graduates this week and her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dean Swick who have Guernseys on their farm in Rocksbury twp.

Joyce Helgeland is a freshman at Concordia College at Moorhead. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Helgeland who have Holsteins on their Smiley twp. farm.

A girl makes a big mistake who uses perfume that is highly alluring, as it serves as a warning to wary intended victims that a predatory female is on the prowl.

Final Rites Are Conducted For Mrs. Annie Eide

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie Eide were conducted Friday, May 24 at the Gulbranson chapel with Rev. Otto Dale officiating. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. Eide passed away May 21 at the age of 87 years.

Mrs. Eide was born October 4, 1869 in Trondheim, Norway and came to the United States in 1892. She was united in marriage to Jorgen Eide in Moorhead, Minn., December 14, 1893 and they homesteaded on the Indian Reservation until two years ago, since when she made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Lillian Wortz at Litchfield and resided there until the time of her death. She was an honorary member of the Trinity Lutheran church and a Life member of the ladies aid.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. Lillian Wortz of Litchfield; one son, Gaynor Eide of Redding, Calif.; four grandchildren, Betty Wortz of Minneapolis; 2nd Lt. Robert Wortz stationed in Germany; Gene and Dennis Eide of Redding, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Ove Veness of Norway and one brother, Christ Rustad of this city. He was preceded in death by her husband.

Last Rites To Be Conducted For Joseph Johnson

Funeral services for Joseph Johnson will be conducted Wednesday, May 29 at the Bethany Lutheran church at 2:00 p.m. in Goodridge with Rev. A. B. Heltne officiating. Interment will be made in the Bethany Lutheran cemetery. Mr. Johnson passed away May 24, at the age of 56 years.

Mr. Johnson was born May 22, 1901 in Luverne, Minnesota and moved with his parents to Pennington county in 1904 and settled in Kratka township. He attended the A. C. in Crookston and he was united in marriage to Miss Martha Olson November 2, 1927 in this city.

Mr. Johnson served on the town board for 27 years and was treasurer of the school district for 18 years. He also held office in the Credit Union and the Farmers Union Elevator. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran church.

Survivors include his wife; three sons, Ronald of Long Beach, Calif.; Donovan and Clifford at home; parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson of Goodridge; two sisters, Mrs. Grace Graige of Goodridge, Mrs. Edward Holme of Luverne, Minnesota; and one brother, Bert Johnson of Goodridge.

Secretary Group for Retarded Is Speaker in City

Gerald Walsh Tells of Need for Assistance to Retarded Children

The Northwestern Association for Mentally Retarded Children met at the Stan Cockrell home Thursday evening. The main feature of the program was the showing of a film "Tuesday's Child", and a talk by Gerald Walsh, executive secretary, Minnesota Assn. for Retarded children.

Mr. Walsh explained the laws that were passed by the last session of the legislature, one item being the requirement of school districts to provide special class services for all educable handicapped children, with state aid available.

He stated that retardation was one of the greatest problems facing this country today with about three out of 100 children being born handicapped. Causes pregnancy, injury at birth, and injury in early childhood, among others. Research has advanced in this field, he said, and appropriation of funds has been made by the state to the University for training of personnel.

Research clinics are being established throughout the country but a great deal is still to be done. Institutional care in this state is very inadequate he said, but with the completion of the home in Brainerd it will be eased some.

He stated that if the public would get behind this problem the same as they have with polio; great things could be done as many of these cases can be prevented and helped by research.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson reported on the state convention which was held in Minneapolis May 17-18. They visited several schools and classes and saw the work and rehabilitation being done with the retarded.

6 County 4-H'ers to Attend State Parley

Pennington county will send 6 delegates to the State 4-H Junior Leadership Conference June 11 to 14, announces county agent Paul Steimaschuk.

They will be among 4-H'ers from all over Minnesota taking part in this conference, formerly known as State 4-H club week, on the St. Paul campus of the University of Minnesota.

The delegates are Margaret Myrum, Oklee, Deer Park 4-H; JoAnn Vatsaas, Thief River Falls, Steiner; John Konickson, Thief River Falls, Smiley; Jan Finstad, St. Hilaire, Rocksbury; Elinor Gustafson, St. Hilaire, Wyandiver; Orrin Olson, St. Hilaire, St. Hilaire 4-H club.

Margaret Myrum will represent Pennington county at the annual State 4-H Club Federation meeting at which officers for the coming year will be elected.

17 4-H club members from Pennington county will attend the district 4-H club week at Crookston. Classes and training in agriculture and homemaking, help in project work and activities, plus social events will be presented for many Minnesota 4-H'ers at these meetings.

Tuesday, June 11, marks the opening of State 4-H junior Leadersip conference with registration and tours of the University campuses in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Highlight of the day's program will be an evening assemble featuring an address by George Grim of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune staff.

Classes in home economics and agriculture will be conducted by resident staff members of the University. Further leadership training will be stressed at a series of workshops dealing with such topics as good grooming, recreation and music leadership, and junior leadership opportunities.

Greenbush Sheep Days June 14-15

Many Contests Included on Annual Two-day Event

The Minnesota Sheep Producers announced that the Greenbush Sheep Days will be held this year on Friday and Saturday, June 14 and 15.

Friday morning program this year will feature sheep dog trial competition. This contest will be for the working sheep dogs and they will be judged on their ability to control a small flock of sheep. Fifty dollars has been set aside for the top three winners in these trials.

Ed Warner of Chicago will again be in charge of the shearing school. There is no cost to anyone taking instruction, however anyone who would like to take part is asked to notify his local county agent or Voc. Ag. Teacher.

During Saturday morning there will be judging contests for 4-H and FFA members, and for adult farmers, as well as a contest for fitting the lamb for the show ring and a display of market lambs. In the afternoon the senior and junior shearing contest will be held. Attractive cash prizes are offered in the fat lamb show, the wool fleece contest, and the shearing contests as well as six high grade yearling ewes which will be given to the high individuals in the judging contests.

Northern Minny Sunday Games Are Canceled by Rain

Thieves Now Scheduled to Open Season's Play at Fosston Thursday

The rains dizzled and the winds blew, and the combination forced the posponment of the Northern Minny league's baseball schedule openers slated to have been played on Sunday. All three games, Red Lake Falls at Thief River Falls, Bagley at Erskine, and Fosston at Winger, were "called off."

The league will attempt to open its 1957 schedule on Thursday, with Bagely playing at Red Lake Falls, Thief River Falls at Fosston, and Erskine at Winger. According to the schedule, the games at Red Lake Falls and Fosston will be night games, while the tilt at Winger is an afternoon game.

Game-time for the league games will be 2:30 p.m. for the afternoon contests, and 8:00 p.m. for the night games.

The league schedule for the next two weeks will be as follows: June 2nd—Winger at Red Lake Falls, Erskine at Fosston, and Thief River Falls at Bagley (afternoon); June 5th—Red Lake Falls at Fosston, Bagley at Winger, and Thief River Falls at Erskine; June 9th—Red Lake Falls at Erskine, Fosston at Bagley (afternoon), and Thief River Falls at Winger (afternoon); June 12th — Thief River Falls at Red Lake Falls Erskine at Bagley, Winger at Fosston; June 16th—Fosston at Thief River Falls, Red Lake Falls at Bagley (afternoon), and Winger at Erskine (afternoon).

Bemidji Defeats Prowler Club 6-0

Held to but two hits, an infield single to shortstop by Dave Berg in the 4th inning and a line single into centerfield by Jerry Jorgenson in the 5th inning, the Prowlers were shut-out by righthander Bill Lawrence and the Bemidji Lumberjacks as they dropped a 6 to 0 decision to coach Horace May's regional champions in an inter-district baseball game played on the Fair Grounds diamond Friday night.

Coach Ralph Skjod's squad will meet the Oslo team in a district conference game here on Monday afternoon, with game time at 4:00 P.M. On Wednesday night, May 29th, the highly-regarded Fertile Falcons will play the Prowlers in a return game on the Fair Grounds diamond. On Thursday night, at Red Lake Falls, the locals will meet coach Rusty Miller's Eagles in an important district conference game.

Friday night's game which, except for a loosely played 1st inning, was a fine exhibition of high school baseball. Harlie Drees, the sophomore righthander on the mound for the Prowlers, nearly matched the performance of Bemidji's Lawrence. Lawrence had twelve strikeouts and issued three walks, while Drees whiffed ten batsmen and doled out a pair of walks.

Bemidji won the game in the 1st inning when leadoff batter looped a wind-blown single into centerfield; Jim Johnson lofted a Texas League single just over shortstop, Ray Cronk sent a hard ground ball to third base, and on an error all hands were safe, with Wynne coming in with a score. Lawrence forced Johnson at third base on a ground ball to Darrel Wick. Dick Anderson singled to right field, scoring Cronk. Mark Kolden bounced to shortstop, and on an attempt at a force play at third, Lawrence was safe on a dropped throw. A walk to Gary Johnson forced in Lawrence with the inning's third run; and when Bob Engle lofted a fly ball to left field, Dick Anderson tallied after the catch to give the Jacks' a 4 to 0 lead.

From the 1st inning on, Drees gave up but three hits and one earned run, that being a home run over the right field fence by Jim Johnson in the 4th inning. The lumberjacks scored another run in the 5th inning on a single by Lawrence, a stolen base, and an error.

Meanwhile the Prowlers were having difficulty in solving the slants of Lawrence. In the 5th inning the locals made a threat at scoring when Jorgenson opened with a single. A sacrifice by Lee Johnson moved Jorgenson to second, and a stolen base advanced him to third. Lawrence struck out Fred Jensen and Ross Sloan to retire the side.

Book Review

Through the good graces of librarian Frances Shanahan we were given the oportunity to read a book, "Portage Bay" by Paul Wellman, before the volume was added to stock of the Carnegie library.

The focal point of the stories and the book is a collection of anecdotes, some humorous, some informative, and some a bit of both, is Joe McKeever's Portage Bay Camp on the Lake of the Woods. Wellman is a nationally known author, and some of these stories appeared in outdoor magazines. One story in particular we can recall, and it is included in this book, is "The Day the Lake went Mad." Referring to the near-cyclone that struck this territory on June 7th, 1951. Wellman, on that day, was with a fishing party on Shoal lake and they had quite an experience, and some harrowing moments, before they reached safety.

Of local interest is Wellman's reference, on several occasions, to Father Emmett Shanahan, the musky-fishing priest from Warroad. Father Shanahan is a Thief River Falls native, and a brother of librarian Frances. Wellman devotes an entire chapter to Father Shanahan's activities on the lake, and to his efforts in uncovering the history surrounding the island settlements on Lake of the Woods.

The book, and it's not a large one, can be read at one sitting, and we are sure that the boys with the lake size cruisers, Lloyd Bennes, Dr. Wm Feigal, LeRoy Lokken, Orvis Oen, Phil Hess, Snort Langseth, and others will find it interesting and entertaining.

And speaking of Father Shanahan, we can remember the days when he was the imaginative quarterback of a Northrop grade school football team called the "Little Potatoes". When queried about that odd name, Emmett replied that the team was called "Little Potatoes" because they were hard to peel. And that was a mouthful of truth.

Quote of the Week:

Wasn't it encouraging to read of this quotation, by the New York Yankees' Casey Stengel, following the series with the Chicago White Sox: "They outfield you, they outhit you, and they out-base-run you. If they could have gotten the stadium on the train, they would have taken that, too. As the manager, I've got to do something. Right now, I don't know what. When you can't hit—"

A few more quotations like that, and we hope they're forthcoming, will make this American league season most enjoyable. Can there be some troubles with the New York Yankees, we hope?

A Pressure Campaign

Herschel (Pepper) Lysaker, Crookston's all-round athlete, and perhaps the outstanding and most versatile athlete in the eighth region, is being subjected to an intensive campaign by the athletic scouts of various colleges.

Lysaker, who climaxed his high school career by scoring 19 points in the regional track and field tournament at Bemidji on Friday, is a first-rate college prospect. Pepper was a quarterback for the past several seasons on the Crookston Central football team, a playmaking back court man for the Pirates' basketball team, and a standout in track.

While the well-coordinated Crookston athlete broke records in track this season, it is probable that his future as a college athlete is in football or basketball. With his speed, and he won the regional 100 and 220-yard dash events, and his ball-handling ability, he should be quite a T-formation quarterback prospect. He's big enough, being a six-footer, and when he reaches college he should be weighing in the 170's.

Pepper is a capable basketball player, too, especially as a back-court man. He does have a handicap as a "big time" basketball prospect, though, and that is that he isn't an exceptional marksman from the outside. Deadly basket-shooting is one of the requisites to back-court play.

Talking to his coach, Al Droen, when he was here the other day with the Crookston golf team, we learned that Pepper has a "leaning" towards Concordia. It was Al's opinion that Pepper, on his own volition, would choose the Cobber school. It's not unnatural for Pepper to be Concordia-minded, for his dad, Herschel Sr. is a Concordia graduate. Big Hersch was quite an athlete in his Cobber days, being a top-flight lineman in football, and a sturdy performer in basketball.

Crookston, Bemidji Tie in Region 8 Meet

The Crookston Pirates of the 31st district and the Bemidji Lumberjacks of the 29th district shared team honors in the eighth regional track and field tournament held at Bemidji on Friday, with each squad garnering 32 points.

The tournament ended in a dispute, with Crookston's coach, Meir Snell contending that the Pirate relay team was entitled to one point for finishing fourth in the 880-yard relay event. The tournament manager allotted the points on a 5-3-2 basis, with Bemidji in first; Baudette, second; and Ada, third.

Other team point totals were Roseau, 23; Thief River Falls, 22; Baudette, 11; Blackduck, 9; Hallock, 8½; East Grand Forks, 6; Park Rapids, 6; Bagley 6; Stephen, 4; Clearbook, 4; Walker, 4; Fosston, 3½; Ada, 3; Warren, 3; Mahnomen, 2; Oklee, 1; Waubun, 1.

As has been the case in all of the tournaments in which Crookston has competed this season, the high-point performer for the Pirates was Herschel (Pepper) Lysaker. Lysaker won the 100-yard dash, the 120-yard high hurdles, the 180-low hurdles, and gained a second place in the broad jump. His individual efforts accumulated 19 points, for a new individual point record.

Bemidji's fine jumped, Jim Patten, scored ten points by winning the high jump and broad jump events.

During the day's activities, the Prowlers picked up three firsts, with Keith D. Johnson winning the mile in the time of 4:49.3; and Boyce Lee tying for first place in the pole vault at 10 feet, 8 inches.

Other point winners for coach Quentin Jones' squad were Bob Rosengren with a third in the 100-yard dash, and a second in the 220-yard dash; and Jim Bennes a fifth in the 440-yard run.

Former Citizens of TRF to Picnic in So. California

Former residents of Thief River Falls now living in Southern California will get together for their annual picnic reunion Sunday June 9, starting at 11 a.m. at Miles Ave. Park in Huntington Park, Calif., it was announced this week by Al Fredrickson, president of the association, and Al Vistaunet, secretary. They added that 200 cards have been sent out to former residents of this city. Coffee will be served at the picnic site.

Chapels have been built at two Antarctic bases by Navy seabees working in their off-duty hours.

Northrop Indians Winners of Grade School Track Meet

Accumulate 67½ Points Thursday for 57 for Knox and 34½ for Washington

Phil Beadle's Northrop Indians won the city's grade school track and field championship in the tournament that was held on the Lincoln field on Thursday. Northrop, scoring four first places and six second places, had a total of 67½ points. Knox gained runner-up honors with 57 points, while Washington was third with 34½ points.

One record was broken during the tournament, and that was in the standing broad jump event, with Washington's Mike Soeby turning in a leap of 6 feet 11 inches.

The winners and runners-up in the various events as follows, with (N) denoting Northrop, (K) Knox, and (W) Washington:

Fifth grade, 50-yard dash—won by Ron Olson (W); 2nd, Don Mathieu (K).

Sixth grade, 50-yard dash—won by Don Nicholson (N); 2nd, Dwight Marciniak (K).

Fifth grade, high jump—tied for 1st, Ken Larson and Bob Olson, both of Northrop.

Sixth grade, high jump—won by Tommy Roisland (K); 2nd, Larry Helgeland, (N).

Fifth grade, standing broad jump—won by Ray Nelson (N); 2nd, Bob Olson.

Sixth grade, standing broad jump—won by Mike Soeby (W); 2nd, Kieth Hanson (N).

Fifth grade, running broad jump—won by Richard Jenson, (N); tied for 2nd, Bob Wick (N) and Ray Erickson (K).

Sixth grade, running broad jump—won by Tommy Roisland (K); 2nd, Wayne Johnson (N).

Fifth grade, baseball throw—won by Bob Wick (N); 2nd, John Weigelt (N).

Sixth grade, baseball throw—won by Dwight Marciniak (K); 2nd, Adolph Meyers (W).

Relay—won by Knox; 2nd, Northrop.

Taxpayers Unit Hits at State Spending

Minnesota's "spendingest" legislature has adjourned after achieving the questionable distinction of being the first legislature in the State's history to provide for the spending of more than a half billion dollars during a biennium, Charles P. Stone, General Counsel of the Minnesota Taxpayers Association, announced today.

"Now that the 1957 Legislature has adjourned and there has been an opportunity to make a careful preliminary examination of the state spending and tax picture for the next two-year fiscal period, it has become increasingly apparent that we have witnessed the 'spendingest' legislative session in the history of our state," Mr. Stone said.

"Total appropriations, including those for the state buildings and other expenditures to be financed through borrowing or directly by state mill levies on real and personal propert, add up to a staggering $512½ million which represents an increase over the appropriations for the present two-year period of over $138½ million. And this does not include the highway expenditures for the next two-year period.

"The four major money bills (state departments, semi-state activities, welfare and institutions, and education), together with the miscellaneous bills, total an astounding $418½ million—up more thon $90½ million. The open and standing appropriations total almost $25 million—up $9 million. And the appropriations for state building, etc., total almost $69 million—up over $38½ million.

"The $443½ million of appropriations which must be financed out of current revenues ($418½ million in the four major money bills and miscellaneous bills plus $25 million of open and standing appropriations) amounts to $139 for each man, woman and child in the state and the $99½ million increases in these appropriations amounts to more than $31 for each such person."

"This pattern of spending is going to haunt the 1959 and future legislative session, "Mr. Stone pointed out. "In financing these record-breaking expenditures, the 1957 Legislative had the benefit of over $36 million of beginning balances and $16 million of windfall money, none of which will be available in 1959, and still had to reenact the temporary, two-year taxes and surtaxes (except that on annuities) and continue the bonus taxes and surtaxes, to supplement the unprecedented $341 million of estimated receipts from existing taxes."

"High revenues due to good times are no justification for spending which out-strips even those high revenues," Mr. Stone said.

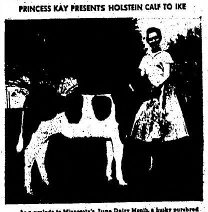
PRINCESS KAY PRESENTS HOLSTEIN CALF TO IKE



As a prelude to Minnesota's June Dairy Month, a husky purebred Holstein calf with a lengthy pedigree was presented to President Eisenhower Monday morning at the White House by the Minnesota Dairy Industry Committee through its attractive representative, Princess Kay of the Milky Way, Barbara Jean Bossus, Brainerd, Minnesota, goodwill ambassadress for Minnesota's dairy farmers. Donated to the MDIC by the Minnesota Holstein-Friesian Breeders' Association, the calf whose name is Minnesota's Gypsy Kay, was purchased from the Art Jergens and Son farm in Hutchinson, Minnesota. The calf is now in permanent residence at President Eisenhower's Gettysburg farm.

Teachers to Vote on Social Security

Minnesota Education Assn. Sending out Data

Recent legislative action makes possible the extension of social security coverage to the public school teachers of Minnesota.

Information regarding the technical details of the law is being sent to all schools by the Minnesota Education Association before the end of the school year. The MEA, representing 24,000 members of the teaching profession in Minnesota, has led the fight for the extension of social security coverage to teachers.

"A thorough understanding of the implications of this legislation for both teachers and school boards is necessary before a vote is taken," reports A. L. Gallop, MEA executive secretary.

Present retirement benefits will be cut drastically if social security is added. However, the combined total benefit will not be less than is now received for teachers with at least ten years of service in Minnesota schools.

Saw Easier

In using hand saw or hack saws you can cut with less effort, if you apply pressure only on the cutting or forward stroke. Lift up slightly when drawing the saw back. This method will also prevent wearing down the cutting teeth needlessly.

Brown Swiss Show at Red Lake Falls

Annual Canton 7 Show Scheduled for June 7

Members of Canton 7 of the Minnesota Brown Swiss Breeders association will hold their annual show in Red Lake Falls Friday, June 7, with showing and judging for adults and juniors, including a contest for businessmen only. Prizes will be awarded and lunch will be served at noon.

Manager of the show will be Marvin Kruse of Fremont, Nebraska, fieldman for the national Brown Swiss association, and serving as judge will be Dr. Clarence Cole of the University of Minnesota.

Exhibitors are asked to have their animals on the grounds by 10 a.m. and must supply health papers. Further information is available from Ronald Tollefson of Red Lake Falls, secretary of Canton 7.

Wrap your tools individually in a rag soaked with linseed oil and place in an empty coffee can. This will prevent the tools from getting duller by striking against each other.

302 Tuberculosis Cases Reported in State in 4 Months

A total of 302 tuberculosis cases was newly reported to the Minnesota Department of Health during the first four months of 1957, according to a news release from the state Christmas Seal organization.

While this state's TB death rate is declining steadily, the number of new cases remains high. The figure for January through April, 1957, is only 30 less than last year's total for the same period.

Number of cases reported does not present the whole TB picture, the Christmas Seal release points out. Early tuberculosis rarely has any symptoms, and no count can be made of the people who have TB but do not know it.

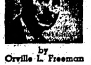
REPORT from the GOVERNOR



by
Orville L. Freeman

In last week's column I referred to activities carried on by the state to provide vocational rehabilitation for handicapped persons. During its 1957 session, the Minnesota Legislature took major steps forward to provide for the training of children who need special attention.

Exceptional Children

One new law requires school districts to provide special instruction for those exceptional children who can benefit from such education. This includes special classes, home instruction, and hospital instruction. It will provide for special education for many who are mentally retarded as well as for children with physical handicaps.

The State will reimburse the school districts for much of the extra cost of such special instruction. It will pay two-thirds of the salary of special teachers, up to $3,000. In addition, it will reimburse the district for one half of the special equipment and supplies necessary, up to an amount of $50 for each exceptional child.

For those handicapped children who cannot benefit from education, but who can benefit from some kind of training, school districts are authorized to provide such training. For this purpose the State will likewise reimburse the school district for two-thirds the cost of the salaries up to $3,000, and for the transportation of the children up to $160 per year for each handicapped child.

Specially Trained Teachers

In order to do the most for handicapped children, teachers need special training and abilities. The Legislature saw this need, and provided appropriations for teachers' training programs in special education for handicapped children in the Mankato and Moorhead state colleges. For the first time the University of Minnesota was likewise given a special appropriation for research and the training of teachers in this field. And the appropriations to the St. Cloud state college for training of children with cerebral palsy were increased. With these new programs, the future has become much brighter for handicapped children in Minnesota.

Advisory Board

The Legislature also appropriated a small sum to cover the expenses of a Minnesota advisory board on handicapped, gifted, and exceptional children. This board will consist of twelve members, one from congressional district and three at large, to be appointed by the Governor.

It's Official Now

To all Good Citizens of Thief River Falls,

GREETINGS:

Among the several responsibilities that go with the office of Mayor is that of reminding the men of our community at what time the wearing of Straw Hats becomes permissable. I am glad to decree that that time is right now.

While I have no complaints against the weather man for the exceptionally mild and storm-free winter we have had I am sure that I will have general support, even from our public spirited fuel dealers, in favoring warm weather from now on with just the right amount of precipitation to assure abundant crops and, of course, good fishing.

May it be understood that I am not in any way attempting to tell the women of our good community what to wear.

In this special decree I have my wife's approval.

Sometimes Down is Up

Mrs. West asked Joe to bring her sewing box. Now Joe was not yet three and the top of his head reached just level with the buffet where sits the candy jar. Mrs. West often permitted Joe to get himself a piece of candy up on the buffet. But Mrs. West now tells Joe, "The sewing box is down on the bottom shelf of the buffet." The shelf section is all above where the candy sits. So must Joe climb up to get down to the sewing box? To make it worse Mrs. West says, "The lowest shelf of all, Joe." Joe looks around the room at shelves much lower than the buffet shelf. Of course what she meant was the lowest shelf of all of the buffet shelves, but she didn't say that.

Down is low and up is high—sometimes—but down is high and up is low sometimes, too. It all depends upon what one means or where one stands—and Joe's meaning for down is really low—and Joe stands low. It is hard enough to learn directions, and right along with directions Joe has to learn to understand people, too, even when they don't mean exactly what they say.

A few swings may mean a whole fifteen minute's worth; but a few crackers means three or four. The corner drug store is too far to walk, but the golf course gives exercise. The coffee pot sits over the flame but people sit on chairs. Six year old brother Paul is big, but their pony, which is bigger, is little.

Joe ate a big red apple, and then sat in a little chair. Mommy complains about their narrow street, but then says that a puddle in it is wide. Sometimes Joe is too little to do things like going to the drug store alone; but then before he can understand how little somebody tells him to stop crying, because he is "too big for that."

As they walk along the street, Mommy says "Let's not walk so fast." Then a car passes them and she says, "I wonder why it is going so slowly."

What a confusing world it is for Joe when he is three. Nothing seems to stay the same—but perhaps it is better that way because it is nice to know that even when sometimes down is up, sometimes up is up, too.

Temperature at the geographic South Pole is expected to reach 120 degrees below zero in August.

On Memorial Day, we saluate our honored dead, who gave their lives for freedom. Proudly, we pay tribute. Humbly, we pray that we may be worthy of the'r brave deeds. Solemnly, we pledge that the freedom they won for our country shall be preserved, now and forever.

GULBRANSON'S MORTUARY

The WORLD OUTDOORS

TWO of our most popular sports—boating and fishing—make an ideal combination for the sportsman who's lucky enough to have a few days to spend in the great outdoors.

Floating a stream with a small boat is an excellent way to relax, enjoy beautiful scenery and the smell of clean, fresh air. It's also the best way to discover new fishing spots quite inaccessible to the angler who travels on foot.

Among my fondest memories are the floating trips made on the creeks and rivers of the deep south. The average float took three or four days, and we never hurried. In the heat of the day we would seek the cooling shelter of a cypress or oak. Every stream of water entering the river was investigated and many of them led to seldom-fished lakes, well stocked with hungry, fighting bass.

If you're floating a good stream and water conditions are right, you can often catch more fish than you can eat, or wish to keep. Many veteran floaters work as a trio: the bow man gets the brim and smaller bass with a fly rod; the center man goes after heavy bass with big, floating plug; and the anchor man keeps the boat just the right distance from shore. This type of fishing, however, is not recommended in cases where waters are dangerous or the man in the middle (tossing many-barbed plugs) isn't a highly competent and accurate caster.

If there's a stream near your neighborhood that is deep and safe enough for floating, give it a try. You can drive a second car to the "take-out" point—or have someone meet you there to bring you home. But give it a whirl and you'll find new enthusiasm for the world outdoors.

SILENCE DOOR RATTLES

Few people would think of attempting a repair job on a rattling door in the middle of a windy night. But it doesn't take long to wedge a strip of cloth between the door and the jamb, tying the ends around the door knobs. They you can go back to sleep and wait until the week end to get at the real seat of the trouble.

a peek at THE STARS

by LYN CONNELLY

CBS seldom comes up with a colorcast but when it does it goes all out as in the case of "Cinderella" . . . This endearing old fairy tale was brought to the TV screen by Rodgers and Hammerstein with all the magic that Cinderella's godmother could hold in her wand . . . Gay, colorful, delightfully charming, and with a perfect cast to boot, this adaptation compared very favorably with that other children's fantasy, "Peter Pan" . . . Plays like this, while produced only occasionally, more than makes up for all the trite seen on TV.

No one could have done Cinderella better than young and lovely Julie Andrews, who at 21 has won fame on Broadway in "My Fair Lady" . . . Jon Cypher was an inspiration as the prince and we trust this will be just a stepping stone toward a brilliant career for this new talent . . . Ilka Chase as the stepmother; Alice Ghostley and Kaye Ballard as the stepsisters; Dorothy Stickney as the queen and Howard Lindsey as the king were all chosen wisely and came through in remarkable fashion.

On the flip side, Dick revives a favorite of yesteryear with notable results, "Two Loves Have I" (this one is an accordion number, the first a vocal) . . . The popular Crew Cuts come up with an original number that should please their teen fans, "Whatever, Wherever, Whoever," backed by the beautiful "The Angelus." Chuck Miller joins the calypso bandwagon with a cutie, "Me Head's in De Barrel" with a new ballad, "Good Mornin' Darlin,'" on the reverse.

CAPITOL: — Dick Haymes does his rendition of the ever-popular "C'est La Vie" and it's a fine one . . . Flip side has "Now At Last."

HOW ABOUT A SHOT OF CALCIUM

American people are eating better than we did 20 years ago, but there's still plenty of room for improvement, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture —which naturally has an axe to grind—an axe that might help whittle down the cost of living better by getting wider distribution of key farm products: About a third of us don't get enough milk, hence are short of calcium; about a fourth, short on fruits and vegetables, are consequently short on vitamin C. June Dairy Month is a splendid time to catch up on calcium, and University nutritionists temptingly prescribe fresh ripe strawberries, cantaloup, citrus fruits, tomatoes, and spring greens for that "highC" feeling that goes with vitaminC.

QUESTIONS answered for VETERANS

Additional information or assistance on veterans benefits may be obtained by writing or visiting the VA Contact Representatives at the Minot VA Hospital, or the Bismarck or Grand Forks VA offices.

Q—My World War II permanent GI insurance lapsed, and VA automatically continued it in force under extended term insurance. I want to reinstate my permanent policy. Will I have to take a physical examination?

A—If you reinstate within five years prior to the date the extended insurance would expire, you will not need a medical examination or any medical evidence of good health. If you reinstate after that time limit, you will be required to take an examination.

Q—Is a "six-month enlistee" eligible for VA hospitalization after he leaves military service?

A—He would be eligible if he was discharged under other than dishonorable conditions for a line-of-duty disability, or is receiving compensation for a service-connected disability.

TOP MOTHER . . . Mrs. Hazel Hempel Abel, 68, of Lincoln, Neb., former U. S. senator and construction company president, was named American Mother of 1957. She has 4 daughters, a son and 6 grandsons.

Q—I served in World War II, was discharged and went to school under the World War II GI Bill. I served again during the Korean Conflict. Would I be eligible for more schooling under the Korean GI Bill, and if so, how much?

A—You may be eligible for training under the Korean GI Bill. To determine how much, subtract the amount of World War II GI schooling you've had from 48 months. You will be entitled to the difference, so long as it does not exceed 36 months of Korean GI training.

Q—I have a Korean GI term insurance policy for nondisabled veterans. Could I convert it to a permanent plan?

A—No. The law prohibits the coversion of your type of Korean GI term insurance to permanent plans. Only those issued to Korean veterans based on service-connected disabilities may be converted.

Planting The Flower Border

An effective place to grow flowers is in a border. It presents flowers in their mass effect gives continuous bloom throughout the growing season and reduces maintenance.

The border should be planned so there are flowers blooming from early spring to late fall. It should be the gardener's goal to have some flowers in bloom at all seasons of the year rather than a border full of flowers at one time.

You can add interest to the flower border by utilizing certain design elements. By arranging the tall flowers in the back, the medium-height flowers in the middle of the border and the low-growing plants in front, you'll get a variation in height that makes it possible for all flowers to be seen. The variation in height also gives an interesting effect. Contrasting flower colors build greater interest. You'll also want to keep in mind shapes of the plants and the foliage textures.

Flower borders may be either multiple color or monochromatic. A multiple color flower border utilizes a great variety of flower colors, wheras the monochromatic border gardener selects one color group and uses various shades and tints within the specific color.

The gardener may select from annuals, perennials and bulbous plants to accomplish the continuous bloom from early spring to fall. Or the gardener may use annuals alone or perennials to create the flower border.

Style Rules Color Choice In Any Home

Color choices in modernizing the exterior of an older home should be governed by the size and shape of the house, the climate and the neighborhood, says Beatrice West, home color stylist.

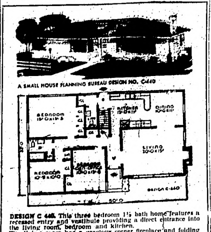
Here are four typical color schemes suggested by Miss West for popular types of houses. In all four, the color of the asphalt shingles on the roof serves as the key to other colors used on the exterior.

1. Colonial. A roof of pastel blue is complemented by gray-blue siding with white shutters and trim. The entrance door is painted deep blue to complete a "modern color scheme that maintains the traditional feeling," says Miss West.

2. Tall, boxy house. Black asphalt shingles on the roof make the house appear lower, while gray siding and charcoal shutters take emphasis away from awkward proportions and large size. The eye is focused on a carnation red door, keeping the visual center of interest low. White on windows and trim adds brightness.

3. Expansion attic. Dark green shingles will make the roof seem lower than it is, yet give the house color. Dark green siding, off-white trim and garage door, and a warm coral on the front entrance door complete the color harmony.

4. Ranch. A russet asphalt roof —a light shade which will make the house appear larger—is ideal, especially if the house is in a rural setting. Good colors with russet would be coral for sidewalls and light gray trim. An accent color of bright blue on the front door, window boxes and garage door make a house stand out effectively if it is set among trees and shrubbery.



A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-440

DESIGN C 440. This three bedroom 1½ bath home features a recessed entry and vestibule providing a direct entrance into the living room, bedroom and kitchen.
The living room has a gracious corner fireplace and folding doors that enter the dining area. The adjoining modern kitchen features a built-in oven and counter range.
There are spacious wardrobe closets and a full bath in the bedroom wing. One of the rooms, because of its location near the front entrance, can be used as a den or office, with direct entrance from the vestibule.
On the outside, brick and vertical siding dominate the wide horizontal siding and add to the simple attractiveness of the front entrance and hip roof.
Floor area is 1485 square feet, and cubage is 27,472 cubic feet.

Insulation Shows Housewife How It Can Save Heat

A White Plains, N. Y. housewife discovered the value of thick insulation in her home the first winter washday after it was installed. Her wet laundry, left in the attic to dry, was frozen solid.

Before her home was insulated with mineral wool, heat escaping from the house through the ceiling did an efficient job of drying Mrs. Michael J. Walsh, Jr.'s laundry. But a four-inch thickness of mineral wool blown into the attic floor kept the heat out of the attic, causing the washday freeze.

Mineral wool was blown into the outside walls of the house. Since the insulation was installed, the Walsh's winter fuel bill has been reduced by half and the house is more comfortable in all seasons.

Own Room Gives Teen-Ager Pride

Girls and boys in their teens need privacy and a sense of possession. A room of their own, however modest, gives them both. Let them share in the decorating plans, and pin up their personal mementoes.

A carpet on the floor adds quiet for study hours—and for the sake of the rest of the family muffles the sounds of record-playing and late night gossip sessions.

Choose a fairly simple pattern or texture, so that decoration can change around it as the child grows, and tastes grow, too. Or, as one teenager leaves home, the next youngest can move in. There are many carpets today designed purposely to be versatile.

A room to be proud of means that teen-agers will have friends over more often—and find their fun at home.

Windows Add Style, Color To All Homes

In architectural circles, the question occasionally arises: Why not build a house without windows?

The reasons are obvious. A house needs windows for light, air, and visibility. No amount of artificial lighting can replace sunlight. Even air conditioning is no substitute for a spring breeze. And since his cave-dwelling days, man has had an inherent need to gaze outside.

Less obvious, however, is the fact that windows are also one of the best decorating elements a house has. Various shapes, sizes and styles can enhance the architectural design and color can improve the overall decorating scheme both inside and out.

Wood windows offer architects and home-owners both these advantages. Because they are made of ponderosa pine they can be painted when new to harmonize with color plans, then repainted as often as the home-owner cares to make decorating changes.

In choosing exterior colors for windows, the home-owner should observe a few points of caution, according to Practical Builder magazine, light-construction industry publication.

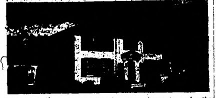
Windows, the magazine says, should be painted in warm, inviting colors which harmonize with the roof, trim and siding. Bright accent colors should be reserved for focal points, such as on the panels of a modern panel entrance door or on window boxes. One exception, Practical Builder says, is on picture windows, which frequently are painted in the accent color.

The color of windows inside depends primarily on the size of rooms and the home-owner's taste. A room can be made to appear larger by painting windows the same color as the walls. On the other hand, painting the window in a contrasting color will break up large walls expanses and add highlights.

Considerable soft warmth can be added to a room by staining the clear ponderosa pine in one of a number of shades from mahogany to blond. This retains the richness of the natural wood grain.

Choose the carpet that expresses the character of your furniture, whether it be traditional, modern or casual. Your carpet can coordinate all furnishings.

Liberty's Doorstep Restored



The front entrance of this home in Lexington, Mass., was the doorstep to American freedom, according to many New England historians.

On the morning of April 19, 1775, the owner of the house, Jonathan Harrington, crawled to the front door and died at his wife's feet after he was wounded by British soldiers breaking up a freedom demonstration.

Five of Harrington's fellow patriots also were killed in the incident, which, some historians claim, was the first skirmish of the Revolutionary War, and inspired the "Minute Men" to take up arms openly against England.

Today the Harrington house is owned by the Unitarian Church in Lexington and occupied by the pastor and his family. The house was sold to the church by a wealthy Boston business man who restored it to its original condition.

Most materials for the restoration were chosen to make the house resemble as much as possible the original structure.

A few of the windows, for example, were replaced with stock double-hung windows of ponderosa pine. Except for modern weatherstripping and operating hardware, these are exact duplicates of the handsome windows constructed centuries ago by Colonial craftsmen.

Modern asphalt shingles were chosen for the new roof to assure that the historic house would be well-protected from New England's harsh weather. Asphalt shingles are used on most new homes and are popular for remodeling because they can be applied directly over the old roofing, eliminating the mess and expense of removing the weathered material.

The basic structure, built by Colonial standards, was found to be in excellent condition. The church has promised the citizens of Massachusetts to preserve the house with regular maintenance and good care.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—Sooner or later the mortar always seems to come out of the cracks. I've filled in the concrete walls of my garage. How can I fill the cracks once and for all?

A—If you'll chisel out the crack into a dovetail-shaped hole, it will hold the mortar much better. Also, be sure you soak the hole thoroughly before you fill it.

Q—My husband left a cigarette burning in an ash tray and it caused a blister on one of my veneered tables. Is there any way I can repair this myself?

A—Try injecting some glue into the blister with an eye dropper or a syringe. If you use the eye dropper, first slit the blister lengthwise with a razor. After you've spread the glue, weight the surface heavily until the glue dries.

Nine Is Magic Number When Figuring Yardage

Always remember there are NINE square feet in a square yard when figuring your carpet needs. In this floor plan, a 12 by 18 foot living room and an adjoining 9 by 12 dining room require a total of 324 square feet of carpet. To determine the yardage, divide this number by 9, which will give you 36 square yards. Both of these average-sized rooms can be carpeted wall-to-wall plus underlay for as little as $15 a month under budget payment plans now available.

"How much carpet do I need?" and "How much will it cost me?" are two questions that automatically come up after your family has decided that "now" is the time to carpet the home.

Figuring out how much carpet is required to cover a particular area in the home is a matter of simple arithmetic. Since carpet is generally priced by the "square yard," it is necessary to determine how many square yards there are in the floors you want carpeted.

First, measure your room dimensions. A tape measure will be easiest, though a yardstick will do. Most people are accustomed to taking measurements in feet rather than yards, so measure off how many feet there are in the length of the room and then how many feet in width. Then multiply the number of feet in the length by the number of feet in the width. This will give you the square foot area of the room.

The next—and most important step is to change the square feet into square yards. Many people find this difficult since they make the common error of dividing the number of square feet by "three" instead of by "NINE." It should always be remembered that there are NINE square feet in a square yard. If you divide incorrectly by three, you will overestimate the cost of your carpet three times. So always divide by NINE.

Measure each room separately. In this diagram the living room is 12 feet wide and 18 feet long. Multiply 12 by 18 which gives you 216 square feet. For the square yardage, divide 216 by 9, which amounts to 24 square yards.

The dining room is 9 feet wide and 12 feet long. Multiply 9 by 12 for 72 square feet, and then divide 72 by 9 for 12 square yards. To carpet both rooms you will require 24 square yards for the living room and 12 square yards for the dining room, or a total of 36 square yards.

To estimate what the carpet will cost, multiply the number of square yards by the cost per yard. Padding and installation of wall-to-wall carpet are extra.

This estimate will give you a close approximation to the total cost. Your carpet retailer will be happy to take exact measurements, which allow for any irregularities in the room, and quote you a complete price in advance at no charge to you.

Carpet Eases Rural Living

Trees, birds and squirrels stay outdoors and make the country delightful. Husbands, children and dogs step inside.

Although you are glad to see them, they do muddy the floor. There is a way to prevent their tracking up the house—put carpet at every entering door.

Research, conducted under the most extreme conditions of traffic for theaters and hotels, has revealed that carpet is the most economical floor covering in terms of care. It costs less for labor to "keep-it-handsome."

This means at home that the homemaker has less work to do if carpet is on the floor. It was also discovered that carpet at an entrance prevents the tracking of dirt. This area needs more frequent attention, but the rest of the house stays clean underfoot.

Naturally, a good choice for the entrance is a subtle pattern that does not show soil. Many patterns have matching carpets in solid colors.

Carpet Makes Older Homes Act Like New

If a family is thinking about modernizing an older home, carpet should lead off the renovating list. Besides being one of the most important decorative furnishings in a home, carpet also does triple duty as a building material.

Three Roles for Carpet

First of all, it provides the best finished floor attainable for comfort and beauty. Second, it acts as an effective insulator against heat loss and cold drafts, so common in an older house. Third, carpet's sound-conditioning ability is equal to many standard acoustical materials, and helps to quiet household activity.

Using carpet as a finished floor means that a minimum of attention and expense need be paid to old floors, and the money saved can be applied to other major alterations.

Many floor faults can be concealed by covering with carpet where more extensive repairs and finishing would be necessary if the floor were left bare or covered by other materials—which would then need a rug over them.

Touch up major faults, by filling cracks or sanding ridges. Then use a rug cushion in all cases to counteract minor imperfections.

Keeps House Warm

Carpet's insulating qualities will prevent heat from being lost to the cold air or ground beneath the floor, saving fuel. And its acoustical properties will in most cases eliminate the need for installing expense sound-conditioning materials.

Glamorizing the old front hall and staircase is one major remodeling job that carpet can do effectively and inexpensively. Worn stairs and floor boards can be quickly covered with colorful carpet that is much easier to care for than bare surfaces requiring constant polishing.

Due to widespread forest fires certain areas of New England had the earliest spring thaw on record.

Carpets Provide Skid-Free Safety

When you're planning carpet for your home, don't overlook the need for carpeting your stairs and hallway.

The national Safety Council reports that falls cause the majority of accidents in the home. While the stairway can be a focal point in room beauty, it can also be a danger spot for youngsters as well as adults.

Carpet reduces the incidence of slips and slides. It protects people in a hurry. And carpet's ability to cushion falls and thus prevent serious injuries means savings in medical costs and man-hours to working members of the family.

If a fall should occur, the cushioning effect of carpet will soften the impact of the blow.

Here are a few tips to remember to insure against falls on the stairway:

1. Always use one hand on the hand-rail.
2. Keep the staircase well lighted—have a light switch at both top and bottom.
3. Don't litter the stairs with loose objects.

CUT HEATING COSTS

Studies by the University of Illinois have shown conclusively that insulation saves heating fuel. The researchers compared identical houses, one with properly installed mineral wool insulation and the other without any insulation. They discovered it cost less than half as much to heat the insulated house as it did to heat the one without insulation.

Research Leads To Finer Homes, Better Living

Engineers who design improved building materials deserve much of the credit for the comfort, convenience, and durability of today's homes.

Modern materials often are easier to handle, give better and longer service, and look better than the materials they have superseded. Yet frequently they are less costly and require less time and labor to install.

Good examples are modern floor tile, plastic counter surfacing products, interior paints and some types of wallpaper. All these are decorative, take all kinds of wear, are easy to apply and are easy to clean.

Many newer types of exterior siding have color built in and never need painting. Most of these are fire-resistant and come in sheets which can be applied quickly without special skill.

Pre-fabricated materials have made it possible to build homes with greater speed and at less labor cost. Some of these are pre-finished wallboard and wood paneling, window and door units, and various plumbing and electrical assemblies. Even swimming pools are available in complete prefabricated packages, ready for assembly.

Roofing ranks high as an engineered product. Research over the years has made asphalt shingles fire-resistant, and colorful and has given them stouter weathering ability and longer life!

This research has led to a construction technique which makes it possible for asphalt shingles to be applied on roofs with slopes as low as 2 inches per foot. As a result, homes with nearly flat roofs now can be made more modern in appearance with colorful roofing.

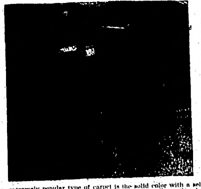
Sunny Kitchen Helps Perk Up Morning Coffee

"It's bad enough to get up and and get breakfast, and everybody off in the morning," a delegate to the Women's Congress on Housing complained, "but it's doubly difficult when you have to do it in a gloomy sunless kitchen."

Most of the 103 housewives who attended the congress in Washington, D. C., agreed that a kitchen with large windows to let in the morning sun is a must. Preferably, they said, the window area should also give a commanding view of the rear yard, so that a watchful eye can be kept on the children at play.

Casement or awning type windows of ponderosa pine are popular with many homemakers because they can be opened easily by turning a handle, and both sides can be washed from within. Also, since wood is a natural insulator, kitchen moisture won't condense on the frames or sashes. The Women's Congress further specified that the kitchen be adjacent to the dining or family area where the children play indoors. A ponderosa pine Dutch door between the two rooms lets a mother keep tabs on her youngsters while discouraging any ideas they may have about invading the kitchen and sabotaging her routine.

Monotone Pattern Is Popular



An extremely popular type of carpet is the solid color with a self-pattern, created by different levels of pile. This allows the simplicity of one hue on the floor with the style interest of a figure underfoot. These designs can be a formal leaf or scroll to suit traditional backgrounds. Or they can have a more modern feeling, such as the rich wool carpet above, with familiar forms made abstract.

More Homes To Be Heated By Electricity

Heating with electricity has grown from an experimental infant to an increasingly important force in home comfort. More than 300,000 homes in the nation will be heated completely or in part by electricity by the end of 1957.

There are two types of electric heat. One is called resistance heating. With this system, temperatures of individual rooms can be controlled to suit family tastes. Bedrooms, for example, can be kept at lower temperatures for more economy and sleeping comfort.

The second type is the heat pump, which draws heat from the outside air into the house. Working in reverse in the summer, the heat pump is an air conditioning unit, expelling heat from the house.

A house heated by electricity must be thickly insulated. Insulation brings the advantages of electric heating well within the home-owner's means.

Electric heat manufacturers recommend six inches of mineral wool insulation in ceilings, four inches in walls, and two inches in floors over unheated spaces. Homes built on concrete slabs need two inches of perimeter insulation around the edges of the slab.

Among the chief advantages of electric heating is its cleanliness, since there are no fumes or odors, and homes can be built without chimneys.

NATURAL WOOD POPULAR

A strong interest in natural woodwork contrasted with painted baseboards, doors and trim has been noted in interior decorating surveys undertaken by a Minnesota manufacturer.

Paint Removal

To remove paint from curved areas on funiture, wrap some steel wool around an ice pick or pencil. Before using, moisten the finish with paint remover.

CHECK POWER CIRCUITS

Modern electrical appliances can cause more harm than good if they overload outdated power circuits. To determine of a circuit is overloaded add the number of watts needed by each light bulb, appliance, or other fixture on the circuit. The total should not exceed the circuit's voltage multiplied by its amperage, as indicated by the capacity of the specified fuse.

Straw Hat Week Being Noted Here

The last symbol of warm weather's arrival will come into its own again this week when Memorial Day week signals the start of the straw hat season.

Locally, Mayor O. D. Beich has proclaimed this week as "Straw Hat Week". It has been noted that a few poachers have worn straws earlier in the spring but these have been declared poachers and such actions illegal in the light of Hizzoner's just-published proclamation.

Last year was a poor year for those who look forward each year to wearing something light to protect the knob from Sol's scalding rays. Anyone who yielded to the ancient and time-honored custom of throwing his straw away at the Labor Day baseball game may have discovered, too late, he had give the heave-ho to a perfectly good felt chapeau.

In short, the cool weather last year did nothing whatever to promote the wearing of straw hats in northwest Minnesota.

According to information gleaned from local men's wear and department stores, straw hat fashions this year have come under the Ivy League influence. In addition to the perennial Panama the stores have many new styles to offer those who wish to be stylish, as well as comfortable during the warm months.

In fact, the only hat not to be found on store shelves this year is the flat-crowned, flat-brimmed sailor straw.

Colors have gone more to the medium shades this year, contrasted to the darks in vogue in 1956. While a great many of the charcoal and dark grey shades are still in evidence more light greys and browns, running to tans and natural are to be seen on store shelves.

The addict to the Ivy League fashions will find local straw hat stocks to his liking. A noticeable feature of every store's selection is the great number of hats with narrow brims and flat crowns. The Ivy League hat is also a little darker-hued than its more conventional counterparts.

Practically all the hats this year offer wider bands, nor is the narrow brim restricted to the Ivy styles. The narrower brims, along with the wide bands give an illusion of height, the local haberdashers say.

Regardless of the style preferred, local burghers are urged by the mayor's proclamation to don a Leghorn, Milan or Panama, and be in the fashion swim during Straw Hat Week!

State Municipal League Meets at Duluth June 12-14

Governor Freeman, State Treasurer Val Bjornson to Speak at Sessions

A multitude of municipal problems will be diagnosed when approximately 700 city and village officials congregate in Duluth, June 12 to 14 for the 43rd annual convention of the League of Minnesota Municipalities.

League President George Martens, Alderman of Minneapolis, has been assured by host Mayor Eugene Lambert of adequate meeting arrangements, attractive local entertainment and air-conditioned weather. Local compliments will include a tour of the city, a sample "scramble" at the Duluth air-base and a smorgasbord supper (a "Night in Chungking") on the Duluth campus of the University of Minnesota.

General sessions of the convention will hear discussions of the Duluth port development, new municipal legislation, natural gas, taxes, pensions, and highways.

Separate work-shop or group meetings will be held for councilmen of smaller cities, mayors clerks, attorneys, public works officials, city managers, liquor store managers, police chiefs, juvenile officers, building inspectors, and assessors.

Mayor Andrew Broaddus of Louisville will represent the American Municipal association at the banquet session. At the final luncheon session "state-municipal relations" will be discussed by Governor Orville Freeman and State Treasurer Val Bjornson.

To Improve Sheep, Hog Barn at Fair

Shetland Ponies to Be Exhibited at '57 Event

Gordon Hunt, superintendent of livestock at the Pennington county fair, announced today that the hog and sheep barn on the fair grounds will be repaired before the 1957 fair opens July 1 by the installation of a new roof and new pews. The work will be done by the Langseth Construction Co.

This year's fair, he added, will feature in its livestock department a pony division, open to animals of the Shetland breed only.

Hunt stated that there will be no open class poultry exhibits at the 1957 fair, owing to declining interest in this department and to the poor condition of the poultry building.

Approves New Straw Hat Style

This will be a familiar scene in local men's department stores as the straw hat season gets under way this week by mayor's proclamation. New styles and lighter colors are the rule in the new straws. Shown here is Ralph Skjod, Lincoln high school director of athletics, as he tries one of the new Ivy League styles at one of the men's stores in Thief River Falls. One must admit the flat-top job adds a jaunty air!

Studies Hat From Every Angle!

Lincoln Football Coach Joe Mrkonich really tries a new hat from every angle in one of the local men's stores as he gets ready for the straw hat season which opens this week in Thief River Falls. Always a popular seller, according to haberdashers, is this Panama being tried by Mrkonich. The newest straw fashion trend is to wider bands, higher crowns and narrower brims, the merchants say.

Ends Air School

OPEN SEASON ON LOST AND FOUND

Last seen in October, his wallet was a welcome sight as Thelmer Lien came upon it while doing spring work on his farm near Luxerne—with valuable papers, cards, and currency to the extent of $81 happily intact. . . Twice within a year Al Beschemen has turned over to Brainerd police billfolds he has found, though his luck is dazzling: the first contained more than $100 the second was empty. . . . After seven years in retirement Mrs. Donald Chambers' diamond ring showed up in her Waterville garden this spring . . . Mrs. Delmar Johnson's engagement ring was gone even before Delmer was just out of service, Marilyn Erickson just out of high school, and the loss was a major calamity. But the wedding took place as scheduled. The Johnsons now living in Roseau, were thrilled to have a 10 year old "Lost" ad in Fosston, Thirteen Towns at last answered.

ROOF IS COLOR KEY

A house is built from the foundation up, but it should get its exterior scheme color from the roof down, color stylists say. Asphalt shingles, which come in many colors, including solids, blends, deep tones and pastels, give many color consultants a "key" from which to plan harmonizing colors on the rest of the house.

Women's Camp Opens at N.W. School June 11

The 32nd annual Women's Camp will be held at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on June 11-14. The camp opens with registration on Tuesday afternoon, June 11.

Each resident member of the camp will be able to participate in three handicraft activities, including woodcraft, with H. W. Soderburg of the Northwest School in charge; finishing of wooden trays, with Miss Marion Parbst, county home agent, Ada, in charge; and unusual Christmas decorations, with Mrs. Mildred Sampson of Minneapolis in charge.

The program will also include lecture-demonstrations by the following: Wednesday, June 12, "Better Care of Small Household Equipment; Better Care of Large Appliances" by Miss Data Hochhalter of the Extension Service, University of Minnesota, St. Paul and "Cake Decorating" by Earl Latch of Crookston. On Thursday, June 13, "Good Grooming and Beauty Care" by Mrs. Philip Hamre of Crookston; and "Living with Flowers" by Mrs. Ernest Zitzer of Crookston.

Friday morning, June 14, "Home Lighting" by A. O. Engen of the Otter Tail Power Company, Fergus Falls. The evening programs will include the reception on Tuesday, the banquet and square dancing party on Wednesday, and the freshmen initiation and special program on Thursday. The Recognition Assembly and Closing Exercises will be held on Friday afternoon.

Swimming in the indoor pool will again be under the supervision of Mrs. Wm. Montague of Crookston. Miss Retta Bede, head of the home Economics department at the Northwest School, is in charge of general arrangements and will serve as camp leader. Miss Bede is retiring from the Northwest School staff, in June this year, so this will be her last Women's Camp after thirty years of meritorious service to this event.

Women who are interested in attending the camp should write to the Northwest School, Crookston, Minnesota, for information regarding the camp or for a room reservation in the school dormitories.

OLD HOMES OUTSELL NEW

The National Association of Real Estate Boards reports that for every new house put on the market in the U.S., two existing homes are sold.

Rolvaag to Speak To Middle River School Graduates

Commencement Exercises Slated in Auditorium at High School Wednesday

Karl Rolvaag, lieutenant governor of Minnesota, will deliver the address at Middle River high school commencement exercises in the school auditorium Wednesday, May 29, at 8 p.m. Sixteen seniors will receive diplomas.

The program will open with the processional march by the high school band, invocation by the Rev. E. C. Bagley, salutatory by Patricia Anderson, selection by the band and the introduction of Mr. Rolvaag by John F. Palm.

Following the address, the valedictory will be given by Phyllis Lunsetter. Supt. Robert Prickett will present the class to Annen Nelson, who will confer the diplomas in behalf of the board of education. The benediction and recessional march will conclude the program.

2 TRF Students to Graduate from Moorhead College

Moorhead state college will graduate the largest number of students to receive degrees in the history of the college Sunday, June 2, at 2 p.m. in Weld Hall.

One hundred and sixty students are candidates for the spring commencement exercises which will feature Arthur Naftalin Minnesota commissioner of administration, as speaker. Receiving bachelor of science degrees will be JoAnn Sater and Marlys Vad of Thief River Falls.

Baccalaureate service takes place at 10:30 a.m. in Weld Hall. At this ceremony the Rev. Mr. Edward Pfluke of Grace Methodist Church, Moorhead, will address the graduates, faculty, and guests. Following the baccalaureate, a recognition dinner is scheduled for noon in Comstock dining hall.

Stopping Squeaks

To eliminate minor floor squeaks, use a dust type graphite gum, commonly sold for lubricating door locks. Squirt a little of the graphite between loose, creaky boards.

Old Fashioned Ideas

Man is incomprehensible without Nature, and Nature is incomprehensible without man. For the delicate loveliness of the flower is as much in the human eye as in its own fragile petals, and the splendor of the heavens as much in the imagination that kindles at the touch of their glory as in the shining of countless worlds.

—Hamilton Wright Mabie

We Remain Skeptical

A limited disarmament agreement with the Russians now seems to be a possibility. Reports emphasize the limited nature of any agreement that could be reached at this time. Not much will be expected and if nothing is accomplished the disappointment will not be great.

Experience justifies extreme caution in dealing with the Reds. It is not likely that those who speak for us are going to be unduly impressed by the usual professions of good faith.

It is well however that all proposals for curbing the armaments race be given careful consideration. We should not close the door to any suggestion that might reduce the probability of war. But until the sincerity of the parties to any pact of that kind is established we will look upon all such efforts with considerable skepticism, and it will take the Reds a long time to establish a reputation for sincerity.

As You Spend Your Own

Senator Ed Thye thinks the federal budget can safely be cut three billion dollars. With an eye on next year's election and conscious of the President's reference to "degrees of enthusiasm" in his support for congressional candidates, Thye concludes that he will not be punished for failing to go along 100% with the administration program.

We cannot fore-tell what the president will do but we feel certain that the voters of Minnesota will not punish Senator Thye for doing his own thinking as their representative in Washington. That is what he was elected to do, and we will not be angry with him if he reexamines the problem and decides a five billion dollar cut can be justified.

And while we are on this subject of spending, Thye would grow tremendously in stature if he would be guided by the recommendations of the engineers on the engineering problems. We would not like to have a section of river channel improvement, to permit a few barges to float one mile up over St Anthony Falls, referred to by future generations as Thye's folly.

Just spend those government dollars as you would spend your own Senator and the folks back here will be happy.

Power Is Explosive

Dr. Arthur F. Corey, executive secretary of the California Teachers Association, told the National Congress of Parents and Teachers at Cincinnati recently that the P.-T.-A.'s should "stop being satisfied with being an influential group and should determine to become a powerful group." We assume he would be happy if local clubs would become militant and start a march to Washington to demand federal aid for education.

We are satisfied however that this good organization will serve a better purpose if it continues to be a good influence and does not seek power. Its power, if it did achieve it, would be useful mainly to a few in the drivers seat.

Such an organization has a cross-section membership, and in the nature of things it probably would fall apart and maybe break into many pieces if an attempt were made to take a stand on controversial questions.

It will accomplish its greatest good as a clearing house for information and guidance at the local level. If it can just continue to be a good influence it will have served a useful purpose and as a good influence it is likely to survive. Power is explosive, and dangerous.

Not Only St. Cloud

(New Ulm Journal)

The appalling roundup of 33 juveniles at St. Cloud is unique only in one respect: that there was a roundup.

Conditions leading up to the roundup are by no means exclusively restricted to the Stearns county capital. Such conditions exist in every community, to greater or lesser degree, where parents have been cowed in entrusting the bringing up of their offspring to visionaries and theorists who frown on parental discipline.

Having made it unlawful for children to work until they are almost old enough to set up homes of their own, the theorists have advocated a program of coddling which teaches that corporal punishment borders on the barbaric; that parents who believe in it and practice it should be (and they have been) hauled into court as "monsters unfit to bring up a child."

Robbed of the opportunity to be gainfully employed, the youngsters have been encouraged to pursue "natural instincts," the visionaries explaining that to interfere, would "inhibit" and "serve to repress" the child, thereby robbing him of the "right" of "self expression," stifling his personality.

Denied the right to be gainfully employed, he is dependent on his parents for spending money. As a "dependent"—at an age when he should, normally, be self-supporting, his self respect is at low ebb, if not non-existent. And so he becomes resentful, rebellious. The sequence of changing attitudes is irrevocable. And so we have delinquency—erroneously, and unjustly, in most instances—charged to the child.

The Right to Criticize

(Toronto Globe and Mail)

By a dour coincidence government members of the three leading English-speaking nations of the Western World have brought their fire to bear on certain aspects of newspaper publishing.

In the United States, State Secretary Dulles has enunciated a principle under which the press of his nation would be compelled to support a government boycott of all contact, including news reporting, in the case of the countries whose governments are "not recognized" by the state department.

In Great Britain, the government declined to entertain restrictions upon what newspapers publish, but joined in endorsing a Parliamentary resolution advising the daily press to maintain higher standards of conduct.

In Canada, Prime Minister St. Laurent, in a peevish moment, suggested that critical editorial writers would be more useful in Parliament than in their office chairs, "if they think they can do a better job than the government."

These are strange goings on in a free world where personal liberty is inextricably associated with freedom of the press. Newspapers, like politicians, are not exempt from criticism. And neither are they debarred from engaging in any form of criticism short of criminality. Within that limitation, the level of good taste varies among newspapers just as it varies among political bigwigs.

The difference is that fewer newspapers than politicians claim the gift of oracular infallibility. Apart from all other considerations, newspapers are more sensitive to social reactions because their staffs are in hourly contact with every phase of human activity in their communities.

Bureaucrats, in spite of their dependence upon periodic electoral endorsation, acquire a disposition toward authoritarianism—a weakness of greater potential menace to a free society than the vagaries of the most raucous newspapers. On the whole, when political office-holders no longer can stand up under press criticism, their usefulness in a free society is nearing a end.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Silverton

The Silverton 4-H held its monthly meeting Thursday evening, May 9, at the Silverton Townhall. The meeting was called to order by Vice President Diana Bjerke. The flag and club pledges were given. Group singing was led by Mrs. Bernard Meyers. Six new members were welcomed into our club. They are Kenneth, Milton, Earl and Diane Leiran, Milton Grinde, and Paul and Gary Klungness. Roll call was answered by naming your favorite color. The secretary and treasurer's reports were read and approved. There was no old business. For new business it was decided that the club pay half of the expenses for those going to 4-H camp. The talent contest was also mentioned, and the meeting was adjourned.

The following program was presented: reading, "When Mother Stays In Bed" read by Marlene Hanson; solo "4-H Hymn" by Arlene Joppru; project talk, "How to Make a Skirt" by Donna Baker; demonstration on "Making Home Made Ice Cream was given by Raymond Nelson; project talk on "Arranging Flowers" by Carol Peterson; poem read by Earl Leiran; and a film entitled "All About Pie" was shown by Marge Olsen.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Odin Hanson and Mrs. Clarence Peterson.

New Solum

The New Solum 4-H club met on May 16th for their monthly meeting.

The regular business session was conducted by our president Larry Kron.

Information was given about the 4-H camp at Crookston.

The program consisted of several songs by the group.

Readings were given by Janice Sabo, Gail Aaseby, and Virginia Copeland. Our county agent Mr. Stelmaschuk, was present and spoke to us and showed a film on Northwest Dairy Day of 1956, which was very interesting. He also showed a movie on improvement of crops by the conservative method, and one entitled "4-H Here and There".

Committees were announced today for the Homemakers Achievement Day by County Home Home Agent Marge Olsen.

The annual event will be held on Friday, June 7th, at the Knox School Auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Planning the program was done by Mrs. Emmett Mousely of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Alton Carlson of Wyandotte Township.

On the refreshment committee are Mrs. Elvin Peterson of River Falls township and Mrs. Sullivan Traska of Cloverleaf township. They will be assisted by other homemakers.

Planning the floral decorations are Mrs. Steve Jaennette of North township and Mrs. Melvin Molden of Silverton Township.

Acting on the hospitality committee are Mrs. Carl Finstad of Rocksbury, and Mrs. Oscar Houske of Wyandotte.

HOME OWNERS QUESTION BOX

Q—The soil in some of my house plant pots has become compact and hard. Is this doing any harm?

A—Very definitely. Such hardening prevents the plant roots from obtaining enough air. You'd better plow he surface with a fork to loosen it up, but be careful not to dig deeply enough to damage the roots. Incidently, watering the plants too heavily is one of the major causes of such surface hardening.

Q—We're planning to build on a heavily wooded acre overlooking the sea near San Francisco Can we use light pastel colors on the outside of the house, or shall we stick to a rustic decor?

A—A house in a wooded setting needs color to keep it from being "lost" says Ned Abrams, prominent San Francisco architect. "A light pastel roof of asphalt shingles, for example, keeps a house from looking like it's cowering under the trees," Abrams says. Stone planting boxes, split-rail fences and redwood stains on siding, windows and doors will contribute the "rustic" theme and harmonize with most pastel roofing shades.

Q—Most of the rich topsoil around my new house was buried by the building contractor when he backfilled the foundations. What can I do to the areas to help a nice lawn to grow? The subsoil is sandy.

A—Add a one-inch layer of organic matter, such as peat or commercial humus, and mix it in with the sandy subsoil to a depth of six inches. This should make the subsoil capable of supporting a respectable lawn.

Q—What could I plant in a bare, shady, one-foot-wide strip between my driveway and the foundation of my house?

A—Lilies-of-the-valley, plantain-lilies or pachysandra each will provide greenery and some flowers. You also might use a hard, native fern such as the Christmas fern.

WASHINGTON Quiz

Q—Can you tell me what the Veterans Administration pharmacy contracts are for out-patient prescription services?

A—At one time VA maintained its own pharmacies for prescription services. In the past few years, however VA contracts with State Pharmaceutical Associations for handling out patient prescriptions. The State Associations are paid a fee by the VA based on a percentage of total value of prescriptions handled. The state association makes arrangements with individual pharmacies to handle the business and the fee paid the Association is added to the basic prescription price charged by the pharmacist. In two states, Rhode Island and Nevada, only; pharmacists participate by direct arrangement with VA. In 1956 the pharmacy bill was $2,687,683.

Q—Can you give me the date set for the referendum on wheat marketing quotas?

A—June 20, 1957, is the date set by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Q—Next to the President, who is the highest paid Federal Official?

A—The President gets $100,000 annually and the next in line is the President of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York at $60,000; President Federal Reserve of Chicago gets $40,000; of other reserve banks $30,000 and $25,000. The Vice President and the Speaker of the House each get $30,000.

Q—Does the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution have headquarters in Washington?

A—Yes. The organization occupies three buildings—Memorial Continental Hall, Constitution Hall and an Administration building between them in a block bounded by 17th and 18 streets and C and D streets, northwest. The buildings contain priceless heirlooms and paintings and the Library has 40,000 volumes and many manuscripts and genealogical records.

Q—Can you give me the official United States population in 1900?

A—The 1900 census showed 75,994,575. The estimated population July 1, 1956, was 168,091,000, a growth in 56 years of more than 92 million.

Q—Is Washington located on Tidewater?

A—Yes. The tide in the Potomac river at foot of Maine Avenue rises and falls about two feet, eleven inches.

PUBLIC OPINION

Editor Times:

I think its about time the public hears a few facts from someone in Districts 15, 46, and 76.

First, it is not a question of whether we are going to join Thief River Falls or Goodridge. Dist. 76 is operating its own school, and the question is, should the three districts operate their own schools or should they join Thief River Falls?

At the time Goodridge started to plan their building program, we were asked to vote on being included or left out. We voted 100% to be left out, and were informed by Goodridge and the Dept. of Education that we were not included. We have no intention of joining Goodridge, for there is no law that states we can not operate our own districts if we so wish.

Mr. Brown said that state officials have been asked for recommendations on this matter several times, but in every case to date have tossed it back. This is not true. We asked for a recommendation over a year ago, but the State Department must receive a plot of these districts from our county superintendent before they can act. We have been trying for over a year to get this plot in, but only last week was this accomplished.

We well understand and sympathize with the Goodridge problem, but I don't think it takes an expert to see their mistakes. All districts now in the Goodridge had their privilege to vote. Why should we be refused?

We prefer to become a part of the Thief River Falls district because we feel that would be better for us in many ways. Thief River Falls is where we go for all our services and while we like the people of the Goodridge district, we have few interests in common with them.

Mr. Wilkins stated our high school students have attended Goodridge for 40 years, but he failed to mention that in the past 15 years, over half of our high school students have attended Crookston or Thief River Falls at their own expense.

The Civil War was fought to free the slaves. We want to be free.

SALLY KENT, R.N.

By Fran Pachter

"REPORT to third floor north," was Supervisor Cone's brusk order, "You'll be in full charge of the children's wing."

Sally attempted a protest but Miss Cone cut in abruptly saying, "Mrs. Kent, I give the orders here and expect them to be carried out. Your husband may be an important man on the staff, but I run my nurses." Dismissing her she appeared to disregard the stricken look on Sally's face. Upon Sally's leaving the office, Miss Cone picked up the phone and asked for Dr. Kent. Her voice lacked the bruskness she had exhibited to Sally as she said, "Dr. Kent, I just gave your wife her assignment and it upset her dreadfully. I feel like a dog. Are you sure this is the right thing to do?"

His answer came forth clear and positive, "I've tried everything else. This has got to work."

Sally stood for a moment outside the closed door. Outwardly she appeared calm but her racing thoughts revealed her tension. I can't do it. I just can't. Didn't Miss Cone realize that the loss of her own child here in this very hospital still hurt? Of course no one knew that she had avoided all contact with children since then because she resented their good health and their being alive. Walking down the hall to her assigned ward she re-experienced the same type of gripping fear she had felt as a student nurse when she faced her first operation. She had to get hold of herself. This was much the same kind of test. The childish laughter coming from the ward filtered out to her and she prayed for courage.

The nurse in charge introduced her to the children, then turned and left. For a moment the chorus of little voices in greeting seemed to reach Sally from a far distance as she stood for a moment appraising the scene. Her last visit here had been as a visitor. Her eyes strayed to that far corner bed that had held her Donnie. A new face looked at her replacing the familiar one she half expected to see. The youngster called to her, "Hi, Mrs. Kent. Remember me? See I've still got the toy you gave me." He held aloft a mechanical monkey and Sally felt her heart gripped in a tight fist as a suffocating feeling came over her. That toy she had brought to Donnie on that last day, but he'd never seen it. Donnie had been gone from the room before she arrived! That had been over three months ago and quickly came the thought: This poor little fellow has been here all that time! She quickly busied herself with the charts wondering as she did, where had she been those three months?

She put off approaching that bed until last hoping by so doing to master cheerfulness she didn't feel. The old bitterness held her fast along with that often asked question: why had Donnie been taken? Finally she found herself at the foot of the bed that had held her son. She stared at the chart with unseeing eyes until the lads voice penetrated.

"Mrs. Kent. I'm sorry about your boy." The lad's words along with his clear blue eyes penetrated her pre-occupation bringing her back to the present. Suddenly the wording on the chart made sense.

Rhumatic Fever! How odd! The same disease that had struck down Donnie. From somewhere deep within her came a new found courage and a determination that this lad would not die. Somehow she'd spare some mother the agony she had endured. Life in that moment took on meaning for Sally. She rumpled his red curls and teased a smile to the small sober face. The grin she received in return lightened the heavy load she had been carrying. She offered up a silent prayer of thanks for the profession she had chosen. Sally Kent, R. N., had a job to do.

Mrs. Mabel Brattell visited at the Torrance Lillevold home at Grygla Wednesday evening and Thursday.

A. K. Bacon and Frank Mc Daniels spent from Wednesday until Friday in Detroit Lakes on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hustad, Jennings and John of Minneapolis spent the weekend visiting at the Harold M. Anderson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Zachar, Paulette and Steven and Mrs. William Sheedy spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Zachar's sister, Mrs. Conrad Helgenson at Pine-wood, Minn. Other guests at the Helgeson home were Robert Shoberg and son of Rochester, New York.

A baby girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anker, Jr. of Lancastaer, Calif., May 17. Mrs. Anker is the former Emma Bakke of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Belland of Chula Vista, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Belland of this city, were Tuesday evening luncheon guests at the Carl Christianson home.

Mrs. Robert Carlson and girls of Inglewood, Calif. left Monday for Minneapolis to visit at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Aase. They will leave Thursday for their home in Inglewood, after spending a month at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ballingrud.

LIBRARY NOTES

Wise is the parent who instills the reading habit early in his child. Surveys prove the good student has a background of good reading. The public library has a fine collection of books for children of all ages. Bring them to the library and help them continue their reading during the vacation period; a well occupied child is not a delinquent.

Books recently received for the adult reader are:

Ringing the Changes, by De la Roche: The autobiography of the woman who created Jalna and whose life is as endearing as one of her characters.

Mighty Stonewall, by Vandiver: In this biography the author brings to life one of the most remarkable men America has produced. Jackson's campaigns in the Civil War are discussed in detail.

Never so Few, by Chamales: A story of guerilla warfare in the Jungle of Burma during World War II.

The Twelve, by Goodspeed: The story of Christ's Apostles.

Operation Deepfreeze, by Dufek: This is the story behind the news of the most extensive polar expedition in history, written by the man who commanded it.

First Lady of the Seeing Eye, by Frank: The heart-warming story of the first dog guide and her master who together pioneered The Seeing Eye.

Portage Bay, by Wellman: Muskie and Wall-eye fishing and beautiful Lake of the Woods are vividly described by the nationally famous author (Walls of Jericho, Iron Mistress, Death on Horseback) Mr. Wellman has enjoyed this Minnesota vacation haven for the last decade. He is truly "selling Minnesota" to his many readers. It should be most interesting to residents of this locality.

Warden Ragan of Joliet, by Erickson: The story of a famous warden of one of the world's toughest prisons.

The Outdoor Encyclopedia, edited by Ted Kesting: The editor of Sports Afield has compiled this handbook on outdoor living and recreation. There are 22 chapter headings. A few are: Water skiing; Archery; Boating; Fishing; Cabins and outdoor accessories.

This Valley, This Hill, by Borland: On his hillside in New England Hal Borland has watched the season pass, from spring to spring, and all that he has seen is glowingly recorded in this book.

Traveler in the Wilderness, by Sumner: One woman (sixty-four is the right age for adventure) and seven men in an out-of-this world adventure by rubber raft relate their experiences through the hazardous canyons of the Green and Colorado Rivers.

Tropical Fish in your Home, by Axelrod: This book will remove the veil of mystery from the fascinating hobby of collecting tropical fish. Each problem is completely analyzed so that everyone from teen-age up can understand every word and idea.

The following taking part in the catechezis were Wayne Aubol of Bethang parish, John Lease, Glennis Iverson and Irene Hoffman of Goodridge parish, Allan Hyland, Gary Morrison, Obert Sunsdahl, Howard Sjueltad, Norma Kriel, Lavonne Anderson, Doris Nelson, Eldonna Sunsdahl, Phyllis Omlid, Sandra Sjuestad, and Donna Scholfer.

Plan Sunday School Program And Picnic

The Sunday school teachers and superintendent of the Ekelund congregation met at the dinning hall last Thursday evening and made plans for the Sunday school program and picnic which will be held on Sunday, June 2nd. Those attending were Mrs. Kriel, Supt., Mdmes. H. Roisland, R. Parnow, J. Schlofer, H. Solberg, G. Sjulestad, C. Dahlen, M. Fjeld, P. Lovly, S. Sjulestad, and V. Iverson. Mrs. Kriel served lunch following the meeting.

J. W. Erlandson of Plummer was a Sunday visitor at the Swen Sjulestad home.

Mrs. Wm. Zavoral left Thursday evening for a visit with her daughters and their families in Wisconsin and also with her sons and families, Jerome Zavoral of Chicago and Ernest Zavoral of Butler, Penn. She expects to be gone about two weeks.

4-H Notes

The 4-H members of the Star club who whish to participate in the demonstrations for the county fair should let the leaders or Extension office know by the 1st of June.

In changing presidents, Latin Americans make more noise and do the job quicker than North Americans do, but they don't have nearly so much fun.

Baby Needs Tenderness

It comes natural to love a baby or a puppy. They require care and comfort, but they do not ask for it. All they do is depend. The chance to love them is a great privilege.

Babies need safety, warmth and quiet in order to grow and enjoy life while streching new limbs. They learn to laugh which is natural to human beings just as puppies wag their tails. Happiness at all ages depends on comfort.

A carpet in the nursery is one first step to add a necessary warm climate. Parents can tiptoe to make a middle-of-the-night look, because carpet is quiet underfoot.

A carpet in the growing-up room provides a bouncing board for the child learning to walk. The less the bumps hurt, the less the wails—which is a good investment for parents in peace of mind, not to mention safety for the small ones.

Every child needs to bump his head and get over it, but it might as well be done with a minimum of tears.

Asks Commission to Name Air Base

Senator Suggests Names for New Twin City Base

Senator Hubert H. Humphrey has suggested to Governor Orville L. Freeman that he appoint a commission to recommend to the Air Force a name for the new Bethel Air Base soon to be constructed north of the Twin Cities.

In a letter to Governor Freeman this week, Senator Humphrey revealed that "a number of suggestions" had been made to him concerning the naming of the Bethel base after a Minnesotan who has been prominent in the history of our military forces.

"I know," Senator Humphrey wrote, "that such names as General Lauris Norstad, Major General Melvin J. Maas, Colonel Charles E. Lindberg, and Colonel Ernest B. Miller have been made to me, and I am sure that such a commission would find several other outstanding individuals."

All four of the men mentioned by Senator Humphrey have gained fame in the armed services of the nation. General Norstad is Supreme Allied Commander, Europe; General Maas is presently chairman of the President's Committee on Employment of the Physically Handicapped; Colonel Lindbergh, in addition to his history making flight across the Atlantic, served with the Air Force during World War II; Colonel Miller is former Director of Minnesota's civil defense program and a famous survivor of the Bataan Death March in the Philippines.

Driving and Poor Vision to Be Topic of Optometrists

Specific case histories on how vision—or rather the lack of it—affects many highway accidents in Minnesota will greet attendants to the 57th annual convention of the Minnesota Optometric Association this weekend in Detroit Lakes. Convention sessions, which run June 1, 2, 3, will be held at Edgewater Beach Hotel there, according to Dr. J. G. Neitzke, Detroit Lakes, general chairman.

Among other things optometrists and motorists will learn are two basic facts about glare and sunglasses, and how both can affect driving ability. According to Dr. Neitzke, "Eyes exposed to bright sunglare during the day have low resistance to the glare of oncoming headlights at night. Therefore sunglasses should be worn whenever sunlight is intense, such as on the beach, golf course, or highway.

"However," points out Dr. Neitzke, "sunglasses should never be worn for night driving. While they protect the driver against the glare of oncoming hedlights, they lower visibility far below safety and cause more accidents than they prevent."

Modern tires can withstand an impact of 21,800 pounds at 125 miles an hour—more than the full landing jolt of a jet fighter plane.

Dairy Day in TRF June 11

200 Dairy Calves and 33 Princess Aspirants Expected

Approximately 200 calves will compete in the dairy calf show, and 33 pretty girls from ten counties will vie for the title of Dairy Princess at the eighth annual Northwest Dairy Day to be held in Thief River Falls Tuesday, June 11, it was announced today by Stuart McLeod, president of the Northwest Dairy Improvement association, sponsor of the event.

Pennington county agent Paul Stelmaschuk stated that this county will be represented in the calf show by about 80 entries, while local aspirants for the Dairy Princess title are JoAnn Johnson, Kratka; Geraldine Swick, Rocksbury; and Joyce Helgeland, Smiley.

Judges of the princess contest will include Mrs. George Pedersen, wife of the manager of the Twin City Milk Producers assn., and Ray Wolf of the University of Minnesota, who served as judges last year; and Jim Hall of Minneapolis.

The girl chosen as Northwest Dairy Princess will go on to compete at the state fair in St. Paul in August for the title of Princess Kay of the Milky Way, who will be placed on salary for a year to promote the dairy industry. To give the girl selected more of a dairy background, the rules this year require that her parents live on a dairy farm.

The program this year, as in the past, will open with registration of calves, followed by judging, which will continue until early in the afternoon, to be followed by the showmanship contest and the presentation of awards to the exhibitors of the grand champion purebred and grade animals and the breed champions.

W. S. Moscrip, chairman of the Minnesota Dairy Industry committee, recently selected an outstanding purebred Holstein calf which will be presented on Dairy Day to Sylvia Roragen of Fertile, who showed the grand champion grade calf at the 1956 show. A similar prize is offered at this year's event, while the exhibitor of the grand champion purebred will be given a trip to the Waterloo, Iowa, Dairy Congress.

Judges of the calf show this year will be H. W. Filk, president of the Minnesota Holstein Breeders association, and Dale Blank of Waseca, young dairymen who is graduating in June from the U. of M. college of agriculture.

Following the presentation of awards, the young lady selected as Northwest Dairy Princess will be introduced, together with her attendants. The day's events will conclude with a parade including the princess candidates riding in convertibles, bands, floats and all the calves entered in the show.

Before leaving for home, the young exhibitors and their parents will be presented with box lunches.

As an added feature of this year's show, all winners of purebred calves in former Dairy Days have been asked to bring them, together with their progeny, as a practical demonstration of the merit of high-bred animals.

Dr. Twete Admits Underpaying Tax

Pleads Guilty to Charge in Federal Court Monday

Dr. Leonard R. Twete, Thief River Falls veterinarian, pleaded guilty in United States district court in Minneapolis Monday to income tax evasion.

Judge Dennis F. Donovan ordered pre-sentence investigation.

Twete pleaded guilty to one count of a three-count indictment returned by a federal grand jury.

The count involved income tax payment for 1952 of $1,043 on claimed taxable income of $5,530. The government contended his taxable income that year was $29,103 and that tax due was in excess of $9,465.

George MacKinnon, district attorney, said the government will move for dismissal of the other two counts at the time of sentence.

Speaker Monday

ANDREW L. FREEMAN manager of the Minnkota Power Cooperative of Grand Forks, who will discuss developments in the field of power production and distribution in the area at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club Monday noon. Members of the Lions club will meet jointly with Rotary.

Missouri River power, contracted for by the city, will be brought here over Minnkota lines and Minnkota will also supplement Bureau power as needed. It is expected that this service will be made available by October.

Seek Housing for Area Vocational Students in Fall

Residents with Rooms to Rent Asked to Call Chamber of Commerce

Suitable housing is needed for out-of-town students who are enrolling for the September opening of the Area vocational school. Housing is required for fifty to seventy-five students. Many of these students desire rooms with kitchen privileges, others would prefer room plus breakfast and their evening meal, some would prefer to eat all of their meals at a private home or boarding club, while still others would prefer only a room and would plan to eat their meals at a restaurant.

Local people who will have accommodations available for students as of September first are urged to contract the Chamber of Commerce office in the city Auditorium. Information as to type of facilities available and approximate charges should be made available to the Chamber office, either in person or by telephone. The telephone number is 750.

It is urgent that these listing be made immediately as all rooms must be approved by the school. Many of these students desire to make definite arrangements for accomodations at an early date.

Name Committees on Homemaker Day

Annual Event Scheduled for Friday, June 7th

Homemakers Achievement Day committees were announced today by County Home Agent Marge Olsen. The annual event will be held on Friday, June 7, at the Knox school auditorium in Thief River Falls.

Planning the program was done by Mrs. Emmett Mousley of Thief River Falls and Mrs. Alton Carlson of Wyandotte township.

On the refreshment committee are Mrs. Elvin Peterson of River Falls township and Mrs. Sullivan Traska of Cloverleaf township. They will be assisted by other homemakers.

Planning the floral decorations are Mrs. Steve Jaennette of North township and Mrs. Melvin Molden of Silverton.

Acting on the hospitality committee are Mrs. Carl Finstad of Rocksbury and Mrs. Oscar Houske of Wyandotte.

$5 Per Capita Is Hope for TRF from State Road Funds

Deputy Highway Chief Explains New Law at Detroit Lakes Monday

Cities of more than 5,000 population may get an average of $5 per capita in aid for a system of state-municipal streets now being established, local officials were told at a meeting of state highways department officials at Detroit Lakes Monday.

According to the formula that has been established for this aid, half of the money available will be distributed to the cities on a population basis and half on the basis of need. The $5 per capita was an estimate on what the average payment probably would be.

On this basis Thief River Falls could expect to receive about $35,000 from this source. About five miles of local streets will be included in this system, it is estimated.

Attending the meeting from Thief River Falls were C. W. Rodekuhr, county auditor; A. F. Berge, president of the city council, D. H. Stewart, city engineer; Hugh Carlson and Lloyd Quesnell of the citizens advisory committee on city streets and J. M. Roche, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

A. O. Torgerson, assistant commissioner, represented the state highway department.

Immunization of School Pupils Is Completed May 24

Finishes Project That Got under Way in Local Schools Last November

The school immunization program was finally completed May 24, when the last "shots" were given to several children needing the diphtheria-tetanus series of two shots, Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, reported.

November and December had been designated as school immunization months. At that time 211 diphtheria boosters were given and 92 smallpox vaccinations. At the request of the PTA council the school was asked to conduct an additional program to encourage larger participation. In April this was done with second shots just completed. An additional 243 diphtheria-tetanus shots were given plus 67 smallpox vaccinations.

The school program included only grade children, who are now well protected. The response in high school was poor, so the per cent of adequately protected students is still low in grades 7 through 12, Mrs. Race said.

The student nurses, both rural affiliates and practical, from Northwestern hospital, assisted with immunizations given by local doctors.

2 Men Take over Texaco Station

Station on Main av. Sold to G. F., Lake Bronson Men

Announcement is made in this issue by Larry Prosser and Carl Berg of their purchase of the Texaco station on Main Ave. at 6th street, to be operated by them as Corner Texaco Service.

In addition to general station service and the sale of Texaco products they will serve as a sales and service agency for Firestone car and tractor tires and Firestone home and auto supplies.

Larry Prosser, until recently, was associated with his brother in the implement and gas business at Lake Bronson. Carl Berg comes from Grand Forks were he has been employed by Loft's 906 tire station. They both are family men and each has two children.

Jury in District Court to Report Monday, June 3d

The call for the petit jury to report for duty in Pennington county district court, scheduled to report May 27, has been deferred to Monday, June 3. It was announced late last week by Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston, who will preside.

146 at Lincoln Are Graduated Tuesday Night

Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, Head of Moorhead College, Is Speaker

The Lincoln high school gymnasium was packed to capacity Tuesday evening when 146 Lincoln graduates received their diplomas in impressive commencement exercises.

The exercises opened with the processional march played by the high school orchestra directed by James Solsten, followed by the salutatory by Jeanne Dahlen, the valedictory by John Lynskey and two selections by the high school chorus under the direction of Bryant Ulseth.

Supt. J. A. Sater introduced the commencement speaker, Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, president of Moorhead state college, who undertook to answer the question, "Why do we educate?", pointing out that no nation in history has undertaken as broad an educational program as has the United States.

Dr. Knoblauch stated that the high standards enjoyed by this nation are due to an educated citizenry, and that if we are to continue to maintain our position of leadership and our way of life, we must continue to give our children the best education possible.

Discussing the question, "Why do we give our children so much?", he pointed out that among our gifts are the privilege of serving in the armed forces, a share in total debts of $600 billion and a gurantee that through the operation of our tax system, they won,t get rich.

Despite the current talk about juvenile delinquency, he stated, only four per cent of our youth get into trouble with the law.

F. Miles Nelson, senior high school principal, presented the class to Dr. M. D. Starekow, president of the board of education, who conferred the diplomas. He called attention to the notable improvements in the school system's physical plant being completed this year, and he also praised Supt. Sater, who is leaving for Brainerd this summer, for his contributions to the local system.

Paul E. Anderson, director of secondary education, conferred certificates on 18 graduates of the teacher training department.

The exercise closed with the recessional march played by the orchestra.

LEGION PARADE ROUTE

Those wishing to select a strategic point from which to view the Legion convention parade Saturday at 5 p.m. will find the parade route listed on page 3.

9th District Legion Sessions Open Friday

Officials at Ninth District Legion Convention

DON FISH Ninth District Commander — EVERETT Z. GETTEN Department Commander — REV. EUGENE CONNELLY Ninth District Chaplain

The Rev. Father Eugene Connelly Ninth district Legion chaplain, will deliver the address at memorial exercises Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Riverside park amphitheatre as a feature of the Ninth district American Legion convention in this city. Mr. Getten will speak at the Legion's closing business session Saturday afternoon, and Don Fish of East Grand Forks will conduct the session.

Parade Saturday at 5 p.m. Promises to Be Spectacular Show

Hundreds of Legionnaires and auxiliary members from throuout this section of the state will converge on Thief River Falls this week-end for their annual Ninth district convention, which opens here Friday and will continue until Sunday afternoon.

Outstanding features of the convention, so far as the general public is concerned, will be the torchlight Friday at 9 p.m., the spectacular main convention Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, and the memorial parade Sunday preceding memorial exercises in Riverside park at 2 p.m.

Appearing in a box elsewhere on this page is the route to be followed by the main convention parade, which will be made up of more than 1000 units, including a dozen high school bands, Ninth district Legion band, the Winnipeg Police pipers band, the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, also of Winnipeg; The TRF Legion municipal band, Bridgeman Half-pints and a large number of other marching units and floats.

Following registration Friday morning, the convention will be called to order at 1:30 p.m. when welcomes will be extended by Mayor O. D. Beich and Ellsworth Jorgenson, commander of the TRF post, with the response by Kenneth Flom.

Sessions will be resumed Saturday at 9 a.m., with District Commander Don Fish of East Grand Forks calling for committee reports. Speakers at the afternoon session will include Mrs. Joel Osmundson, department president of the auxiliary; Mrs. A. W. Nimens of Crookston, 9th district president; Department Commander Everett Getten; Rev. Denzil Carty, department chaplain; W. B. Carroll of the Veterans administration center; and Robert Wilson, national committeeman for rehabilitation.

Election of officers for the coming year and of delegates to the national convention of the Legion will complete the business meeting.

A dance will be held in the Legion club rooms both Friday and Saturday evenings.

Legionnaires to Hold Memorial Services in Park Sunday at 2

The closing event of the Ninth district convention of the American Legion and auxiliary in Thief River Falls will be an impressive memorial service Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the beautiful setting of the Riverside park amphitheatre. Donald J. Fish, district commander, will preside.

Preceding the exercises, a procession headed by the Ninth district Legion band will form at the Auditorium at 1:15 p.m. and will proceed to the park.

The program will open with selections by the band, seating of Gold Star parents, advance of the colors by the Alvarado post, invocation by the Rev. E. C. Mead and a vocal solo by Bryant Ulseth.

The memorial address will be delivered by the Rev. Eugene Connelly, Ninth district chaplain, following which a memorial tribute to the departed will be paid by Commander Donald Fish and Mrs. A. W. Nimens, district auxiliary president.

The Company F firing squad of this city will render the salute to the colors, after which taps will be sounded by the band and Rev. Marvin Carlson will offer the benediction.

In case of inclement weather, the exercises will be held in the adjoining National Guard armory.

Moorhead College to Offer Summer Courses in City

Moorhead State college is planning to offer a summer program in Thief River Falls if enough persons are interested. The first course to be held is Physical Education 348. The first meeting of the class is scheduled for the library of the Northrop School on Monday, June 10, at 8:30 a.m. The course will continue through June 26.

The second course is English 422, Shakespeare and His Age. This course will start on June 27 and continue through July 17.

Both of these courses offer four quarter hours of college credit. Persons interested in taking the courses should contact Kermit Eastman.

Busy Schedule For District Auxiliary Here

Sessions Set for Saturday in Lincoln School Auditorium

Activities of the American Legion auxiliary at its Ninth district convention in Thief River Falls Saturday were announced today by Mrs. George L. Biddick of this city, past district president and general chairman of the committee in charge of convention arrangements.

Delegates will register Friday at the Legion club rooms and Saturday from 8 to 9 a.m. at Lincoln high school, where sessions will be held, with Mrs. A. W. Nimens, district president, in charge. Local members are asked to register Friday. The fee is $2.

Mrs. Norman Peterson will lead in the singing of the national anthem, followed by the invocation by Mrs. Odin Hitterdal, district chaplain. Welcomes will be extended by Mrs. John S. Jatanson, president of the local unit, and Mayor O. D. Beich, followed by the response by Mrs. Carmen Ege, district vice president.

Next will come the introduction of special guests including Mrs. Joel Osmundson of Adams, Minn., department president; Mrs. C. J. Paulson, national committeewoman; Everett Z. Getten, department commander of the Legion; and Donald Fish, Ninth district commander.

A brief memorial service for members who died in 1956-7 will be conducted by Mrs. Kenneth Halldin and Mrs. Elmer Andersen of this city and Mrs. Hitterdal, district chaplain. District officers and committee chairmen will then submit their annual reports.

Following a noon luncheon in St. Bernard's dining hall honoring Gold Star mothers, a joint session will be held with the Legion in the city Auditorium at 1:30, with the auxiliary reconvening at 2:30 to hear reports of unit presidents and the resolutions committee.

President of Soo Veterans Assn. Is Speaker Saturday

James Dixon of St. Paul Addresses Local Group; O. D. Gifford to Retire

The local chapter of the Soo Line Veterans association met in the lounge room at Masonic Temple Saturday evening. V. F. Robarge, president of the chapter, called on James L. Dixon, retired conducter, of St. Paul, president of the veterans association, who spoke about the annual meeting to be held at the Leamington Hotel in Minneapolis Saturday, June 15, at 9:00 A. M.

Ernest J. Borchart, retired shop foreman, of Minneapolis, a director, spoke about the activities of the association and said that it is expected that there will be 1000 members in the near future.

Any employee with 25 years of service is eligible to membership in the association, which serves as a contact for the retired employes with one another and the employes still in service.

Olin D. Gifford, general agent, reported that he is retiring next month and moving with his family to Montana. Members wished the Gifford family the best of luck in their new home.

Lunch was served by a committee headed by Mrs. F. L. Monroe vice president, followed by a social hour.

Effective this week, children under 12 will be admitted free to the Falls and Avalon theatres if accompanied by their parents, Ward Nichols, manager, announced, adding that the policy will be effective until September 1.

Memorial Day Calls for Careful Driving

"Make it a safe and sane holiday!"

"I remember when that only referred to the Fourth of July", Harry A. Sieben, state director of highway safety, said, "because of the excessive use of explosives and the many injuries that resulted from fireworks.

"But today we have something just as explosive and apparently more dangerous than old time fireworks. Today, we have a tankful of high octane gasoline, too often mixed with the fireworks of alcohol in the driver."

It is just as important over the Memorial Day weekend, said Sieben, to make it a "safe and sane holiday." Unsafe driving habits and insane attitudes can do as much to kill and injure our neighbors as did fire-crackers.

The safety director pointed out that the attitude of drivers is probably the most important factor in preventing accidents. Impatience to get ahead of the other fellow, cutting in and out of lines of traffic, jumping stop lights are indications of that bad attitude, he said.

"When Governor Freeman declared a state of emergency over this weekend," Sieben declared "he realized that it didn't refer to the automobiles, but to the drivers. Cars, by themselves, do not cause the tragedies of death on the highway. In every accident reported to the highway department, driver failure is indicated on the part of one or more of those involved.

"This state of emergency involves people whose carelessness and lack of regard for the welfare of others endangers other people. That is why it becomes necessary to augment our Minnesota Highway patrol with National Guard troops during this emergency period."

Beginning Wednesday, May 29, and continuing through Sunday, June 2, all available patrol officers will be on duty. Guardsmen will assist the officers in areas of high traffic volumes and severe accident frequencies. The guardsmen will be on duty in all patrol districts with work schedules dependent on local conditions.

Veterans Graves in County All Have Been Decorated

Graves of all veterans in Pennington county cemeteries were decorated with flags and poppies this week by M. E. Levenson and H. B. Rafteseth of the veterans' committee in charge. They asked that anyone knowing of a grave that may have been overlooked to notify either of them so that the omission may be corrected.

Sandberg Speaks on Grade A Milk Setup at Rotary

Elmer Sandberg, manager of the milk department and field man for Grade A operations for Land O'Lakes in this area, gave his classification talk at the Rotary club meeting Monday.

He reported on the progress of the Grade A program in this community, stating that by July 1 there would be about fifty bulk tanks in service on local farms. More Grade A producers are needed, he said, to meet the expanding market that is being served from here.

Following his talk there was a short discussion on the possibility of expanding the arena, providing more adequate seating capacity for hockey spectators and also needed ice for curling, a sport in which there is growing interest.

For the guidance of motorists and pedestrians, a city crew this week is engaged in painting white lines at the intersections of paved streets in the downtown district. Police request that the markings be heeded.

Kathleen Walker Says Vows With Patrick Hurley

Kathleen V. Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Walker of this city, and Patrick A. Hurley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hurley of Fargo, North Dakota were united in marriage Saturday, May 25 at St. Bernards Catholic church. Rev. Father Keough Patnode performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 60 friends and relatives. William Walker, brother of the bride and Bob Barrett, friend of the couple served at the nuptial mass.

Beverly Kleinvachter, presided at the organ for the traditional wedding march and accompanied the soloist, Patrick Altringer as he sang "Ave Maria" while the bride knelt at the altar of the Virgin Mary.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a ballerina length gown of Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over layers of net and satin, featuring a sabrina neckline with tiny buttons extending down the back and long Mary Stuart sleeves which came to a point over her wrists. Her skirt was styled in an apron effect, with cascades of ruffles extending down the back, accented with a satin bow. Her fingertip veil of French illusion net was held in place by a band of satin petals and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Audrey Mortenson, friend of the bride was the only attendant and she was attired in a dress of white nylon with apple blossom design worn over a slip of white taffeta, fashioned with a fitted bodice and a pink cummerbund. She wore a pink picture hat and carried a crescent style bouquet of pink roses, carnations and mums with pale green satin streamers. Her only jewelry was a matched set of pearl necklace and earrings, gift from the groom.

John Hurley stood with his brother as best man. Ushers were James and Brian Walker. They all wore white carnation boutonnieres.

Mrs. Walker, mother of the bride, chose a wedgewood blue taffeta dress with beige accessories and Mrs. Hurley, mother of the groom wore a navy blue suit with white accessories. They both wore corsages of pink and white carnations.

A reception was given in the church parlors following the ceremony by the bride's parents. Mrs. Theone M. Brown, aunt of the bride cut the cake and Mrs. John R. Wenty registered the guests. The gifts were arranged by Karen Rogers and Alice Vandal and the waitresses were Ivadell Kleinvachter, Doris Pic, Patricia Beck and Marie Eresman.

For her going away, the bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories.

Miss Walker is a graduate of Lincoln high school and the Minnesota School of Business college of St. Scholastica.

Mr. Hurley is a graduate of the North Dakota Agriculture college in Fargo and is attending Pennsylvania State.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Hurley, Mike Jones, Bob Barrett, Dick Tetrault, Dennis Wright, Tony Hoffman, Ray Zink, John Hurley, Mrs. Ivadell Kleinvachter all of Fargo, Patricia Beck, Marie Eresman of Devils Lake, No. Dak., Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hurley of Sioux Falls, So. U. S. Savings Bonds play an important part in both personal and national money management. The saver keeps the bond to protect his future; the Treasury uses the money to manage the national debt so as to protect the nation's economy.

The payroll savings plan for buying U. S. Savings bonds began in private industry in August, 1938. Today around 8½ million wage and salary earners in this country are buying series E Savings Bonds on that plan.

Steady Progress Made on St. John's Church Edifice

A new sign has been placed on the corner of First st. and Pine av. stating that the building being erected there is the future St. John's Lutheran Church edifice. Almost uninterrupted progress has been made recently in construction work. The basement walls are completed, the underground plumbing is nearly all installed, and the chimney is going up. Many hours of labor have been donated by members of the church. Soon it will be possible to set the date of the cornerstone laying. "Some time in fall" is about all anyone will say when speaking of the date of completion of the new church, said the Rev. A. C. Seitz, pastor.

PLAY Within Bounds

In summertime, many people try to crowd a week of strenuous play into a weekend—or a year's activities into a short vacation. As a result, they "play themselves out"—suffer fatigue and the more serious consequences of exhaustion. Be wise—enjoy the fun and benefits of exercise—in moderation. Play within bounds of common sense. If you have any doubts about what you can, or cannot do—ask your doctor. He is qualified to advise you. Remember—being "played out" is no fun at all.

Tips on Planting Window Box Given

'U' M. Floriculturist Offers Suggestions

A window or porch box may be the accent your house front needs to provide interest.

According to R. E. Widmer, floriculturist at the University of Minnesota, a good soil mixture, planting materials adapted to the exposure, and attention are among the requirements for successful window box plantings.

A rich, well drained soil is important, with enough humus to hold considerable moisture. Equal parts of sand, peat moss and good garden soil make a satisfactory mixture. To each bushel Widmer recommends adding half pound of a low-analysis, complete fertilizer such as 6-10-4 or 5-10-5.

A common mistake in planting window boxes is using too many kinds of plants. Usually two or three kinds are enough, Widmer says. Keep in mind attractive color combinations when selecting flowering plants. Trailing vines and green foliage go well with all flowering plants.

The amount of sunlight a window box receives plays an important role in determining what plant materials to use. For boxes with a northern exposure the University floriculturist suggests tuberous begonias, fuchsias, browallia and torenia for flowers; for foliage, coleus, ferns, strawberry geranium, wandering jew, vinca and chlorophytum or spider plant.

Boxes having eastern or northwestern exposures are suitable for begonias, asters, balsam, lobelia, geraniums, pansies, violas and vinca. For southern, southeastern or southwestern exposures, plant ageratum, alyssum, lantana, petunia, annual phlox, portulaca, salvia, dwarf marigolds, verbenas or geraniums.

No. Central Opens Service G. Forks to Omaha Saturday

Three Governors Will Share Inaugural Flight on Company's New Route

World War II Air Ace Gov. Joe Foss of So. Dak. will be honorary captain aboard North Central Airlines' inaugural flight from Grand Forks, No. Dak., to Omaha, Neb. Saturday Morning.

His fellow "flight crewmen" will be Gov. Victor Anderson of Nebraska, Gov. Herschel C. Loveless of Iowa and Lt. Gov. Clyde Duffy of No. Dak.—all representing the states linked by North Central's new service between Grand Forks, No. Dak., and Omaha.

Lt. Gov. Duffy will board at Grand Forks, Gov. Foss at Sioux Falls, So. Dak., Gov. Loveless at Sioux City, Ia., and Gov. Anderson at Norfolk, Neb. (Other cities served on the north-south route are Fargo, No. Dak., Watertown and Brookings, So. Dak.

Outfitted in regulation North Central Airlines captain uniform, Gov. Foss will become commissioned a "Northliner Captain" when North Central Stewardess JoAnn Borseth, winner of the Miss Spirit of St. Louis title as the world's ideal airline stewardess, pins flight wings on his cap and blouse.

Also on board the inaugural flight, which leaves Grand Forks at 7:30 a.m., will be officers of North Central Airlines, including Arthur E. A. Mueller, chairman of the board, Hal N. Carr, president, and Frank N. Buttomer, vice president.

Fair Holiday Skies in Prospect Here

Weather Forecaster Sees No Rainfall Here

The weatherman is doing his best, apparently, for folks in the northwest Minnesota area thru the first summer holiday. The forecast has no mention of moisture at all and the fine weather is scheduled to last at least through Friday. Of course, being human, Mr. Weatherman could be wrong but one dares hope.

According to the Wednesday Minneapolis Tribune weather map a weak frontal system was hanging over the northwest Tuesday and centered near Regina, Sask., with the lower half of the air dangling through Great Falls, Mont.

Temperatures here have warmed considerably since Monday's near-freezing 33. The mercury climbed to a pleasant 65 that same day and Tuesday soared to 77 with a low of 47 registered. The Wednesday low was a cool 42.

The KTRF area forecast is for partly cloudy skies and little temperature change through Memorial Day. High temperature today will be in the upper 70's and the low will be in the 40's. Winds will be easterly, 10 m.p.h. today, changing to light variable tonight.

Low humidity will prevail through Tuesday and the Friday outlook is for little temperature change and no precipitation, a note funseekers will greatly appreciate!

Local Student Is June 10 Graduate of Macalester

The Macalester College News Service reports that Richard Dahlquist, Macalester senior from Thief River Falls, is a candidate for graduation at commencement exercises at 10 a.m. Monday, June 10. Commencement speaker will be Dexter M. Keezer, vice-president of McGraw Hill publishing company, New York, New York.

Richard is majoring in music and minoring in pyschology. He has been active in campus affairs. His hobby is working with amateur radio.

Richard graduated from Kingsburg high school, Calif., 1948. Before coming to Macalester he attended Bethel college, 1948-52. He is the son of Rev. R. A. Dahlquist, Thief River Falls.

Sunday afternoon prior to commencement day Richard will attend the college's Baccalaureate exercises at 4 p.m. Baccalaureate speaker will be Rev. Clayton Williams, pastor of the American Church, Paris, France.

Community Fetes Must Not Block Trunk Highways

L. P. Zimmerman, State Highway Commissioner, Calls Attention to Law

State Highway Commissioner L. P. Zimmerman today cautioned city and village governing bodies against possible violation of state law by closing or obstructing trunk highways in connection with community celebrations. The warning is given yearly by the Highway department at the approach of the season for such festivities.

In a letter to all city and village mayors and councils, the commissioner pointed out that "Established regulations definitely prohibit obstructing traffic on state trunk routes in connection with the holding of community celebrations, carnivals, festivals and similar assemblies."

"Municipal officials," said Commissioner Zimmerman, "have no authority to detour traffic from trunk highways for such purposes, and members of any local governing body who attempt to so detour traffic are acting outside of their authority.

"It is obvious that trunk highways must be kept open, except in the case of an extreme emergency which might arise out of an accident, or perhaps during the actual movement of a procession or a parade which might temporarily blockade the highway. In no case can the erection of stands, buildings, tents, concessions or other similar encroachments be permitted."

He said that neither the highway department nor any governmental agency has legal authority to close off or permit the closing off of a trunk highway except as it may be necessary for construction or repair operations. Consequently the Highway department cannot consent to the closing of a trunk highway for any other purposes, he pointed out.

Campaign to Improve Rural Mail Boxes Set

Improvement of rural mail boxes will be stressed on routes in the Thief River Falls community as part of a national observance for two weeks starting June 3rd.

Postmaster R. J. Dryden calls attention to five points that will be stressed during Rural Mail Box Improvement Week:

(1) Where needed, patrons are encouraged to erect and maintain suitable boxes with easy and safe accesses, neat in appearance, and affording protection to mail.

(2) Paint mail boxes and box supports.

(3) Inscribe names of box owners clearly on side of box visible to carrier as he approaches.

(4) Patrons group boxes together at one side along road whenever practicable.

(5) Make sure boxes are located on proper side of road — righthand side in direction carrier drives when covering his route.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield says that Rural Mail Box Improvement campaigns 'have been of tremendous benefit in assuring safe delivery of the mails, and in helping to beautify rural America."

A recent check of the rural mail boxes disclosed that of the 910 boxes served on the 5 routes out of Thief River Falls 2 boxes were not of an approved type, 3 did not protect the patron's mail for lack of a door, 3 should be raised, 2 lowered and 1 had an approach that was not filled in. 21 boxes did not have flags. Since a carrier does not stop at a box unless he has mail for the patron or unless the flag is raised, letters posted in these boxes probably would not be picked up promptly.

Bemidji College Plans Summer Tour

Students Get College Credit for Traveling

The "Travel for Credit" bus tour, a special feature of the Bemidji State College summer session, is attracting an unusually enthusiastic response according to George Knox, BSC professor of education and director of the tour.

"This educational tour through the eastern states is unique and valuable educational experience and is one of the very few being conducted by the colleges of the United States," Mr. Knox says.

Tour members will travel in large comfortable bus, leaving Bemidji shortly after the beginning of the second half of the summer session on July 17th. The itinerary includes most of the important historical sites throughout the midwestern and eastern United States.

The tour is limited to 35 students and the modest fee covers transportation, lodging, tolls, taxes, guide service, admission to points of interest; and side trips. Eight quarter-hours of college credit will be granted.

Major joints of interest in Iowa, Illinois, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, Virginia, Washington, D. C., Philadelphia, New York City, Boston, Albany, Niagara Falls, Detroit and Chicago will be visited.

You pay the same as ever for U. S. Savings Bonds of the popular Series E: 75 cents on the dollar of maturity value, but the new E bonds mature in 8 years and 11 months, nine months sooner than the former issue.

Bible School Set for Two Churches

Starts Monday at Free and Covenant Churches

"Pioneering with Christ" will be the theme of the Daily Vacation Bible school, which begins next Monday at the two sponsoring churches, the Evangelical Free church and the Mission Covenant church of Thief River Falls.

There will be daily sessions from 9:00 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. each morning, with the beginners and primary children meeting at the Mission Covenant Church, Markley ave. at First St., and the juniors and intermediates meeting at the Evangelical Free Church, Kendall ave. at Third st.

A fine staff of workers will be in charge of the school, it was announced. They will be introduced at the pre-school rally to be held at the Evangelical Free church next Sunday night at 7:45 o'clock.

Boys and girls up to the age of 14 invited to attend. All are invited to the rally Sunday.

Auxiliary Poppy Sale Brings $522

The substantial sum of $522.06 was collected by the Thief River Falls American Legion auxiliary unit in its annual Poppy Day sale Saturday, it was announced by Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen, chairman of the campaign. She added that proceeds exceeded any former year except 1956, when $566 was taken in.

C. R. Waldera to Attend S and L Sales Conference

C. R. Waldera, manager of the local S & L Store will leave this week end to attend a merchandising conference in Minneapolis, where the home offices for the S and L Stores Inc., J. M. Bostwick and Sons, and Morrey-Alan's are located.

The sales conference will continue from Monday through Wednesday, June 5th. The meetings will be held in Minneapolis at the Biltmore Motor Hotel.

The meetings will include discussions of fall merchandising plans which are now in a tentative stage. The opinions of Mr. Waldera and 41 other store managers will be a large factor in making final decisions.

Last Rites To Be Held June 1 for Mattie Sorenson

Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie Sorenson will be conducted Saturday, June 1 at the Zion Lutheran church with Rev. Walter Pedersen officiating. Mrs. Sorenson passed away Tuesday afternoon, May 28 at the age of 91 years. Interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery. A complete obituary will appear in the next issue of the Times.

Sandy McGregor says: It's sound Scots sense to buy Savings Bonds where ye work, or where ye bank. The payroll savings plan makes it automatic.

Municipal Court Handles Six Cases

Five Police Cases and One Patrol Arrest in Court

A light session of municipal court was held before Judge H. O. Chommie Monday as area drivers seem to be very well-behaved or are saving up for a big rash of accidents over the Memorial Day week end.

Only one highway patrol case was reported by Mrs. Pat Thompson, clerk of court. David B. Gustafson, rt. 1, Viking, forfeited a $17 bond on a speeding charge.

City police had five persons before Judge Chommie on a total of six charges, all but one of which involved traffic violations of various natures. There was one case of drunk and disorderliness reported.

The cases were:

Arden J. DuChamp, city, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $10 plus $4 court costs.

Duane K. Kulseth, city, was fined $5 for driving with only one license plate.

Wayne D. Olson, rt. 3, city, pleaded guilty to a charge of failure to heed a stop sign resulting in an accident and drew a $25 fine and $4 court costs.

A minor charged with careless driving was transferred from juvenile court to city court and given a 10 day jail sentence. drivers license was also suspended for 30 days.

Barbara Mae Spaeth, city, pleaded guilty of failing to yield right of way resulting in a property damage accident and was fined $25 plus $4 costs. On an additional charge of driving without a drivers license she was fined $25, sentence suspended.

Joseph L. Erickson, rt. 2, city, forfeited $20 bond on a drunk and disorderly charge.

Sheriff Charles R. Richards had no cases in court Monday.

Sunday, the people at the Bethesda church, Skime, bid a farewell to their pastor, Rev. C. I. Ostby. On this day he gave his farewell message on the subject, "I am the Way, the Truth and the Life" John 14:1-6. After his message there was a Communion service for the Confirmands. There was a short program following communion consisting of a song by the audience, "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," responsive reading on the subject "I Will Send Another Comforter," a solo by Mrs. Andrew Skime "Leave Your Burden at the Place of Prayer," a word of farewell in behalf of the church by Mrs. Ezra Davy; solo by Mrs. Davy, "He'll Understand and Say Well Done," Mrs. Andrew Skime then gave a presentation talk when she presented the Ostby family with a gift of money. The program closed with the audience singing, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," and joining in the Lords Prayer, after Rev. Ostby had acknowledged the gift with a word of thanks. We regret having the Ostbys leave because Rev. Ostby has been faithful in his service to the people. It is always hard to see the pastor leave. Rev. Ostby has served here for the past ten years and now the church is left without a shepherd. When one stops to think of the hardships a pastor has to go through, we often wonder how anyone can ever answer the call to the ministry. We often hear ministers ridiculed because he doesn't do every thing that is expected of him, but we wonder how many stops to think of the terrific burden put on a ministers shoulders. He has the soul of every person in his church on his heart as he goes to prayer. We often think it's a struggle to pray for one or two persons and yet we find time to condemn the pastor when he aims to slip behind a little. While he is praying for his people, the people should be united in prayer behind him to give him strength. We wish Rev. Ostby and his family Gods richest blessing wherever he may be led.

"Calibrate" Your Sprayer

It's unwise to use a chemical sprayer that doesn't put the material on the crop evenly.

Even a small variation in application rate can either do a poor job of weed killing or injure the crop. So first clean the sprayer, replace nozzles if needed, and calibrate the sprayer for the correct rate.

Clean the nozzles and then operate the sprayer with clear water at normal pressure. Put quart fruit jars under the nozzles. The water level should rise evenly in each jar. If there is much variation, replace all nozzles on the boom.

To calibrate the sprayer, follow this method:

1. Start with a tank full of clean water, with the pressure adjusted for field use—usually 30 to 40 pounds.
2. Drive 40 rods in a field at the speed you will use for spraying—about 4-5 miles per hour. Mark the notch the throttle is in and keep it there when spraying.
3. Refill the tank and carefully measure the amount of water needed.
4. Figure the application rate this way: Multiply the number of gallons you used by 66 and divide this number by the width covered by the boom in feet. This tells you the number of gallons you're using per acre.

To determine the amount of chemical to put in the tank, divide the number of gallons the tank will hold by the number of gallons your sprayer applies per acre. This is the number of acres one filling will spray.

Then multiply that number by the amount of chemical to be used per acre, and you have the amount of chemical to be used for each filling.

There's more information on this subject in University agricultural engineering Fact Sheet No. 2, "Calibrating Your Farm Sprayer". You can get a copy from the County Extension office.

Dairy

Farmers who turn their dairy cows into one large pasture may be losing half of the feed value of the pasture.

It's better to use an intensive summer forage plan that gives you the most milk from each acre. Mr. H. R. Searles, extension dairyman at the University of Minnesota lists three systems that many farmers are using and that have brought good production in trials at the University of Minnesota in recent years. They are:

Ration-a-day—cows turned into an area just big enough for a day's grazing. That way, cows eat all the forage with little waste. The field is divided into narrow strips with electric fences. The crossfence is moved daily. The strips need to be narrow and small enough so they can be grazed in a week or less to avoid "back fencing."

Green-feeding or "soilage"—cows confined to a feeding lot and fed fresh, chopped forage daily. This eliminates fencing but requires hauling in fresh chopped forage daily.

Yard feeding—cows kept in a feeding lot and fed stored feed. This makes it possible to have a continous supply of high quality forage from month to month. Which system you use depends on your individual farm and labor setup. So far, the ration-a-day system is most popular.

Weeds

Weeds cost farmers $5 billion a year, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The loss is in reduced crops yields, cost of cultivation and other controls.

You can control both giant foxtail and common foxtail—often called pigeon grass—with chemcials. Randox or premerge can be used either before or after the corn comes up. Dalapon can be used at the last corn cultivation. In soybeans, Randox can be used as a pre-emergence spray. In flax, you use TCA or dalapon to control pigeon grass.

Control Weeds

If you have trouble with Canada thistle, perennial sow thistle and field bindweed, you can control with chemicals.

Amino triazole, 2,4-D and MCP can be used against Canada thistle and sow thistle. Field bindweed has been controlled in field tests with 2,4-D Karm, and other compounds.

Amino triazole at 4-6 pounds per acre in 30 gallons of water has been successful against Canada thistles. It worked best sprayed just before the bud stage. Also, there was good control when thistles were mowed or plowed under and the regrowth was sprayed with amino triazole.

Field bindweed has been controlled by ½-1 pound of 2,4-D in bud to bloom stage and in late fall.

Whenever you use chemicals, apply only according to the direction on approved labels.

Care Depends On Fiber

Sport shirts are available in many fabrics which vary widely in the kind of care they need.

Following directions on the label is the best practice for satisfactory washing. In addition, it needed for the different fibers commonly used in sport shirts.

Cotton, the most popular sport shirt fabric, can be laundered in hot water, unless the color is not wash-fast or the label indicated differently. It is safe to use chlorine bleach when needed on untreated cotton. However, cotton with a special finish such as an embossed or crease-resistant finish, may turn yellow with clorine bleach. When in doubt, use a perborate bleach which does not contain chlorine.

Rayon loses strength when wet, so it should be handled carefully in laundering. If the fabric is sturdy and colorfast, it may be machine washed for a short time in hot water. But if it is sheer, hand-wash it in water. Perborate powder bleach is safe to use in rayon.

Nylon, Dacron, Orlon and Arilan can be machine-washed if the fabric is sturdy. White fabrics may be washed in hot water, but colored one should be washed in lukewarm water. Avoid putting these fabrics through a wringer or twisting them because wrinkles may set. Perborate bleach is the safest for all of these fibers.

Cottons or rayons with special finishes or blends containing Dacron, nylon or acetate hold oily stains which may become permanently set when washed. Use a liquid detergent or commercial spot remover on the stain before washing.

Dacron, nylon and acetate have a low melting point, and Acrilan and Orlon turn yellow at high temperatures, so use a low setting when ironing these fabrics.

By following the suggestions, you'll please the men in your family by taking good care of their sport shirts.

Women's Camp June 11-14

The 32nd annual Woman's Camp will be held at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, on June 11-14. The camp opens with registration on Tuesday afternoon, June 11.

Each "resident" member of the camp will be able to participate in three handicraft activities, including: woodcraft with H. W. Soderburg of the Northwest School in charge; finishing of wooden trays, with Marion Parbst, county home agent, Ada, in charge; and unusual Christmas decorations, with Mrs. Mildred Sampson of Minneapolis in charge.

The program will also include lecture-demonstrations by the following: Wednesday, June 12, "Better Care of Small Household Equipment; Better Care of Large Appliances" by Miss Data Hochhalter of the Extension Service, University of Minnesota, St. Paul; and "Cake Decorating" by Earl Lutch of Crookston. On Thursday, June 13—"Good Grooming and Beauty Care" by Mrs. Philip Hamre of Crookston; and "Living with Flowers" by Mrs. Ernest Zitzer of Crookston. Friday morning, June 14—"Home Lighting" by A. O. Engen of Otter Tail Power Company, Fergus Falls. The evening programs will include the reception on Tuesday, the banquet and square dancing party on Wednesday, and the freshman initiation and special program on Thursday. The Recognition Assembly and Closing Exercises will be held on Friday afternoon.

Swimming in the indoor pool will again be under the supervision of Mrs. Wm. Montague of Crookston. Miss Retta Bede, head of the Home Economics Department at The Northwest School, is in charge of general arrangements and will serve as camp leader. Miss Bede is retiring from the Northwest School staff in June this year, so this will be her last Women's Camp after thirty years of meritorious service to this event.

Women who are interested in attending the camp should write to the Northwest School, Crookston, Minnesota, for information regarding the camp or for a room reservation in the school dormitories.

ANTIBIOTICS — Antibiotics are known as aids for poultry among other uses. They tend to stimulate growth, improve feeding efficiency, and combat disease. Certainly antibiotics are an important tool for poultrymen. My recommendation: Use Dr. Salsbury Medic Aid, a compound of antibiotics and vitamins (for drinking water use). Start chicks on Medic-Aid for faster growth, better health. Costs about 1 cent a chick, first 4 weeks. Get Medic-Aid in tablets or powder form. See me now for poultry health needs. Strandquist . .

By Mrs. [illegible], Strandquist

Our local radio and TV service man, Swan Lindstrom, left by train for Chicago, Saturday evening. Swan expects to be gone for a period of six or eight weeks, during which time, his shop here will be closed.

Rudolph Lindstrom, his son, maintains a radio and service shop in the windy city and is in need of experienced help, which Swan can efficiently supply, especially in the field of radio. The experience he will gain in servicing television will be of great value to Mr. Lindstrom when he returns to his own shop in Strandquist.

Only 42 Ballots Cast In School Election

School election in Strandquist was very quiet, with only 42 ballots cast.

The terms of Severt Sletten and Arnold Elertson expires as of June 30th. Mr. Sletten, who was a filed candidate, received 40 votes and Mr. Elertson received 20 votes as a write-in candidate. Paul Flaten received 10 votes and the balance divided between 8 others, ranging from 1 to 3 votes each.

Wm F. Hansen H. J. Hongard and Oscar Carlson acted as election judges.

Bethesda Church Gets Tile Floor

The Bethesda Lutheran church is getting a brand new dress-up this week. Wm. Hanson and Ed Stennes sanded the floor in the church proper Monday evening, after which the work of laying an asphalt floor was turned over to the experienced mechanic, E. R. Anderson. The tile is not too dark and when completed will be a great improvement over the six inch painted board flooring.

Church services were held in the village auditorium on Sunday.

Among the future citizens to help sell poppies for the auxiliary were Neil Anderson, Beverly Stromberg, Betty Lubarski, Sharon, Stallock, Eileen Wigen, Louise Henrickson and Richard Lubarski. We appreciated their interest very much.

Mrs. Ole Thompson and Mrs. Leo Renstrom accompanied Edwin Lefrooth, Joanne and Elaine to Crookston to visit Mrs. Edwin Lefrooth at the Bethesda hospital where she is confined with an ulcer of the eye.

Prowlers Whip Oslo; District 31 Tourney Pairings Announced

Sparked by the runs-batted-in hitting of two of their St. Hilaire contingent of players—Lee Johnson and Tony Wald — the Prowlers hammered out a 15 to 3 decision over the Oslo team in a district conference game played here on Monday afternoon.

The Prowlers will conclude their 1957 schedule this week and begin the defense of the district title in the tournament which will be played at Warren on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday.

The pairings for the district tourney is as follows: Monday, June 3rd, 1:00 P. M. Goodridge vs. Climax; 3:00 P. M. Warren vs. Thief River Falls; 6:00 P. M., Red Lake Falls vs. Crookston; and at 8:00 P. M., Alvarado vs. Oslo.

The semi-finals will be played on Tuesday evening, with the first game slated for 7:00 P. M. and the second game billed to start at 9:00 P. M. The championship finals will be played Wednesday night, with game time at 8:00 P. M.

In Monday afternoon's here, played on the Fair Grounds diamond, the Prowlers had a comparatively easy time in downing the Oslo nine, 15 to 3. Lee Johnson, with two doubles and a single in five trips to the plate, drove in five runs, and Tony Wald, with a double and two singles in four tries, drove in four runs.

Southpaw Freddy Jensen started on the mound for coach Skjod's club, and the diminutive hurler gave up three hits and three runs in 4 innings. Right-hander Harlie Drees hurled the last three innings, pitching shutout ball and giving up but one hit.

The Prowlers will play at Red Lake Falls on Memorial Day, meeting coach Rusty Miller's Eagles on the Riverside Park diamond. Game time for the high school tilt will be at 8:45 P. M. on Thursday.

The line score:
Oslo ____ 001 [illegible]
Thief River Falls [illegible] X 15 14 4
Batteries—Eide and Nordling; Jensen, Drees and [illegible].

Crystal-balling.

Since the Sugar Ray Robinson vs. Gene Fullmer fight a couple of weeks ago, we've been keeping our crystall ball on the shelf, pure, unclouded, and unsullied. But with the district and regional baseball tournament in the offing, we'll venture some predictions.

In the district tournament, which begins on Monday and continues through Wednesday night, when the championship finals will be played, the two finalists should be Ralph Skjod's Prowlers and Rusty Miller's Red Lake Falls Eagles. The winner! The Red Lake Falls Eagles.

We pick the Eagles because of their better-balanced attack, and their more mature pitching. The Prowlers, who are the defending district champions, will be forced to rely on a hurling corps that is staffed mostly by sophomores and freshman. It's asking quite a bit of these youngsters to keep their poise and control in tournament play.

Moving over into the regional tournament, and that tournament will be played at Fertile, it appears that the Fertile Falcons are entitled to the rating of favorites. With the defending champion Bemidji Lumberjacks looming as a threat.

Coach Chuck Johnson at Fertile is liberally supplied with pitching, and in a short tournament pitching is, as they say, of the essence. The Falcons can call on Arlo Brunsberg, Dick Roragen, and Howie Strom, and be sure of getting a tightly-pitched game. In addition, the Falcons are a "solid" team on defense and offense.

We won't sell coach Horace May's Bemidji team short, though, for the Jacks showed a good ball club when they defeated the Prowlers here last week; 6 to 0. That Lumberjack lineup had six players—pitcher Bill Lawrence, catcher Dick Anderson, second baseman Jim Johnson, first baseman Marc Kolden, centerfielder Bob Engle, and right fielder Ray Cronk—who were members of last season's Bemidji Lumberjack basketball team.

Lawrence is as good a pitcher as there is in the eighth region, and when he is on the mond the Jacks are favored. The trouble is that Bemidji is short of a strong second pitcher, and unless they can save Lawrence for the regional finals, the Jacks may be short of their regional title. That would be no pity.

And speaking of these high school baseball tournaments, why not make the short drive to Warren, or to Fertile, to watch these boys in action. The weather is moderating, and the ball parks will be in excellent condition, and you will have an enjoyable time.

An Attractive Home Schedule.

We are in receipt of the 1957 Prowler football schedule, having received a copy from athletic director Ralph Skjod. And the "home" portion, in particular, is dandy.

In order of the appearances on the Lincoln field, the Prowler opponents will be Fergus Falls, Red Lake Falls, Detroit Lakes, Bemidji, and Crookston. What more could be tougher?

The "away" games will find coach Joe Mrkonich's playing at East Grand Forks, Roseau, and Warroad, giving the Prowlers an eight-game schedule.

What Power! What Power?

Last week, Wally DuChamp, Plummer's gift to Northwestern Minnesota's golf, was thumping his chest and loudly exclaiming, "Look at those drives! What power I generate on my wood shots! Off the tee my drives leave me with a short iron to the green! What power!"

That was last week.

This week, Wally is wearing a woe-begone expression, very hang-dog, and complaing. "What's wrong with my game? I'm hooking my wood shots. In twenty-seven shots I didn't get a straight ball, they are all hooks."

And that's a fact. Wally has been uncorking some nightmarish hooks. His tee shots are about fifty to one hundred yards, and all hooked into the rough. His troubles are being tears to the eyes of strong men.

Not all of the golfers are feeling sorry for Wally, though. Said one of golfers in the foresome: "Don't tell Wally a thing. We've got him just where we want him. At twenty-five cents skins, Wally is a contributing member of our foursome."

Fishing

Fishing reports from the Lake of the woods area, have been favorable. Numerous limit catches have been reported. That is, when the winds have abated to such an extent that the fisherman could venture out on the lake.

The finest specimen of walleye brought into town this past week was the nine-pound walleye caught by Austin Shanahan. Austin, using a spinning outfit, hooked and landed his "monster" while fishing the Rainy river as it empties into Lake of the Wood. He was "guided" on his trip by J.K. Stadum, Bob DuChamp, and Cliff Bugge.

On Saturday, Engval and Alfred Lund and Kenny Hanson, fishing the lake just out from Zippel Bay, had a limit catch of walleyes. And on Tuesday afternoon of this week, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nelson and Mrs. Alma Senstad, fishing the Morris Point "gap" on Lake of the Woods, made a limit catch.

Softball Start

The city softball league will begin play on its season's schedule on Monday, June 3rd, with the Bjorkman's team, meeting the Holsum Bread club on the East Side diamond.

We had hoped that the league's "have" clubs—Bjorkman, Bridgeman's, and Lee's—would have shared some of their talent with the "have not" clubs— Holsum, T. & S. Implement, and Cliff's—but such is not to be. The strong get stronger, and the weak get the cheers, and the defeats.

In a pre-season tune-up game played last Thursday evening, on the East Side diamond, manager Lowell (Muckets) Collins' Bjorkman's defeated a strong Bemidji Teacher's College club, 4 to 0. Righthander Milt Reierson was in mid-season form, and that's sufficient to make the Bjorkman's a strong favorite for the league championship.

1957 Deer Hunting to Start November 9th

The fever of the hunt lies dormant, submerged beneath the excitement of summer vacation trips; but in the game and fish division the deer hunting season is currently a very "wide awake" subject.

In line with a plan to announce the opening dates of small game, big game and trapping seasons early in the year, Director Jim Kimball revealed today the 1957 firearms deer season will open on Saturday, November 9.

Recent legislation set the framework during which the season could be open, from November 1-21.

In announcing the November 9 opening date, Kimball asserted, "The legislature obviously intended that the season should commence on November 2 or November 9, if a full nine-day season was subsequently warranted. Most hunters agree that the November 2 opening is too early and hence only November 9 is left."

"I wish to emphasize", continued Kimball, "that the department reserves the right to establish the season length on the basis of information provided us by our management and research staffs. We are merely announcing the opening date at this time in order that hunters can schedule their trips and arrange their vacations in advance. It is even possible that the department could close the season completely in an area even though the opening date had been established."

"The Department of Conservation did not sponsor the legislation for an earlier season. There are some disadvantages involved but we are expecting that it will result in a greater proportional harvest of bucks. Also, research in other states has shown that bucks are heavier in the early of the rutting season. A 3½ year old buck, for example, is significantly heavier at the onset of rutting, than at the end."

"In setting the deer season we are faced with many problems of a diversified nature. Minnesota's north-south distance of over 400 miles covers a marked difference in seasonal periods, and the deer range itself varies from intense agriculture to inaccessible wilderness. In the thirty thousand square miles of deer range we find all degrees of inter-graduation with their attendant problems. The distribution of human population varies considerably, resulting in heavy hunting pressure over some areas and not enough in others."

"In northern Minnesota we are faced with the tremendous problem of the range "growing up" and becoming increasingly unfavorable to deer. Past lumbering operations and fires combined with early agricultural clearings produced habitat exceedingly favorable to deer. Vast expanses of this north country are reverting back to habitat types which are unfavorable to deer. We can expect a continued decline in our deer herd in that region unless and until large scale cutting operations rehabilitate the range.

"In addition, our "overbrowsed" winter deer yards are unable to support even present deer population levels during bad winters. Heavy die-offs as we experienced during the 1955-1956 winter can be expected about once every four years. While many well-meaning sportsmen would have us close the season or cut it back sharply in order to provide better immediate hunting, we have to look at the problem objectively and consider the long range "effects."

Commander TRF Legion Post Gives Message to Lions

In connection with the Ninth district American Legion convention in Thief River Falls, Ellsworth Jorgenson, commander of the local post, recounted the history and objectives of the Legion in a talk at the Lions club luncheon meeting Wednesday noon.

Introduced by Harlin Elseth, convention co-chairman; Jorgenson stressed particularly the Legion's work in the fields of rehabilitation, child welfare and youth activities.

Lions voted to meet jointly with the Rotarians Monday noon, June 3, to hear a talk by Andrew L. Freeman, manager of the Minnkota Electric co-op in Grand Forks.

It also was voted to complete the Lions club broom sale with a drive set for next Wednesday evening, June 5.

John Wold Completes Mechanizing of His Dairy Farm Near City

Minnesota is one of the leading dairy states. In volume of production it is exceeded only by Wisconsin and New York. In Pennington county 43 per cent of the livestock income is derived from dairying, according to County Agent Paul Stelmaschuk. From 1952 to 1956 Minnesota showed an increase in milk production which was exceeded only by Wisconsin.

Along with progress in other parts of the country, dairymen in this area are adapting new practices as science and technology finds newer and better ways of production says Stelmaschuk.

John Wold, whose farm is located one mile west and one north of Thief River Falls, has completed mechanization of his dairy enterprise. The farm, which is now managed by Art Larson, features a milking parlors, bulk tank and pipe line milker. The Wold dairy herd consists of 45 milk cows on a year-around basis and which are on D. H. I. A. testing.

With the equipment now present on the farm Mr. Larson says he can milk up to thirty cows an hour. This is a far cry from the onetime hand milking.

With the three-cow milking parlor, the cows can be washed, fed, and milked without any loss of time waiting for a cow to clean up her feed, says Larson. The milk is never handled by human hands from the cow to the milk plant in town. The pipeline milker delivers the milk to the bulk tank in the milk house where the milk is cooled to about forty to fifty degrees. Larson says the cooling is so efficient that by the time milking is over the milk has been cooled off to the proper temperature.

This permits better storage since bacterial counts are kept down to a minimum. It also means better milk on the consumers table. From the bulk tank the milk is picked up by the bulk trucks operated by plants. Pumps do all the lifting, and moving of the milk. No hand labor is involved.

Wold is now planning further modernization in his dairy operation. This hand feeding of cows has proved profitable in other states, making possible high production of milk from fewest acres. The grass is cut by a cutter and brought to the feeding pen for the cows. This way the cows do not utilize feed to obtain grass which will be converted to milk. This method increases the livestock carrying capacity of a farm without buying additional acres, states Stelmaschuk.

We believe in advertising; you might, too, if you gave it a real trial.

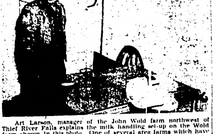
Bulk Set-up Simplifies Dairying



Art Larson, manager of the John Wold farm northwest of Thief River Falls explains the milk handling set-up on the Wold farm shown in this photo. One of several area farms which have gone modern in recent years, the Wold farm has gone even farther and installed a milking parlor. Milk from the Wold farm is not touched by human hands until it reaches the consumer.

Nearly 17,000,000 Trees Supplied by State Nurseries

Recent Heavy Rains In State Held Favorable for Starting Saplings

As the 1957 tree planting season nears its end, Ray Clement, forester in charge of state nurseries and tree planting, division of forestry, said that "while we had some of the most unusual and difficult conditions during this season, we are expecting generally good results from the 16,000,000 to 17,000,000 trees which will be planted."

There was very little normal spring — the season jumped from winter to summer and from fearfully dry to very wet ground conditions in many areas.

Digging trees in the nursery was started as soon as snow and frost left the ground, Clement said, but was hampered from the first by freezing at night, which delayed sufficient stock supplies to make up orders. As a consequence, when warm weather arrived there was a big rush to ship trees and more people were employed at the nursery in digging and packing trees than ever before.

For several weeks soil conditions were dry and there may be some slight damage to trees because of a lack of sufficient moisture, but the heavy rains over the state in the last few weeks should be very favorable for most plantations.

Tree shipments for planting on private lands were completed first and the planting on state, county, park and other public lands has been in progress for the last few weeks. It will continue for some time, possibly until the last of the month. It is estimated that about 8,000,000 trees have been planted on private lands and 8,000,000 to 10,000,000 on public lands. Final counts will be made after the last plantings are completed.

Young Women Are Invited to Apply for Army Corps

Sgt. L. J. Clemenson, Army recruiter at Thief River Falls, stated today that young ladies between the ages of 18 and 34, have only two more weeks to make application to join the Women's Army Corps and be eligible to leave with the group from Fargo on June 26 for Fort McClellan, Alabama, to begin their basic training.

Anyone desiring information concerning enlistment into the Women's Army Corps is urged to contact Sgt. Clemenson in the city auditorium as soon as possible in order that processing can be completed in time to join this select group which will leave Fargo on the 26th of June.

Warden Planes to Help Rule Traffic on Memorial Day

Planes Working out of Warroad and Brainerd to Aid Highway Patrol

Conservation department warden planes will work closely with the Minnesota highway patrol checking and assisting enforcement of highway regulations over Memorial Day weekend, it was announced today by Gordon Wollan, deputy director, division of game and fish.

Warden pilots assigned to the traffic patrol by Francis Johnson, chief warden, are game wardens John Parker of Warroad and William Morris of Brainerd.

According to Leo Smith, assistant chief highway patrol officer, the warden pilots will be accompanied by an experienced highway patrol officer, who will spot traffic infractions and congested points and relay this information by radio to patrol cars on the ground.

Conservation Commissioner George A Selke said: "The department welcomes this opportunity to take part in Governor Freeman's all-out effort to reduce accidents and fatalities on Minnesota highways."

The planes used will be 150 h.p. Piper Super Cubs equipped with two-way radios assigned to the same frequency as the highway patrol, Wollan said.

Sandy MacGregor says: Those who dance must pay the piper. Ye could save some by learnin' to play the pipes, but it's fair hard to learn. The easy way is to buy Savings Bonds on the payroll plan. Then ye can dance all ye like, and no worry about where the money's comin' from.

Old Fashioned Ideas

When thee builds a prison, thee had better build with the thought ever in thy mind that thee and thy children may occupy the cells.

—Elizabeth Fry

No Hysteria, Please

Poison gas was outlawed as a weapon of war after the hideous experience of World War I, and the agreement not to use it was respected throughout the bitter fighting of World War II. This good result encourages the hope that the use of nuclear weapons may also be outlawed successfully. As it becomes increasingly apparent that this kind of warfare would be suicidal the need for it being outlawed becomes increasingly clear.

We have no assurance of course that some madman will not attempt to conquer the world by the use of gas or germs or A bombs. We would indeed be living in a fool's paradise if we took for granted that any agreement of this kind would be forever respected. The evil possibility must be recognized and we must be prepared to defend ourselves.

In nuclear power we have a bear by the tail, and we are afraid to hang on and afraid to let go. But we will not help ourselves to a sensible solution of the problem by becoming hysterical about it. Let's not get excited now about the many evils that may befall us if our most awful fears become reality.

The one thing we are certain of is that the right solution will not be found in mass action. Men of science gave us the new power. We will have to leave it to them to determine how it can be controlled.

Anything Wrong?

During March only 559,800 television sets were manufactured, down from the 680,000 sets turned out in March of last year and the 881,200 sets in March of 1955. These figures indicate that the television set selling business has not been as good as it was. This probably is encouraging news for the merchants who do not sell television sets.

In our area, for instance, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been spent for television equipment. Had these dollars not been spent for television equipment they would have bought other goods, maybe cars or appliances or clothing. So goes the never-ending fight for the consumer's dollar.

Some economists are expressing concern because home building starts are down from a year ago. Maybe the lag in this field is a sign that for the time being we don't need so many new homes.

We can see no good reason for the government to concern itself about these ups and downs within our economy. Nationally we have no unemployment problem. Payrolls are at peak levels. Folks are buying the things they think they need most. What's wrong with that?

Another War Is Won

The fight to control brucellosis in the state is now drawing to a close. Within another month the last county should be certified and Minnesota will be the seventh state to complete such a health program. States already certified are Maine, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Washington, Wisconsin and Delaware.

Brucellosis is a bacterial disease and is transmitted to man through milk, resulting in undulant fever. Alfred Stedman, St. Paul Pioneer Press farm editor, states that the number of cases of undulant fever in Minnesota has dropped during the past ten years from 403 to 68 annually, due to the progress in brucellosis control and compulsory pasteurization.

At one time this disease was the cause of livestock losses ranging from ten to fifteen million dollars a year, according to Stedman, and he says the state's net saving over its total eradication costs already is more than 35 million dollars.

The program in our state was started here in the northwestern counties, and under the area plan of eradication was extended to the south and east. It has been a costly program in terms of both public expenditures and private losses. Farmers have been reimbursed in part for the slaughter of infected animals but in some instances their losses have been heavy. There has been good cooperation at all times however between industry organizations and health authorities.

It has been a long, slow campaign. The disease is always a threat of course, and we will have to continue precautionary measures. We are justified however in stating that another war has been won.

Dangers Ahead

Administration leaders are using strong language in their efforts to prove that the budget cannot be cut with impunity. It no doubt is true that the sudden interest in economy among some members of the opposition party is inspired largely by partisan considerations, but calling them nasty names is not going to prove them wrong.

Walter Mickelson, in his New Ulm Journal, has presented the figures on spending by the federal government, year by year, since the New Deal days. With these figures as background material it is easy to understand the concern of many good citizens over the huge peacetime expenditures now being recommended.

The late FDR came into office March 4, 1933. Thus, the first full year, properly chargeable to him, was the one ending June 30, 1934. The plowing under of little pigs, leaf raking, pump priming, NRA, WPA, CCC, PWA and assorted other alphabetics were in full swing. Total spending for that year: $9,550,000,000.

The New Deal record thereafter:

1935	$6.136 billion
1937	$0.035 billion
1938	$7.189 billion
1939	$8.916 billion
1940	$9.990 billion

The following year was full time defense production:

1941	$14.533 billion

Then the war:

1942	$35.143 billion
1943	$80.000 billion
1944	$95.363 billion
1945	$97.057 billion

The slack-off and two years under the Republican controlled 80th Congress:

1946	$64.921 billion
1947	$42.658 billion
1948	$36.926 billion

Two Truman peacetime deficit-spending years:

1949	$43.331 billion
1950	$46.567 billion

Mr. Truman's Korean "police action."

1951	$48.003 billion
1952	$70.360 billion
1953	$70.443 billion

Finally, Mr. Eisenhower:

1954	$74.541 billion
1955	$73.115 billion
1956	$75.975 billion
1957 (estimated)	$80.200 billion
1958 (proposed)	$86.200 billion

We would say these figures justify very serious concern about the trend toward increased spending and the solvency of our federal government. According to the monthly report of the National City Bank of New York our dollar has lost buying power at an average rate of three per cent a year for the past ten years. That is not the slow pace of creeping inflation.

President Eisenhower speaks eloquently of dangers we may face if we do not follow his spending recommendations. Better we pause and consider the more certain dangers that threaten us if we continue our present course.

1917—Forty Years Ago

A. Anderson placed first in a trap shoot conducted by the local gun club.—A large tract of land on the Pembina ridge south of Viking was offered to the government as the site of a military training camp.—The W. H. Quist and Peter Kolden homes on the East side were destroyed by fire.

1927—Thirty Years Ago

Supt. Morris Bye was the speaker at Memorial Day rites in Auditorium. — H. A. Pratt was elected president of the Rotary club.—The Legion auxiliary collected $126 in the Poppy Day sale.—Plummer high school held its first commencement exercises.

1937—Twenty Years Ago

Miss Minnie Leavitt, a teacher 35 years including 17 years at Thief River Falls, is retiring this month.—Preparations were complete for the 9th district convention of the American Legion and auxiliary to open June 11 in Thief River Falls.

PUBLIC OPINION

I would like to write a few words regarding a recent public opinion letter written by Gordon LaBree, about drivers license exams.

Mr. LaBree thinks that if all car drivers had a drivers test it would solve our traffic accidents. I agree it may and should make better drivers out of them. In cities that is, but what happens is this. Most drivers young and old when they get behind the wheel of their high powered cars, forget all about the law and the safety of others on our highways.

Any driver that knows better but just ignores the speed limits and all who drive carelessly should be severely punished and they should not be permited to drive a car after the second violation. This I believe would reduce the slaughter on our highways.

I think our law enforcement officers are far too lenient with these drivers.

Good to Be Back

It is good to be back in the U. S. from my Middle East tour, a most enlightening and productive trip. Already we are at work on the new Mutual Security-Foreign Aid bill. It has been reassuring to the the President accept many of the recommendations from our Senate Committee's foreign aid study, including a long-overdue shift to repayable loans instead of just grants. I have been pleased by the President's presentation this year, and shall support his overall objectives. Since my last report from overseas, I have visited in both Greece and Spain to wind up my trip. In both countries, food—American food—is urgently needed, and one of the most useful forms of economic assistance we can provide. In both countries I made personal observation tours of food distribution programs carried on by American voluntary agencies, such as CARE, the National Catholic Welfare Conference, and other church groups. I saw with my own eyes what these programs mean to youngsters and adults alike, and how grateful they are of the generosity of American people.

Orphans in Greece

I wish many of you could have been with me as I visited an orphanage in Greece where eager youngsters are being given vocational education to prepare them to be self-supporting. One third of Greece's children have lost either one or both of their parents in Greece's struggle first against against totalitarianism of Mussolini and Hitler, and next against Communism. It was indeed a thrill to find the labels of Minnesota dairies on barrels of dry milk powder that is helping to keep these children alive and healthy. Greece needs more food, both for the CARE program, and for purchase with Greek money under our Public Law 480. It has asked us for more food, and is still awaiting an answer. We depend upon Greece as a vital military ally under our NATO alliance against Communism. Greece is our friend, proven over and over. Yet Greece must have food for its friendly government to survive. How can we ignore its appeal? How can we go on telling farmers not to produce, when our friends are in need of such production overseas?

Same In Spain

The same story was repeated in Spain. Whether we like the Spanish government or not, the Spanish people are human beings. Our hope for the future is to have those people understand America and Americans, to know the real spirit of humanitarianism which exists among us. We are pouring millions into Spain building air bases upon which we are staking much of our defense hopes if worse comes to worse, and World War III ever occurs. Yet those bases are useless to us unless we can maintain political and economic stability in Spain, and make sure Spain welcomes American troops. Spain has had severe weather setbacks destroying its own crops; it is serious financial difficulty. It wants to buy American food—wheat and soybean oil—with Spanish money. Congress has authorized such sales, under Public Law 480. We have good uses for the Spanish money we obtain, in paying for our military construction projects. Unless we use Spanish money gained from food sales, we have to use American dollars. Yet for more than three months Spain has been trying in vain to get our government to sell it 50,000 tons of wheat, and 30,000 tons of Soybean oil. The situation is now serious. Unless Spain gets 500,000 tons of wheat before June 30, it faces bread rationing. I have called this emergency situation to Secretary Benson's attention on my return in the hope of stimulating some action.

Disarmament

Progress In Disarmament negotiations at the London Conference resulted in Secretary Dulles asking me to call my Senate Disarmament Subcommittee into a special executive session last week, in which the leadership of both parties in the Senate participated. Both Dulles and Harold Stassen were witnesses. The Senate may be asked to send representatives to aid in the negotiations which are now under way.

The Savings Bond habit acquired now will protect you, your family, your farm and your future.

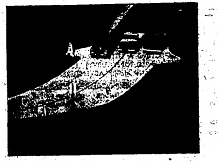
Dodge trucks lead the low-priced 3!

Special cameras like this new high-speed Hulcher "70", designed to take rapid-sequence photos of guided-missile launchings, were used to record tests. Electrically operated, the Hulcher "70" shoots 20 pictures a second.



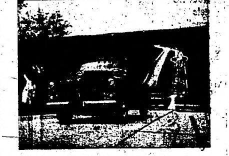
THEY'RE OFF! Here's the start of a grueling hill-climb test. All three low-priced trucks were lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. At flag drop, test drivers floor gas pedals . . . the Dodge Power Giant leaps out in front.

Actual road tests . . . like the one photographed at the right . . . prove beyond question that Dodge Power Giants outclass all competition. This rugged hill climb is just one of a whole string of tests comparing all three low-priced trucks.

See certified test results of the entire series—actual unretouched photographs—at your own local Dodge dealer's. These tests, plus 15 minutes behind the wheel, will demonstrate to you that today's Dodge Power Giants lead the low-priced three in every measure by which you judge a truck.

You get the most V-8 power of the low-priced three . . . up to 232 horsepower. This gives you snappier performance to save valuable trip time . . . extra power to take steep climbs with less engine strain. And Dodge gives you extra payload capacity, too. For instance, the test pick-up shown hauls as much as 27% more than the other two low-priced makes.

Check today's low Dodge prices. You'll find eleven Power Giant models, in the low-tonnage field alone, that are actually the lowest priced of the low-priced three. Why not see for yourself? Your dealer will gladly bring a Dodge right to your door.



DODGE THE WINNER BY FIVE LENGTHS—and still gaining! The Dodge Power Giant outdistanced both truck "C" and truck "F" from the start. This is just one of a complete series of actual road tests that prove Dodge the outstanding leader of the low-priced three.

317 E. 3rd St. Telephone 40

Childhood is a brief span in the bridge of life. Yet it is during the early years that we lay the foundation for all that is to come.

Church School is over, and Eileen and Johnny linger on the church steps, talking about the lessons they've learned this morning. They both are excited because, under their teacher's guidance, the stories of the Bible are beginning to come alive for them.

We're not going to predict a "happy ever after" ending. We're not going to say that having met in Church School, Eileen and Johnny will go on seeing each other in church each week and that ultimately they'll grow up, fall in love, and get married. (Though, who knows? Maybe they will at that!)

But we are saying—and deeply believing—that through Church School these children and thousands upon thousands of other children are receiving religious education, an ever-expanding lesson in good fellowship, wisdom, kindness, and tolerance.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Community Club to Meet Friday, May 31

The Steiner Community Club will meet Friday evening, May 31, with Mrs. Ada Jorde, Clebert Molstad, and Eino Johnson families in charge of the program. Serving on the lunch committee are Raymond Rausch, LaVerne Randorf, and Alfred Solem families.

Many from our community attended Baccalaureate services at the Lincoln high school auditorium Sunday evening. Reverend Robert Abbott of the Assemblies of God Tabernacle was the speaker, and chose for his topic "Success". The high school chorus provided special music with their rendition of "Praise to the Lord."

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Boman and son Paul motored to Minneapolis Thursday and were overnight guests at the Morris Holvorson home. They returned home Friday evening. Joyce, Arnold, and Brian stayed at the August Austinson home during their parent's absence.

Jerry Vatsaas, who is stationed at Fort Churchill, Manitoba, Canada arrived home by plane Sunday morning on an emergency leave because of the serious illness of his mother. Mrs. B. J. Vatsaas was taken to the University hospital Monday of last week. We are glad to report she is feeling better.

4-H Club

The following program was presented by the Steiner 4-H Club at the hall Sunday afternoon in observance of Rural Life Sunday: song "Battle Hymn of the Republic" by the audience, scripture reading and prayer by Dr. Joseph L. Norquist, reading "A Nation's Life" by Bruce Russell, two solo selections by Mrs. Everett Amundgard accompanied by Dr. Norquist at the piano, a talk by Dr. Norquist, a reading "Power of Prayer" by John Anderson, and a solo by Kathleen Torgerson accompanied by her brother Stanley at the piano. Lunch was served following the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vaitinson and family returned to their home at DeKalb, Ill. Wednesday after spending a week with her folks, the Tarkel Oses. Sunday, May 19, their daughter, Gale Rene, was baptized by Rev. Jonas Helland at the Satersdal church, having as her sponsors, besides her parents, Julia and Roger Ose.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Johnson accompanied by Shirley Mae Sorenson, all of Minneapolis motored here Friday evening to attend the wedding of their cousin, Dorothy Muzzy to Ned Blodgett at the Community Methodist church Saturday evening. They returned home Sunday afternoon.

Ronald Mathieu, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mathieu of Thief River Falls left by bus for Columbia, South Carolina where he will be stationed after a week's leave at his home. He also visited his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Mathieu. His brother, Billy, is stationed at the same camp.

Among the 147 seniors of the class of 1957 who received their diplomas at the 54th commencement exercises Tuesday evening in the high school gymnasium were Leola Dyrud, Herbert Fuller, Eldon Moe, Julia Ose, and Stuart Solem. Congratulations! Special congratulations are extended to Julia Ose who is an honor student, a member of the National Honor Society and who received an award for being one of the three top debators. Dr. A. L. Knoblauch, President of Moorhead State Teachers' College was the guest speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Muzzy and son Norman visited Sunday at the Henry Madison and Rolf Dufseth homes at Tenstrike. It was confirmation day for Mrs. Muzzy's nephew, Arnold Dufseth.

Mrs. Lloyd Hogenson and children of Thief River Falls spent Sunday evening at the Clifford Jorde home while Mr. Hogenson and Mr. Jorde attended a farewell party honoring Gunsten Bergland at the Otto Rupprecht home sponsored by the "deer hunters."

The Steiner-Riverside last day of school picnic was held at Tindolph Park Friday with Mrs. Ida Rupprecht in charge. Both districts have dissolved and been annexed to independent school districts so these annual picnics will be missed by both pupils and parents in future years.

6 WAYS IN SIZE*

You'd actually have to reach up into the most expensive car class to get more seating capacity than The Big M gives you. Yet Mercury is priced just above the low-priced three.

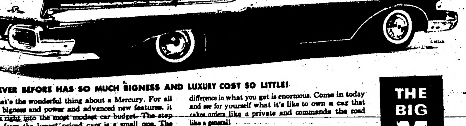
*Comparisons based on 1957 Mercury Monterey Phaeton [illegible] and comparable models in nearest price range

4 WAYS IN POWER

These are the mightiest, most efficient engines in Mercury history! Ingenious Power-Booster Fan, available in Montclair series, coasts when not needed, saves horsepower other cars waste.

7 WAYS IN FEATURES

Wherever you look you see Mercury's Dream-Car features. Inside, outside, under the hood . . . even the hood itself. Auto critics say it has more new features than any car in the last ten years!



NEVER BEFORE HAS SO MUCH BIGNESS AND LUXURY COST SO LITTLE!

That's the wonderful thing about a Mercury. For all its bigness and power and advanced new features, it fits right into the most modest car budget. The step up from the lowest priced cars is a small one. The difference in what you get is enormous. Come in today and see for yourself what it's like to own a car that takes orders like a private and commands the road like a general!

Legion's Parade Is Spectacular

Minn Historical Society
Historical Building
Zone 1

One of the biggest parades in the history of Thief River Falls including nearly 20 musical organizations, in addition to numerous handsome floats and marching units, climaxed the Ninth district American Legion and auxiliary convention in Thief River Falls late Saturday afternoon. The procession required more than an hour to pass in review before the huge crowds of spectators.

Among the musical groups participating were the Winnipeg Police Pipers band and the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders of Winnipeg, the Ninth district Legion band, Grand Forks VFW drum and bugle corps, TRF Legion municipal band and high school bands from Warren, Gary, Hallock, Argyle, Red Lake Falls, Middle River, Ada, Fosston, Karlstad and Lincoln high school, as well as the Bridgeman Half-pints.

Also in the line of march were members of Company F of the National Guard with their equipment, mounted horsemen, new models of automobiles, a dozen or more color guards and other marching units. One of the most effective floats was that of the VFW, presenting a tableau of the flag-raising on Iwo Jima during World War II.

Setesdalslag to Convene at Oklee on June 14 and 15

Dreng Bjornaraa of Minneapolis to Speak at 1957 Convention

K. B. Knutson, Lake Lillian, Minnesota, president of the Norwegian Setesdalslaget, will preside at the annual convention to be held at Oklee on Friday and Saturday, June 14-15.

The organization was started at Grand Forks in 1909 with Bjorgulv Bjornaraa its president for 32 years. His son Dreng of Minneapolis will be the main speaker Friday evening.

The two day celebration will include the national famous marching band at Grafton, N. D. directed by Joe Birkeland, the Saeter Players directed by Jerry Watt of Cosmos, Minnesota, old time fiddling, dress-up contests, old time dancing, as well additional program numbers and talks by Olaf Homme of Mpls. Carl Aakhus of Willow River, Tollef Birkeland of Waconia, Halvor Langslet of Detroit Lakes.

Public dancing will be held both nights with music by the Sorenson Brothers Orchestra of Grand Forks.

Other officers in addition to K. B. Knutson president include vice president John G. Johnson of Grand Forks; Treasurer Sigurd Krostue of Oklee; Secretary Mrs. Erickson Johnson of Trail (daughter of Bjorgulv Bjornaraa); and directors, Andrew Sannes, Thompson, N. D.; Osmund Haugon, Minot, N. D.; Thor Skomedahl, Trail; Halvor Aakhus, Effie, Minnesota and Gunder Knutson, Grand Forks.

2 Local Students in State Road-E-O

Alyce Allerson and Virgil Larson, both members of the 1957 Lincoln high school graduating class and winners of the recent Jaycee Teen-age Road-E-O in Thief River Falls, spent Saturday in Edina, Minneapolis suburb, where they competed in the state wide Road-E-O. Local Junior Chamber provided a free trip for the two contestants and their chaperons.

First place in the event was won by Jim Carr of Hutchinson, with second and third honors going to contestants from West St. Paul and Alexandria. The first prize was a $500 college scholarship awarded by the Pure Oil Co.

The contestants enjoyed a tour of Minneapolis and a banquet at the Leamington Hotel, where the prizewinners were announced. Fifty teen-age drivers from thruout Minnesota competed in the Edina contest. Both written and actual road tests were given.

Legion Memorial Rites Canceled Because of Rain

Due to the steady rainfall Sunday morning, officials of the Ninth district American Legion canceled the memorial services scheduled for Sunday afternoon in the Riverside park amphitheatre, at which the Rev. Eugene Connely, Ninth district chaplain, was to have delivered the address.

Fergus Falls Man 9th Dist. Legion Chief

Rev. Otto Dale and Harold Johnson Win District Offices

A Fergus Falls man, Philip Kjaglien, Saturday was elected commander of the Minnesota American Legion's 9th district as the veterans closed their business sessions of the convention held here last week-end.

Kjaglien served as 1st vice-commander of the 9th district the past year and was not opposed for the commander's post. He was placed in nomination by Harold Johnson of Thief River Falls.

Two Thief River Falls men were also elected to 9th district posts. They were Rev. Otto Dale, elected 9th district chaplain, and Harold M. Johnson, elected 2nd vice-commander.

Kjaglien's 1st vice-commander for the coming year is Milo Anderson of Roseau.

Herb Drews, Warren, and Kenneth Cadieux, Moorhead, were elected 3rd and 4th vice-commanders respectively.

Cadieux was also named as a delegate to the national convention in addition to the commander and 1st and 2nd vice-commanders.

The Legion and auxiliary met in joint session in the auditorium early Saturday afternoon to hear talks by department and national representatives.

Mrs. A. W. Nimens of Crookston, district auxiliary president, introduced Mrs. Juel Osmundson, department president, and Mrs. C. J. Paulson of Shevlin, national committeewoman, each of whom spoke briefly.

Don Fish, Ninth district commander, presented Everett Getten, department commander, who pointed out that 29 posts in the district had failed to go over the top in membership, and he urged that efforts be made this year to bring the membership up to a new peak. He also stated that the Legion clubs should not be placed ahead of the interests of the posts.

Carl Lundgren of Minneapolis, Legion national committeeman, reported on the work of the committee, saying that it is continuing its opposition to trading with China and the Russian satellite nations.

Closing speaker was the Rev. Denzil Carty of St. Paul, department chaplain, who stated that departments officers have made every effort to sell Legion program to the public, citing such activities as its child welfare work. He said that the primary task of the Legion is to keep alive the memory of the contributions made by veterans to the nation's welfare.

The convention got under way Friday with the address of welcome by Mayor O. D. Beich and greetings from Ellsworth Jurgenson, commander of the Thief River Falls post, with the res-

Petit Jury Call in District Court Is Canceled by Judge

The twice postponed call for the Pennington county petite jury panel to report for duty today, June 3, was canceled late last week by Judge J. H. Sylvestre of Crookston, who was to have presided over the term. Henry Storhaug, clerk of court, annouced that all pending cases scheduled for jury trial had been settled, and that only one court case remains on the calendar, that of F. A. Rinkel vs. Lee Plumbing & Heating Co.

Big Gathering at Memorial Day Exercises

State Chaplain of American Legion in Tribute to War Dead

Favored by ideal weather conditions, a large gathering assembled Thursday morning in the Riverside park amphitheatre for impressive Memorial Day exercises sponsored by the local American Legion and VFW posts and Company F of the National Guard.

Ellsworth Jorgenson, Legion post commander, presided over the program which was preceded by a procession from the Auditorium including the color guard, Legion municipal band and Gold Star parents.

Speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Denzil Carty, department chaplain of the American Legion, who paid tribute to the war dead, stating that if it had not been for their sacrifices, the Hitlers would have had their way, and the blessings we take for granted today would not be here.

He added that in these days of ease and comfort, it is not easy to remember our debt to those who fought for this country. He concluded by saying that the only real hope for the world today lies in America.

The services opened with selection by the band, the advance of the colors, invocation by the Rev. Robert Abbott and a vocal selection by Harold H. Anderson.

Following Mr. Carty's address, James Kvikstad read the "Tribute to the Unknown Soldier," and wreaths in tribute to the soldier and sailor dead were placed by Mrs. John S. Jaranson and Mrs. Agnes Isaakson, presidents respectively of the Legion and VFW auxiliaries.

The Company F firing squad fired a volley in salute to the colors, followed by taps and the echo sounded by members of the band, the benediction by the Rev. Walter M. Pederson, and the retirement of the colors.

9th District Legion Officers Elected Saturday

Hearing Is Set for June 18 on East Side Jobs

Public Given Chance to Express Views on $81,500 Street Work

A hearing on a projected street improvement program on the east side was set for Tuesday evening, June 18, at an adjourned session of the city council last Wednesday night. The cost of the program was estimated by City Engineer Douglas Stewart at about $81,500.

Property owners affected by the projects are urged by the council to attend the hearing in the council chambers and express their views. The program had been recommended by the recently appointed street advisory committee, which has been studying the street problem the past month.

The hearing will relate to street surfacing projects on the following streets:

Tindolph av. from Third st. to a point 150 feet north of Taft st.

Crocker av. from Taft st. for a distance of 250 feet north.

Merriam av. from Hughes to Gulf sts., and from Third st. to Taft st.

Kneale av. from Nora to Gulf sts. and from Third st. to Taft st.

Maple av. from Hughes to Gulf sts., and from Mussey st. to Taft st.

Taft st. from Kneale av. to Maple av.

Spruce av. from Gulf st. to Highway 59.

Mussey st. from Spruce av. to Highway 59.

Engineer Stewart recommended that property owners be required to install water and sewer service connections to the curb lines, and that all existing iron water service pipes be replaced with copper pipes.

In other action Wednesday, the council heard a second reading of the proposed ordinance incorporating into the city Magunson's Addition at the north city limits.

The council also voted to take no further action on the recent termination by the city commission of the services of Chris Kierk as airport manager.

Adult Education Drivers Class Set

An adult education drivers class will be conducted Tuesday evening, June 4 at 8 o'clock in room 113 at Lincoln high school. This is an organizational meeting and anyone interested is welcome to attend, it was announced.

Youth Drowns in River Pool Here

Depict Mt. Suribachi Flag-raising

One of the more spectacular floats in Saturday's Ninth District Legion parade was this one, sponsored by the local VFW Post. The float is a re-enactment of the Marines' raising the flag on Mt. Suribachi, Iwo Jima, during the World War II battle for that island.

Brown Swiss Show at RLF June 7th

Show to Be Sponsored by Breeders of Canton 7

Breeders of Canton Seven, of the Minnesota Brown Swiss Breeders association will hold their annual show in Red Lake Falls Friday, June 7. A full day's program of showing and judging for juniors and adults will be conducted as well as a judging contest for businessmen only.

Prizes will be awarded and lunch will be served at noon. The program will again be held at the fair grounds in the park as it was last summer.

The canton shows are part of the Brown Swiss promotion program and are managed by Marvin Kruse of Fremont, Nebraska, fieldman for the organization. Dr. Clarence Cole of the U. of Minnesota will judge the show.

Exhibitors should have their animals on the grounds by 10 a.m. and health papers must accompany the animals. Further information of the show can be obtained from Ronald Tollefson, secretary of Canton Seven, Red Lake Falls.

History Society of Pennington Co. to Meet Tuesday

Officers to Be Elected at Annual Meeting on Court House Lower Floor

The annual meeting of the Pennington County Historical society will be held Tuesday evening, June 4, in the meeting room on the ground floor of the court house, Miss Katherine Barzen, president announced today.

Miss Barzen received word Saturday that Arch Grahn, field man for the Minnesota Historical society, will be present to speak at Tuesday night's meeting of the local group.

Among important matters to be disposed of at the meeting are election of officers to serve during the ensuing year, plans for participation in the observance of the Minnesota statehood centennial in 1958, and for preparation of the historical society's room in the court house.

Society members are asked to invite interested friends to attend Tuesday's meeting. Miss Barzen stated that the annual membership fee is only $1.

Roger Zavoral, 18, Is Victim Memorial Day Evening at 7:20

A young rural Thief River Falls youth drowned in the river pool at Tindolph park early Thursday evening as he tried to swim across the river with two other teen-age companions.

Roger Allen Zavoral, 18, was drowned in about 10 feet of water at 7:20 p.m. Memorial Day to become the only holiday fatality of the immediate area.

Zavoral, along with Larry Forsberg and Hurby Lund had entered the pool from the north side, where they had parked their car off Highway 1. According to Police Chief Elton Cummings the two other boys told him Zavoral had called out to them he didn't think he could swim across the pool to the barge and that he would drive the car around to the parking area of Tindolph park and join them at the beach.

A few moments later, they told Cummings, they heard him call out from about 40 feet out in the water and then he sank. They attempted to go after him in a boat at the beach but there were no oars.

The occupants of a motorboat on the river barely missed grabbing him by the hand as he went down, Cummings said. Another boat went out but missed the spot.

The fire department put a boat on the river shortly after they were called by Mrs. Wayne Leverson and resuscitating equipment was on hand to be used in the hopes Zavoral could be found in time to be revived. However, attempts to revive him failed.

Zavoral was recovered from the water, about 25 minutes after he had gone down, by policeman Don Olson and [illegible] Johnson, who, with Glen Wedul and Doris Humes, were diving from a boat in relays in hopes of bringing the youth up in time to revive him.

Police chief Elton Cummings praised the two youths and the girl highly for their part in their attempted rescue.

An attempt to revive the drowned youth with the fire department resuscitator was made but he was pronounced dead within a short time by Pennington county Coroner Dr. George B. Martin, who was on the scene at the time.

Ironically, Zavoral drowned about 20 minutes after the lifeguard who had patrolled the Tindolph park beach from 1 to 7 p. m. Memorial day had gone off duty.

Zavoral is survived by his father, Albert, of Hollywood, Cal. and his foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar W. Johnson, rt. 4, city.

Funeral services will be held for the drowned youth Monday at the Evangelical Free church here and interment will be made at Brooks.

Three County Dairymen Are Elected to Board of Directors Last Tuesday

A group of Penington and Red Lake county dairy farmers met at Plummer Tuesday, May 28, for the purpose of organizing a dairy herd improvement association.

The group elected as temporary directors: Art Stenberg of Thief River Falls, Dale Svendsgaard of Goodridge, Gerald Yonke of St. Hilaire, Don Walker of Red Lake Falls, George Spong of Oklee, and Robert Hance of Red Lake Falls.

The next meeting of the association will be held in the Thief River Falls court house Thursday June 13, at 8:30. All dairy farmers are encouraged to attend.

Anyone wishing to join the association can contact Dale Svendsgaard, secretary-treasurer, one of the directors, or the county agent in Pennington or Red Lake counties, prior to the June 13th meeting or sign up with the association on that evening.

2 New Courses Offered at Vocational School in Fall

After surveying the courses offered by seventy business colleges, Thief River Falls area vocational school officials have adopted a curriculum for business education to be offered for the year starting next Sepember. Two courses will be offered, according to Stanley Nelson, director, one of them providing stenographic-secretarial training and other designed for general clerical work and accounting.

Both courses are offered on a three semester basis over a period of fifty weeks. Two instructors have been secured for the first year, placing an enrollment limit at about 36. More instructors would make larger enrollment possible and can be provided if the need develops.

Night school classes offering fresher courses and special training for those already employed may be made available. A survey of office employees is being conducted to determine whether there is sufficient interest to justify night school courses.

Following are outlines of the two regular courses that will be offered.

A bulletin giving more detailed information on the subjects covered in these courses is now available. Mr. Nelson states that there has been much evidence of interest in the business training that is now being offered and applications for enrollment are now coming in.

STENOGRAPHIC-SECRETARIAL COURSE

This course is designed to give the student a well rounded training in business procedure along with adequate training in secretarial skills supplemented by the best of secretarial technology and practice. Walker-Hurley Vows Solemnized

Wedding vows were spoken by Kathleen V. Walker and Patrick A. Hurley at a ceremony performed Saturday, May 25 at St. Bernard's Catholic church with Father Keough Patnode officiating. Her only attendant was Audrey Mortenson, friend of the bride and the groomsman was John Hurley, brother of the groom.

Dorothy Muzzy Says Vows With Ned C. Blodgett

Dorothy Ann Muzzy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Jaennette of rural Thief River Falls, and Ned C. Blodgett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Blodgett of Bennington, Vermont, were united in marriage Saturday, May 25 at the Community Methodist church. Rev. E. C. Mead performed the double ring ceremony in the presence of 150 friends and relatives.

Mrs. Sherman Idso of this city, presided at the organ for the traditional nuptial music preceding the ceremony. She also accompanied the soloist, Janet Torgerson as she sang "O Perfect Love" before the ceremony, and "The Lord's Prayer" as they knelt at the altar.

The bride, given in marriage by her step-father, wore a floor length gown of white Chantilly lace, featuring a plain neckline with tiny buttons, extending down the back and long sleeves which came to a point over the wrists. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a small cap edged with seed pearls and sequins and she carried a Colonial style bouquet of pink roses and white carnations. The old tradition of something old, something new, something borrowed and something blue was carried out.

Miss Carol Jaennette, half sister of the bride and Phyllis Nelson, friend of the bride, were the maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. They wore identical ballerina length gowns of pink and blue respectively and carried Colonial style bouquets of pink sweet heart roses and pink and white carnations. Their only jewelry was a matched necklace, earring and bracelet set, gift of the bride.

Brenda Muzzy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Muzzy, the bride's cousin, was the flower girl. She wore a waltz length pink nylon dress and carried a crocheted basket of sweetheart roses and garlands of white carnations.

Attending the groom were James H. Muzzy, brother of the bride, and Erwin Muzzy, a cousin. The ushers were Kenneth and Dale Ranum, cousins of the bride. They all wore white carnation boutonnieres and the clasps and cuff links, gifts from the groom.

Jerry Muzzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Muzzy, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer. He wore gray trousers with a dark sport coat and carried a heart shaped satin pillow.

Mrs. Jaennette, mother of the bride, chose a lilac dress with a matching hat and black accessories. Her corsage was formed of pink sweetheart roses and white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was given in the church parlors by the bride's parents, with Mrs. E. L. Swanson as chairman, assisted by friends of the family. The table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Adam Lendobeja and Mrs. Lloyd Johnson, aunts of the bride cut the cake and Mrs. Ada Jorde, aunt of the bride, poured. Waitresses were Arleen Mattere, Shirley Mae Sorenson, Cheryl Johnson and Ellen Jorde, all cousins of the bride. Another cousin, Mrs. Allan Johnson registered the guests and Mrs. Jerry Claffy, cousin of the bride and Lyla Lanesand and Delores Carlson, friends of the bride arranged the gifts.

The newlyweds left on a wedding trip to Bennington, Vermont, to visit his parents and other relatives and friends. For her going away the bride chose a blue wool suit with white accessories and she wore her mothers corsage.

The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and is presently employed as a licensed practical nurse at Columbus Hospital in Great Falls, Montana.

Mr. Blodgett is serving in the United States Air Force and is presently stationed at Great Falls, Montana.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Davidson and son Craig of Hayfield, Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Johnson and Shirley Mae Sorenson of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Claffy and daughter Terry of Breckenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Almquist and Son David of Lucan, Minnesota and Miss Cheryl Johnson of Moorhead.

Congresswoman Asks Applications for Air Academy

Congresswoman Coya Knutson today urged all young men of her district interested in an appointment to the Air Force Academy to begin considering the submission of an application.

"The facilities of my office are available to anyone who would like to seek an appointment," Coya said. "Applicants should address a letter to me requesting consideration for appointment and furnishing the following information: full name, address, age, date and place of birth."

She stated, "This is a splendid opportunity for young men to obtain an excellent education and at the same time perform a real service to the country. Ten appointments are available to members of Congress for their districts."

Japanese Exchange Student Greets Pals

Kiyoshi Tanabe, Japanese exchange student who graduated from high school here a year ago, wrote a greeting to his former classmates intended for the last issue of the Lincoln Log. It arrived too late for that publication, however, and we are pleased to reproduce portions of it in the Times. The letter follows:

Dear all in Lincoln High,

When I left TRF last year, I promised to some of the kids I graduated with that I would write to school once a month. I knew that would be impossible. I just hope you would forgive me.

Now I've been a student of Tokyo Univ. for almost two months. In Japan high school life is not much of fun. But in comparison college life is much more enjoyable. So, I haven't had much to write about high school, but here I would like to introduce my university and my life there.

Right now there are about two hundred colleges and universities in Japan. Of those, people say, Tokyo Univ. is the best. For one reason, it has the best staffs and facilities. Consequently, the graduates are very good, and get good jobs easily.

Tokyo Univ. has two campuses, one in the center of Tokyo, the other in the outskirts. I go to the latter for two years taking liberal arts course. I study elementary natural science subjects. Then I want to go to the engineering dept. for the last two years. Of course, it's all up to my marks, whether I can take that ideal course.

One big change from high school life is that we don't have to attend the classes if we don't want to. Professors don't care whether we understand or not. They just go on and on, and say we'll get used to those symbols and others in a yera or so. That means we've got to study by ourselves or repeat that one year.

Tokyo Univ. is like a small community. On campus are good sports facilities, a clinic, and stores also. A good and big book store to stores where we get tissue and even washing machine. It's run in the form of cooperative by students, and everything is cheap. The students can't worry about the money: tuition per year is as cheap as thirty dollars in your money.

That's how our college life looks like. Beside going to school, I've a part time job that keeps me quite busy. This is a job that can exist just in Japan. That is a private tutor. Very well paid for the short working period. Help high school kids in studying and put them into schools where their parents want them to be. The fund raising for AFS to take American kids, nine of, this summer takes up my time, too. I hope you have a nice and hot, or a nice and cool weather for your vacation.

Yours truly,
Kiyoshi Tanabe.

Bankers to Attend State Convention

Peterson and Bratsch to Go to St. Paul June 11-12

E. O. Peterson and Elmer W. Bratsch of the Union State Bank will attend the 67th annual convention of the Minnesota Bankers Association in St. Paul, June 11 and 12. Most of the meetings will take place in the Hotel St. Paul.

The first business session will be held on Tuesday afternoon June 11 followed by a "Winter Wonderland" dinner for the ladies and a smoker for the men in the evening.

The second day begins with a breakfast which will be exclusively an agricultural meeting followed by an all morning business session.

The colorful windup banquet will be held that evening at the Prom Ballroom in St. Paul. It will be highlighted by the installation of officers and an evening of entertainment.

It is estimated that approximately 1,200 bankers and their wives will be delegates to the convention.

2 Minor Mishaps Reported in Heavy Week-end Traffic

Despite heavy traffic in the city over the week-end, only two minor accidents were reported by city police to have occurred during that time.

A car driven by Roy Jarvi, city, was damaged an estimated $75 about 10:45 Saturday when struck by a car driven by Floyd Dalton, city, as Jarvi attempted a turn from 3rd st. into the alley behind the former Thief River Grocery building near the Soo depot. Dalton was leaving a parked position when he hit Jarvi. No damage was reported to the Dalton car.

Lee Bakke, city, reported a hit-run driver damaged the rear fender and tail light of his car as he parked on Riverside av. S. early Saturday morning. No damage estimate was given by police.

Vic Kalinoski at Chicago Meeting

Potato Growers of RRV to Meet in G. Forks June 20

Leaders in Field to Be Included in Speakers at Annual Meeting

Potato growers of the Red River Valley will meet in Grand Forks on June 20 for the annual meeting of the Valley Growers association and control board. A full program of speakers, entertainment; exhibits, and prizes, have been planned for the day, according to Obert Grover, Glyndon, president of the grower's association and John P. Bushee, East Grand Forks, chairman of the control board. Highlights of the day's program will be talks by Bernard J. Imming, secretary, United Fresh Fruit & Vegetable association, Washington, D.C., and Perrin Edmunds, Fort Fairfield, Maine, president, National Potato Council.

An important change this year will be the holding of the business sessions during the afternoon and evening. A free chuck wagon supper will be served to the growers and their guests beginning at 5:30 p. m.

A good number of potato suppliers will have exhibits again this year and there will be special attendance prizes given away during the day.

In addition to Imming and Edmunds, other speakers will include: Arlen Hazen, dean and director of the North Dakota experiment station; A. E. Mercker, executive director of the National Potato Council; Aurilla Smith, president, Northwest Marketing Service, Inc.; E. J. Hanson, traffic director, Grand Forks Chamber of Commerce and Valley Potato Growers association; and, Claude Ebling, agricultural agent, Soo Line Railroad.

HISTORY IS TODAY'S CARE

Purpose of Minnesota Historical Society, according to current annual report of Russell W. Fridley, Director, is threefold: collecting, preserving, disseminating Minnesota history. Collecting includes manuscripts, newspapers and printed material, pictures, and pioneer artifacts. Preservation includes files of Minnesota newspapers from the very first issue in 1849 to the very latest in 1957, either bound or on microfilm, plus library and museum. Dissemination, Director Fridley describes as "taking history to the people" by means of publications, tours, lectures, etc., as well as continuous open house at the St. Paul headquarters, which last year attracted some 64,000 visitors. In its highly significant work the Society is handicapped by inadequate funds. This pinch stems from two sources: present-day costs mounting more rapidly than legislative appropriation; and public indifference to both past and future, manifest in dwindling Society membership and corresponding shrinkage in dues revenue. The significance of 1958 Centennial Year help to correct both weaknesses.

Loan Eligibility of GI's Explained

Manager Fargo VA Center Cites Legal Provisions

Sale of a veteran's GI-purchased home because of a new and better job in a different city may entitle him to new GI loan eligibility even though the job change was voluntary, W. B. Carroll, manager, Fargo VA Center, said today.

"Better job" was defined by Mr. Carroll as being on that would increase the veteran's income or provide him with greater opportunity for advancement.

Restoration of GI loan eligibility formerly was made only if the job change or transfer to another city was involuntary or beyond the veteran's control.

The new ruling, he said, also applies to veterans moving to a different city following retirement.

However, Mr. Carroll pointed out, no GI loan entitlement can be restored unless the VA is relieved of liability on the old loan. This generally is accomplished by payment of the loan in full, either by the veteran or the new purchaser.

He listed three other circumstances under which a veteran may be entitled to a new GI loan. They are, 1, when the property was taken by a governmental agency for public use; 2, if it was destroyed by natuural hazard; or, 3, if it was disposed of for compelling reasons of health or other specified reasons beyond the control of the veteran.

Burglars Net $4 at Lincoln School Late Friday Night

Intruders who broke into Lincoln high school Friday night had a comparatively easy time entering the building but netted very little for their efforts, according to Police Chief Elton Cummings.

The burglars entered the building through a window that had apparently been left open or unlocked, Cummings said.

According to school officials about $4 was taken from the school office but they reported an attempt to enter the main vault was unsuccessful.

Cummings said police and the county sheriff are investigating the break-in, with the aid of the state crime bureau officer here.

Attendance at this summer's School Health and Safety workshop is expected to top all previous records, with 91 elementary teachers and principals from 63 Minnesota counties already registered for sessions at Camp Lake Hubert near Brainerd from Aug. 18 to 23.

Attending from Pennington county will be Miss Betsey Legvold, elementary principal in Thief River Falls.

National and state health-education authorities will be consultants for the group discussions on ways of improving health teaching, health services, safety and recreation for Minnesota's school children.

The participants, sent on scholarships provided by county Christmas Seal organizations, are chosen on the basis of their interest in school health programs, according to J. G. Neal, health and safety supervisor for the State Department of Education. The workshop is sponsored by the Minnesota departments of health and education and the Minnesota Tuberculosis and Health association.

The 91 participants will be divided into groups for round-table sessions on how to keep school children healthy and safe.

Postmaster to Be Chosen at Viking

Applications Received up to Tuesday, June 25

An examination for postmaster at Viking, will be open for receipt of applications until June 25, the U. S. Civil Service Commission anounced today. Written tests will be held in Thief River Falls. The salary is $3,880 a year.

Competitors for the postmaster vacancy must show that they can deal with the public effectively and that they are reliable citizens who would command the respect and confidence of patrons of the post office. They must also show that their background will enable them to maintain simple records of accounts.

Applicants must take a written test. Those who pass will be assigned final ratings on the basis of this test and on their experience, ability, and character. There is a 1-year residence requirement and applicants must have reached their 18th birthday on the closing date for receipt of applications. Persons over 70 years of age may not be appointed.

Complete information about the examination requirements and instructions for filing applications may be obtained at the Viking post office.

School Nurse Lists Dental Card Returns

Mrs. Ellen Peterson's first grade at Knox was the only grade in the Thief River Falls schools that had 100 per cent dental card return.

Knox was the winner among the schools in the number of pink dental cards returned, with 77 per cent.

Mrs. Margaret Race, school nurse, commented, "Along with learning the 3R's, children are taught good health habits, as part of the regular school curriculum." "Dental health is an important part of the child's health lesson. He is taught that it is very important that everyone see his dentist at least once a year. Then he is encouraged, and urged, to follow this teaching. The pink dental card is not important in itself, but it is the only measuring tool we have for checking on the dental health job we are doing in this community.

"As a whole, the records are not as good as they were last year. The public schools did not return as many pink cards this year as last, but St. Bernard's showed a marked increase from 40% last year to 56% this year."

Percent of children having O. K. teeth are as follows:

Knox, 77%, with Mrs. Peterson's class leading with 100%.

Northrop, 62%, with Miss Tualleruds class leading with 79%.

St. Bernard's 56%, with Sister Jane Francis' class leading with 76%.

Washington 47%, with Miss Granger's morning kindergarten class leading with 64%.

Two grades at Knox deserve honorable mention for attaining more than 90% card return: Miss Fertig's second grade with 94% and Miss Bloomsness' 3rd grade with 91%.

Children are urged to go to the dentist during the summer months, especially those who did not go during the school year. Have the pink card signed by the dentist and return the card to school next fall.

"Business College" Instructors

LOWELL VAUGHN

OSCAR BERGOS

Two instructors have been secured for the new department of business education to be made a part of the area vocational school in September, Stanley Nelson, director, announced. Lowell Vaughn, left above, is a graduate of Bemidji state college and has taken graduate work at the University of North Dakota. Oscar Bergos, right, has received his training at the University of Minnesota and the University of North Dakota.

Two courses are being offered for the first year's schedule, one providing stenographic-secretarial training, and one training in general clerical work and accounting. Both courses are being offered on a three semester basis over a period of fifty weeks.

Best Buys

Best Buys for June Dairy Month are naturally dairy food—milk, ice cream, butter and cheese. Protein foods in good supply are beef, turkey, eggs, halibut, dry beans, peanuts, and peanut butter.

Supplies of strawberries are good. Fresh and frozen strawberries are plentiful, and at low prices. Canned purple plums and canned freestone peaches will be available, too.

Red and white potatoes are on the market—new potatoes are best for boiling and salads, while old potatoes are recommended for French frying and baking.

Buy these best buy foods and save on your food dollar.

Achievement Day

I hope you have this coming Friday marked on your calendar. It's Homemakers Achievement Day! The program starts at 2:00 p.m. sharp at the Knox school auditorium, and refreshments will follow. You'll enjoy meeting with the other county homemakers and their friends and neighbors.

Potatoes Elegant

Here's a special June-is-Dairy-Month recipe for you to try—potatoes elegant. This makes 15 servings: Cook seven large potatoes in jackets, peel and slice. Heat two cans cream of chicken soup with 1 can milk. Add 1 cup grated sharp cheese and two tablespoons grated onion. Alternate layers of potatoes and sauce in a greased two-quart casserole, starting with potatoes. Top with grated cheese and a dusting of paprika.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30-40 minutes.

Sour Cream Sauces

Would you like one sauce recipe you can vary to suit fish, meats, fruits or vegetables? A sour cream sauce is the answer. The base is one-half pint of dairy sour cream. Add a flavorful ingredient or two and season with salt and pepper to taste. For example, if you're serving frozen fish sticks, add 1 tablespoon pickle relish to the cup of sour cream for the fish sauce. For meat loaf or ham, make horseradish sauce by adding two tablespoons of prepared horseradish and 1 to two teaspoons of lemon juice to the sour cream. For baked potatoes, add 2 tablespoons grated onion or chopped chives and a teaspoon of lemon juice to cup of sour cream. Split the hot baked potato and fill generously with this tasty sauce. Note to weight watchers: Sour cream contains 29 calories per tablespoon compared to 92 for mayonnaise.

For Creamier Ice Cream

When you bring ice cream home from the store, it no doubt will have softened slightly—just enough so you can put it in the bowl of the electric mixer and whip it up without its melting. If you do this and return it to the freezer so it will reharden, you'll have a creamier-tasting ice cream than if you serve it as it comes from the package.

Baked Alaska Pie

For a dessert women especially will like, make a Baked Alaska Pie. Pack 1 quart of very firm ice cream in either a chilled baked pie shell, or a graham cracker crumb pie crust. Beat 3 egg whits until stiff. Gradually beat in six tablespoons of sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Pile meringue in a tick layer, being sure that the meringue touches the edge of the pie shell and completely covers the ice cream. Bake in a preheated oven 500 degrees F. for three minutes. Serve at once. Yield 6 servings.

Final Rites Are Conducted For John O. Solberg

Funeral services for John Oscar Solberg of Mayfield township were conducted Saturday, June 1, at the Ebenezer Lutheran church with Rev. O. M. Simundson officiating. Interment was made in the Ebenezer Lutheran cemetery. Mr. Solberg passed away Wednesday, May 29, at the age of 73 years.

Mr. Solberg was born January 25, 1884, in Coon Valley, Wisconsin where he attended school and grew to manhood. He worked in North Dakota for a number of years and then homesteaded in South Dakota for several years before moving back to North Dakota.

He was united in marriage to Miss Malla Bagstad in 1917 at Hettinger, North Dakota and they moved to Pennington county and purchased a farm in Mayfield township where they made their home until the time of his death. He was treasurer of the town board since 1934 and also served as school chairman for several years. He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran Faith and was a member of the Ebenezer Lutheran church.

Survivors include his wife, Malla; one daughter, Mrs. Woodrow Wilson (Iola) of Grafton, North Dakota; four sons, Garvin, Orlando, James all at home; Merlin of Babbitt, Minnesota; eight grandchildren; four sisters, Mrs. Emil Hankenson (Allie) of Westby, Wis.; Mrs. Oscar Lee (Inga) of Westby, Wis.; Mrs. Olga Tollakson of Viroqua, Wis.; Mrs. Bergina Stigen of Exeland, Wis.; six brothers, Joseph of Lakota, North Dakota; Rudolph of Osseo, Wis.; Gilbert and Tilmer of Exeland, Wis.; Ole of Coon Valley, Wis. and Melvin of Cashton, Wis. He was preceded in death by one son and two brothers.

Roger Zavoral Succumbs; Rites Are Held Today

Funeral services for Roger Allan Zavoral will be conducted Monday, June 3 at 2:00 p.m. in the Evangelical Free church with Rev. Joseph Swan officiating. Interment will be made in the Presbyterian cemetery at Brooks. Roger died in a drowning mishap May 30, at the age of 18 years.

Roger Zavoral was born April 5, 1939 in this city and he received his education at Lincoln High school. He had made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson of rural Thief River Falls for the past nine years. He was employed with Palmer Forsberg as a painter since spring. He was confirmed at the Evangelical Free church in 1954 where he also attended Sunday School.

Survivors include his father, Albert Zavoral of Hollywood, Calif.; foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Johnson of this city; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Thorneon of Plummer and his grandmother, Mrs. Albert Zavoral Sr. of Hollywood, Calif. He was preceded in death by his mother.

Gulbranson Funeral Home have charge of arrangements.

Roy McEnelly Succumbs; Rites Set For Tuesday

Roy McEnelly a life long resident of Reiner township, Pennington county, passed away Thursday, May 30 at the University Hospital in Minneapolis. Funeral services will be conducted Tuesday, June 4 at 2:00 p.m. in the Esendahl Lutheran church with Rev. A. B. Heltne officiating. Interment will be made in the Greenwood cemetery.

The body is reposing at the Green Funeral home until 10:00 a. m. Tuesday and at the church until time of services. A complete obituary will appear in the next issue of the Times.

Mrs. Mary Havel, Resident Here 62 Years, Succumbs

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Havel, a resident of this city for 62 years, were conducted Saturday, June 1 at St. Bernard's Catholic church with a Requiem High Mass. A Rosary was recited Friday evening, May 31 at the Green Funeral Home Chapel with Rev. Father Keough Patnode officiating. Interment was made in the Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. Havel passed away Tuesday evening, May 28 at the age of 94 years.

Mrs. Havel was born February 9, 1863 in Czechoslovakia and came to the United States with her parents at the age of three months, making the six weeks journey across the Alantic in a sailing vessel. They settled in New Prague, Minnesota, later moving with her parents to Angus, Minn.

In 1882 she was united in marriage to John Havel in Crookston and in 1895 they moved to this city, where she made her home until the time of her death. Her husband, a carpenter, passed away in 1942.

Survivors include one daughter, Mrs. T. G. Kinsela of this city; eleven grandchildren, 13 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. She was preceded in death by her husband, three sons and three daughters.

Mattie Sorenson, Pioneer Resident, Succumbs May 28

Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie Sorenson, a resident of this community for the past 73 years, were conducted Saturday, June 1 at Zion Lutheran church, with Rev. Walter Pedersen officiating. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery. Mrs. Sorenson passed away Tuesday afternoon, May 28 at Northwestern hospital at the age of 91 years.

Mrs. Sorenson was born October 24, 1863 in Jutland, Denmark, where she attended school and grew to womanhood. In 1883 she was united in marriage to Soren Sorenson and the same year they came to the United States and settled on a farm in Norden township where she made her home until the time of her death.

She was a charter member of the Good Cheer Club and a member of Zion Lutheran church and the Ladies Aid.

Survivors include seven daughters, Mrs. Julius Olson (Anna) of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Earl Malchow (Gladys) of Sacramento, Calif.; Mrs. Oscar Ness (Ina) of Rockford, Ill.; Mrs. Fred Hollander (Carie); Mrs. Harry Ness (Mabel); Mrs. Arthur Larson (Ethel); Mrs. Harry Myrom (Minnie) all of this city; three sons, Sam, Charles and Henry, all of this city; 30 grandchildren; 21 great-grandchildren and one great-great grandchild. She was preceded in death by her husband, two daughters, one son and one grandson.

Girls' Softball Loop Being Formed

Group Seeks to Organize League of Four Teams

Progress is being made in the formation of a four-team girl's softball league. When the league roster has reached a membership whereby four teams can be organized, sponsors and coaches for the teams will be requested.

At present, practice sessions are being held on the old Lincoln athletic field, just west of the high school, on Tuesday and Thursday evenings at seven o'clock.

Several years ago a city girl's softball league was in operation, and it proved successful and provided much enjoyment and entertainment.

All girls and young married women, interested in softball, are requested to appear at the Tuesday and Thursday practices.

Mary E. Schulke Graduates from St. Peter College

The ninety-fifth annual commencement exercises of Gustavus Adolphus College, St. Peter, were held Sunday afternoon, June 2 in the Myrum Memorial Fieldhouse. Dr. Clarence C. Stoughton, president of Wittenberg College, gave the address to the 191 members of the 1957 graduating class.

Included among the 191 graduates was Mary Ellyn Schulke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Schulke of Thief River Falls. Mary Ellyn graduated with the degree of bachelor of arts, with social work as her major. She was a member of the Gustavus Symphony Band during her first two years at Gustavus, and was a member of the Sigma Delta sorority.

Shootin' the Breeze

BY Mack Draper

Here we are with one of our precious holidays of 1957 fading into history. Summer is here now except that the days will continue to grow longer until about the 22nd . . . then we start back downhill again.

Personally we think the Canadians have a good system in having all holidays fall on Monday. The only thing we can't quite understand is how we could arrange the July 4th to fall on that day every year! The obvious thing to do would have Independence day fall on the nearest Monday, of course, but one wonders how folks would take to changing that holiday.

Remember the fuss folks made over changing the Thanksgiving dates? The old argument still isn't settled.

We're still in favor of having all holidays fall on Monday, tho!

Proclamations we'd like the mayor to issue:

1. An all-out, city-wide war on dandelions. (There's a bumper crop of 'em on 3rd st. berms!) Also, a war on mosquitoes.
2. A 15-day-per-summer closing of every business in town except those providing essential services. Then there'd never be a conflict over vacation dates!
3. A drive against folks who litter up all the main city thoroughfares, especially those in the residential areas, with ice-cream wrappers, beer bottles and malt cups. Perhaps a vigilante committee could start reporting infractions of the already existing law against litterbugs.

Incidentally, while all of us are dubiou about the claims the Russians have made concerning modern "inventions", we'll certainly concede they have improved vacations a lot.

You probably didn't know it—we didn't either until just a few days ago—but the average Russky worker gets a 30-day vacation every year! He really makes use of it to go to a summer resort or similiar vacation spot, too, according to the same reliable information source.

How come we yankees are so far behind Ivan in this important respect?

It's amazing . . . but we haven't heard a single fish(y) story since the season opened this year . . . everyone swears they're telling the gospel truth about their catches.

We should be so gullible!

Equally amazing . . . how our back yard seemed to increase in size when we moved "the boat" down to the lake. That old tub was beginning to get on our nerves. Congratulations are in order at this point . . . it holds water—out, that is!

We note that an appeal was made for folks watching the parades over the week-end to show proper respect for Old Glory when it passed. Unfortunately, there are some people—to whom our flag means very little. We've seen lots of them.

No matter where we may go in this cockeyed old world, wherever the stars and stripes flies is a little piece of America, whether on an atoll in the Pacific or an Embassy in London. And, there's nothing in this world more thrilling than to see our flag waving over us after we've been in a foreign land for months and years.

We know; we've been "over there", and can honestly say it's a swell feeling to see the flag that represents the best country in the world, bar none, flapping above us. One really appreciates the flag after such an experience.

But, to some men " . . . with souls so dead . . . " it's just a piece of colored rag waving up there. What's your feeling? We certainly hope the appeal for greater respect had the desired result, at any rate.

There are genuine conservatives. Then there are others who are merely antagonistic to change regardless of reason. So long!

Cool Temperature Readings Prevail

Showers Brings .41 Inch of Rain Sunday Morning

Northwest Minnesota residents may expect a slight warm-up from the cool temperatures of the past few days, according to the KTRF area forecast.

However, there may be a thundershower or two mixed in with the weather recipe for the next day or so.

Since Wednesday the weatherman has dealt out some unseasonable temperatures. The high Wednesday was 80, followed with a summery 82 Memorial Day. Since then the temperature has dropped to below-seasonal-normal figures in the sixties, where it may stay the next day or so.

Low temperatures for the reporting period was Saturday's near freezing 36. Another .41 inches of rainfall sloshed down on the city area Sunday morning to create more work for harassed lawnmower pushers.

The forecast is for little temperature change today and tonight with a chance of thundershowers Tuesday. Highs will range from 68-75 and the low range is expected to be 40-48.

Kal's Automotive Service Station Burglary Victim

Buglars who entered Kal's Automotive Service on highway 59 late Sunday or early Monday morning took about $12 in change from the till but their biggest haul was a pistol, believed to be a .38 cal. revolver, according to information from the sheriff's office.

In addition the burglars took about six quarts of oil.

According to the report the robbers broke a window in the back of the establishment then reached through and unlocked the door to make their entry.

Sheriff Charles Richards and the state crime bureau agent here are investigating the robbery.

Meet on June 10

Steve Austin, president of the Pennington county safety council, stated today that the meeting scheduled for this evening has been postponed to next Monday evening, June 10, at 6:30 in the Rex Cafe. Several members were absent from the city today.

Prowler Ball Club to Enter District Event at Warren Today at 3

Playing off a postponed game at Warren on Friday afternoon, and scring a lop-sided 23 to 9 victory, coach Ralph Skjod's baseball Prowlers concluded their 1957 schedule. This week, starting this afternoon, Monday, at 3:00 P. M., the locals will participate in the 31st district baseball tournament that is being played on the Emory Johnson Memorial Field at Warren.

The Prowlers, who are the defending district champions, and who are favored to make a successful defense of their title in this week's tourney, posted a season's record of fourteen victories and four losses. In the three games played this week the locals won a pair of games and dropped a decision, defeating Red Lake Falls and Warren, and losing to Fertile.
